Montgomery—From now on the minimum prices of all wines with a 20-percent alcohlolic content will be determined on a competitive basis.

This is the ruling recently put into effect by the ABC Board as that group abolished the regulation requiring a 75-cent minimum price.

The motion was introduced by Board Chairman Frank Bunkley and seconded by the other two members, W. P. Screws and Jap Bryant.

and extents of these symptoms, according to the type of rickettsial disease the person has.

As in other diseases, preventioin is the important thing. Treatment for typhus fever must be in the hands of a physician. Until recently there was no specific serum to combat this disease, but now medical men have learned that para-aminobenzoic acid, commonly called paba, can be used to fight this disease. It is now believed that paba will be a very effective agent in fighting these rickettsial diseases.

Thus through years of study, medical curiosity, persistence, skill, and scientifically keen intellect, men of science and medicine have passed another milestone in freeing mankind from the ravages of disease. Faba is only one example, for the search goes on daily for other things which will make your life a safer and happier one.

The Guilford College Choir—

I'm sure you all enjoyed the well planned concert given by the Guilford College choir. This choir is directed by Charles C. Underwood, who is a native of Nova Scotia, Mr. Underwood has been with the Guilford choir only a short while, but has done a wonderful job of directing them. He took the place of Dr. E. H. F. Weis, who passed away early this year.

The choir personnel are Marie Orvis, president; William S. Root, stage manager; Conrad Wilson, manager; and Joseph P. Gamble, librarian.

This choir stopped by our city on their way back to the college. Some interesting places they gave concerts at were Vicksburg, Miss., Dallas, Texas, and many others too numerous to name.

The numbers were very good and as follows:

A choral invocation, a soloist, Ortus Cardine; Psalm 90, Let All Nations Praise The Lord, A Mighty Fortress Is Our God, Come Blessed Rest, King Of Heaven, Angelic In The Morn, Crucifixion, Benedictus, When I Survey The Wondrous Cross, The Creation, Hide Not Thy Face, In Heaven Above, The Singers.

I'm sure we all enjoyed these wonderful numbers and we hope that these people will give us a return visit.

The girls Glee Club at C.C.H.S. sponsored these young people.

Who's A Foreigner?
While I'm waiting for a haircut the other day, Slim Hartman lets slip with a crack about those "foreigners" who live by the depot.
"Now wait a minute, Slim," snaps Doc Sherman. "Don't forget we'[illegible] all 'foreigners' more or less. Some of our families have simply been here longer than others. But even if they came over on the Mayflower, they were foreigners to the Indians."
Slim gets a little red and you could see that Doc had him. "And the reason they came here," he goes on, "was to find freedom to do and think as they wanted to so long as they didn't tramp on the rights of the other fellow."

Farmers in our section always puts mixed fertiliz' under their cotton and side-dresses with natchel Chilean soda. Three years ago, they couldn't get no soda and had to leave off the side-dress. That year for the first time we had plenty of rust.

Next year, we got our soda again and done like we always done before. And we didn't get no rust at all! Somebody say the soda in natchel nitrate acts jes like potash on rust. Maybe that's how come we got rust when we didn't get to use no soda.

FORWARD, IF WE UNITE

We believe the meeting of the County Board of Education last week to discuss the needs of our school problems is a move in the right direction.

At the meeting, we understand, were the high school principals of the county and also Represenative Cox and Senator Gulledge.

Called for the purpose of making a concerted effort to better our educational system and conditions, the body discussed at length the program to be presented to the next Legislature which will convene in May.

Efforts along this line are sure to bear fruit. We will do much better if we combine our thought and talents; if we co-operate with one another, as a means of getting things accomplished, than if we present a house divided.

Along this line we think that it would be wise for our Senator and Representative to hold a mass meeting at the courthouse and let the citizens of Chilton County voice their ideas as to their wants and wishes.

The outcome of the meeting last week was that the people will be acquainted with the school situation through a series of articles in the newspapers and radio programs, so that they will know what is going on. This will be a step in the right direction and will in the end show far greater results than a small group working alone. To accomplish the best results the school officials who met last week wil need the support of each and every citizen. It is our duty to get behind them and help them, help us.

A COIN IN WAX

Who said the day of candlelight is past?

It's back again. But not for illumination. Nor glamour. Candles, and their flickering flames, have been enlisted in one of the grimmest fights that mankind is waging today — the fight against cancer.

How? You'll see for yourself next month, probably in your favorite restaurant, or possibly in a supper club, maybe at the grocery or the drug store.

It will be the now famous "Cancer Candle" which originated in Alabama two years ago and has spread all over the United States. It's job is to attract nickels, dimes, quarters and half-dollars to help finance the greatest effort ever made by the Alabama Division of the American Cancer Society to stop the 1,200 or more preventable deaths cancer is causing in the state every year.

The idea was born in a Birmingham restaurant in 1947 when an electric short-circuit threw the place into darkness. Wallace Meshad and Nick Haddad, the owners, stuck candles in plates and put them on the tables. Another candle was beside the cash register.

A check-paying customer singed his hand in the flame and spilled his change into the soft wax. It was too sticky to dig out, so he left it there. Meshad and Haddad did the rest with a little sign that read: "Give To The Cancer Fund." The first "Cancer Candle" was a big success.

In April, other "Cancer Candles" will make their appearance in practically every city and town in Alabama. They'll be close by in places where the cashier hands change back to the customer many times during the day and night.

The flame and the soft wax spilling down the sides of the candle will be an invitation to you to stick a coin in the wax. And the candle—instead of burning away—will grow into a column of wax and silver as more coins and more candles are added.

Then, when the cancer drive is over, the candles will be melted down and their harvest of coins collected by the American Cancer Society to be put to work in the life-and-death battle of saving lives that cancer is wasting today.

So when you see the "cancer candle," don't pass it by. The nickel, dime or quarter you stick in its wax may help save a life.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Jimmy McDow has moved to Columbiana where he has opened a Chevrolet Automobile Agency. Clanton lost a good citizen when Jimmy left, and he will be missed. He was always interested in civic affairs and willing to do his part under all circumstances. We wish him well in his new location. Mrs. Mildred White Wallace ain't going to like this, but one thing we would like to know: What has Columbiana got that Clanton ain't got more of?

We know that you have heard all about the birds and flowers that sing and bloom in the spring, but did you ever hear of a Christmas tree bearing gifts in the spring? Just after Christmas when Zora Guy Smith and husband Louie, got tired of looking at their Christmas tree, they set it outside in the yard and are still using it as a feeding place for the birds. You can drive by any morning and see the birds looking in their stockings and opening their packages and exclaiming loudly in their merriment. Especially do they exclaim loudly in their merriment. No kidding. It's a nice thought and more folks should fix a place to feed the birds around their home.

Have you mailed in your subscription to the Chilton County News and received your plastic apron as a gift? We have a limited number and are offering them as an inducement for new subscribers. We want everybody to read the News and, of course, we're letting our old subscribers in on the deal too by including renewals the same as new subscribers. Look at your date on the margin of your paper and if you are about out, clip the coupon out of the ad on the back page and send with your two dollars and we will extend your subscription for one year. We will also mail you a beautiful plastic apron with ruffles, a fancy pocket, and in any color you choose as long as its red, or blue, or green.

We certainly owe Dock Levine an apology. Here we hound the life out of him for more business and then when he gives us a nice ad, telling the world about his latest style shoes, we go and leave it out. We won't give up though. We're going to try to sell him one twice as big for this week. Just look through the paper and if you see it, you will know we made good.

Oh well. Dock could always talk faster than we could anyhow.

J. E. Easterling is really packing them in at the Dixie. We were there for lunch Saturday and barely got a seat. Even though it was a bad, rainy day by twelve o'clock he was opening up the back dining room to take care of the over-flow. If he had as good a day Sunday, we suppose he closed up Monday and went fishing. Oh yeah, Marjorie Esco an "Shorty" Headley christened the opening of the dining room, and was Marjorie's face red.

Wonder if our friend, J. Raymond Cormany who is a traveling agent for the L&N Railroad couldn't use his influence to get the freight trains to stop all that loud hooting and tooting on Sunday's. It absolutely stops services, for the pastor can't even hear himself. And personally we wouldn't give a hoot if the train didn't give a toot.

Cornelius, The Devout Man

Acts 10th Chapter

A. T. HICKMAN

In the 10th Chapter of Acts we read of a certain man that lived in Caesarea by the name of Cornelius. He was an outstanding character. His name means, "A horn.", . and he was everything that his name meant. He was a horn for the Roman Empire; a horn for his household, and community. Not in a destructive sense, but in protection against the wrong. "Horn" in scripture is a symbol of power. This man was a man of power. He had power with God, and with man. He came from a noble and distinguished family at Rome, Italy.

He is spoken of in scripture as a devout man, which means that he was devoted to religious thoughts and exercises. A man who worshipped the true God, and was no idolater. Though he was a proselyte to the Jewish religion. However, the only righteousness he knew was that of the Law; up to his experience in the 10th chapter of Acts, he knew nothing of the righteousness of God which is by faith in Jesus Christ. He feared God with all his house, and set a godly example before his household. That is a lot more than can be said of some men today. It is further said of this man, that he gave much alms to the people. That is, he was a cheerful giver. He was a bighearted man, with big hands that would reach out to help his fellowman. He lived an unselfish life. He was a big neighbor to all those he knew. . . Thank God, there still are a lot of men like this in the world today. Christian men, bighearted men, the "good neighbor" type men. Men that you can rely on in time when the going is hard. Such men the world could not go round without. They are indispenable men.

Friend, are you that kind of man? Or, are you a stingy tight-wad? Living only for self, and self interest. If you are a stingy tight-wad, you are to be pitied. We know you are not happy, and can never be happy in your selfishness . . . . Then too, this man was a man of prayer. He prayed unto God always. He prayed for self, for his family, for his community, for the soldiers under him, as he was a Captain in the Roman Army. He prayed for those over him. He prayed for more Gospel light to shine upon his pathway. He prayed to be a better husband, a better father, a better neighbor, a better soldier for his country, and a better soldier for his God. . . . God answered his prayers. Amen.

RIGHT USE OF STEEP LAND

Steep, rough, eroded land should be devoted to grazing crops such as sericea, kuzu, and grass-legume mixtures. Forage grown on such land and harvested by cattle can be sold in the form of dairy products and beef.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Typhus Fever

Typhus fever is one of the diseases known as a rickettsial disease. This name is used because the germs causing typhus and Rocky Mountain spotted fever are the ricettsiae. In size these germs are between bacteria and the viruses. Many and widely separated parts of the world have been plagued by these diseases, and all down thru history they have taken their large toll of lives. For example, the Black Hole of Calcutta is notorious because of typhus fever.

These diseases are problems for physicians and civic agencies alike because the carriers thrive in places of filth and poor hygiene. For example, murine typhus is carried by a flea, which may live in the fur of a rat or squirrel. So it is important that the rats be killed and your property be kept free of fleas and places where they may live.

The rickettsial diseases usually begin with feelings of discomfort but often they begin with chills followed by feveer. Severe headaches and pain in the back and legs, furred tongue, high temperature, rapid pulse, congested eyes, flushed skin, vomiting, and even delirium in severe cases are some of the symptoms. There are varying degrees

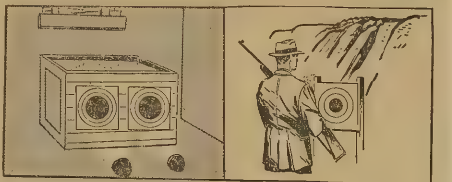
HOW TO SHOOT A RIFLE

By ARTHUR E. COOK
National and Olympic Rifle Champion

Where To Shoot



Finding a safe place to shoot is most important. A safe shooter is a skillful shooter — he knows where every bullet is going and he has a backstop behind his target to stop the bullet. This applies both to hunting and target shooting. And no matter what kind of shooting you intend to do, get your practice on the target range. It is the only good way to learn the basics.

For beginners I recommend firing at 50 feet, the standard indoor distance. Later you can increase to 50 and 100 yards, the standard outdoor distances. The illustration at left above shows a safe bullet stop for a 50-foot range in your basement or shed. Fill a large packing box or crib with sand and place it in front of a solid brick or masonry wall. Board-up all windows with steel or one-inch hardwood. Reinforce the front of the box and arrange lights as shown. Sand about eighteen inches from front to back will stop .22 caliber bullets, but remember to repack it regularly.

Outdoors select a steep hill or bank which is free from rocks and hang your target in front of it. Build a simple frame to hold your target; don't tack it to a tree or the bullets will ricochet dangerously.

Best of all join or form a rifle club in your community or school and build a real range. You will quickly become safe and skillful.

(This instruction based on the booklet, "HOW TO SHOOT A RIFLE," published by The National Rifle Association, Washington, D. C.)

Never point your gun muzzle at anything you do not intend to shoot!

WHY MORE CORN PER ACRE?

It takes just as much time to plow, plant and cultivate an acre that's going to produce 21½ bushels of corn (Alabama 1948 average) as it does to do this work on an acre that will produce 50 or more bushels.

Fifty or more bushels of corn per acre impossible in Alabama? Not at all. Using hybrid seed corn of varieties found to be weevil-resistant and best for various Alabama soils and climate, by using fertilizer of the kind and quantity found to increase yields and by planting winter legumes on acres to be planted in corn, many Alabama farmers are getting 50 or more bushels to the acre. Some—242 of them—became members of the Alabama 100-Bushel Clubs by producing 100 bushels or more during the 1948 crop year. (During 1947, the number of Alabama acres producing 100 bushels or more totaled 46.) Last year 302 produced 50 bushels or more per acre on their entire cron of five acres.

Farmers enjoying these high yields sold some of their crop as corn. Much of it they sold more profitably as meat, milk and eggs.

How these high yields were obtained is revealed in the facts learned by the Agricultural Experiment Station of Alabama Polytechnic Institute and published in helpful bulletins. County agents of the Extension Service of the Institute will gladly give you these facts. Ask them.

We congratulate the officials of the town on the painting of the water tank. This work has created quite a good deal of interest to those who have been fortunate in watching the work. These young men are indeed skilled in this work and it has been breath taking to watch how they have carried on their work, suspended in the air almost and swinging from one side to another and from top to bottom of the huge structure, almost as if it were mere play. This huge tank has been painted inside throughout, as well as outside, and the work was carried on in such a way that the Town was not without water at any time. Its been a big job well done.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Hayes were Sunday dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes.

Veterans' Institutinal On-The-Farm Training

The greatest job a man ever attempted was to get started on a farm, realize he is going to be a farmer the rest of his life, then take it in his own hands to make a go of it.

In my opinion, this is exactly what Lee O. Cox of Rt. 2, Clanton, Ala. has done; not that he has a first-rate farm as compared with the best farmers of this county, but that he has made more improvements on his particular farm during the last year than the above-the average farmer. Only a few of these improvements are mentioned here.

Since Mr. Cox came on the farm-training-program in March, 1948, many steps have been taken towards such things as establishing permanent and temporary pasture which includes one acre of alfalfa that is electrically fenced and is being utilized by hog-grazing as well as hay-cuttings, one-third acre re-seeding Crimson clover being worked into the egg production program by furnishing green grazing for hens and other chickens on the farm, two acres of sericea which furnishes grazing and hay for cattle and horses as well as provides for economical drainage and soil building. The year-round pasture which is electrically fenced is seeded with dallas grass, common lespedeza, white dutch clover and several intermediate grasses thinly sown.

Mr. Cox plans a farm program which will net him over two thousand dollars this year. Crops included in this program are 15 acres of corn, one acre of hygear, one acre of alfalfa, two acres of soybeans, five acres of cotton, one acre of strawberries, two acres early corn and two acres of watermelons; the livestock program consists of three meat hogs, two milk cows, one brood sow and seventy-five laying hens.

Plans are being made at the present time to net Mr. Cox an even larger income from his farm in years to come.

CANCER CONTROL OUR PERSONAL PROBLEM

Self-interest demands that "We be our brothers keeper", at least in the field of cancer control. Cancer is more than a merical problem it is a community problem, an economic problem, a personal problem.

Here in Alabama we are fortunate to have excellent facilities for treating cancer. Some of the best trained medical men in the cancer field practice here in our own state but these men and these facilities can do very little for cancer patients unless they are permitted to start treating it in its very earliest stages.

No one can predict just who cancer will strike but if we know its danger signals and act quickly at least one-third or probably one-half of those stricken can definitely be cured.

Once each year the American Cancer Society appeals to the public for the funds which make possible a program of public education, better care for more cancer patients and comprehensive and coordinated research into the causes and cure for all types of the disease. The raising of funds is only a means to an end, but is highly important. We need men, women, boys, and girls to help with the job. A recent nation-wide survey showed that nine out of every ten persons will contribute to the American Cancer Society, if someone asks them to give. We cannot let ourselves down and a failure to cooperate now will mean more lives lost to cancer in the future.

7 TIMES HOTTER

The Bible constantly uses physical figures for spiritual truth, for we must liken the unseen and the unheard to the things we see and hear. Religion has to do with the things that "eye hath not seen, ear hath not heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man" to understand. So the figures for the future of the good and of the evil are taken from the physical realm with which we are familiar. Harps in our hands and walking on golden streets are metaphors for the high privileges that await the servants of God in heaven. Likewise the pit and sulphurous fumes and heat that is "SEVEN TIMES HOTTER" are figures that represent the spiritually intolerable situation in which the wicked shall find themselves in the future life. None of these material figures, not even the molten metal blast furnace scene above, is strong enough to convey the actual situation to be confronted. Think of the two ideas that are conveyed partially in our concept of hell: absence from the presence of God and the remorseful memory of an awakened soul, who has finally come to understand the enormity of the evil which he had committed. To be without God and without hope is the most terrible fate that can befall any man. Do you remember Edward Everatt Hale's story of THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY? That will suggest something of the almost unendurable plight of a human soul who has lost all sense of the Divine; no good thing to live for, no dependable order in the universe, no guide to affairs anywhere, a topsy turvy world without sense or rhyme. The mental suffering of such a soul far surpasses anything the human mind can conceive. Then think of the remorse of a man who has finally come to see the far reach of the wicked thing he has done, never to be able to forget, nor to turn his eyes away from the horrible results of his wrong doing. Such is the 'Christian Hell', not something God purposes for any man, but a fate from which the loving God has sought by every means within His power to save us. Surely no thinking person will purpose such a future for himself; God will do His best to save us from it; but man is finally the captain of his soul; and even God cannot save a man from himself and his own future that he chooses; only we ourselves can do that.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

Cox-Lawrence Nuptial Vows Are Read

Mr. and Mrs. Claudius Owen Lawrence have just returned from a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast. They were married recently at the Thorsby Baptist Church, The Rev. John Rollins officiating. Music was presented by Mrs Erle Ellis, soloist; Mrs. Raymond Mims, organist, and Mrs. Carlisle Miller, violinist.

Mrs. Lawrence, the former Inez Cox was given in marriage by her father. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cox. A shirred satin fold caught with orange blossoms outlined the sheer yoke of her white satin wedding gown. Covered buttons fastened the fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. The full flowing skirt extended into a court train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of lace and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white tulips centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Archie G. Roberts, of Birmingham, was matron of honor. Lace filled the off-shoulder neckline of her pink taffeta dress. The full bustle back skirt was attached to a fitted bodice at the low basque waistline. Bridesmaids wore taffeta dresses with bouffant skirts of three corded tiers and bows tying the stoles and fischu collars to the fitted strapless bodices. Misses Norma Honeycutt and Carol Daniel wore green, Misses Dorothy Phillips and Mary Collins were in yellow and Misses Elizabeth Collins and Mona Smith were gowned in blue. They carried arm bouquets of yellow tulips; Diane Smith, of Birmingham, and Mary Etta Propst, of Clanton, were junior bridesmaids and Dorothy Nell Mims was flower girl.

Mr. Lawrence is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Lawrence. Dr. Lawrence served him as best man and ushers included Dan C. Smith, Archie G. Roberts, Birmingham; Joe Lawrence, Selma; Lamar DeLoach, Clanton; Dr. William E. Lawrence, Tuscaloosa; James Walker, Clanton; Larry Smith of Birmingham was ring bearer.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Serving were Mrs. R. O. Beckham, Mrs. W. L. Martin, Mrs. Frank E. Porter, Miss Joan Christiansen and Mrs. Dan C. Smith.

After their wedding trip the couple is at home in Tuscaloosa where both the bride and bridegroom are students at the University of Alabama.

Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Roberts, Nannett Roberts, Penny Roberts, Nancy Green, Mrs. V. H. Vines, Mrs. R. O. Beckham, Mr. and Mrs. Dan C. Smith, Diane Smith, Larry Smith, Mr. and W. D. Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Daniel, Carol Daniel.

Miss Dorothy Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Ira Martin, Linda Martin, Birmingham; Miss Mona Carl Smith, Dr. William E. Lawrence, Tuscaloosa; Mrs. Cullen Mortan, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Abernathy, Jr., Mrs. Roy Wilson, Moundville; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lawrence, Selma; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cowart, Miss Jessy Cowart, Calera; Mrs. Eli Robinson, Lowndesboro; Mrs. Max Redick, Montgomery; Miss Frances Martin, McKenzie; Mr. and Mrs. W. AUNT SAMANTHY RULES THE THE ROOST

3 Act Comedy

Aunt Samanthy (Opal Taylor), a man-hating, eccentric old maid who owns a chicken farm, frightens all the young men away from her charming young nieces, Serena (Patsy Duncan), and Sophie (Eva Jo Walker), who lives with her. Serena is gradually becoming just like her aunt, but Sophie rebels and starts something She writes love messages on some of the eggs being shipped and signs them "Miss Simpkins." Meanwhile, Polly (Lois Smith), the hired girl, buys some love powders from a fortune teller to whom she has confided that Buddy Baskins (Charles McGee), the grocery boy, does not return her affections. She puts the powder in lemonade which she intends to offer Buddy but Samanthy and Lucien Littlefield (Bob McKinney) partake of the lemonade first. Then the hilarity starts, for the powder really works. You would never know Samanthy. Serena, too, imbibes, and is a changed person. The climax of the fun is reached when Samanthy's two man-hating spinister friends, Annie Ambrose, Willie Mae Bone) and Blanche Bowers (Dorothy Dennis) drink some of the lemonade. They try to take Lucien away from Samanthy. In the midst of this hilarity, Lawrence Lovewell (Harvey Smith), who has received one of the message-bearing eggs arrives to claim Samanthy as his soul mate. Blair Bowell (Cecil Smith), Serena's boy friend and Frank Fairfield (Hillard Smith), Sophie's boy friend come on the scene to complicate things more.

This play will rock you almost to hysterics with clean, wholesome laughter.

Everyone is invited to come and see the climax on Friday, April 8th at 8 p. m. at Maplesville High School Auditorium

EARLY SWEET POTATOES

To have sweetpotatoes to harvest in August, it's necessary to set plants early. At Auburn, the usual planting date recommended by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station is April 2, or one month after the average last killing frost.

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

"Let's Build a Home for '57'." In case you've heard that phrase on WKLF here lately and wonder what it means, here's the tip-off. Our local Scout outfit is Troop 57, and there will be a drive starting within a few days to raise $3,000 to build a new scout building to serve as home base for Clanton's scouts. Look for a picture of the proposed home elsewhere in this paper.

Phil Kipp, District forester for the statee division of forestry, and Charlie Gay, forest ranger, were interview on "Facts for Farmers" last Friday. Charlie reports that despite the wet weather, there have been many fires in Chilton County this spring. Certainly we all need to be more careful.

The National Safety Council is now promoting a home safety drive which is centered around the slogan, "Don't be A Gracie." The reference is to Gracie Allen (of the popular radio show of "Burns and Allen") who always gets into dangerous situations in her home, with the sweet complacency of too many housewives. Several short programs have been prepared for use by local radio stations, including WKLF. They are very entertaining, as well as educational. Be listening for them.

I don't like to mention unpleasant things in "Radio Ramblings," but there is something that I would like to mention to you. We here at WKLF feel that this is really YOUR station, and that it should be run as to best benefit the citizens of this section. For example, we like to have you folks come up and witness broadcasts, meet our staff, and see us ta work. But we like to have our studios in at least a reasonable degree of order, so that you won't get a bad impression of our housekeeping. But the truth is that some of you have been very un-cooperative in helping us to keep our studios presentable. Especially during the weekends, the afternoon finds the studios littered with paper, popcorn, peanut hulls, and various and sundry other materials. Now I know that you don't purposely dirty up the studios it's just that you don't think about it. And that's why I'm reminding you of that fact here. When someone from out of town comes by to see our radio station, they are likely to get the wrong impression of the station, and consequently the town. We'd like to have a clean house when you come to see us. Won't you do your part?

Last week's lucky tag numbers on "Tag Time" were 14 D 198; 14C 2808; 14C 1464; 14C 269; and 14C876. Listen for your number each day at 12:05.

"Hunting and Fishing Roundup" is a new ABS program that all you local sporting fans will want to hear. It is now on WKLF each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 5:30 p.m. Immediately following this will be the usual sportscast, followed at 6:00 by a summary of the latest world news. There's three-quarters of an hour of fine listening for you at the 980 spot on your dial.

That's sign off time for this week. Until next Thursday, so long, and good listening.

OFF TO SUNDAY SCHOOL

Every American child, irrespective of creed, should have a knowledge of God to combat a rising generation which has no God, and moreover, feels one is unnecessary.

Religion and Morality is the basis of Patriotism and we should equip those who will carry on with the moral fortitude necessary to combat the inroad of alien, godless ideologies.

HELP CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Here's how you can celebrate Easter

What does Easter mean to you? Sunrise Services . . . new spring clothes, baskets of gaily colored eggs for the children?

It means that Easter Seal time is here again, too. It means that through these seals you'll be helping crippled children in your own community to a better chance in life.

The money you contribute by buying Easter Seals is used for this one important purpose . . . to provide handicapped children with adequate medical care... with wheel chairs and braces and a lot of other things they need.

It's used to give them specialized vocational training . . . healthful recreation . . . a chance to go to camp in the summer... to swim and romp and play games like other kids.

So why not celebrate this Easter by buying more Easter Seals. Remember,

Every Easter Seal you buy helps a Crippled Child

UNITY-CHILTON ASSOCIATIONS TO BE ON AIR AT 5:30 EACH SATURDAY MORNING

Rev. Luther W. Woodward will be in charge of fifteen minutes for the Unity-Chilton Associations. He will be calling on others to assist him. Tune in on WKLF each Saturday at 5:30 a.m. Mr. H. E. Sarber of the Sarber Vault Co., Elmore, Ala., is paying for the time.

While crops are being planted it would be a great help to the cause of Christ and His Church if you would set aside a parcel of ground and name it "GOD'S ACRE." You could help pay the expenses of your church and help our Mission work in the two associations.

Rev. J. W. Jones, Cooper, will read an article of interest to every one Sunday, April 17, at 6:00 to 6:15 p.m. Listen in over WKLF, Clanton. Hear this message on "A Negro Editor of the North Writes on the Race Problem in the South."

FROM BASEBALL DIGEST ABOUT JACKIE HAYES

Clanton's Jackie Hayes saw several spring exhibition games at the Detroit Tigers training camp in Florida this spring while visiting his old pals Ted Lyons and Red Rolfe. It may seem strange to say "saw" for Jackie is blind.

But the former star second baseman explains it this way in the May issue of BASEBALL DIGEST. "Loss of my eyesight gave me keener insight. I form a mental picture with mental vision instead of eye vision and I know what's going on."

Jackie says he enjoys baseball now almost as much as he did when he had his sight and played for fourteen brilliant seasons with the Washington Senators and the Chicago White Sox.

"I visualize in my mind the pitcher, the batter and others. But of course, I knew so many ball players I have an advantage there."

With his constant companion, a Seeing-eye dog named Abana, Hayes ably handles his job as county tax collector in Clanton, the magazine reports.

"I am happy there," Jackie says, "but I like to 'see' a few ball games in the spring. I like to visit with old pals like Lyons, Rolfe and others in the game; to hear the diamond lingo again. That sure is living, man."

Calendar For Catholic Holy Week Announced

Easter Sunday, April 17th, the Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at the Catholic Chapel of the Resurrection at 8:30 a.m. by the Reverend J. Stanley, C. R., of Montgomery, Ala. Confessions will be heard at 7:45 a.m. Telephone 266-J.

Holy Thursday observance, commemorates the institution of the Sacrament of Holy Eucharist, and Holy Orders.

Good Friday "The Tre Ore" or three hours agony of our Lord, will be observed from 12 to 3:00 p.m.

The Tre Ore is one of the most impressive of Holy Week Functions. It consists of prayers, sacred canticles, and meditations, bearing upon some one of those seven wonderful sayings by our Lord during the agony of His Crucifixion, as recorded by the Evangelists:

"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

"This day thou shalt be with Me in Paradise."

"Behold Thy Son. Behold thy Mother!"

"My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me!"

"I thrist!"

"It is finished."

"Father, into Thy Hands I commend my spirit."

Bad Weather Cost Peach Growers Several Huudred Thousand Dollars

Chilton County peach growers hopes for a bumper crop of quality fruit have been considerably reduced during the past two weeks.

The important shipping varieties, Elberta, Hale Haven, and J. H. Hale trees bloomed heavily and set a normal or near normal crop of peaches. These small peaches have been on the trees for approximately three weeks and to date many trees have failed to develop any leaves. This lack of leaf growth can seriously reduce the 1949 crop and unless development occurs immediately many growers will suffer heavily from dead trees.

From the best information that we can secure we will have to blame our peach troubles on the weather man and can only wait and hope for rapid leaf bud development to save trees.

According to the U.S.D.A.'s horticulturist, J. R. Magness, our peach crop trouble is about as follows:

Peach trees for proper development and fruit production, must be exposed to 600 to 900 hours below 45 degrees F. This exposure is required to break the rest period and cause normal bud development. The blossom or fruit buds require slightly less domant time than the leaf buds. Unless leaves develop at the time or shortly after blossoms the young fruit will die because of a lack of food from the leaves.

In everyday language our fruit trees failed to get their nap out and are waking up in a very foul humor. Probably in such a foul humor that it will cost Chilton farmers several hundred thousand dollars.

The total damage can't be accurately measured until after the May-drop; but for the time being all we can do is hope for more rapid leaf bud development and wait.

JEMISON F.F.A. MEMBERS PLAN BUSY YEAR

The Eighty-Eight Jemison F.F.A. members have made plans for one of their liveliest years. Each member plans to have a minimum of three productive projects such as pole beans, brood sows, tomatoes, strawberries, etc., and in addition each plans three improvement projects like home improvement, soil improvement, home grounds improvements, etc.

L. C. Shields, teacher of agriculture at Jemison, states that the number of F.F.A. members has almost doubled in the last four years.

Of the productive projects planned this year 72 members plan corn projects, 27 plan tomato projects, 27 plan market hog projects, 15 plan for pole beans, 10 plan for brood sows, 10 for sweet potatoes, 13 for chickens and 7 for watermelons. These are only a few of the different projects planned. They plan twenty-nine different kinds of projects in all.

Those students having the greatest number of projects are as follows:

Reece Nichols—2 acres feed corn, 2 acres grain sorghum, 5 acres cotton, 2 beef cows, 30 turkeys, 2 acres tomatoes, and 1 dairy heifer. He also plans home ground improvement, home improvement, soil and pasture improvement.

Horaoe Burnett—1 acre sweet corn, 1 acre butter beans, 1 acre of Thompson's prolific corn, and 1 acre of collards.

In addition to these productive projects Horace plans soil and pasture improvement.

James Guy — 2 acres feed corn, 2 acres cotton, 1 acre tomatoes, 2 acres squash, 1 acre turnips; home and barn improvement.

Homer Dean Sammons—1 acre tomatoes, 1 acre feed corn, 1 acre market corn, ½ acre pole beans; home, home grounds and barn improvements.

A number of students have 4 productive projects and one or more improvements projects.

Old Inhabitants Are Dying Fast

Several old Clanton inhabitants have been seen dropping on the streets of our city lately. Some of them residents for a hundred years or more. But it will have to be admitted their going improves the scenery about town a lot. They were getting so old and shaggy that they were ruining the view.

The Street Department is doing a good job on cleaning out these old giants along our streets. Certainly the land owners hate to see them go. Folks become attached to anything that has been theirs a long time. But there is a great improvement in the appearance of the property and streets where they have cut the big trees away.

Legislative Program Of The A.E.A.

The Alabama Education Association will present to the Legislature that meets in May one of the most far-reaching programs for education that the State of Alabama has ever faced. The program will call for an expenditure of close to $95 million for the year 1949-1950. Although this sum may seem at first view a large outlay of money for education, it does anticipate Federal Aid For Education. This would mean approximately $19 million coming to the State of Alabama. In order for the people of Chilton County to become better acquainted with this program, there will be a series of articles in this paper in the coming weeks.

The underlying priniciple behind this program will be the employment of teachers on a twelve months basis rather than the present nine months. This will mean twelve months of service for the teachers but does not mean twelve months of school for the pupils. Teachers will be employed during the summer months in such activities as summer schools, community improveent projects, adult education, supervision of recreational activities, and other fields of service.

This progra will call for the employment of more teachers in order to reduce the sizes of present classes. In turn, this will mean more attention to the individual child and improvement of teaching. It will mean higher salaries to attract the better qualified teachers and will encourage the better teachers to remain in the profession.

The program will provide for improvement of our school buildings and the building of more classrooms. It will provide for a much needed improvement in our over-crowded transportation system. It will mean the addition of vocation education units in many of the schools in the state. It will provide for more supervision and administrative personnel.

The major points that have been mentioned in this article will be discussed more fully in forthcoming issues. We urge you to study the program and become acquainted with it. Much study and careful work has gone into the preparation of the program. The purpose will be to improve our whole educational system to provide the boys and girls of our schools with an education that will equip them for life.

FOLSOM TO TESTIFY BEFORE WASHINGTON COMMITTEE

I. S. Levine Easter Seals Chairman Urges Donations

"Place your contribution in an envelope and mail to Chairman I. S. Levine whether you receive Easter Seals or not." That was the comment by Mr. Levine Tuesday when he was questioned as to whether or not there were enough Easter Seals to go around. Mr. Levine is sending the Easter Seals out this week. As you already know the money from sale of the seals go to the crippled children.

KIWANIS NEWS

Mr. Bailey of the Soil Conservation Service spoke to the local club last week. He brought out some very good thoughts on the importance of soil conservation and the value of our land.

Attendance was up last week. Let's keep it that way. Clanton Kiwanis is tops in every way except attendance. Just a little extra effort on the part of some of us will correct this situation.

Support of churches (Houston Nivens, chrm.) has charge of this week's program. Each member is supposed to bring a non-Kiwanis church member as his guest.

Ladies' Night is coming up soon. Rumor has it that there will be fried chicken, as well as plenty of entertainment. No doubt the fried chicken was Joe Campbell's idea!

Remember the new meeting time—7 o'clock.

KIWANIS PLEDGES FOR SCOUTS

Members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club have already pledged $500 toward helping build the Boy Scout Building, it was disclosed this week by Jack Hayes, solicitations chairman for the drive.

A total of $3,000 is needed for constructing the building, which will be located in the city park, and will serve as "home base" for Scout Troop 57 of Clanton. Roy Roper is chairman of the drive, and is again demonstrating the kind of enthusiasm that he has for scout work for many years.

Citizens of Clanton are urged to give their support to local youth in this drive. Our scouts are doing a fine job, and certainly the least we can do is to back them up.

ABC AGENTS COP 248 STILLS DURING MARCH RAIDS

Montgomery — Continuing the drive to end "moonshining" in Alabama, law enforcement agents of the state's ABC system moved in on 248 stills last month.

In making the announcement, Chief of ABC Law Enforcement Joseph T. Burton said that the seized stills were capable of brewing 41,384 gallons of bootleg whiskey per month. This quantity, he estimated, would have sold for approximately $331,072 at present market prices.

Burton added that 488 persons were hauled in in connection with illicit making and handling of liquor.

VETERANS FARM TRAINING PROGRAM

Soil conservation, land building, good feed crops and enough cash crops to provide a year-round income — four things to remember and practice if a farmer is to make a success at farming.

Ask Mr. Willie L. Smith, a veteran participating in on the farm training, and he will tell you that to carry out these four practices keeps one man pretty busy.

Willie has two tractors and one mule to tend the 90 acres he has in cultivation. He plans to dispose of one tractor and his mule after he has prepared and planted his land.

His soil conservation program consists of 5 meadow strips, turn rows, and 70 acres of new nichols type terraces, completed this spring. This fall he plans to sow reseeding crimson clover in his sericea to provide winter grazing.

To build his land, Willie sowed down his entire farm in winter cover crops. Though they got off to a slow start, his vetch and Austrian winter peas got a nice growth before they were turned.

Willie's feed crops include 8 acres oats, 10 acres pasture sowed down in White Dutch clover and Dallis grass last fall. This fall his plans include 2 acres fescue grass in his permanent pasture. Of the 25 acres corn he is planting, 8 acres will be in hybrids, Pfisters 630 and Funks 714.

To provide a year-round income, Willie has 1½ acres dewberries, 3 acres strawberries, 12 acres peaches. He is planting 35 acres cotton and is well on the way toward his 3,000 fryer goal for the year.

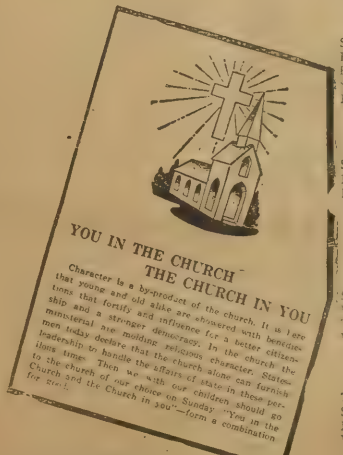
GO TO CHURCH ON SUNDAY

The WORLD For CHRIST
Holy Bible

"JESUS shall reign where e'er the sun does his successive journeys run." That is the radiant faith of every true Christian. We are sure of the world's need of the light that flows from the sacred page and from the candles that we have lighted before Him who is the Light of the world. We are equally confident that our Christ has what a needy world must have for its health and its salvation. The needy world and the adequate Lord must be brought together; wherever He has been preached men have called the message 'Good News' and darkened places have become bright with promise and with assurance of final redemption.

BUT who is to win the world for Christ? Will He not draw all men to himself if He is but lifted up? And how can that be done? Of course the preachers must do their part and missionaries must be trained to travel every sea in His service. The air ships must become bearers of the Eternal Word, the Bread of Life, even as they are chartered to carry the products of human industry. They link nation to nation and continent to continent for the commerce of the spirit as well as for the spreading of human goods. That means that you and I shall become the everyday ambassadors of the Gospel, that every ship whether of the sea or of the air, on which we travel shall be pressed into the service of the Lord of Life. In other words, we must have done with the old slogan, 'Let George do it.' Every land is a missionary land and every Christian must become responsible for the spreading of the Gospel. The early Christians carried the news of God's love and grace where-ever they traveled around the earth; Paul and Barnabas were but two of a mighty company who were sent out by the Spirit of God. Let your light shine! Go to Church regularly.



YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

Protect Public Property

Next Monday morning at eight o'clock the parking meters will go into operation in Clanton. It is sincerely hoped that the driving public, and the younger pedestrains for that matter, will cooperate with the City authorities in taking care of this property.

Several places where the meters have been installed children have ruined the meters for periods of time by stuffing chewing gum, and other obstructions, into the coin slot, thus costing the City money and time in repairing the meter. This is indication of poor training of our children and Mayor Jones urges the aid of parents of Clanton and Chilton County, in protecting the city's property against such vandalism here.

Under proper management the meters can be of much help to our parking situation. Our streets can be used for "shopping space," instead of "parking space." If you come to town to "shop," it can only cost you a penny or two, to make your purchase and be on your way. If you come to "park," it is better your automobile should be on a side or back street, where it can be out of the way until you are ready to drive home.

The main thing is to cooperate with our public officials. They are trying to make a better city and county for us to live in. If each does his or her part it will make their job easier.

This Is Cancer Month

Alabamians were reminded today that April is Cancer Control Month. The warning came from the State Health Officer.

"Much progress has been made in recent years in the curbing of this major killer," said Dr. D. G. Gill. "The cancer outlook is vastly more hopeful than it was say, ten years ago. More cases are being cured. More people are beginning treatment in early stages. Much of the old-time horror of the disease has disappeared. People are beginning to regard cancer as they regard other serious illnesses."

Dr. Gill urges Alabamians to be on the watchout for: 1. Sore that do not heal promptly and properly; 2. Presistent indigestion; 3. Presistent and unexplained hoarseness; 4. Bleeding from natural body openings; 5. Lumps, especially in the breast; 6. Difficulty in swallowing.

"One or more of these may not mean that a person has cancer," he said, "But they should make him think of this disease. They should also make him go to his doctor or a cancer clinic for a diagnosis."

FIVE POLIO PRECAUTIONS ARE LISTED FOR PARENTS

Warning that the 1949 polio season is "just around the corner," the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today issued a list of precautionary measures to be observed by those in charge of children during the epidemic danger period which usually runs from May through October, reaching its peak during the hot, mid-summer months. The five easy-to-follow health rules for children are:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.

2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise, or irregular hours.

3. Avoid swimming in polluted water. Use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.

4. Avoid sudden chilling. Remove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes.

5. Observe the golden rule of personal cleanliness. Keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects. Garbage should be tightly covered and, if other disposal facilities are lacking, it should be buried or burned.

The National Foundation also listed the following symptoms of infantile paralysis: headache, nausea or upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, and unexplained fever. Should polio strike in your family, call a doctor immediately. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by qualified medical personnel often prevent serious crippling, the National Foundation pointed out.

The organization emphasized that fear and anxiety should be held to a minimum. A calm, confident attitude is conducive to health and recovery. Parents, it said, should remember that of all those stricken, 50 per cent or more recover completely, while another 25 per cent are left with only slight after effects.

If polio is actually diagnosed, contact the chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis serving your community. The chapter will pay that part of the cost of care and treatment which patient or family cannot meet.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

For you folks who have a little trouble in making monthly collections, here is a little jingle that might do the trick without hurting feelings. Of course you don't want to use it until you have given the creditor a fair chance to pay up. Too, and aside to those we owe, you need not send us one as we tried it on ourself and it don't work:

It'll only take a minute,
It don't call for lots of fuss.
You just put your Johnny Hancock
On a check made out to us.
We'd thank you folks an awful lot
To clean up what you owe.
We know you don't mind too much
Cause gosh, we need the dough.

The parking meters are installed and on the job. They're on Second Avenue and also on Sixth Street. However, on Sixth Street they are just on one side between Second and Third Avenues. That is quite an improvement moving that curb back along by the side of Rockett's Hardware too. That gives that half block there a lot more room and it was needed. It won't be long before work will start on moving back the curb on the highway through town.

Killed a snake right in front of the News office last week. He was playing around in the gutter. Fellow passing by said he was a spreading adder and we suppose that is what he was referring to. However, whatever it was it didn't have time to do much spreading. We take that back, when Vernon Payne, who works in the back shop, landed on the snake with his number elevens it did do quite a bit of spreading.

Speaking of Vernon, he fell off the deep end Sunday. He was married to Miss Marietta Hamilton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hamilton. We wish for both all the happiness possible for two swell young folks through all the years to come.

We're going to start a column pretty soon to run weekly in the News. We're going to call it "Along Main Street," and we're going to visit the stores each week and tell you of the bargains we find there. For instance we will go into each store and if they are offering something extra special that we think would be of use to you and is a real bargain we are going to tell you about it and in which store you will find it. We hope the column wi be of service to you and the merchants. If it is, tell the merchants about it when you make a call. Watch for the opening stanza in an early issue.

A newspaper editor, with some space to fill, set up the Ten Commandments and ran them in the paper without editorial comment. Soon after the paper was off the press, he got a letter from a surscriber which said: "Cancel my subscription; you're getting too personal."

Had the pleasure last week of meeting Ira Watson, owner of the local Watson's, and several other stores under the same name. He was brought to the office and introduced by manager Linton, of the local store. Mr. Watson is a likable old gentleman, and progressive. He appeals to us as a man who is much more anxious to lead, than to follow. We hope his visits to Clanton will be many and he will get the opportunity to meet and know all of our business and professional leaders. Mr. Watson has something for Clanton and Chilton County and Clanton and Chilton County has something for him.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Farm Accidents

There are 19,000 accidental deaths on farms every year. This totals up to an economic loss of one billion dollars annually. Also enough time is lost to the farmer through accidents to produce more than half the average wheat crop in the United States.

More than one-third of farm accidents occur in homes from such principal causes as burns, poisons, suffocation and firearms. Farm work deaths are placed at 4,300 a year, and motor vehicles account for about 1,000 of these fatal accidents. In addition, there are 1,500,000 non-fatal farm accidents every year, but many of these cause permanent crippling.

The farm division of the National Safety Council has declared, "Agriculture is far behind most of the groups in safety endeavors." Only recently has a beginning been made to reduce farm accidents. Being alert to farm hazards will ultimately produce a safety consciousness on the part of farm people. A farm safety program means the changing of some of the basic habits of 27,000,000 people. Their habits of work, play, driving and living must be changed to reduce the cause of accidents.

There is an explanation for this large number of farm accidents. Much of the farmer's work is done early in the morning or late at night when it is dark. There are animals to be considered, and carelessness with them often results in tragedy. Farmers try to do their own repair work on buildings, and falls are frequent.

It cannot be urged too strongly at this time of great farm activity that everything possible be done to reduce the accidents on farms. Thus you will surely be benefiting yourself and your country. Where ever possible remove the cause for accident, and when this is not possible use increased caution.

GATHER ROSES LATE INSTEAD OF EARLY

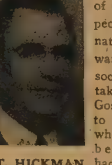
Better late than early is the advice of Alice Peavy, A.P.I. Extension Service home management specialist, when it comes to gathering roses.

Recent studies show that blooms cut about 5 o'clock keep longer because they have more carborhydrates at the end of a sunny day.

Not-so-fresh eggs which are already in the refregerator may be distinguished from fresh ones just being placed there by an "X" marked on each with a soft lead-pencil.

Peter, The Intolerant Jew

You will need to read the 10th chapter of the Acts to learn about the intolerance of Simon Peter. He was a Jew, and had never associated himself with people of another nation; furthermore, he was not about to do so. But God showed Peter that his intolerance could only be rebellion against his doing the will of God. There were people of another nation that God wanted Peter to associate with, and to take unto them the Gospel of Christ, to tell them words whereby they could be saved. Peter had the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and his responibility was to open the door of the Gospel unto the Gentiles, that they, too, might be saved. In other words, God wanted to make a "foreign missionary" out of Peter.



A. T. HICKMAN

While Peter went upon the house top to pray, it was time for God to talk to him, and to cure him of his intolerance. Peter saw a great vision, a sheet let down from heaven full of all manner of four-footed beasts of the earth, wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the air. God spoke to Peter to rise, kill, and ea
But Peter answered, "Not so, Lor for I have never eaten anything com times, and then God told him not call that common or unclean, wh

he had cleansed, but for him to g and heard his testimony, and saw th

He confessed that God had show

Our intolerance toward other peop

BEES NEEDED

To insure good pollination of clover and fruit blossoms, one colony of bees for each acre of clover or fruit is needed. If bees are kept for honey production, three colonies will make enough honey for the average farm family.

FREEZE STRAWBERRIES IN THE HOME FREEZER

Auburn, Ala. — Strawberries are the best of all frozen fruit, is the opinion of Lavada Curtis, A.P.I. Extension Service food preservation specialist.

She explains that if strawberries to be frozen are red-ripe, they will hold their color much better than almost-ripe berries.

Use sugar or sugar-sirup to preserve color, texture, and aroma of berries. Berries will develop an off-color and an off-flavor very quickly after they are defrosted if sugar or sugar-sirup is not used. When dry sugar is used, the fruit must be mixed with the sugar until each berry is coated. Crushed strawberries retain their natural flavor better than whole or sliced berries.

To prepare the berries for freezing, wash, drain, and cap. Now weigh the berries and pack using one part sugar to three or four parts berries. If a sugar-sirup is used, it should be made by mixing three cups of sugar with four cups of water. If sugar is used, sprinkle it on the berries until they are thoroughly covered, then pack berries into containers and seal. If sirup is used, fill the containers with berries and cover with cold sirup. Seal and freeze at once.

SETTING TOMATO PLANTS

A starter solution poured around tomato plants when set in the field has been found profitable. The solution is made by adding one pound of 4-10-7 or 6-8-4 to each five gallons of water. Use about one-fourth to one-half pint of solution per plant.

J. Mell Martin and Sons Funeral Home was in charge.

JOHN HENRY GAY

Mr. John Henry Gay, age 73, of Rt. 1, Montevallo, died at the home of a daughter near Montevallo, Friday, April 8th, at 4:35 a.m. Funeral services were held at 11:00 Sunday at Providence with the Revs. Rabie Crumpton and W. A. Grant officiating. Interment was in the adjoining cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Willie D., John C., W. C., Horton, Arnold J., Earl Lewis Gay and Billie Joe Rasberry, all grandsons. Flower girls were the fourteen granddaughters.

J. Mell Martin & Sons in charge.

L. E. HICKS

Mr. L. E. Hicks, age 73, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., died April 1st. The remains were received by Spigener Funeral Home for burial. He was a brother of W. F. Hicks, who died March 16th.

Funeral services were held at 11:00 a.m., Sunday, conducted by the Reverend J. I. Bice from Shiloh Church. Interment was in the church cemetery. He is survived by nephews and neices.

Pallbearers were J. F. Poole, R. G. Culp, P. S. Headley, Gene Wilson, J. E. Kendrick and W. O. Owens.

Spigener Funeral Home was in charge.

CARD OF THANKS

We greatly appreciate all favors shown during the illness and death of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Maggie Carter. We especially thank Bro. Bice and Bro. Wilkins for their comforting words; also Martin Fueral Home for their service rendered. We thank Drs. Joe and Charles Moore. We thank each and every one for the beautiful flowers, especially the ones from the community. The Machinist Local and Continental Gin Shop.—The Family.

Keep a rubber mat handy on the enamel kitchen table and place mixing bowls on it to keep them from slipping.

LET PASTURES MAKE THREE-INCH GROWTH

Auburn, Ala.- Farmers who want to get the most grazing from pastures give them a chance to get well started.

S. R. Doughty, A.P.I. Extension Service soil conservationist, reveals that pastures grazed closely in the spring never seem to fully recover during the remainder of the season.

Pastures should be permitted to make at least three inches of growth before grazing is started. Until the pasture makes this growth, graze other crops such as oats, sericea, and winter legumes.

2, 4-D-FERTILIZER MIXTURE FOR LAWNS

A weedy grass is a starved grass. This is why a weed killer and fertilizer combination is recommended for lawns by the A.P.I. Agricultural Extension Service, Auburn.

Approximately 400 pounds per acre of 10-6-4 fertilizer, to which about four pounds of the sodium salt form of 2, 4-D have been added, should be used. It is better to use the ready-mixed preparation because of the difficulty in getting the 2,4-D thoroughly mixed.

Best time to apply the fertilizer-weed killer is when the ground is dry and both grass and weeds are growing actively. Make application in April and again in September. It will not kill clover.

WORTH OF ALABAMA PEANUTS

Peanuts are important to Alabama and Southeastern agriculture being second only to cotton and cottonseed as a cash field crop. In 1945, the estimated Alabama peanut crop was over 343,000,000 pounds. At an average price of around 10.3c per pound, the crop brought in more than 35 million dollars.

Woman's old problem relieved by 2-way help

What to do for woman's oldest problem, functional monthly pain? Many a girl and woman has found the answer in CARDUI's 2-way help. You see, CARDUI may make things lots easier for you in either of two ways: (1) started 3 days before "your time" and taken as directed on the label, it should help relieve functional periodic pain; (2) taken throughout the month like a tonic, it should improve your appetite, aid digestion, and thus help build up resistance for the trying days to come. CARDUI is scientifically prepared and scientifically tested. If you suffer "at those certain times", get CARDUI today.

DDT NOT FOR COWS METHOXYCHLOR IS

Producing dairy cattle should not be sprayed with DDT, according to both federal and state entomologists. Also, it is not wise to spray the inside of dairy barns with DDT.

Agents for the pure food and drug administration have found too many cases of contaminated milk where cattle or barns had been sprayed with DDT.

Fortunately, a chemical much less toxic to people than DDT has been found that will kill flies. It is methoxychlor (pronounced meth - OX - i-klor)

W. A. Ruffin, A.P.I. Extension Service entomologist, says that the chemical can be bought as a 50 per cent wettable powder. Use one pound of the material to four gallons of water. Spray barns every two to three months and spray cows about once a month or as needed.

TRACTOR AIR CLEANER

After 10 hours of operation the tractor air cleaner should be serviced. If a tractor is operating under extremely dusty conditions, the air cleaner should be serviced after each five hours of operation.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Sam Johnson has stated several times the progress of any livestock program depends upon feed. Sam has gone along with this line of thought and to give himself the benefit of the doubt, this year he has sowed approximately 15 acres of sericea and planted 5,000 kudzu crowns. On previous plantings of sericea which is now large enough to graze Sam is borrowing livestock to graze his pastures. How many of you have overgrazed?

If interested in seeing some of the new crops that are being recommended and others that are on trial drive through the Soil Conservation Nursery located South of Thorsby on the old highway. You will find Kentucky 31 Fescue alone and in combination with sericea, caley peas and hard seed Crimson Clover. Hard seed Crimson Clover, grandifloria vetch, button bur clover, manganese bur clover, subtranian bur clover, caley peas, lidana clover and others.

Cleo Coffen, states, "I have seeded a sericea waterway and I am ready for you to run me some terrace lines."

Julius Price is ready to plant his sericea on a part of the rough and steep land on his farm.

Wild-life borders of partridge peas and bicolor lespedeza were planted on two of Pete McGraw's farms last week.

Meadow outlets were also staked on Alton Murrah, G. W. Sessions, Paul B. B. Headley and O. C. Roseberry's farms recently.

LOW GRADE LOGS MAKE GOOD REPAIR LUMBER

Auburn, Ala. — A farmer who doesn't keep a stack of home-grown, custom-sawn boards often pays a high price for good repair lumber. Usually cheaper boards would serve the purpose and save him money.

I. R. Martin, A.P.I. Extension Service forester, points out that the man who cuts his low grade logs and hauls them to the mill for custom sawing gets his repair lumber for about one-third of the cash cost of the same lumber purchased outright. He adds that there are few wet weather jobs around the farm that will pay more money.

DAIRY PRODUCTS OFFER MORE FOOD FOR MONEY

Auburn, Ala — The average housewife spends 15 per cent of her food budget for dairy products and receives 30 per cent of her total needs.

J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. Extension Service dairyman, says that this is one of the many reasons more dairy products should be used.

Nail polish of the desired shade may be used to paint wooden buttons for dress trimmings.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING ON INCREASE IN STATE

Many Alabama dairymen are interested in artificial breeding of dairy cattle and, to date, have made much progress in this work.

What is known as a "bull stud" is located at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The services of seven Jersey and four Guernsey bulls at the "stud" are now available to a number of Alabama counties.

Farmers who wish to obtain artificial breeding service hold a meeting and organize a co-operative artificial breeding association in their county. A board of directors is elected to run the business of the organization. Semen from the bulls is shipped from Auburn to a trained breeding technician.

Since this program will do much to increase Alabama milk production, Pete Turnham, A.P.I. Extension Service specialist in dairying, believes that more dairymen will want to ask the local county agent for complete details about artificial breeding of dairy cows.

SIDE DRESSING COTTON WITH NITROGEN HELPS

Auburn, Ala. — Side dressing cotton with commercial nitrogen is a practice that has paid off in increased yields on most Alabama farms.

Records of the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station show that side dressing cotton with part of the nitrogen is more profitable than applying all of it before planting. However, on heavy soils, where there is a minimum of leaching, all of the nitrogen may be applied before planting cotton.

O. N. Andrews, A.P.I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist, also reminds farmers that since nitrogen stimulates the growth of grasses, heavy nitrogen fertilization before crops are planted may increase the labor of keeping young crops clean.

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

Outdoor and sports fans now have two special programs on WKLF. Each afternoon at 5:30 it's the "Hunting and Fishing Roundup," a very interesting and informative quarter hour. Then right after that, at 5:45, Dave Overton brings you the "Last Word in Sports."

This week has been Elmore County Week on "Facts for Farmers," at 12:15. Several leading farmers from Elmore County, and the county agent, participated in the broadcasts, which were recorded on several different farms.

This is word of defense for myself and the other announcers on WYLF. All the mistakes made in reading newscasts are not the fault of the announcer. Sometimes those gadgets called news machines make mistakes. Consequently, one might be reading along on a bit of news, and all of a sudden come to a word like this one, which came out of the machine last week: "PROBVQFWQQKQPACD." That of course isn't a word at all. It's a jumble of letters, produced by the machine. So next time you hear a newscast marred by a blunder, give the announcer the benefit of the doubt.

"Good morning, folks, this radio station WKLF. ... ." Those signing on words are now heard each morning at 5:15, as we take to the air thirty minutes earlier. Fred Gentry, the old hymn singer, is now heard at 5:15 instead of 6:45, with fifteen minutes of "Jesse's Jamboree" following at 5:30 before "Back to God and the Church" with Rev. Hyman Atcheson.

The Federal Communications Commission has recently opened a vast area of radio broadcasting service by releasing a segment of the high frequency band for use by civilians in their work on farms, etc. The range of these miniature radio broadcasting stations will be short, of course, and they will be used entirely non-commercially. An outfit like this will enable Pa to keep in touch with Ma back at the house when he is over at the back side of the old rock field, or over fixing the pasture fence. Not many details have been released as yet on the new civilian radio set-up, but you'll be hearing more about it in the near future.

Last week's lucky numbers on "Tag Time" were: 14D 589; 14C 483; 14C 1980; 14D 354; 14C 1215.

By popular request, the Easter Cantata, which was presented at the Clanton Methodist Church last Sunday and broadcast by WKLF, will be rebroadcast tomorrow (Friday) from 1:00 to 1:45. The program features entirely local talent, and is well worth your listening if you didn't hear it Sunday.

That's sign off time for this week. See you next Thursday. Until then, so long, and good listening.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On Sunday, April 10th, the children of Mrs. T. A. Maddox gathered at her home, surprising her with a birthday dinner. Monday, April 11th, was her birthday, but since some of the children could not be there on that day, we celebrated on Sunday with a bountiful dinner.

Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Maddox and Dot, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hayes, Ralph and Byron, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Maddox and Doris, all of Clanton Route One; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Eason Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Kellie Bean and Jo Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hayes and Linda, Mrs. Hilda Parker and Karen, all of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hayes and Sherry, of Wetumpka.

Mrs. Maddox received some, nice gifts which she appreciates.

A good time was had by all. The only sad thing, Mr. Maddox wasn't with us this time.

We gathered with him on the 12th of last September, that being his birthday, but since then the Lord has called him home to be with Him.

Yes, the family circle is broken. After supper all departed for their homes, wishing Mrs. Maddox many more happy birthdays.

PLEASANT GROVE METHODIST

We had a good crowd out for Sunday School Sunday. However, there is still room for improvement. The Pre-Easter revival held at Walnut Creek Church for the Clanton-Charge is still running and will continue until Wednesday night. Several from this church has been attending and they are having some real good old time services.

Choir practice will be held Friday night beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. A. R. Scott. All members be sure to come. There will be a sunrise program held at the church Sunday morning. Everybody is invited to attend this service. Saturday night is our regular preaching service. Come on out and let us fill the house because our pastor has been bringing some real heartfelt messages. And I am sure you will be blessed by coming out to hear him. We were proud to have Mrs. Leonard Culp and two little daughters with us Sunday. We invite them to come back and be with us any time they can.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Culp were the Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henley and Linda and Mrs. Mary Henley visited Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sanders Sunday afternoon.

Remember to come to preaching Saturday night and to Sunday School Sunday. Our church needs you and you need the church. There is always a hearty welcome to anybody that desires to come to our church.

THINGS WE SEE & HEAR

By "Tuck"

It looks to me like Fred Thompson leaves Shelby Studdard holding the bag every week end. How about it, Fred, why don't you stay home some time? You know, she can play hard to get, too, if she wants to.

I guess everyone has noticed the way Byron Lowery is keeping fit by practicing every day out on the foot ball field. Keep it up, Byron, you might need it sometimes.

Barbara Burnett gets cuter every day, doesn't she, folks?

Buddy Burdette hasn't got a girl yet, have you, Buddy? Or have you? For all I know he might have mine! And I'm not kidding.

Ruby Nell Crew seems to be looking at Myron Levine funny lately, and she laughs at just about anything that's SUPPOSED to be funny.

Say, why is it that girls are so hard to get along with? Every time I speak to one of them I end up in some kind of trouble and them out. Sometimes I wonder.

By the way, Bobby Shaw, Fred Donovan and Gerald Todd really messed themselves up good, didn't they, folks? But it does look all right on some people at that. Oh, in case anyone doesn't know what I'm talking about, it's their dyed hair.

Hey, Lally, Myron Levine, esq., is kinda horning in, isn't he? I think if I were you (Just advice, Lally.) I'd tell him who he should walk home with after school and who he shouldn't. (You know, I think you can manage.)

Mary Ann Taylor and Virgil Lowery seem to be doing okay lately.

Gerald Todd and Joanne Scott look like they enjoy themselves very much at Alred's every afternoon.

Say, Pat Broadhead, that sure is a nice looking ring you're sporting around, but don't let everybody see it. Joe Phillip might not like that.

NATIONAL GUARD SUMMER TRAINING

With its numerical strength greater than ever before in the history, the Alabama National Guard is ready itself for its annual two weeks summer training encampment. Approximately 9,000 men from all over the state are participating. It will be the largest summer training encampment ever held by the Alabama National Guard.

Clanton, which is the home of Company B, 167th Infantry Regiment, will be represented by approximately 100 men. This unit will be in camp at Fort Benning, Ga.

Summer training for National Guardsmen is provided at the expense of the Federal Government. The basic purpose of field training is to acquaint guardsmen with actual field conditions. The men are given extensive training in the use of all manner of weapons and in simulated combat.

Lt. Robert Ferrill Williamson, commanding officer of the Clanton unit declares that there are now 50 vacancies in his organization. These vacancies should be filled before the unit goes to camp as it will function more efficiently as a full strength organization.

The unit is now going all out to secure these additional men. Posters and literature are being spotted in public places. Lt. Williamson has made a public appeal for all young men to investigate the National Guard at once. Only two hours weekly, aside from the two weeks encampment, are required for training. Minimum annual pay is $157.50.

EASTER EGG HUNT

An Easter egg hunt was given at the home of Mrs. Aubrey Smith last Saturday afternoon as part of the planned recreation for the young folks of the Poplar Springs Home Demonstration Club.

Those enjoying the egg hunt, refreshments and games were: Billy Wilson, Robert Popwell, Pat Penton, David Gilliland, Lester Thornton, Larry Bonds, Jo Ann Patterson, Edna Culver, Geraldine Miller, Eloyse Nickerson, Joyce Jones, Mildred Culver, June Penton, Patsy Messer, Linda Messer, Jimmie Tucker, Sherrel Gilliland, Wayne Penton, J. R. Jones, Arthur Culver, Charles Miller, Elaine Wilson, Ronnie Smith, Tommy Smith and Billy Smith.

Mrs. Leola Litchfield, Mozell Miller and Henry Lee Jones assisted in hiding the eggs.

. . . . . . SECTION OF - CHILTON COUNTY NEWS - CLANTON, ALA. . . . . . .

Alabama's Green Winter

SLEEK, healthy livestock dotting Alabama's landscape is proof enough that winter grazing was better than ever in the state this year. Figures provided by county agents indicate that green feed was more plentiful this winter than in so-called "grass months" last year.

Agronomists agree that this was due in part to the rather mild winter, but they do not discount the revolution that has come about in producing winter grazing crops. Alert cattlemen, dairymen, and hog growers used a system in which livestock grazed in the field to increase production. At the same time, they found the practice reduced expensive man-hours of labor.

Results In Dairying

At the Tennessee Valley Substation this winter a dairy herd held maximum production while on grazing alone. Cows on grazing at the Blackbelt Substation showed an increase in profits when compared to stall-fed animals. And a similar story was told dairymen visiting the Gulf Coast Substation for a recent conference.

"With possibilities like ours to build sound systems of grazing, we can make the dairy business a leading source of income in our farming system," was the summary statement made at the conference by Otto Brown, superintendent of the Fairhope station. He backed his views with figures showing that per-cow net income averaged $432 in his herd last year, and per-acre income in the operation averaged $129.

Better Cattle And Hogs

Beef cattle, too, enjoyed the green winter. They are in better shape to put on economical gains this spring and summer than ever in previous years. They were not starved through the winter because cattlemen, through improved grazing, provided more than maintenance rations for them.

The story of hogs rotated from one grazing crop to another through the year—going from green temporary pasture to corn and other grains, and from there to market with a minimum of hand feeding—is no longer new in the state. It is demonstrated from Tennessee to Florida and from Mississippi to Georgia in almost every farm community. One week's hog sales in a south Alabama county last month totaled more than $77,000.

Perhaps a big factor in increased animal days of grazing on farms was top dressing. Demonstrations arranged by A.P.I. extension agronomists, on top dressing of winter grazing crops, unveiled astonishing results.

Top Dressing Helped

Farmer R. B. Trawick of Henry County who grazed both cattle and hogs in a demonstration was very much impressed by results.

"I got more grazing from six acres of oats by top dressing with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre than I have been getting from 30 acres not top dressed. I plan to use that practice on all my grazing this fall," the farmer said.

Dairyman J. M. Garris of Washington County tried top dressing ryegrass and crimson clover last fall and was equally well pleased.

"I figure that top dressing saved me about $2,000 a month through the winter," he stated. "Next fall when I figure out how much feed I need, I'm going out and buy that many tons of top dressing for my winter grazing."

Success stories on grazing in Alabama are almost as numerous as successful farmers. Agricultural leaders predict the revolution in livestock and grazing will show interesting developments from this point on.

MONUMENT TO CHRISTIANITY Evidence of agricultural progress is reflected in the number of new and improved churches to be seen along Alabama highways. As rural communities prosper these modern buildings increase in number and are made more beautiful.

The one shown above is Good Hope Baptist Church, just completed in Fleahop Community in Elmore County. It stands seven miles from Tallassee on the Wetumpka Highway.

Reverend W. V. Wallace, pastor of the church, says in addition to the auditorium the building has a huge recreation room downstairs, several department rooms, and is equipped with gas heat.

Fleahop was one of three communities in the state to receive the certificate of excellence awarded this year by the A.P.I. extension service for community spirit and progressive farming.

A.C.I.A. Prints Handbook

THE Alabama Crop Improvement Association has just released its first handbook on seed certification. The handbook gives rules for certifying various crops and discusses growing, harvesting, processing, sampling and marketing of seed crops.

Farmers who are producing, or planning to produce, certified seed will find this book helpful. Copies may be obtained from your county agent or by writing to the Alabama Crop Improvement Association, 109 Comer Hall, A. P.I., Auburn, Alabama.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

The little town of Maplesville is growing with leaps and bounds. Many new improvements have been made recently. With Mr. McCain as mayor and others who are interested there will still be more improvements; with the wide awake Police "Buddy" Ellison the town is clear of undesireables.

Many new homes have been built. Those who have built new homes recently are: Messrs. J. P. Thomas, Hershel Shanks, Bill Nix, Cal Seals, Charlie Bates, Obil Gore, Eugene Hathcock, Ralph Glass and Mr. Ed Clapp and Mr. Noah Latham have just finished several new apartment houses to rent. The large house of the late T. U. Crumpton is no longer a "big white elephant." It has been made into several smaller apartments for rent by Mr. Ray Stremming.

Mr. Union Chambers has now moved into his up-to-date new and modern service station, selling Gulf products.

Several of the people from here attended the funeral services at Pleasant Grove No. 2 of Mrs. Bessie Shoults Lawrence Sunday afternoon. At the time of her death she was residing in Selma, but had lived all her life in Pleasant Grove Community near here. She had many friends here who are saddened by her death. Mrs. Lawrence was 74 years old. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Ellen Shoults, of Lawley; her husband, Mr. Milton Lawrence, of Selma; nine children—five boys, Hinton of Tuscaloosa, Byrd of Burnsville, Ajay of Lawley, Barnett and James of Selma; four daughters, Mrs. W. D. Thompson of Burnsville, Mrs. W. S. Cummings of Birmingham, Mrs. D. W. McNeil and Mrs. D. O. Sexton of Selma; six brothers, Messrs. Croff Shoults, Sam Shoults and George Shoults of Lawley, Ala., Walker Shoults of Elba, Fla., Oscar Shoults of Selma, Ala., Bush Shoults of Billingsley; three sisters, Mrs. Anna Lawrence of Selma, Mrs. Ida Smitherman of Plantersville, Mrs. Wilda Taylor of Bankston, Ala.; 20 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Rev. Hyman Atcheson of this place conducted the funeral services. Nephews of the deceased were pallbearers.

There is at this time quite a long list of sick people here in Maplesville.

Dr. C. N. Parnell, who has served this and adjoining communities as doctor for over 50 years, is critically ill at his home here. He has been in declining health for several years, but is now confined to his bed and not expected to live. His son, Dr. Leighton Parnell, of Montevallo, is constantly at his bedside. Also his four other children. Dr. Parnell has served this and other communities faithfully, so untireingly in all kinds of weather, night and day, saving lives, both to poor and rich alike. Many times not getting paid. We should not take our doctors so much for granted. They are such wonderful people; also nurses—a lot more could be said of them.

Mrs. Ray Stremming returned to her home here Friday from Birmingham where she underwent an operation two weeks ago. She is doing nicely.

Mrs. Charlie Knipe is still confined to her bed at her home here, after an operation at King's Hospital in Selma a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Garland Smith and her small boy, Sonny, are recuperating after an attack of measles. Her mother, Mrs. Broadhead, of Clanton, has been with them during their illness.

Mrs. Beulah McCary is seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Theron Watson. Her many friends are wishing her a speedy recovery.

Mr. Bill Hampton has been in Birmingham for several days. At this time we do not know his condition. His son, Jack, has took over his oil truck while he is ill.

Mr. Bill Nix has also been on our sick list. Dr. Kincaid was called in to see him last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Macon (nee Miss Helen Nix) of Montgomery, announce the arrival of a fine baby boy born last Saturday, April 9th, in Montgomery. Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Nix visited their daughter and granddaughter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Moore of Macedonia Community are the proud parents of a fine baby girl born here at Dr. Day's Clinic Saturday, April 9th. They have named her Patricia Ann.

Mr. Jesse Hayes, retired mail carrier here, is improving some since his stroke of paralysis, and is now able to sit up part of the time.

"Goings and Comings"—

Pfc. Harold Walker of the Army Air Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeller Walker, spent last week end here with his parents. Harold is stationed at Keesler Field, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodfin Littlejohn of Tuscaloosa visited their mother here, Mrs. Daisy Littlejohn, last Sunday.

Mrs. Willie Kelley spent last Friday and Saturday in Birmingham visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kelley.

Misses Howard Nell and sister, Martha Alice Smith, and Mildred McGee of Alabama College, Montevallo, Ala., spent last week here with their parents, Mrs. Virgie Nell Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Preston McGee.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Phillip Hicks and son, Corky, of Craig Field, Selma, visited their mother, Mrs. Willie Hicks Hathcock, here last Sunday.

Mrs. Eugene Folsom (nee Wanelle Stough) of New Orleans, La., is spending a few days with her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stough.

Rev. Clayton Gilbert, pastor of the Baptist Church, conducted a youth revival at Liberty Hill Church near Clanton last week.

A revival will begin here at the Methodist Church the first Sunday in May. Rev. Jones, pastor, has been able to get Rev. Hodges of Selma, to do the preaching in this revival.

The Baptists and Methodists will join in having an early morning Easter service next Sunday morning at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Nix.

We are very happy that two of our young war II veterans were given the rural mail routes here. They were Mr. Jack Hampton and Mr. Billy Dennis. They deserve more than we can ever do for them. We forget too easily and quickly what they did for us. Let us always remember to do them favors whenever possible.

When Lilly Flagg Community of Madison County was selected state winner in the Alabama Cotton Improvement Contest, the announcement came as a climax to long years of cooperation in one variety cotton production by farmers of the local organization. At a recent meeting the community was awarded $2,000.00 as first prize.

Jackson County Farmer Tries Own Experiment

IN an experiment all his own last year Farmer Walter Bynum of Larksville, Jackson County, convinced himself and his neighbors that a little more fertilizer on cotton can be profitable. This year he will have more than one "prize acre" on his farm.

A good farmer, but conservative, Mr. Bynum went along for years using average amounts of fertilizer on his cotton crop. Last year County Agent J. E. Carter sold him on the idea of planting a "pet" acre and keeping records for results. The farmer was amazed at the outcome.

In one of his largest fields he marked off two acres labeling one "My Prize Acre" and the other "My Acre of Cotton." The ordinary acre he fertilized according to his usual practice, with 400 pounds of 6-8-4 at planting. The prize acre received identical fertilization at planting, but to this acre he applied an extra 200 pounds of 4-10-7 and 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate side-dressing after the first chopping. The application brought it in line with present fertilizer recommendations. Handling the two acres alike in all ways from that time on, Bynum waited patiently to record results.

When fall came he harvested 2,015 pounds of seed cotton from the "Acre of Cotton"—a good yield. But on the "Prize Acre" he piled up 2,326 pounds—an increase of 311 pounds because of extra fertilizer.

Yet, the farmer was interested in dollars, not pounds of cotton, so he started to count out his change. Figuring 15 cents per pound for the extra cotton he found it came to $46.56 more than the income from the other acre. Extra fertilizer for this plot cost him $7.50, leaving a difference in net income of $39.15.

Walter Bynum's eyes opened wide when he figured what $40.00 per acre more would mean to him on all his cotton. He will increase fertilizer on all acres this year with full knowledge of how it can benefit him. He thinks with a more favorable season than last year the difference due to fertilizer may be even greater.

Why No Corn Controls?

THERE are no controls on corn for 1949—in production or marketing. Large acreages will be needed and may be profitably used, declare P.M.A. officials.

In the U. S. Department of Agriculture announcement stating there would be no corn allotments this year, it was emphasized that no quotas will be in effect for the marketing year beginning next October.

B. L. Collins, P.M.A. executive officer, explained this by saying the Department feels adequate corn reserves should be maintained. If livestock, dairy, and poultry production are to be stabilized at necessary levels to meet domestic and world needs, ample supplies of all feed grains must be in reserve, he added.

Corn production in 1947 illustrated what can happen when reserves are reduced too far. Generally bad weather that year lowered U. S. corn production to only 2,384,000 bushels. This is almost 800,000,000 bushels short of the estimated corn crop needed for the 1949-50 marketing year.

Auburn Reseeding Crimson Seed To Be Harvested On Many Acres

By T. H. ROGERS, Associate Agronomist
A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station

TEN thousand pounds of the Auburn reseeding crimson clover were released the last two years to some 50 growers by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station to make available larger seed supplies to Alabama farmers.

The Auburn strain is a development of the Alabama station's plant breeding work, and was produced from crimson clover that has been volunteering for some 25 years. The strain originated from plants that persisted in strips of Bermuda grass at Auburn.

First release of seed was in the fall of 1947, when 2,600 pounds were placed with farmer members of the Alabama Crop Improvement Association to be multiplied under certification. Last fall another 7,400 pounds were released to additional growers.

In all about 25,000 pounds of the Auburn reseeding strain were planted last fall. This amount includes seed harvested from 1947 plantings in addition to those released by the station last summer. Under favorable weather conditions, it is estimated that around 250,000 pounds of seed will be harvested this spring.

Crimson clover has become an exceedingly popular forage crop in Alabama as a result of work with commercial strains by the station in the last 12 years. However, development of the Auburn reseeding strain opens even greater possibilities, particularly when grown with other plants. In combination tests with lespedeza sericea, Johnson grass, grain sorghum, fescues, or permanent pasture, the clover has greatly extended the grazing periods and uses of large areas.

Check And Clean Combines

SEED-SAVING time for crimson clover, blue lupine, vetch, Caley peas, and small grain will soon be at hand, reminds A.P.I. extension agronomist. You will save much time, trouble, worry, and will possibly prevent the loss of a seed crop if you clean and put your combine in repair now.

Among leading Alabama counties in artificial breeding of dairy cows is Calhoun, where 800 cows are registered in the program by members of the local association.

Responsible in no small way for the success of artificial insemination in this county, is Technician O. W. Alexander, shown above using the microscope in his laboratory. The technician has excellent laboratory facilities and office space provided near the county agent's office in Anniston.

According to latest reports, Alexander although breeding fewer cows than one or two others, has the highest conception rate for artificial breeding in Alabama—well over 60 per cent.

My Experiences As A Junior Dairyman

By HOWARD TEEL, State Winner
Junior Dairyman Contest

WHEN I traded my dad out of a heifer for a 4-H project in 1943 I had little idea of having a herd all my own before I finished high school.

But as my interest grew so did my project. Today I have four registered cows, six registered heifers, and seven grade cows. I think they'll pay my way to college.

I started as a Junior Dairyman in 1944, when my first heifer freshened, and for four years sold Grade B milk to a processing plant in Dadeville. Sales increased each year as I gradually added to the herd. I sold my dad on the idea of dairying and after I won the county dairy contest in 1947 we decided to build a grade A barn.

Turned Grade A Producer

The dairy was completed early in 1948 and on February 16 we began selling Grade A milk to a creamery in Opelika. At that time I had only two cows milking but in March three others freshened and soon afterwards three more, making a total of eight.

Complete production records were kept on all cows and my father turned over to me the job of keeping records on his 10 cows also. Since we did machine milking and it was an easy task I handled most of that work too.

Before the end of the year four of my cows had gone dry but profit from the year's sale of milk was good in spite of that. I sold 46,746 pounds of milk for $3,306.03. When hauling, feed costs and all other expenses, including depreciation, were subtracted I had a labor income of $2,567.36 for the year.

Knows About Grazing

Through 4-H work and the Junior Dairyman program I learned the importance of good grazing. In September of 1947 I established four acres of alfalfa as a 4-H project. This plot sold alfalfa on our farm and last year we planted 10 additional acres that gave us 60 days of grazing this winter. Other winter grazing crops we have are oats, vetch, crimson clover, Manganese bur, and ryegrass.

Also in 1947 we established 10 acres of lespedeza sericea. This, with permanent pasture of Dallis grass, annual lespedeza, and White Dutch clover, takes care of summer grazing on our farm.

My 4-H projects last year included 10 acres of corn that provided ample grain for my cows.

I think a lot of the heifer I won in the Junior Dairyman Contest, but what I learned in the program means a great deal more to me.

Jefferson County Dairyman Breeds High Producers

R. B. KENT of Jefferson County has been acclaimed nationally as a dairyman and breeder of Jersey cattle. The American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus, Ohio, announced recently that his registered cow, Wonderful Doughty Mary, won the Alabama championship for milk and butterfat production in her class.

Over a 305-day milking period the two-year old cow produced 11,093 pounds of milk and 582 pounds of butterfat. This record exceeded by more than 2½ times the butterfat production of the average cow in the United States, and by more than 3¾ times the average production in Alabama.

Dairyman Kent's cow, officially classed Very Good, was awarded the Silver Medal by the cattle club. All tests and records on her production were verified by the club and by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In recent classification Mr. Kent had one animal rated Excellent and 15 rated Very Good.

The wise grower of farm products keeps a sharp lookout for what the consumer wants. He realizes that the demand may increase for one product due to the shortage of another.

Legume Seed In Short Supply

THE production of winter legume seed crops in the United States for 1948 fell to 22 per cent below 1947 and eight per cent below average. No one knows what production will be in 1949, but agronomists predict freely that the small crop last year will affect this year's supply.

Because of this, you may expect vetch and other winter legume seed to be high in price and not too plentiful this fall. Therefore, it will be wise to save all vetch, crimson clover, blue lupine, and Caley pea seed possible this spring.

This Is Gobbling Time

By JOHN WEEKS
A.P.I. Extension Poultryman

MANY farmers begin thinking of turkeys this time of year—not from the standpoint of spring hunting season, but from the standpoint of cash in hand.

The past few years have shown quite an increase in the number of high quality turkeys produced in Alabama. Growers are finding them an excellent source of cash income and a profitable way to sell grain. Contrary to popular belief they are finding them no harder to raise than other types of poultry.

Looking on in the background is Tom Gerald, Assistant County Agent, Lowndes County.

Climate and soils throughout the state ar favorable for turkey raising, and there is market need for many times the number no being produced.

If managed well turkeys are ready for ma ket when they are 26 to 28 weeks old. Th time for starting poults is determined by ma keting dates, birds to be sold on Thanksgi ing and Christmas markets should be starte in April and May.

A young turkey gains one pound in weigh for each four and one-half to five pounds o feed, but after it reaches prime condition a maturity, it requires twice that amount. Hen mature about two weeks earlier than toms.

Farmers seriously studying turkeys as possible addition to the farm program shoul start with about 100 birds. With these the will learn how to care for them properly usin the best cropping system to provide maximu use of home-grown feeds.

In the growing period, 100 turkeys ea about 36 bushels of corn, 125 bushels of oat 2,000 pounds of concentrate and 750 pound of starting mash. From this feed they pro duce 2,000 pounds of meat.

For a 4-H Club boy or girl, 25 to 50 tur keys make an excellent project. The projec could be started with equipment alread available on most farms.

Good quality stock is important. The Broa Breasted Bronze is the most popular bree with growers at this time. The Beltsvill (U.S.D.A.) Small White is becoming popula where a premium is paid for this size bir Place your orders with hatcheries at the ear iest possible date to insure delivery of bird at the time you want them.

Better Gins---Better Cotton

BETTER ginning means higher quality co ton and high quality means more mone to the farmer.

Improvement in the quality of Alabam grown cotton has been outstanding in r cent years. Farmers have made tremendou strides in employing the use of better see better growing practices, and better handlin methods to produce a higher grade produc But in many cases the importance of the co ton ginner and his contribution are overlool ed.

Improvements on cotton gins in the stat last year brought hundreds of dollars to th farmer's pocket. They include the purchas of 39 new and modern gins representing a outlay of over two million dollars.

In addition to new plants 183 gins wer improved by progressive owners in variou sections. Among other things these ginner bought 53 new dryers to use on green an wet cotton for easier and more complet cleaning. These additions and others wer made in a determined effort to keep damage and dirty bales to a minimum.

Plan Fruit And Vegetable Marketing

IT is not too early to contact dealers and buy ers and make arrangements for spring pr duce sales. Find out what they want, ho it should be packed, and other details.

The wide-awake grower will make a rangements now to secure containers an other packing material. Many buyers tell u that a large amount of Alabama products ar packed in poor containers. They particularl complain about tomatoes in market basket These baskets do not protect them from brui ing and are not suitable for stacking in truck

John Bagby, A.P.I. extension marketin specialist, tells us there is on the market cardboard basket in eight and 12 quart size which will give better protection and can b stacked several layers high. He believe farmers will be able to sell more tomatoe for better prices if they use these and othe up-to-date packages.

Along the Way

with

P. O. DAVIS
DIRECTOR, API EXTENSION SERVICE

THERE is no valid reason for any farmer in Alabama making as little as 15 bushels of corn per acre, except drought or other unfavorable weather.

But there are many good reasons why each and every farmer in Alabama should make 30 or 40 or 50 or more bushels per acre on every acre planted.

The farmer who makes as little as 15 bushels per acre is the person who suffers most, except his family. They suffer because low yields end in low income for the family; and low income means they don't have the things they need.

Last year more than 300 Alabama farmers averaged 61 bushels per acre on entire corn crops. And 242 men and boys in 4-H clubs and FFA chapters made 100 or more bushels per acre.

Therefore, my statements above are well founded. They are based upon experience of farmers and farm boys who used known facts about corn production as given them by their county agents and vocational teachers from the A.P.I. agricultural experiment stations.

Summary On Corn

So we have in this another example of the fact that as good practices are made known and used people succeed. Facts about corn production are summarized as follows:

1. Select land that is good. If it isn't good corn land you'd better not plant it in corn.

2. Prepare the soil well. Poor preparation means low yields.

3. Use good fertilizer liberally. Five to six hundred pounds of complete fertilizer at planting followed by a liberal application of nitrogen about six weeks after planting is about right for most soils in Alabama. Consult your county agent.

4. Plant enough seed of the best variety you can get. Those who made the 100 bushel club had their rows 36 to 42 inches apart with a stalk every 15 to 18 inches in the row.

5. Plant at the right time. The right time is 50 to 60 days before summer rains are due; and these rains are due to start in most of Alabama around July 1. So early May is a good time to plant corn in Alabama.

6. Cultivate lightly just enough to control weeds and grass; and don't cultivate after corn is waist-high. Two cultivations was the average of those who made 100 bushels or more per acre.

If you follow the above simple directions you should average better than 50 bushels per acre on your corn crop of 1949.

Another Step Needed

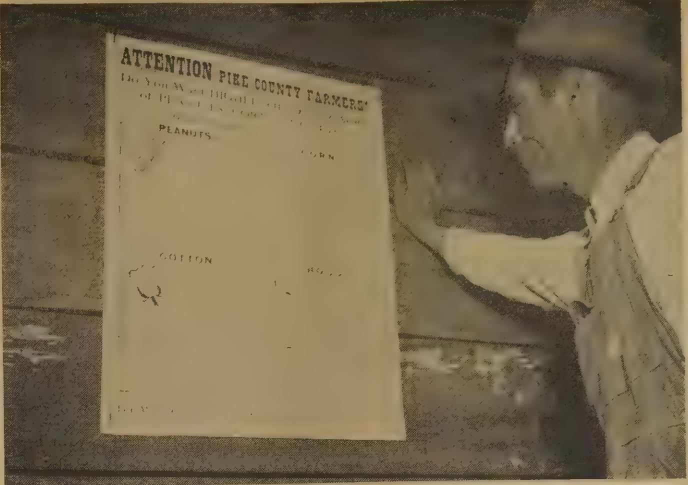
But the story isn't complete when corn is made, even though it is 50 or more bushels per acre; yes, 100 or more. Corn should be converted into a livestock product.

If Alabama farmers had converted their 1948 corn crop into pork by allowing hogs on good pasture to harvest it they would have doubled their income from corn over the open market.

And twice as many dollars isn't yet the complete story. They would have saved the labor of harvesting corn; and they would have enriched their land—two important factors.

We need to produce more and more meat, milk, eggs. Each of these products comes from feed, of which corn is No. 1. With good grazing and a little supplement it makes a complete ration for hogs; and it provides most of the ration for chickens.

Thus we see that to make more meat and milk and eggs next year we need to make more corn this year.



Farmers in Pike County won't have to visit town or dig out a bulletin to learn the latest growing recommendations this year. They are tacked up on the barn door at home.

Thanks to the Troy Chamber of Commerce and County Agent Nick Carter posters like the one in this picture were placed in barns throughout the county. Information on the poster includes A.P.I. extension recommendations as to varieties, planting practices, and fertilization of cotton, corn, and peanuts. Hogs being no small factor in the county's farm economy, practices for successful hog raising are also listed.

Above, looking over the poster on his barn, is J. R. Thompson, farmer in Monticello Community. He thinks "it will really be a big help this spring and summer."

Managing Woodlands Makes Timber A Cash Crop

MANAGEMENT you give your woodlands will determine whether or not timber becomes a cash crop on your farm.

In Alabama, farmers control 13 million acres of woodland—69 per cent of all the forest land. Timber sales, however, account for only five per cent of farm income in the state. On the average farm, woodland could produce enough to make income from it nearly ten times what it now is.

Lynn Kidd, A.P.I. extension timber marketing specialist, recently pointed out these facts and added this statement:

"As long as a farmer gives his woodlands improper management, he is failing to carry a complete farm program."

The specialist listed fire protection as one of the first steps in management. Thousands of southern forest acres are burned every year with people thinking of the disaster as "just woods fires," he said.

Where Is The End?

Fire not only destroys reproduction but damages standing timber to such an extent that generally it does not grow for a year. Fire weakens trees and helps insects to kill them.

Every year more timber is cut than is grown in the state. With the South the fastest timber growing section in the country, we should have a large forest reserve. But it is not here.

One man in six is employed in the forest industry in Alabama. Where will these people look for work if the present trend continues and all timber is used? Take stock, look at the acres producing nothing—washing away. Are you using your land? Is your timber a cash crop?

Wiley Leads UTD Producers

THE John Wiley farm in Lawrence County topped the list of high producers on Alabama UTD farms last year.

This farm, reports R. M. Reaves, assistant district agent, A.P.I. extension service, has participated in the test demonstration program for 11 years. Its 1936 reported yields were 280 pounds of cotton and 15 bushels of corn per acre. The farmer, who consistently followed a two-year rotation of cotton-vetch-corn, planted 65 acres of vetch in 1948 on a farm which has only 84 acres of cropland.

On the Wiley farm in 1948, 22 acres of cotton yielded 900 pounds of lint per acre—fertilized with 600 pounds per acre of 6-8-4; 40 acres of corn yielded 60 bushels per acre—fertilized with 200 pounds of 4-10-4 and 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre; 13 acres of grain sorghum produced 65 bushels per acre—fertilized with 200 pounds 4-10-7; and five acres of alfalfa yielded an average of two tons per acre fertilized with 200 pounds of 0-47-0.

Sweetpotatoes Need Long Season

AS with all other crops, time of planting is an important factor in producing sweetpotatoes. They require a growing season of at least 120 days to make satisfactory yields.

Three years of experimenting in South Alabama proved this statement. Potatoes dug 105 days after planting yielded 70 bushels per acre while the yield was 147 bushels where they were allowed to grow 123 days. Eighteen days meant more than a doubled yield. After growing 135 days, the yield was 198 bushels.

John Bagby, A.P.I. extension marketing specialist, points to these results in showing the need of early planting. Especially for the crop to be sold green on the early market is this important, says Bagby.

He recommends setting out sweetpotato plants by April 20 to give them a 120-day growing season before the middle of August. That is when prices are usually highest.

Vine cuttings for the main fall crop should be set by June 15, adds the specialist.

The Sheep Industry

By E. H. MATTINGLY
Valley Sheep Co., St. Louis, Mo.

THE sheep population in America is at its lowest point since the Civil War; America is producing only one-third of the wool that we consume annually. The industry is sick in this country.

In order to effect a cure, we must first find the cause. During the war, heavy demands were made on our fast dwindling wool and sheep supply. Another cause is the tempting prices paid to the farmer and rancher. Many sheepherders went to war and no one was available to replace them. Others reduced their herds to a minimum, or sold out completely, switching to cattle which were showing good returns.

Predatory animals have taken a heavy toll of sheep throughout the country and not only has the loss they devoured been felt, but it has caused many farmers and ranchers to sell out. Unless better control is exercised over these enemies, we are sure to witness a slow recovery in the industry.

The Small Flock Farmer

In rebuilding the industry, we would normally expect the increase in production to come from the vast ranges of the Northwest, but we cannot look for much increase from that territory until another generation of sheepherders has grown to a serviceable age.

There was never a time when the small flock farmer had such a wonderful opportunity as now, not only to render a service to his state, and fellow man but to reap high financial rewards.

Will farmers in farm flock states (Alabama is included here) take advantage of this rare opportunity? Frankly, it looks like the salvation of sheep is in their hands, and while it is true men on the range will do their best, they are almost helpless for the time being.

Not So Dumb

Thousands of farmers in this territory could double the size of their flocks, and thousands more could add them to their operations. They do not realize the urgency of the situation.

The sheep is not so dumb and delicate as we often hear him pictured. He is the most necessary of all animals to man's daily existence and plays a very important part in everyday economy.

We know the lamb supplies one of the most nutritious meats; we know that wool is the source from which the best clothing is manufactured; and that sheep by-products supply more branches of industry than those from any other animal.

Dairy herds throughout Alabama are producing milk more economically on winter grazing. They ar bringing the feed cost down and increasing the margin of profit by replacing sack feed with lush green clover and grasses.

The dairy cows grazing in this picture (made in mid-winter) make a typical scene. Results from A.P.I Experiment Stations carried to farmers by county agents and others have encouraged better grazing on th farms of all dairymen.

The above picture of crimson clover and ryegrass was taken in the field of an unidentified Elmore Coun ty farmer.

Winter Grazing Answer To Economical Dairying

By K. M. AUTREY
Head, Department of Dairy Husbandry
A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station

MILLIONS of dollars worth of milk are imported to Alabama because farmers within the state do not produce enough to meet market demands, particularly during the winter. Out-of-state milk in some cases can be produced and shipped in at a lower cost than home-produced milk can be obtained. In order to meet this competition milk must be produced more cheaply. This means more and better winter grazing.

The value of good winter grazing in reducing production costs of milk is cited in the results of one of several experiments conducted by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station.

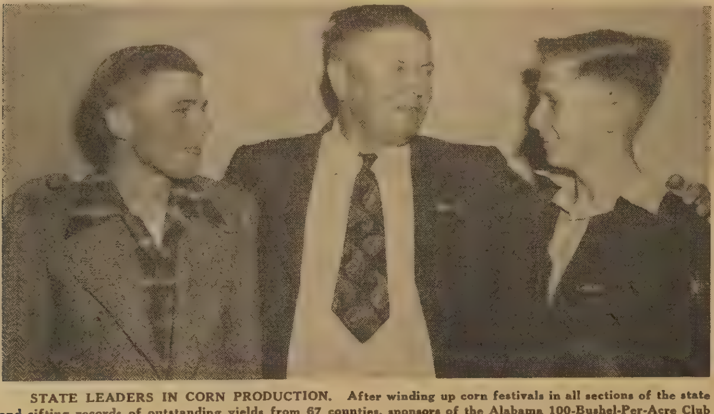
Profit Increased

Sales of milk from 40 cows on dry feed at Auburn amounted to $846 in October, 1947 This was only $5 above the total cost o bought feed. Beginning in November the cow were turned on winter grazing consisting o 20 acres of crimson clover and ryegrass. I January, 31 cows produced $1,662 worth o milk at a bought feed cost of $457. In othe words, grazing and a few fresh cows account ed for more than 96 per cent increase in mill production over October and 46 per cent re duction in costs of bought feed. Even greate returns were received from these crops dur ing February and March.

Pays For Itself

Since the fall season of 1948 was mor favorable for the production of winter graz ing crops, grazing was started October 20 The 32 cows being milked had reached thei lowest point of production in October, whe the milk sales amounted to $545. After graz ing 18 acres of crimson clover-ryegrass an 12 acres of alfalfa during November, produc tion of milk increased 72 per cent over Octo ber and the cost of bought feed decreased 3 per cent. In fact, winter grazing in Novem ber was worth $672 over and above fee costs, or about $22 per acre from the 30 acre of winter grazing.

Milk produced largely on winter grazin was worth $1,315 in December or about $89 above the cost of bought feed. After tw months of winter grazing, November and De cember, milk production increased almost tw and one-fourth times that of the lowest pro duction in October, and bought feed cost decreased almost 47 per cent. Thus, the $2 per-acre return in November and almost $30, per-acre return above feed costs in Decembe more than paid the cost of establishing th grazing crops.



STATE LEADERS IN CORN PRODUCTION. After winding up corn festivals in all sections of the state and sifting records of outstanding yields from 67 counties, sponsors of the Alabama 100-Bushel-Per-Acre Club come up with these three growers as top producers in their respective groups.

They are, left to right, Dwight Tilly of Cullman County who led FFA growers with 130 bushels per acre; Robert Parker, Lawrence County farmer who led adult growers with a yield of 160 bushels; and Donald Cheatham of Cullman County who led 4-H producers with a yield of 153 bushels.

Don't Over-Graze Pasture!

S. R. DOUGHTY, A.P.I. extension soil conservationist, says if you want to get the most grazing out of your pasture, give it a chance to get started growing. He points out that pasture grazed closely in the spring never seems to fully recover during the rest of the season.

Pasture needs about three inches of growth before grazing on it is started. This may be done by grazing sericea, oats, and winter legumes in the spring.

Time To Declare War On Pests In Gardens And Cribs

THE pest season is about to begin again, and with it comes the need for planning control measures.

Fruit trees for example will need spraying this month for the control of worms and rot in fruit. Several firms in Alabama mix the Auburn-approved peach and plum spray and one for apples, pears, and grapes. This is recommended for use according to directions on the container. If in doubt about what to use, check with your county agent.

Vegetable insects will seriously damage early crops if they are not controlled. For these, use the Auburn-approved garden dust.

Weevils, too, will be at work. Entomologists say they will destroy most of the feeding value of corn within a few weeks after warm weather sets in unless controlled. To avoid damage corn should be fumigated as soon as possible. For most effective results the crib or other container used in fumigating must be tight. If corn is shelled, however, it can be fumigated in tight boxes, and steel drums.

A good fumigant for the control of weevils, says W. A. Ruffin, A.P.I. extension entomologist, is a mixture of three parts ethylene dichloride and one part carbon tetrachloride. This mixture will not create a fire hazard and, therefore, is safer to use than carbon disulphide. He recommends using two gallons of the mixture to treat 300 bushels of corn.

Above is shown the J. E. Worlund home, New Market, Alabama. A short few months ago the rambling two-story building looked anything but the lovely modern home that it is today. A little planning, a few dollars and hours on end of hard work gave it the appearance it now has. The family won first prize in the Madison County home improvement contest.

New Market Family Wins Madison County Contest

THE J. E. Worlund home, New Market, Alabama, selected for first prize in the Madison County improvement contest, won for its owners $125.

Judges of the Farm Bureau sponsored contest credited Mrs. Worlund with the most complete and tastefully finished project. It was started from one of the most difficult situations in the county.

Before improvement work started, this house could not be seen from the road because of tall thick growth all over the lawn. The thicket was one of the first things tackled by the family and with the house brought in view, they then set about making it attractive to see.

Inside was the same story—many days of hard work before anything could be done to improve appearance. There was the matter of removing layer upon layer of old paint from floors and woodwork; in some places, as many as 14 coats on one surface. Underneath the paint were beautiful hardwood floors and woodwork that needed only protective covering to lend beauty in every room.

Mr. Worlund was limited in the time he could spare the big undertaking and the three tiny girls, two below school age, could offer only inspiration. But two older sons and their mother tackled the problem of their home with energy.

They re-landscaped the yard, started a new lawn, thinned the orchard, and moved screening bushes to the side and back.

The house, after all old paint was removed, was repainted inside and out. All refinishing and painting was done by the family. Inside, they did their own wallpapering at a cost of only $17.81.

With the basic work done for good remodeling they planned for adding more convenience and beauty. They added bathroom fixtures and a hot water heater with one of the boys doing this work.

The kitchen was remodeled, additional storage was built in all over the house, and a new bedroom was added. Storage use for the basement and additional closets added to the convenience of the whole family.

Seventeen old chairs were covered, six were painted, and a table and stool were painted by Mrs. Worlund. New curtains went up at the windows and a window seat was built.

Work in the back yard included putting up a clothes line, removing several fences, cleaning up.

In all, the Worlunds spent $836.13, almost $700 of which went for bathroom fixtures.

As one judge expressed it, "A minimum amount of money and an unbelievable amount of work has made a modern, beautifully finished house from almost nothing."

"A Good Egg"

By MARY HULSEY
A.P.I. Extension Nutritionist

OF all nature's products, the egg is richest in bodily needs. It is one of the best and cheapest sources of protein and furnishes vitamins A and D, iron and fat. Besides that, no other food is more delicious and nourishing.

Eggs are plentiful at this time of the year. They are easy to prepare, combine well with other foods, and can be served in a thousand ways. They can be used for everything from hearty main dishes to fluffy desserts.

Rule For Cooking

There is one rule for cooking eggs which is constantly broken and which accounts for badly cooked dishes on millions of tables. Eggs are a protein food and must have long, slow, cooking with moderate heat. When cooked at high temperatures they become tough and leathery, hard to digest. Water in which an egg is cooked MUST NOT BOIL.

Meringues give most homemakers trouble. On the day when you especially want the pie to look nice everything goes wrong even though you've followed the same method as usual. If you keep the following in mind you will have less trouble: Eggs whip easier and to larger volume at room temperature, remove them from the refrigerator long enough ahead to become as warm as the room before using. Over-heating is another common cause of poor meringues.

Handling Is Important

The curdled custard is not just a happen so. It's because you are using too high a temperature in cooking. The secret of making a smooth velvety custard is to cook over a low flame or over water.

To treat eggs right, you must keep them cool, covered, dry and clean. Eggs should not be washed until you are ready to use them. Washing takes away the bloom of youth and old age begins to set in.

The rules for cooking eggs are the same regardless of the recipe you choose to use.

RECIPE OF THE MONTH

Lemon Cream

4 egg yolks, stiffly beaten.
1 cup sugar.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
1 lemon, grated rind and juice.
1 tablespoon boiling water.
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Combine slightly beaten egg yolks, sugar, salt, lemon rind and juice, and water in top of double boiler and stir until sugar is dissolved. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until smooth and thick. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Chill. Pour into serving dish or individual dishes, garnish with whipped cream, and serve.

What! Less Potatoes Eaten?

WE have been cutting down on potato eating since grandfather's day. Figures from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, show 195 pounds of potatoes per person consumed in 1910 but only 118 pounds eaten last year.

Economists suggest a number of reasons for this drop. For one, we have a greater variety of foods to choose from in meals. Potatoes have lost out in "reducing diets" because we are prone now to guard against over-weight. Besides all that, the average American does less manual labor today, therefore, has less need for high-energy foods.

Although potatoes somehow acquired an exaggerated reputation as a "fattening food," they have not received their due for the many essential nutrients besides calories which they contain.

Leading swine breeders in the state exhibited some of the best hogs ever shown in this section at two recent shows. The Duroc breeders' show and sale in Ozark and the O. I. C. event in Winfield placed on the market for Alabama farmers bred gilts, open gilts and males.

Shown above are two blue ribbon winners and first prize selections at the shows. Willie Lee Trawick, left, Henry County farmer, is kneeling with his prize bred Duroc gilt, which topped the show in sale price.

Plan For Hogs To Harvest Corn

IT'S "hogging off corn" planting time. Early patches have already been planted in South Alabama; for the northern part of the State the time is now. Hogs and corn are a combination that can be very profitably used where labor is short and land is available.

Here's how A.P.I. extension agronomists and livestock specialists agree corn plantings should be handled:

1. Plant enough early hybrid (minhybrid 602) at earliest planting date for your section to carry hogs for 30 days. Plant in 36-inch rows, eight to 10 inches in the drill. Use 300 to 500 pounds 4-10-7 and side-dress with 200 to 300 pounds nitrate of soda when ten inches high. Lay by when two feet high and turn hogs in about 90 days after planting.
2. At the same time plant Dixie 11, or some other good hybrid, using same recommendations as above except 12 inches in drill. Turn hogs in this patch when minhybrid is gone.
3. Plant regular field corn about a month later, using either hybrid or open pollinated varieties. Use same fertilizer as suggested above and turn hogs in when corn is hard. Suggested varieties are Funks G-714, Dixie 18, North Carolina 1032, La. 468, Mosby, Paymaster, or Dixie 17.

How much corn to plant? Remember six to seven bushels, properly hogged with supplement, gives 100 pounds of gain. You can figure acres needed by estimating corn yields, knowing the size of your shoats, etc. Feed supplement with corn for best results.

Experimental results show that last year "hogging" paid $1.00 per bushel more for corn than the cash markets.

Winter Grazing Best In Perry County

IN Perry County grazing produces more milk and beef through the winter than during summer months.

On a recent tour there 300 farmers, business men, and visitors saw how the miracle came about. They observed grazing in different parts of the county that provided for as many as five cows per aere.

At each of seven tour stops Bob Griffin, county agent, explained the advantages of each crop as the farmer told of practices being used. Griffin said farmers getting best results with winter grazing are using mineral fertilizers such as basic slag, phosphate, and lime.

At the E. E. Donovan farm the group saw 33 cows faring luxuriously on 18 acres. The pasture, crimson clover and Johnson grass, provides grazing the year round. Donovan told farmers this pasture was planted three years ago, fertilized with 1,000 pounds of 0-14-10, and had not been fertilized since. "It's been getting better all the time," he added.

On the farm of J. W. Devall, Marion, Rt. 2, a local strain of reseeding crimson clover was seen growing in rotation with sericea. Devall, a dairy farmer, said he had grazed the combination 11 months a year for the last three years.

The tour ended on the farm of E. E. Donovan where farmers and guests were served 599 pounds of Southern prepared barbecue provided by the Perry County Farm Bureau and the Marion Chamber of Commerce. This was the third tour of its kind in as many years in the county. It was sponsored by the A.P.I. Extension Service and the Production and Marketing Administration cooperating with local groups mentioned above.

Agricultural leaders visiting Perry County on a recent winter grazing tour are showing special interest (above) in a patch of reseeding crimson clover on the farm of F. G. Dickey, farmer-president of the Perry County Farm Bureau.

Approximately 300 farmers, businessmen and guests visited seven Perry County farms on the one-day tour to see how grazing has become a year-round practice in the county.

Tallapoosa Dairyman Watches His Calves

W. B. NICKERSON of Jackson's Gap, Ta lapoosa County, says a dairyman wh fails to raise good calves has little chance success. He backs up this conviction wit practices on his own farm.

Although he has been in the dairy busines only about three years, Farmer Nickerso has 22 beautiful young heifers, ranging age from four months to two years. They ar healthy, strong, and well bred.

At a recent dairy meeting in Dadevill when John Parrish, A.P.I. extension dair man, brought out the fact that some dair men in Alabama lose 75 per cent of their ca crop, Nickerson was amazed.

"Why they are losing their profit," sai the dairyman. "How do they stay in busines like that? I've lost only two calves since I' been selling milk."

He Uses A Plan

H. C. Arant, assistant agent, says a visit the Nickerson Dairy shows why he feels th way. He has individual stalls for all h calves. The stalls are kept cleaned out dow to the hard ground. Mr. Nickerson has foun it much easier to keep calves well than to g them well after they are sick. He believ the secret to raising good calves is cleanlines "Treat them like a baby," is his motto. " calf wants to nurse, it's his nature. It wi suck anything from another calf's tail or e to a dirty shuck or cob."

Proper feed is the next step in the dair man's plan for raising calves. He gives the milk the first four to eight weeks, takin them off the cow at about three days old. A ter that, milk is carefully hand fed and th calf soon begins eating milk replacemen feed. As this feed is increased, milk is d creased.

Guards Against Infection

At the first sign of scours Nickerson loo for the cause. It may be over-feeding. H often finds dirty shucks or hay to be th cause. He corrects the cause, then docto the calf. Sulmet, a new sulfa drug, has prove very successful for him in treating infectio scours.

"This farmer's heifer calves are livi proof that he has done a good job," sa Arant. "He used a good bull from the sta but recently sold him and is using the ar ficial breeding program entirely."

Measure Values Of Winter Grazing

UNIT test demonstration farmers a others who conducted winter grazi demonstrations this season made outstandi records. By the end of April, it will be po sible to tell just how much winter grazing w worth this winter.

This has been the best year on winter gra ing since farmers got underway with the pr gram and careful study about the end April will give answers to show the farm its true value. How many days grazing d you get each month from October to Apri How much feed was saved? What was t value of feed saved? Did winter grazi increase production of milk, pork, beef a eggs? How much? What do you figu grazing was worth per acre?

You know your land is better than a ye ago. The knowledge of these other thin will help you and your neighbors do a bett job of planning winter grazing this summ and fall.

When calves are fed from a pail, the mi must be near 100 degrees. This is probab the most important single safeguard agai calf scours.

Telephone Poles And Electric Light Poles Moved Back

Work has started on widening U. S. 31 through Clanton. The Alabama Power Company and the Southern Bell Telephone Company have moved their poles back some three feet on either side of the street. Now we are waiting for the State Highway Department to send their crews to start moving the curb back. This will widen the highway through town some five or six feet which will considerably speed up our traffic.

Rumor has it that when the highway is widened, parking will be permitted only on one side of the highway. This in addition to the space gained in setting back the curbs should give Clanton as much width as necessary for local and foreign traffic.

WORK TO START ON LOCAL NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY

Asks Cooperation In Keeping Roads Clear Of Trash

The County Commissioners of Chilton County are asking residents of the county to please be more careful of throwing trash, tree trimmings, or anything of the like in the ditches along the county roads. Said one member of the Commission: "When trash of any kind is thrown in the ditches along the road, it is pulled out by the road machinery when the road is worked and makes a bad job for the road men."

Another request regarding trash comes this week from the State Highway Department. It seems some residents don't get their trash far enough back along the highway at the city dump and allow trash to be scattered on the right-of-way. It is all right to take your trash to the city dump, but it must be thrown back off the State right-of-way. The State and County officials ask that the general public please remember this and give them cooperation. It will do much to improve the appearance of the county roads and the highways.

Kiwanis Club News

Last week's meeting was a very fine one, in fact, one of the best of the year. Rev. Sell, pastor of the Prattville Methodist Churchh, and a member of the Prattville Club, talked on the idea that church laymen should know their preacher better. Each member brought along a non-Kiwanis layman as his guest. We were very glad to have had all the guests, and invite them back.

This week's program will be in charge of Patterson Hicks' Boys and Girls Committee. We can count on a good program.

Roy Roper, chairman of the committee for building a Boy Scout Hut, announces that the drive is closing this week. If you haven't yet made your contribution, give it to Jack Hayes or Dub Huddleston this week.

Bids will be let and work will start immediately on the National Guard Armory, according to a letter received last week by Representative Charlie Cox, from Major General James S. Saliba.

The letter stated that the bids would be let on April 28th. The building will cost approximately $30,000 and will be located on Airport Road near Gragg Field.

In the letter Major General Saliba complimented the local National Guard Unit highly and attributed the Alabama Guard's high standing in the Nation (First) partly to their work and cooperation. The letter also invited local citizens to visit the Guard on drill nights.

CARNATION MILK COMPANY NOW HAS MILK ROUTE IN COUNTY

Carnation Milk Company now has a milk route operating in Chilton County. Mr. Alan Posey of Mars Hill-Freeman Community is handling the route.

The milk route originates in Shelby County and serves the following Chilton County communities: Minooka, Jemison, Pleasant Grove, Pates Chapel, Thorsby, Mt. Pleasant, Cooper, Thomas Jr., and part of the Clanton area. After leaving Clanton the milk is transported to the processing plant in Dadeville

The milk route can mean a great deal to the farmers of Chilton County. It offers farmers an opportunity to have a year-round income and still not decrease the acreage being devoted to cash crops.

At the present approximately one ton of milk is being taken into the plant and by mid summr it is hoped that the amount can be doubled. If the farmers of the county take advantage of the milk route, Carnation's red and white truck can be a familiar sight along the roads of the county.

ALABAMA LEADS IN COTTON CLASSING

Alabama topped all other states in the Southeastern area in the number of cotton samples classed under the Smith-Doxey Act during the 1948-49 season.

To keep this worthwhile lead, O. N. Andrews, A.P.I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist, urges farmers to make definite plans now to apply for classing service for the 1949 crop.

Only farmers in one variety communities are eligible for free government classing under the Smith-Doxey Act.

THE SCHOOL BUILDING SITUATION OF CHILTON COUNTY

Much interest is being displayed regarding the matter of school buildings over the nation at the present time. The serious need for repair of old buildings and the construction of new buildings to replace dilapidated ones and to take care of rapidly increasing enrollments is receiving attention over the entire nation. The Chilton County Board of Education wishes to keep the people of this county as well informed as possible concerning their situation.

The Board operates 33 schools, 7 of which are one-teacher schools. Two of them are two-teacher schools and 5 are three-teacher schools. Low enrollment in several of these small schools make them expensive and impractical, but crowded conditions in other schools make their consolidation impossible. There are two four-teacher schools and all the others have from five teachers up to 25.

In some of our schools the teacher load reaches 35 pupils per teacher in daily attendance. Additional class rooms will be necessary to relieve this crowded condition. During the seventh month of this year, 257 more pupils attended school than attended during the same month of 1947. For the next few years, the increase is expected to be even greater. At present 15 teachers are teaching in rooms that are not regular classrooms. Five others are teaching in very undesirable classrooms. The Board needs 17 more classrooms than are available or are under construction to provide satisfactory space for doing an acceptable job of teaching. The cost of these classrooms range from $4,500 to $6,000 each; depending on the type of contsruction.

Of the 33 schools, 6½ have sanitary toilets. The remaining 26½ have dry pit toilets, most of them being 10 to 15 years of age. Sanitation does not exist around these. To reach an acceptable state of sanitation, the Board needs to construct and install at least 16 sets of water toilets at an average cost of about $4,000 per set.

Every school of five or more teachers needs a place to assemble and produce programs. Of the 17 schools with five or more teachers, only nine have auditoriums. Among the eight schools without auditoriums are two of the three largest schools in the county. Clanton with three white schools with a total enrollment of 1,165 pupils does not have a school auditorium. To reach a desirable standard with auditoriums and gymnasiums, the Board needs to build one auditorium, three gymnasiums and six combinations of the two. This would mean 10 buildings at an average cost of $5,000.

Vocational education is becoming more and more an important part of our school program. Every farm boy should be given a chance to study agriculture. Every girl should be given courses in home making. In order to attain the minimum in these courses in the high schools in our county, one new building will be necessary in addition to those already planned. This would cost approximately $27,000. Another building is in such condition that it needs replacing badly and two more are badly in need of enlarged shops to take care of mechanized farm equipment. These desirable additions and replacements would cost around $71,000.

Heating facilities in many of our schools are not only poor, but expensive to operate and dangerous. Six and one-half of the schools have central heating systems. The others are being heated by heaters. Besides being undesirable means of heating, they keep buildings smoked up and constitute a constant fire hazard. Fifteen schools need some type of heat that would be more desirable. Seventy-eight classrooms deserve this consideration at an average cost of approximately $700 per classroom. Nine schools need new lunchrooms. These buildings cost an average of $2,200 each.

The above figures concern new buildings and facilities. War-time shortages of materials and labor for repairs and maintenance of existing buildings have not been overcome yet. Every school building in the county except recently built ones need new paint, inside and out. This means that 150 classrooms need inside paint at a cost of $75 per classroom. The outside paint would cost in the neighborhood of $80 per classroom (including auditoriums, etc.) Forty-three classrooms need new roofs at a cost of approximately $100 per room. Three auditoriums are also needing roofing at an estimated cost of $480 each. A number of our old buildings are in dire need of new floors. Doors and windows in these buildings are in bad condition. One hundred fifty windows need shades, costing $7.50 per shade. Our buildings range in age from new to 35 years of age, the average age of the state-owned classroom in Chilton County being 19.1 years.

In a later issue of this paper the matter of equipment will be taken up. Please keep in mind that we are presenting the situation as it is. Any school principal or school administrator will be glad to discuss any phase of this program with you at any time. This particular topic will be discussed on WKLF on Friday, April 22, at 6:00 p.m.

"We'll make them live!" say David and Patty Johnson, 4-H members at Ft. Payne in DeKalb County, as they feed young pigs from bottles. The two pigs were found as the only survivors in a large litter farrowed on their dad's farm. The sow killed the rest of the litter.

County Agent John Pate pointed out to Mr. Johnson that even though these two will probably grow into fine hogs loss of the litter means a loss of profit on the sow. He said lack of minerals in the diet possibly caused the sow to kill her young.

Oil Your Fishing Tackle--- They're Biting This Month

FISHERMEN who haven't already done so are getting out tackle and limbering it up, because April and May are open for some of the best bass and bluegill fishing of the year.

According to Earl F. Kennamer, A.P.I. extension wildlife specialist, bass fishing is expected to be exceptionally good in April. Artificial bait anglers as well as live bait fishermen usually catch good strings during this month.

Late April and May are excellent for bream fishing because males become hungry while guarding spawning beds.

If bass have only been stocked a year or less, pond owners should not allow fishing until after June 1. This is to prevent original bass from being removed before they spawn, adds Kennamer.

If bass were stocked late last year, it is likely that they will not spawn this spring. Therefore, fishing of all kinds should be avoided until June, 1950. Bass may be taken from older ponds at any time during the year without damage to the pond stock.

DDT Controls Flies and Wasps

FLIES and wasps often appear with the first warm days of spring and become a nuisance in unfinished attics and similar places.

To control these pests, W. A. Ruffin, A.P.I. extension entomologist, suggests spraying walls and rafters of unfinished buildings with a water-dispersible DDT spray. It is made by mixing 12 tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder in one gallon of water.

If an oil spray is used as a prevention of white deposits left by the water spray, exercise care to avoid fire hazard. Never use an oil spray near an open fire, a lighted cigarette, or a running electric motor.

Poultry Meeting Announced

THE Alabama Poultry Association announced this week that this year's Poultry Institute will be held at Shocco Springs in Talladega, May 30-June 2.

F. G. Bridges, president of the association, said hatcherymen, poultry growers, and others interested in the industry will come together to discuss common problems. The program will feature authorities from out-of-state and from Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn.

The first day's program will be devoted to subjects of interest to hatcherymen and flock owners, the second day to marketing and turkey growing, and the third to broiler production.

It is the plan of the association that the institute afford vacations as well as training for poultrymen and their families. Reservations for accommodations should be made with Mrs. John Brennen, Gulf Coast Hatchery, Mobile, Alabama.

Broiler Production A Business

MR. and Mrs. J. T. Baker, Route 1, Alex City, are getting started at growing broilers. They didn't start for a quick try but set the project up as a business on a sound basis.

Just recently this Tallapoosa County family sold 1,560 eleven-week old broilers. They were New Hampshires and Barred Rocks crossed, a broiler type. Each bird averaged 2.58 pounds in weight and sold at 28 cents per pound. The family realized a profit of more than $200 from that sale.

The owners wanted to expand the business and in order to do so had to enlarge their broiler house and make other additions. They now have buildings to take care of 3,200 broilers with almost one square foot of floor space per bird. They have a capacity load in the buildings at this time, and will soon be ready to market again.

Never Too Late To Learn

Cappy Miller's young son Squint, is forever coming up with new ideas. Now they're not all world beaters, but Cappy is usually willing to give them a try.

Seems Squint found a new way to clear brush. They take two tractors, about thirty feet apart, and connect them with a heavy chain weighted down on the ground with old iron. First they both go parallel in one direction, then they go back over the same swath in the opposite direction and up comes the brush — roots and all. Worked fine and saved time.

That's why things go so well at the Miller farm. Cappy is open-minded, tolerant of new ideas and new ways of doing. He doesn't think his way is the only way.

From where I sit, a little tolerance will make things go better for all of us. You respect my views and I'll respect yours—whether it's on farming, politics, or choosing between an ice cream soda or a temperate glass of beer.

There's a real good farmer in our section who's always preaching about cover crops for building up poor land. But he says you need something more for a good corn crop. How come he find out . . .

He side-dress a five-acre patch with two, three hundred pound of natchel soda. The corn start quick and keep growing good in the dry spells. There wasn't no firing and the ears was heavy and fuller filled. He say the other minerals in soda must help build them ears.

Prospects Better

Things don't look so bad for the peach raisers of Chilton County as they did a few weeks ago.

Several peach growers have told us this week that prospects for a good crop have improved fifty percent. According to one grower where he was looking for a crop valued at approximately twenty-five percent of normal, he now expects a seventy-five percent normal crop.

This makes things look much brighter for the annual Peach Festival. Folks were asking how we would have a Peach Festival when there were no peaches.

We are glad to report that things are looking-up so far as peaches are concerned in Chilton County.

About Bank Deposits

According to reports of our local banks published in this issue it seems bank deposits are off a few hundred thousand dollars within the past few months.

That could be a warning sign that money will not be as plentiful in the future as it has been since the start of World War II and things are slowing down. Reports from other sources in the county indicate that things financial will not be as lush as they have been.

Those who are cautious will take heed of such signs and think twice before starting long range credit purchases.

Chief Anderson Thanks

Chief Anderson says he is very pleased with the way the general public has accepted and taken to the parking meters. He finds everyone very cooperative he says, and hastens to add he appreciates their attitude. He reports no vandalism so far as the meters are concerned, and is doing his best to work with the motorists until they get accustomed to fishing out those pennies when they park.

We Continue To Grow

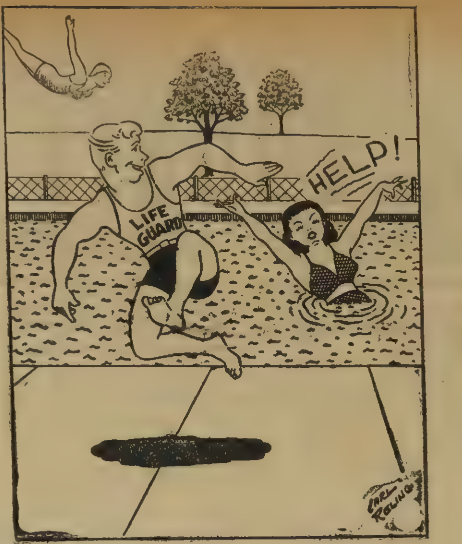
New businesses and new improvements continue in Clanton and Chilton County regardless of pessimistic talk of things slowing down.

The big new Standard Oil Station in South Clanton is finished and ready for occupancy. A new Fruit Juice Stand and short order cafe is going in at the old Bean Grocery stand. Crews are back at work laying the base for a black-top job on the new bridge and that long awaited dream will be a reality before long.

City machinery has graded and widened where possible all of our down-town alleys. This has made quite an improvement. Some of our alleys had become impassible.

Chas. Wade is completing another building behind the A. & P. Tea Company. It is being built for Alvin Ellison for his Welding Shop. Alvin has been in that spot several years in an old building, but he now will have a fine new brick building for Alvin's Weldng Shop.

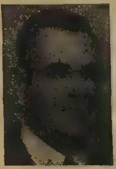
We continue to grow.



Wait until I get back. I've got to put another coin in Clanton's new parking meters.

The Preacher

The importance of the preacher is revealed in Scripture. For in Rom. 10:14 it says, "How can they call upon Him in whom they have not believed, and how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard, and how shall they hear without a preacher?" It has been said that the Gospel ministry rank with all other high professions of life. But there is a difference in the Gospel ministry, and the highest of other professions; it is, that the work of the Gospel preacher stands at the top of the list. I mean to say this: There is no work so noble, no calling so great, no profession so high, as that of the Gospel ministry. Yet, though we preach the Gospel, we have nothing to glory of; for necessity is laid upon us; yea, woe is unto us, if we preach not the Gospel.



A. T. HICKMAN

To some preachers the ministry is only a profession; but to me, and to many others, it is not merely a profession, it is a "Calling from God," for how can we preach, except we be sent? It is to be regretted that many men who have entered the ministry failed to realize this all-important truth. Some have brought shame to themselves, and to their fellow-ministers; this I say, is to be regretted The ministry of the preacher carries with it the greatest responsibility. Because we deal with men in behalf of God; and we deal with God in behalf of men. We are holy ambassadors of the ministry of reconciliation, reconciling men to God through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Let me appeal to every preacher who may read this, for the sake of your high calling, walk worthy of your vocation. Study to show yourself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth. Shun profane and vain babblings, for they will increase unto you more ungodliness.

The word "Reverend" is a title given to the clergy, or to a Gospel minister. And it denotes reverence, honor, or respect, or regard for the high calling of God given to men. Every preacher should so conduct himself and his ministry that he will be worthy of such a title as "Reverend."

The word "Mister" is a title of address prefixed a man's name; and can be so used regardless of profession or character. A hint to the wise. Amen

The A. E. A. Twelve Months School Program

It has been proposed by the Alabama Education Association that school services be increased from nine to twelve months. Many people are wanting to know what type of services the schools could give during the extra three months, and the benefits that could be secured from this service. This article shall attempt briefly to answer some of these points.

The schools would offer a summer session with classes for all who need them. Some of the pupils would attend regular classes where the usual subjects would be taught for advanced credit, or to make up for failures during previous sessions of school. This would mean that some could graduate sooner, or many of those who failed some subjects or grades could make up their work and then keep up with their social groups. This tends to reduce the number of pupils to be taught annually because it would reduce failures, and perhaps more would continue through high school. It is possible that some courses are not available to a particular pupil during the regular session, but that the summer session would provide opportunity for it.

In connection with the summer session, the school library could be kept open where both children and adults would have access to books. Another feature that should merit consideration would be that the schools largely take over much of the supervision of recreation during the summer months. In many towns and cities that have recreational programs, trained men and women are lacking to supervise it. If recreational leaders are present in each of these communities, it is entirely possible to assume that juvenile delinquency will decrease, because the children would be usefully occupied away from the home.

The adult education program would be set up by the Boards of Education and special classes would be organized to help remove illiteracy, and to meet the particular needs of grown-ups. This plan should in turn show an improvement in the general training of the young people over the state. Alabama has been criticizd by saying that its "labor market is too unskilled to be profitable." In time, the ground for this criticism could be removed. Better educated labor would materially raise levels of living. Earning power would increase from this training which would expand buying power.

The proposed program would acquire better trained teachers. It would allow teachers to attend summer school and pursue courses for degrees, or advanced study useful to the school system. Other teachers would spend a portion of their time visiting the homes of children so that better understanding may be secured between the home and the school. Still other groups of teachers would be supervising programs of art, music, hobbies, tours, etc.

This would increase the salaries of teachers who worked the extra three months. Those who worked only nine months, would receive only nine months pay. This program should please the taxpayer, for he would get more for his money than is possible under the twelve months plan. For the part the suggestion has merit, since the child would work, study and play under supervision most of the year around. It would boost the tea

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

AN ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY

Another step forward has been made by men of science in the ever present search for means of preventing illness and curing those who are sick. Now they have an artificial kidney which is saving the lives of people whose kidneys do not function. The apparatus is being used successfully, and several days of such treatment cause no ill effects. It does save lives.

Poisons build up in the blood in some instances following blood transfusions, pregnancy or poisoning. This condition often causes the passing of urine to stop. If this condition continues it is fatal, and formerly physicians had little control over this condition. The artificial kidney now reproduces the function of the real kidney and removes many, if not all, of the poisonous substances that would otherwise cause death.

Many years of work have gone into reaching this stage of development, and it follows earlier efforts in transplanting kidneys and filtering blood in animals.

The artificial kidney consists of a membrane which filters the blood, thus separating large particles from smaller ones. This membrane is placed in a chemical bath. A pump removes blood from the large trunk vein of the body. This is the vein which carries blood to the legs. The blood, when it is taken from the vein, passes into a tube, through the membrane and back into the opposite vein of the flank. As the blood of the patient circulates through this route the poisons fall out through small openings in the membrane. Large particles of the blood, such as proteins and hormones, are carried back into the blood stream.

Experiments are now being made for the possible use of the artificial kidney in treating shock and severe burns. Thus the constant effort goes on to find more ways to help all of us to better health and longer life.

Letter To The Editor

Editor Chilton County News:

In these days of swift transportation every precaution should be taken to avoid accidents that are taking the lives of many people.

There are many blind intersections and road crossings in the rural roads of Chilton County.

I feel that the road commissioners of each district should determine the right of way at these points and place STOP signs in the proper places.

We all hate to see a stop sign when the car is running smoothly and we feel or hope that no one is near to interfere with our entering or crossing this blind section, but the brakes we wear out to stop or the gas we burn to start is far less expensive than the repair of the car or a hospital or funeral bill.

Is the STOP sign worth its cost?

PINE TREE OWNERS PLEASE TAKE NOTE

Auburn, Ala. — This is the season of the year when pine beetles take up where they left off last fall.

I. R. Martin, A.P.I. Extension Service forester, warns that southern pine beetles can kill trees, but every tree which is infested does not die. For instance, heavy pitch deposits outside the entrance hole indicate that the tree is probably winning the battle by drowning the beetle with resin.

However, pitch deposits accompanied by sawdust below the hole indicate that the tree is trying hard but might lose. Sawdust without pitch indicates that the tree has fought a losing fight.

Where the loss of a few pines would be serious, results of experiments conducted by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station show that it is practical to control southern pine beetles with a five per cent DDT oil emulsion spray.

In the woods, the infested trees should be cut and sawed immediately. The slabs, limbs, and stumps should be burned to kill beetles just under the bark.

NW APPROACH TO CAPITOL TO BE WIDENED

Montgomery — The argument over whether or not the new capitol steps should be widened to the width of the entrance steps has been settled. The decision to expand the width of the steps has been aproved by the Capitol Building Commission.

The original project, slated to cost $26,000, was already in progress when the commission decided to make the change. According to the recently approved plan the job's cost will be upped to $69,798.

Gov. Folsom, in urging the change, pointed out that the original layout of state buildings called for the steps to be widened in the manner approved.

THINGS WE SEE & HEAR

By "Tuck"

Joe Douglas Grooms and Pat Huddleston don't seem to be getting along so well nowadays. What's wrong, Doug, does she bite? (Yeah, I guess she does. Most of 'em do, you know!)

Say, Myron, (Levine, that is!) Seems that someone told me ythat you spent most of your Sunday afternoon last Sunday with a girl in Birmingham. Myron, what's wrong with the one's down here? (Girls, I mean).

Hey, folks, maybe it comes in handy being little. If you don't have a girl just shrink to about the size of Lee Moore or Darlton Davis, the girls really think they're cute.

It seems Shelby Studdard just can't persuade Fred Thompson to walk home with her in the evenings. What's the matter, Shelby, doesn't he like you any more?

Marion Deaton, I think you'd better watch, Pat, she's looking at Joe Phillip mighty peculiarly lately!

Marilyn Jean Wyatt and Eugene Williams really have fun the first period every day, don't you, Eugene?

Speaking of fun, I might add Howard Thompson's name to those two. He seems to have a pretty good time with them himself.

Just think, matie's, only one month left to go to school. That's a nice thought for some of us, isn't it? But some people just don't know when to quit.

Hey, fellas, what say you be a little more careful about how you walk through Lee's trash every morning. You know that's hard work and it seems to me like any guy that would walk through it deliberately ought to have to clean it up himself. So, what say, fellas, try to jump over it next time instead of walking through it and I'm sure Lee would appreciate it very much.

It seems Miss Barton has it in for Don Askins fourth period every day. What's the matter, Don, doesn't she like you?

Alice Deramus sure does like Joe Blair, doesn't she kids? And she shows it too, doesn't she, Joe? (I don't think Joe minds showing it either, does he?)

Ann Huddleston, why don't you get yourself a boy friend? You know Lee Moore was looking at you in that funny kinda way last week and I'm sure I know what he meant. But! He quit looking. See, Ann, you didn't pay any attention to him so he just figured you didn't like him. (You can play too hard to get.)

It's a good idea to dry mint leaves when very young and tender. Then they can be used for flavoring vegetables, meats, dressings, and stews.

BOWLES

Miss Willie Pearl Chandler visited Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bowles Saturday afternoon.

Miss Flora Ann Williams spent Friday night with Miss Clydie Ruth Chandler.

Miss Audrey Limbrick is in a Prattville hospital where she underwent an operation. Latest reports were that she was doing nicely.

Mr. Wash Bowles has returned home from the hospital where he underwent an operation on his eyes.

Mrs. Charles Jackson spent Tuesday with Mrs. W. D. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Chandler and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hathcock and family and Mrs. Sarah Chandler visited Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Chandler and family at Verbena.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Williams and children visited Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Williams Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Sarah Chandler, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. C. Hathcock, of Vida, is now visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Chandler.

Mrs. Minnie Billingsley is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Newton Bowles.

Mrs. Lula Moore of Prattville spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Spigener.

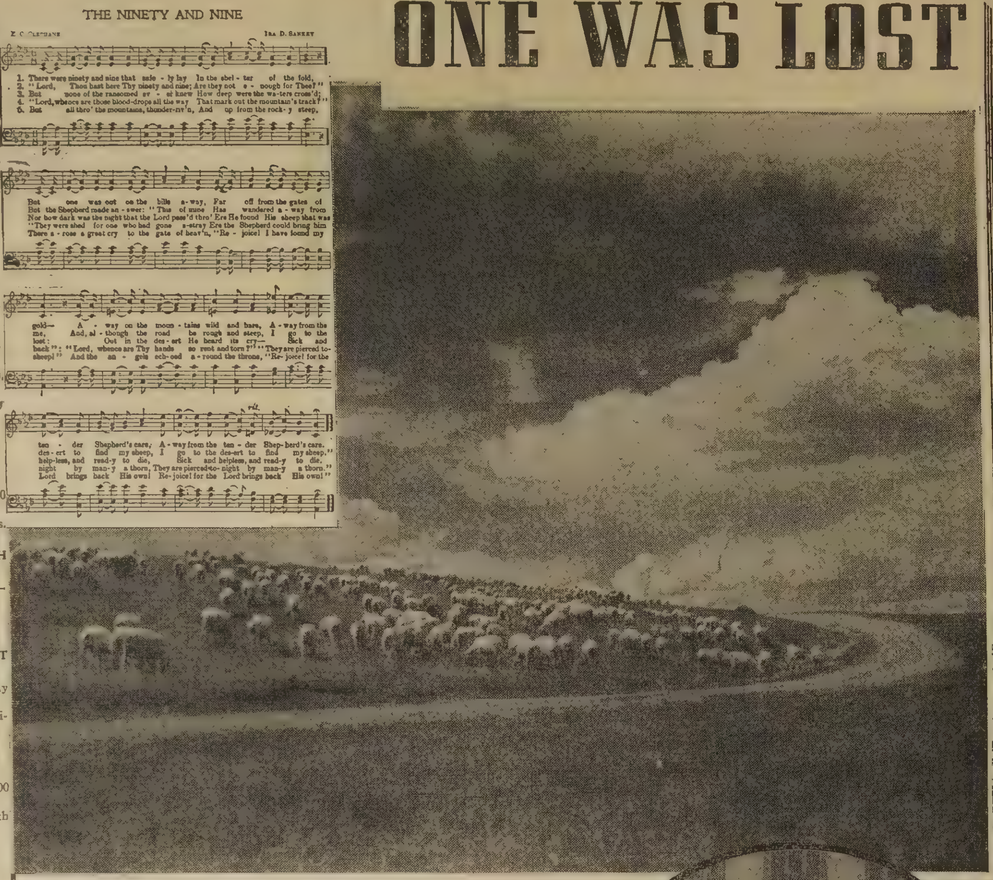
GO TO CHURCH ON SUNDAY

ONE WAS LOST



THE NINETY AND NINE
E. C. Clephane
Ira D. Sankey
1. There were ninety and nine that safe-ly lay In the shel-ter of the fold,
2. "Lord, Thou hast here Thy ninety and nine; Are they not e-nough for Thee?"
3. But none of the ransomed ev-er knew How deep were the wa-ters cross'd;
4. "Lord, whence are those blood-drops all the way That mark out the mountain's track?"
5. But all thro' the mountains, thunder-riv'n, And up from the rock-y steep,
But one was out on the hills a-way, Far off from the gates of gold—
But the Shepherd made an-swer: "This of mine Has wandered a-way from me,
Nor how dark was the night that the Lord pass'd thro' Ere He found His sheep that was lost:
"They were shed for one who had gone a-stray Ere the Shepherd could bring him back":
There a-rose a great cry to the gate of heav'n, "Re-joice! I have found my sheep!"
A-way on the moun-tains wild and bare, A-way from the ten-der Shepherd's care, A-way from the ten-der Shep-herd's care.
And, al-though the road be rough and steep, I go to the des-ert to find my sheep, I go to the des-ert to find my sheep."
Out in the des-ert He heard its cry— Sick and help-less, and read-y to die, Sick and helpless, and read-y to die.
"Lord, whence are Thy hands so rent and torn?" "They are pierced to-night by man-y a thorn, They are pierced to-night by man-y a thorn."
And the an-gels ech-oed a-round the throne, "Re-joice! for the Lord brings back His own! Re-joice! for the Lord brings back His own!"
rit.

The shepherd of this flock has gone away. He's seeking the ONE sheep that has gone astray. America is becoming alarmed over the sheep that is out of the fold. This land was founded upon the right to free worship. But there are so many now who don't worship at all.

Lukewarm church people have allowed the worldly to criticize churches, advertise vice, ostracize preachers, minimize righteousness and practically idolize the ungodly. Many fathers and mothers have grown indifferent about the religious teaching of their children. They SEND them to Sunday school (if they go at all) and are not much interested in whether they attend church. As parents they should lead their children to all portions of the churches' rounded program. Go out after those who have no church home, those who have wandered. Seek out that one which is lost. Be sure to take your youngsters to church school and remain for all services next Sunday . . . Your Pastor expects you.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

S. D. Posey is making a leading farmer for the western part of Chilton County. Posey owns 86 acres of land with a Soil Conservation Plan on it. He has well established meadow strips which furnish plenty of hay. He has about 10 acres of Kobe Lespedeza, 2 acres of old established Kudzu, a seed patch of Manganese Burr Clover and 3 acres alfalfa.

This year he is sowing 15 acres for improved pasture. Posey's plans are to go into beef cattle and small dairy farming. Posey is a big believer in winter legumes of which he gets big returns.

With the opportunity this program offers and the progressive ability that he has, by the time his training is out, he will have his plans well under way and will be able to carry on within himself.

As instructor, I congratulate Posey for his outstanding farming.

C.C.H.S. SENIOR III PLAY "CASH AND CARRIE"

As the paper goes to press we keep hearing things about "Cash and Carrie," the Senior III Class Play. Madam Rumor says that Russell A. Williams, Jr., cast as Uncle Omar Tully, is a pompous and blustery old man, who dominates the entire household of his niece, Mrs. Carrie Ferguson. Mignon Bates, playing Carrie, can't make her budget balance to please Uncle Omar. Although she seems vacillating in money matters, she learns that life has other values. She is supported by her four children — Anne, (Mary Eliizabeth Mullins); Trig, (Billy Gentry); Marilyn, (Dorothy Edwards); and Alberta, her infant terrible, (Helen Hayes); —and also, by four loyal friends, who work at the People's Plastic Plant, Earl Cormick, (Jimmie Taylor); and wife, Gerty, (Ruth Griffin), and Sweetie Jackson, (John Broadhead), and wife, Hon, (Vera Guy).

Mr. Bradley Kirkwood, (Jimmie Stroud), who is in love with Anne Ferguson, saves the day for Carrie when Uncle Omar thinks he has won the wager. Jenny Wharton, (Marjorie Niblett), Carrie's life-long friend and neiighbor, is her constant adviser. Judy Bowen, friend of Marilyn, completes the cast of this fast-moving and humorous comedy.

The play will be presented by the class on Thursday and Friday evenings, April 28 and 29, in the City Hall, at 7:30 p.m., under the direction of the two sponsors of the class.

CECIL DUFFEE

Cecil G. Duffee, Dadeville lumber manufacturer and member of the Legislature from Tallapoosa County, has issued a blanket invitation to everybody engaged in lumber manufacturing in Alabama to meet in Montgomery on Friday, May 6, 1949, for the purpose of forming a State association.

Mr. Duffee, in announcing his move, said he had conterred with a number of lumbermen, large and small, and that these talks had encouraged him to call the meeting at Montgomery.

"At one recent conference, attended by 30-odd lumbermen," Mr. Duffee said, "we got down to details and decided to call the organization meeting. We discussed a name for the group and 'Alabama Forest Products Association' was suggested as an appropriate name.

"As the name suggests, the organization will be open to all producers of forest products. The organization will be devoted to their interests and will promote their welfare in the State and nationally.

"The meeting will be held at the Jefferson Davis Hotel at 11 a.m. on Friday, May 6. I hope every lumberman in Alabama will be present."

THREE PROMINENT PERSONS TO APPEAR AT FIRST METHODIST

Three widely known personalities will appear here for one night only at the First Methodist Church, on Friday, May 6th, at 7:30 o'clock.

Al Walsh, noted radio and concert vocalist, will head the unit and present a full hour of music, dramatic experiences, and entertainment.

Also featured on this program will be Ivy Walsh. Many have heard these artists over ABC on the Studebaker Program. They have devoted their lives to bringing enrichment and enjoyment to others. They sing solos and duets accompanied by Ivy's Frontalini accordion. This happy couple can bring you the cleanest entertainment you have ever enjoyed.

Al was the winner of a four year scholarship to Rollins College, and was a veteran of World War II, having served in the Pacific Theatre with distinguished service in the U. S. Army.

Ivy has thrilled many audiences, large and small, with her beautiful soprano voice, and everyone is amazed at the ease with which she handles the accordion and sings simultaneously.

The program will also feature the talents of Don Jacobs, New York Radio and Television Artist, with his "Magic With A Message" and "Bible Teachings In Art." Mr. Jacobs has written and starred in television shows on various radio stations, and has volunteered his services to entertain the wounded veterans in the hospitals throughout the nation.

These artists are appearing here in the interest of Veterans Hospital Programs, now in its 4th year of continuous operation. This is a non-profit organization devoted to taking inspirational entertainment into the veterans hospitals and presenting bedside radios to the wounded men. The entire work is carried on in the name of, and on behalf of, the Protestant Churches of America.

The variety and inspiration of this unusual program has made it the outstanding event of the season in hundreds of communities where these artists have been enthusiastically received.

You are cordially invited to attend and to meet these radio stars in person.

Clanton Eligible For Federal And State Aid On Proposed Airport Project

Should Clanton wish to proceed with an airport improvement project, it is eligible for both state and federal funds to assist with construction, it is announced by Asa Rountree, Jr., State Director of Aeronautics.

The Alabama Department of Aeronautics listed Clanton on the Alabama Segment of the National Airport Plan for 1949, thus anticipating the airport needs of Clanton and also making it eligible for state and federal aid. The department is also equipped and prepared to assist with all preliminary project details. It will provide 25% of any additional land cost, and 16 2-3 percent of engineering and construction costs; the Federal government, through the Civil Aeronautics Administration, will also provide 25% of the extra land cost and 50% of engineering and construction costs. State money can be used to match federal funds. On the present basis, the local sponsor pays only 50% of the land cost, and only 33 1-3 percent of engineering and construction.

Chilton's System Of School Transportation

Much interest has been expressed recently regarding school transportation over the nation. In the past few years school transportation has grown by leaps and bounds. Many more counties in Alabama, as well as other states, over the nation, have gone into county ownership of school buses.

In keeping with our recent plans to let the people of Chilton County know more about their school system, this article is given to acquaint them with the school transportation system in Chilton County.

The County Board of Education has owned and operated school buses since 1940. There are fifty-five school buses in the county with fifty-three established routes. At the end of this school term, forty-five of those buses will have completed nine years of service. Some of these buses have to travel as much as eighty miles each day in order to get the children to school. Some of them serve as many as four schools before reaching their final destination. Children who live on or near the end of these routes have to leave home as early as 5:30 a.m., and get home as late in the afternoon as 5 o'clock. During the winter months they have to leave before daylight and don't get back until after dark. Of course, all of the routes are not that long, but they will average between forty-five and fifty miles each day.

During our present school term, some of the buses have hauled as high as one hundred six children. Since they are only forty-eight capacity buses, we know that those overcrowded conditions are real hazards to any safety program. That is an extreme case, but the average pupil load for school buses in Chilton County is between sixty-five and seventy, which is several more than the seating capacity of the bus. In addition to the danger factor of overloaded buses, the cost of maintenance is much greater than it is on a bus that carries a normal load. There were ten new buses added to the fleet last year. Those buses were added in order to relieve some of the overcrowded conditions. Although they were relieved at that time, the increase in enrollment has been such that some of those same buses are overloaded again at present.

There were 4,324 white and colored children transported during the seventh month of this school term. The above figure does not include those boys and girls transported within the two mile limit. The state does not appropriate money for transporting children within the two mile limit.

This question has been asked: Why doesn't the County Board of Education replace all of those old buses with new buses? It sounds as though it would be a very simple matter to do that, but when you consider the difference in the cost of those buses when they were bought in 1940 and the price of them at present, it is not quite as simple as it sounds. When those 1940 model buses were bought, one complete unit cost $1,250. That same unit at present, will cost approximately $2,500.

In spite of the above mentioned undesirable features of our transportation system, it was one of the first established in this state and has been used as a model by many systems within and outside the state. Our state officials inform us that at a recent regional conference in Atlanta composed of 14 states, Chilton's transportation system ranked near the top in efficiency in operation and maintenance. We realize that this record cannot be maintained in view of the facts presented regarding overcrowding and age of equipment. We are faced with this problem of maintaining a good record with the greatest economy.

GROVE HILL MAY FOLLOW AIRPARK IDEA

Montgomery — The idea of combining airport runways, golf courses, tennis courts, and swimming pools is not a young idea in Alabama, according to State Aeronautics Director Asa Rountree, Jr., as he announced that city officials at Grove Hill were considring doing just that.

This combination of recreation with aeronautical facilities is all a part of the "airpark" idea that was begun in Alabama back in 1932, Rountree said. Should Grove Hill go through with the plan, he explained, the town would have an airfield that would be of interest and service to all its citizens.

CARNLEY NAMED TO SUPREME COURT BENCH

Montgomery—Former probate judge of Coffee County J. A. Carnley has been appointed by Gov. Folsom to sit on the State Supreme Court bench during the illness of Chief Justice Lucien D. Gardner.

Carnley will hear a case to decide the control of stock in the Western Grain Company. Since three associate justices have taken opposite sides of the fence on the issue, Carnley's vote could be the deciding one.

Carnley is the father of Gov. Folsom's first wife.

STRAWBERRY VOLUME PICKS UP IN SOUTHERN COUNTIES

Montgomery — With the coming of warmer weather to the state, the strawberry crop this season began to look more favorable, according to the Alabama Co-op Crop Reporting Service.

Particular progress in harvesting has been made recently in the berry producing areas in and around Butler and Conecuh Counties. Picking in the Cullman area, the report said, will probably begin April 15.

GOVERNOR CALLS YOUTH LEGISLATURE FOR APRIL 22-23

Folsom in a proclamation setting April 22-23 as the days for the Alabama Youth Legislature to convene for an educational session in state government.

The organization, made up of boys and girls of high school age, is sponsored by the YMCA. The group, 106 strong with 50 alternates, will meet in the House chamber of the State Capitol here.

In authorizing the session, the governor said further that ". . .the education of our young boys and girls to the ways and means of good government today will be assurance of efficient and honest administration tomorrow."

CANCER-
The Sensational Huggins Blood Test To Be Brought To An Alabama Clinic

Birmingham, Ala. — The Alabama Division of the American Cancer Society took action today to bring to Alabama as quickly as possible the new Huggins blood test for cancer.

Dr. J. P. Chapman, Chairman of the Society's State Executive Committee, announced in Selma that the Medical and Scientific Division of the American Cancer Society in New York has been asked to send detailed data on the test to the Alabama Division with the view of installing it at once in at least one of the state's five cancer clinics in Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile.

Announcement of the test has created a near-sensation in medical and scientific circles. Dr. Roy Kracke, of Birmingham, Dean of the Medical College of Alabama, said: "We are anxious to try this test in the Medical College and fully intend to do so in the course of time, and hope it proves as successful as reports of Dr. Huggins' test seem to indicate."

Dr. Charles B. Huggins, of the University of Chicago, who made the discovery and who is recognized as one of the nation's foremost cancer researchers, described it as "what is for all practical purposes a simple, cheap and reasonably sure blood test for cancer."

One of the most formidable barriers confronting doctors in the control of cancer has been the lack of a comparatively simple, yet certain, test that would reveal cancer in its very early stages. If it could be found then, the chances of curing it in an estimated 75 per cent of the cases were good.

The Huggins blood test is reported to register positive even on tiny malignant tumors. It is based on albumin disturbance in cancer patients which registers in the blood's ability to coagulate under heat.

Dr. Chapman said he had been informed that the test can be given on a large scale in any cancer detection center, or any other similar laboratory. A pathologist can train technicians, Dr. Chapman was advised, in the simple procedures required in a short time.

However, Dr. Chapman cautioned the public that the new test definitely is not a new "cancer cure," and that its full effectiveness as a method of detection has not yet been comprehensively tested and proven.

Mrs. Lillian G.. Meade, Executive Director of the American Cancer Society's Alabama Division, declared that announcement of the test was one of the most significant announcements in the history of the fight on cancer.

"Also significant," she added, "is the fact that Dr. Huggins' work—and the work of other cancer researchers—is made possible by public contributions to the American Cancer Society. The Society gave him grants last year totaling $74,485, and will support his research again this year with additional grants of $89,600.

"It is the most persuasive reason I know why every one of us must contribute to the fight on cancer being led by the American Cancer Society."

Mrs. Lula Bell Kelly of Birmingham is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jadie Cleckler, here this week.

Robert Smith had the cast taken from his leg Saturday and is able to walk around pretty good, for which we are very thankful.

Carl Baker, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Baker, is sick with the measles. We hope for him a very speedy recovery.

Let's all remember to come to church next Sunday in remembrance of the day that our Lord arose from the grave, conquering death for us that we also might have life beyond the grave. — Reporter.

WINTER LEGUME SEED

Alabama seed growers predict a harvest of 15 million pounds of winter legume seed. The crop will include 10 million pounds of blue lupine, three million pounds of crimson clover, over 1 million pounds of Caley peas, and almost a million pounds of vetches and other legume crops.

'Electric Brain' Causes Shock That Cures Maladies

PARIS.—Credulity is not an outstanding trait of the French, but one might believe so to judge by the lurid exploits over a thirteen-year period of Fernand-Albert-Didier Rameau, a wily person of 37, now in jail.

"Professor" Rameau, as he styled himself, was seized while comporting himself with style at International House of University City, reserved in great part for faculty members of the Sorbonne. The reason for his privileged status was his recital of a glittering record of achievements. These included the reputed bestowal of the Prix Curie, in 1938, a diploma cum laude from the University of Copenhagen, possession of the Silver Medal of the Paris Municipality and other impressive distinctions.

His outstanding accomplishment, however, and that which most awes his colleagues at University City, was his invention of an "electric brain," a battery-operated apparatus which, snugly fitted over the cranium of the afflicted, "cured" cancer, tuberculosis, goiter and such lesser maladies as athlete's foot, the shingles and the common pip.

Drought-Resistant Grass Stands up Under Tests

SANTA BARBARA.—A new grass seed called Harding grass, subject of a 21-year experiment, has displayed characteristics which may make it the nation's leading drought-resistant feed for cattle, it was reported by Mr. and Mrs. Girard van Barkaloo Hale of Santa Barbara, Calif., and New York.

Two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Hale "adopted" and completely rehabilitated the demolished village of Maille in France.

The greatest single benefit of the seed, which remains green for more than six months of the year and is a 20-year perennial, is the fact that, where now three acres of grazing grass are required for each head of cattle, in Harding-grass pastures it is possible to feed three head on only one acre of grass.

Harding grass is highly drought resistant, each stalk producing bulb-like growths above the surface in which plant foods are stored. During an eleven-month drought, the Harding grass remained green and nutritious while the surrounding fields were devoid of growth.

Chilton's Gardens Pretty

For a person who loves a pretty garden, Chilton County should be a paradise this time of year. And we're not talking about flower gardens.

Drive through the county roads of Chilton and you can see gardens as pretty and green, as you could wish to see anywhere. From those we have seen the principal diet for the next few months of local citizens will be greens, young onions, tomatoes, English peas, cabbage, potatoes, corn, and on, and on, and on. But why go further? With food like that in one's garden, verily we are living in a land of plenty.

Unsung Heroes

At this time of year when so much time and money goes to graduation and mothers are kept constantly busy sewing and getting ready to see that their child is "properly" attired at graudation, is a good time to think of the person most responsible for bringing them to this stage in their existence.

We would have parents, one and all, give a vote of thanks to the teachers. Those noble souls who work tirelessly and endlessly to prepare our children for the years ahead, and receive so little in return.

Yes, teaching is a noble profession. And for what we pay some of them it is a good thing that the thought of being of service to one's fellowman and the thought of being a moulder of our men and women of tomorrow, to some, (and we should say to most), is reward aplenty for their great sacrifice.

Lightning

There is a belief that lightning will not hit a boat, an automobile or a streetcar.

We have seen reports of lightning hitting small boats and automobiles and recently in Pittsburgh a bolt struck a crowded streetcar.

There is also something like a popular belief in the theory that lightning never strikes the same place twice. This is incorrect. The chances of being hit by lightning once are slim and of being hit twice slimmer. Nevertheless, sometimes it happens.

No Ugly Woman Slain

From a reading of all the news stories that tell us about the killings that take place in the nation, we have come to the conclusion that the best protection a woman can have is to be ugly.

So far as our investigator has been able to discover, no ugly woman has been killed anywhere. The victims are all either attractive, lovely, beautiful, handsome or pretty.

Television At 900 Miles

From New York comes a report from an individual that he "received" a Chicago television program. This is news because the distance involved is much more than the space through which television waves usually travel.

The theory behind television is that the waves cannot get over the curvature of the earth and that they cannot be picked up after traveling thirty or forty miles. Since the distance from Chicago to New York is close to 900 miles, reception of the program is extraordinary.

A dispatch in the United Press reports that in 1940 a Tulsa, Oklahoma, man picked up a television program from Philadelphia, which had been broadcast by a New York station. This incident, in connection with the present case, suggests that, in time, television may be transmitted much further than at present believed.

In the early days of radio broadcasting, one occasionally heard reports of reception without a standard receiving set. The exceptions did not prove anything or make receiving sets useless. Experience may help us to set aside any dream of unlimited reception of television broadcasts.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Someone called the other day and told us to report that PeeWee Martin had the mumps. Now we think that PeeWee is a little old for that sort of thing. Upon closer examination we are sure that it will be found that he has a jaw full of Brown's Mule and is just getting practiced up for his summer fishings outings. Like us, he probably believes that the best way to catch a cat fish is to spit tobacco juice on your bait.

To continue about fishing. Mr. W. C. Nuss has built him a boat that is a beauty. It hasn't been painted yet, or even finished, but even a novice can see that it is a wonderful job. It is made entirely of metal. He is just installing air tanks now, and says he will paint it red and yellow. That will probably scare off the fish but it will look mighty classy pulled up along the common run of river boats.

We have a woodworker that plys his trade as boat maker in Clanton too. He is K. A. Hardy. He is also a poet, as we can testify, as we have run some of his stuff—or poems. Anyway, he builds beautiful ply wood boats at his cabinet shop in South Clanton and sells them for what would be advertising and we can't say unless he authorizes it.

Mister Dan Williams of California came in to see us last week. It was "press time" and we didn't get to talk to him as we would have liked to, but he is a very interesting conversationalist. He is a brother-in-law of Charles Smith, and his wife and small daughter flew home for a few days. He said the trip took them nine hours. That's really travelling, isn't it?

One of the cutist child tricks we have heard in a long time was instigated last week by Miriam Golden. She had been sick and her daddy, Dr. W. C. Golden, had left her some medicine to take through the day. About noon she called her daddy at his office and told him the medicine wasn't doing her any good she wanted him to bring her a bottle of Hadacol. Miriam is five years old.

Saw a good friend up a telegraph pole the other day. Maybe it was an electric light pole, but never the less it was the good friend. Now ordinarily one would say that it was a funny place to see an old friend. But circumstances alter cases. This happened to be our friend Jeff Pilgreen who is with the Alabama Power Company and he was working on this pole moving project. Jeff, to our certain knowledge, stayed on top of a pole all afternoon and all next morning. You might say Jeff is up in the air half of the time. He was last week anyway.

Herman LeCroy has got grass growing on the sidewalk in front of his store. No, it isn't because of lack of business—it's where they have placed new water meters and haven't been back around yet to re-pave around them. About half the stores are in the same fix — green grass growing right out in front. Takes us back to the Hoover Administration.

Red Glasscock gets around. Saw in the paper the other day where he will act as a judge in the Cullman Strawberry Festival. He don't get to judge the pretty girls though. He will judge fruit.

We have three pretty young girls here who can sing just as well as the Andrew Sisters. They haven't "arrived" as yet or gotten any "breaks," but they can really sing. We think they should be given a chance. They are: Yvonne Hargrove, Barbara Fain and Kathryn West. They made a recording out at Hocutt's last week and it is really good. Miss West and Miss Hargrove are both correspondents of the News.

Have you noticed the job of remodeling that Mr. Tiffin is doing to his furniture store? When he gets done he will have a most modern furniture store according to reports. We have furniture stores now second to no small town in this section and for the past few years they have outdone themselves in remodeling and also in quality merchandise offered to their patrons. We're betting Mr. Tiffin will have a special message to the public when his work is completed.

The Gentiles Received Holy Spirit

A. T. HICKMAN

In our writings about Peter going to the home of a Gentile to preach the Gospel unto a people of another nation; we will now notice the effect or the result of his ministry. It says in verse 44 "While Peter yet spake these words, the Holy Ghost fell on all them that heard the word. And they of the circumcision which believed were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the Holy Ghost. For they heard them speak with tongues, and magnify God."

Here we have an example of the Gentiles receiving the Baptism of the Holy Ghost, as well as the Jews on the Day of Pentecost. This proves that others after Pentecost did receive the Baptism of the Holy Ghost. This example was eight to ten years after Pentecost. Again in the 19th Chapter of Acts we find another example of believers receiving the Baptism of the Holy Ghost, and that 20 years after Pentecost. And from then until this day believers in every century have received the like experience. People today are receiving the Pentecostal experience of the Baptism of the Holy Ghost. To be a Christian without the Baptism of the Spirit is to be like the disciples were before Pentecost; but to be a Christian, plus being baptized with the Holy Spirit constitutes more of a New Testament Christian. It gives us the like experience the disciples had after Pentecost. And since we are living in Post-Pentecost days, we ought to have a Post-Pentecostal experience.

Every writer of the New Testament was a Holy Ghost Baptized believer. And the normal experience for the church in the first century was to be filled with the Holy Spirit. What every believer in Christ needs today is the Baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire. (Luke 3:15). Spiritual power will do more good in our churches than all our organization. There are many denominational workers with more zeal for their creed than Holy zeal for Christ. What every denominational worker needs is the anointing of the Holy Ghost upon their lives and ministry. Without it, they are as sounding brass, or a tinkling symbol. Christian believer, the baptism of the Holy Ghost is yours for the asking and receiving. AMEN.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Simple Goiter

When one spearks of goiter, he usually means simple goiter. A simple goiter is the enlarging of a gland, the thyroid, which is located in the front of the neck and just below the Adam's apple. This swelling is caused primarily by too little iodine in your body. This lack may come from not eating enough foods that have iodine in them or from failure of the thyroid to use iodine as it should.

When there is not enough iodine in the thyroid gland, the gland tries to make up for this condition by enlarging. This condition is not fatal but may be disfiguring. However, the goiter may press upon the windpipe or othe parts of the neck and this pressure i turn may cause trouble in other part of the body. This type of goiter ofte appears during adolescence and is mor frequent in girls than in boys.

Some foods which naturally contai iodine are salt water fish, vegetable eggs, milk and bread. Certain section of the country, such as the Great Lakes area, are called goiter belts becaus the soil and water do not have enoug iodine in them. The vegetables raise there are in turn low in iodine conten Because of this the table salt used there is iodized so as to overcome this deficiency.

Those of us living in this area ar not in a goiter belt, but some of us st have goiter because we do not eat th proper foods or because our tyroi glands do not function properly.

The iodine which comes into our bodies in the foods we eat is deposited i the thyroid gland and becomes a pa of the thyroid hormone, which is an in portant substance in the proper fun tioning of our bodies.

Simple goiter is not often dangerou but it requires skillful treatment. Son times it requires surgery and shou always be under care of your physicia

ALABAMA GROWS OWN HYBRID SEED CORN

Auburn, Ala.- Here is encouraging news for Alabama farmers who are finding it difficult to obtain certified hybrid seed corn of recommended varieties.

Ralph Jones, A.P.I. Extension Service seed marketing specialist, points to the 1,400 acres of the leading hybrids that will be grown for seed production in Alabama this year.

He says that seven farmers are grov ing this acreage under the supervisi of the Alabama Crop Improvement A sociation. The hybrids include Dixie Dixie 17, Dixie 18, North Carolina 10 and Tennessee 10.

"For the past few years, Alabar has had to plant too much hybrid se corn that was inferior," declares Jon "Seed harvested from the 1,400 acres be grown in 1949 will help correct t situation."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor Chilton County News:

Permit me to compliment the people of Clanton and Chilton County for the splendid co-operation they have given the city officials in getting the parking meters off to a good start. Especially do I wish to express my appreciation of the young people for not interfering with the perfect operation of the meters. The young people are mentioned in this connection for the reason they often commit offenses without considering the seriousness of the act, or the ultimate result.

There were several thousand people here last Saturday and the violation of the parking meter law was very few. Certainly there should have been no wilful violation at all.

Since the parking meters are new in our city and county and are being discussed generally, I think this fact affords the preachers, teachers and parents a fine opportunity to use their influence in the home and elsewhere against theft and dishonesty in connection with the parking meters.

The meters were installed for two reasons. One, that the business section might be used by all as a trade center, and not for a storage place for cars owned by merchants, clerks, and other business people who leave their cars parked there all day. The other reason, we hope to realize some revenue which will be used for the improvement of Clanton. The larger Clanton grows, the more money our citizens pay into the county treasury for roads and schools throughout the county. So, my friends, the pennies and nickles you deposit in the parking meters is not lost to you.

It was interesting to notice how frequently on last Saturday the cars parked in front of stores, and in the business section, moved away, and other cars took their places. That was clearly the desired result, and the public generally will soon approve of the parking meters, is my prediction.

C. FENN JONES, Mayor.

Jemison Defeats Belle Ellen 14-8

The third game of the Bessemer All-American League saw Jemison come up with a 14 to 8 win over the Bibb County boys from Belle Ellen last Saturday night. In the second game they defeated Calfee Junction 14 to 1, behind the 2-hit pitching of Lefty Thomas.

A nice crowd of supporters braved the chilly wind to see the home team drill out their second victory of the scheduled league games.

The Old Reliable, Wallace (Bull) Watkins, weathered a five-hit, three errors, six-run storm during the 6th inning that saw the Belle Ellen team overcome a 7 to 2 lead and pull ahead by a one-run margin. Then the 7th and 8th innings saw V. Scott, M. Scott, Howard, K. Cobb, Varden, I Thomas and Ellison unleash a volley of eight base knocks, good for seven runs that sewed up the game. With this handsome lead set up by his team mates, Watkins tightened the buckler and allowed the visitors no hits nor runs the remaining two innings.

Varden and Ellison were the big noise with the bat, each getting three hits for five trips to the plate. Howard, M. Scott, K. Cobb, each whammed out two hits. S. Smith, batting left-handed, rapped an inside the park homer down the third base line.

H. Hicks, short stop for Belle Ellen, was the real toughie for the home team. He blasted out three hits, got on the fourth trip up by error, drove in two runs, scored one run himself and played flawless ball at short.

Jemison lost its first Blue Division League game to Marvel on Sunday, April 10, by the score of 8 to 4. The Thorsby Independents play Jemison [illegible] night, April [illegible]. Thorsby defeated Jemison in their first encounter 4 to 2 on April 14. The local team will go out to avenge this loss Tuesday night.

Marvel leads the league at present with three wins and one loss. Jemison comes second with two wins and one loss. Two new players were placed under contract with Jemison the past week. They were Bid Smith and David Ellison.

Jemison goes to Brent next Sunday p.m. for the fourth league game. The following Sunday they go to Pelham; then on Saturday night, May 14th, they meet Marvel at Jemison. This is going to be a button buster. Don't miss it. — Robert B. Johnson, Sports Reporter.

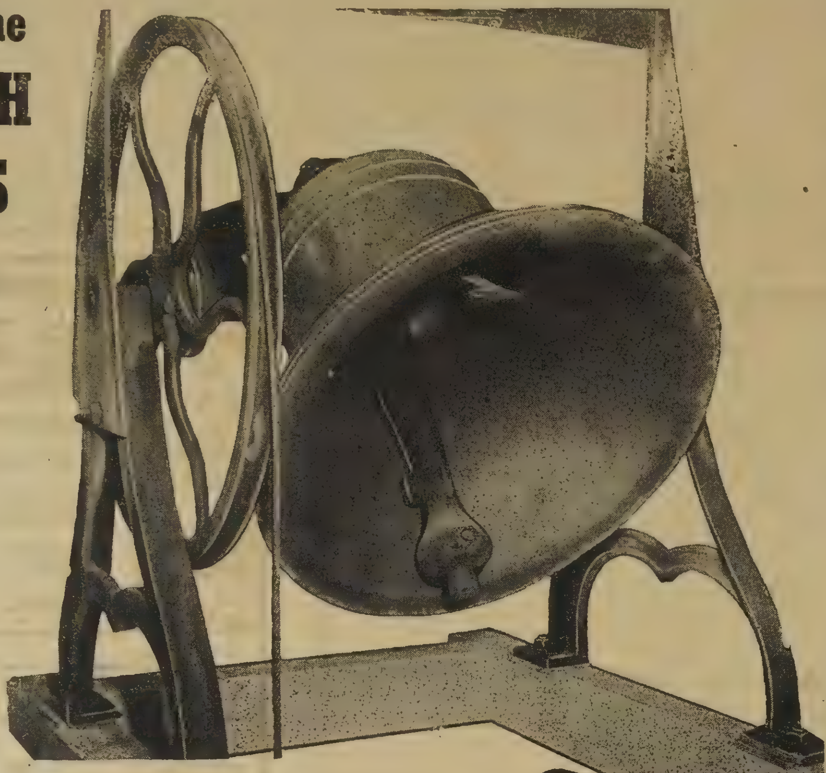
GO TO CHURCH ON SUNDAY

When The CHURCH BELLS TOLL



Millet has done us all rich service in painting The Angelus. A workman in the field, head bowed in reverent worship, has turned from his toil to remember the great God, because the distant church bell tolled, reminding him of his depedence on his Maker and Friend and Saviour. Gratitude, humility, and worship make this man worthy of our thought and honor. Man at worship is man at his best.

How much richer we should be as a people if not only once a week, but many times through the week the Church Bell should summon us to remember our Divine Creator! The people of Adano were right; community life is not complete without the Bell tolling men to prayer and to reverent living. It would be a noble act if every person in the community would join in providing the Bell for their common religious living. The man who puts a dollar into the Church Bell makes it in a very real sense his own voice calling him and all men to their knees. The Church which lifts the Bell again to its place of eminence in the Church Tower may again make religion the heart of the common life.

Religion must become again a matter of every day; the Church must call men more frequently to prayer, even when they cannot enter the church door; the beautiful chimes may send their music of Heaven and Eternity into our hearts and homes. Why not see to it that every town and hamlet shall have at least one Bell to speak for the interests of the soul in an age gone Power-mad? Above the sound of rushing train and speeding automobile let men hear the sweet music of the Church Bell tolling men to God. We are the eternal children of the Eternal Father. The Church Bell summons us to remember and to pray.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

POISONOUS SNAKES NOW ON THE MOVE

Auburn, Ala.- "All farmers and fishermen should be on the lookout for Alabama's four poisonous snakes," says Earl F. Kennamer, A.P.I. Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist.

They are the rattlesnake; "cottonmouth" or water moccasin; copperhead; and the coral snake, found in south Alabama.

There are three known species of rattlers in the state, according to the specialist. The diamondback is found chiefly in the southern part of the state. The timber and pigmy rattlers are generally distributed in Alabama. The copperhead is also known to some persons as the highland moccasin. The water moccasin or "cottonmouth" and the coral snake frequent swampy, damp areas.

Species that should be controlled are the poisonous, the non-poisonous water snakes, and the brown rat snake, sometimes called chicken snake.

NOW'S A GOOD TIME TO FREEZE SURPLUS EGGS

Auburn, Ala.- "Don't sell surplus eggs for a low price, freeze them," advises Lavada Curtis, A.P.I. Extensiion Service food preservation specialist.

Only fresh eggs should be frozen. Break each egg into a saucer for inspection, then pour into a bowl. Stir yolk and white with a fork just enough to mix. Pour into small freezer bags, seal, and freeze.

Egg yolks and whites may be frozen seperately. The egg yolk should be beaten slightly. To each six egg yolks add one teaspoonful of salt. Egg whites are frozen without the addition of sugar or salt. No stirring is necessary.

Frozen eggs will remain good for 6 months or more.

BUY BETTER HEALTH, BUY "ENRICHED" MEAL

"When buying corn meal at the grocery store or at the mill, ask for enriched corn meal," advises John P. Bell, A.P.I. Extension Service food enrichment specialist.

He points to the fact that enriched corn meal brings the health giving benefits of vitamins and minerals into all homes where corn bread is eaten.

Enriched corn meal is enriched in the same manner as wheat used to make the loaves of bread sold by grocers.

The enrichment mixture added to corn meal is tasteless and odorless.

ORANGE SWELLING ON PINES IS CRONARTIUM

Many woodland owners are noticing an orange colored swelling on branches or boles of young pine trees.

"The canker is caused by a fungus growth," reveals I. R. Martin, A. P. I. Extension Service forester. He explains that it does not seriously retard tree growth, but it weakens an infected bole so that a windstorm might break the tree.

Trees with the worst infected boles should be removed. Do this only in very thick stands. Leave enough trees to shade out and kill infected branches, thereby reducing danger of the fungus spreading on the trunk.

STARVE PANTRY PESTS BY CLEANING CORNERS

Corners and cracks in the kitchen are often neglected in cleaning because they are difficult to reach with a cloth or brush. As a result enough crumbs or bits of food may be left in these places to keep pantry pests alive and ready to infest food supplies.

To clean such places, use your vacuum cleaner and the attachment with the smallest nozzle," suggests Stella Mitchell, A.P.I. Extension Service home management specialist, Auburn. Very often the pull of the vacuum can easily and quickly draw out crumbs and dirt difficult to remove in any other way.

IDENTIFY FARM PRODUCE

Farmers who produce and market good quality fruits and vegetables should identify their products in some way so satisfied customers can be sure of getting what they want the next time they buy.

COTTON CULTIVATION

The most economical time to control grass and weeds in cotton is just before plants come up or when they are very small.

FARM OUTLOOK

Each farmer should watch production costs carefully, cut costs where favorable, and follow a farm program that is well suited to his farm and market outlets.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING ASSOCIATION

Farmers who are interested in organizing an artificial breeding association in their county should see the local county agent for full details about this useful program.

1949 POULTRY INSTITUTE

The Alabama Poultry Association's poultry institute will be held at Shocco Springs, near Talladega, May 30 thru June 2nd.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Removing bones from meat before freezing saves considerable locker space and does not cause the meat to loose its flavor or juiciness.

Cornstarch or corn meal can be used for taking up liquids spilled on rugs, upholstery or mattresses where washing or soaking is not possible. The trick is to absorb the liquid immediately to keep it from soaking in and spreading. Other methods may be used to take out traces that remain.

Don't wash white rice unless necessary. It is less likely to become sticky if not washed before cooking. Packaged rice needs no cleaning. If bulk rice needs cleaning, wash with very hot water.

Electric refrigerators made in recent years rarely run more than one-third of the time when set at normal temperature under ordinary kitchen conditions.

Aluminum may be brightened by cooking mildly acid foods like rhubarb, tomatoes, tart apples, or sour milk. This does not harm the food for eating.

Always read the label on the cleaner to be sure it is safe for elasticized shoes.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for the many nice things that you did for us when our home was burned.

Thank you again. — Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hogue.

Jemison Moves Foward

With the construction of a lighted football and baseball field, the erection of a 90 ft. by 92 ft. combination gymnasium-auditorium; the paving of the main business streets of Jemison; the installation of water works system and telephone service; the building of two business establishments; the forth-coming construction of the American Legion Recreation Center; the addition of a large skating rink, and the completion of several beautiful homes, the town of Jemison, nestled in the rich farming section of North Central Chilton County, moves forward in this age and world of progress.

The lighted ball field is proving a center of attraction for both old and young. With Jemison fielding an Independent team, composed of local county boys, the spirit of good sportsmanship and good will is keenly aroused as never before in the history of our town. This fine plant of worthy recreation was made possible through the combined efforts of the Jemison Athletic Association, the city government, the school officials, and the unstinted support and cooperation of the civic-minded citizens of Jemison and all adjacent communities. The ball field has had the following additions made recently:

The field itself has been enlarged, a neat electric scoreboard has been placed behind the catcher's position; six new flood lights have been posted; additional seating facilities have been made; a loud speaker has been set up to assist the patrons in following the program of each game; the concessions counter will supply the hungry and thirsty; new bases have been placed; the team is all decked out in new attractive grey uniforms. The team has been placed under contract with the Blue Division of the Bessemer All-American Amateur League, which is composed of sixty teams.

All of these facilities and agreements have been motivated by the desire to render a real recreational service to Jemison and all of its neighboring communities. With the baseball, season just getting under way, the fans will be well rewarded with teams—the Independents, the high school team, the American Legion team, and the Rinky Dinks, the latter being the 10 to 15 year age group. The support given to the team last season was marvelous and all present indications forecast that same loyal patronage again this year.

Another great asset to our town will be the combination gymnasium-auditorium now over one-half completed. For this fine addition to Jemison and its school, much credit must be given to our genial Mayor, Fred Smith, who is also a member of the Chilton County Board of Education, This building has been needed many years. With an enrollment of over 1,000 pupils in the Jemison School, the present auditorium, built about twenty years ago, was far too inadequate to meet present day needs.

Invisioning this present and future need, Mr. Smith set his heart and soul towards its reality. Today this improving structure commands the admiration of all who view it. Jemison takes great pride in the fulfillment of this great need.

Ere long, Mr. Norwood, will have his skating rink ready to supply this worthy and fascinating type of recreation to the youth of our community.

The other additions to our town are making for greater contentment and happiness to our citizens.

In a world rocking with discontent and disillusionment, the Jemison citizens look to the future with hope and satisfaction. — Robert B. Johnson.

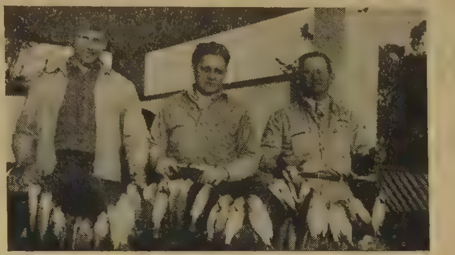
THREE HOURS YIELD FROM BIRD AND HATCHETT



About 2-wees ago Mr. W. E. Owens, right above, accompanied two friends from Birmingham to Lake Mitchell, where they spent about three hours angling in Bird Creek on the Chilton side and Hatchett on the Coosa side. Sixty-nine crappies and bass totaled about one hundred pounds, as indicated by the above snapshot.

The men from Birmingham are: Left, Mr. Jimmie Middlebrook, Pan-Am petroleum engineer; center, Mr. Mel Hagood, Inventory supervisor for Pan-Am.

Mrs. C. R. Foss of Fairfield, Ala., is visiting for a few days here with relatives. She is at the home of her sister, Mrs. Reagan, and will remain till Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brothers of Birmingham, Ala., spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth.

Councilman Sam F. Mims and Chief Livingston attended the District meeting of the League of Municipalities held in Birmingham last Tuesday. Mrs. Mims and Mrs. Livingston enjoyed the day with Mrs. W. C. Bailey.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Mrs. C. R. Foss and Miss Naemi Turnquist spent Sunday in Montgomery visiting with their niece and family, the Thos. J. Wingfields. Mr. and Mrs. Wingfield (Ruth Foss) are the proud parents of a fine baby girl born to them on Friday, April 22nd, at Professional Center Clinic at Montgomery, Ala. The little girl weighed 7 3-4 pounds, and her name is Charlotte Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter spent Saturday and Sunday in Panama City on a fishing trip. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Smith of Clanton made the trip with them. They report a wonderful time and wonderful luck at fishing.

Mrs. H. S. Peterson spent the week end in Birmingham with her mother, Mrs. Carrie Matthews, and her daughter and family.

Mr. Simuel Mims of Tennessee visited here with his family this past week end.

Mrs. Ethel Gamble made a business trip to Birmingham Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Conway and Mrs. H. L. Walker spent last Thursday in Montgomery on a shopping trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Wilson of Jacksonville, Ala., spent three days here last week with friends and relatives and attending business.

Little Miss Benny Joe Franklin enjoyed a visit in Birmingham this past week end with her little cousin, Miss Peggy Joyce Tapscott.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Merchant and daughter, Mary Tom, visited in Montgomery last Sunday with their daughter and family.

The strawberry season is on here in full swing. Last Friday 674 crates were shipped and Monday, the heaviest day so far, nearly 1,100 crates were sold from here. The berries were of the finest we have seen, and while the price was off some Monday, they still brought a fairly good price. Jones Street down in front of the Fruit Growers Building, looked like Morris Avenue—it was indeed a busy place.

Another busy looking place at Thorsby was at the new fruit and vegetable center on Monday night when they were having a meeting of the Dewberry growers and several buyers from various places. We have prospects of a bumper crop of boysen, young and logan berries and it also seems that there will be a good many buyers also, and we hope for a very good price.

An item of interest came in from Mr. Christiansen of the Snug Harbor Concrete Products. No doubt this product is gaining recognition far and wide, since Mr. Christiansen told us that he had an order from The John W. Ryan Construction Company, New York, N. Y., for 1,070 white marble-faced blocks. He is filling the order and he says to insure the safety of the blocks, he will wrap each block separately in heavy paper. This sounds like a big job, but it will no doubt be worth it.

The Ladies Guild will conduct a sale on May 7th at the Fellowship rooms at the Congregational church. In the afternoon a nice lunch will be served. Everyone is urged to attend this affair and thereby help the school.

Mrs. R. H. Goodgame enjoyed a visit from her brother, Mr. Chole Carnes, of Dallas, Texas, this past week end.

The Congregational Church will hold its monthly fellowship supper on Wednesday, May 4t4h, at 6:30, in the Fellowship room. Everyone is invited. Supper is pot-luck.

CLANTON BASEBALL CLUB PLAYS OPENING HOME GAME NEXT SUNDAY

The Selma Red Birds will come to Clanton Sunday to play the local team for the first home game of the current season.

Thursday night (tonight) the locals will journey to Prattville for the first game then return for their opening game on the local diamond Sunday.

With 24 prospective players fighting hard for a berth on the Clanton baseball team for this coming season, officials of the Clanton Baseball Club are making elaborate plans for the opening home game of the season at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Clanton baseball park.

Installation of brand new seats at the park will be completed this week and the playing field is reported to be in excellent shape if no more rain falls before game time Sunday afternoon.

Although the 1st game will be Thursday night at Prattville, the first home game will be played Sunday afternoon in the Clanton baseball park, starting time scheduled for 3 o'clock. At that time it is expected that most of the regular playing positions will be decided upon. However, officials of the club report that any young, hustling baseball prospect will be strongly considered for any position on the team.

At a late date this week the full playing schedule was not completed. But Bob Alred has reported eight games have already been scheduled with Jemison, four to be played at home and the remaining to be played at Jemison. Other games that appear on the playing schedule for this season will be with Montevallo and Autaugaville. Alred reported that inquiries from several other clubs have been received and the full playing schedule will be settled within a few days. Officials of the club are looking for a large crowd of baseball fans at Sunday's game and preparations are being made to handle the crowd.

National Home Demonstration Week May 1-7

Homemakers who have benefited from home demonstration work of the Extension Service — there are more than 3 million of them in this county —are celebrating this week (May 1-7) as National Home Demonstration Week.

They seek, by acquainting other women with its advantages, to express their gratitude for the great national educational project which brings to women the latest homemaking information without a charge. Those who are organized in home demonstration clubs will hold exhibits and special meetings to obtain wider recognition of problems affecting the rural family and to encourage participation of a greater number of families in the extension program.

Originally designed for rural women only, the services now has been expanded in some areas to include city women as well. Problems of food, clothing, shelter and family life are shared by all homemakers.

Homemakers in the city and country alike will agree that the home demonstration service accomplishes its purpose of helping women have "a more abundant home and community life."

CENSUS BUREAU'S CURRENT POPULATION SURVEY

The impact of layoffs and reduced hours upon the nation's employment situation will be studied in the Census Bureau's Current Population Survey in May, it was announced today by District Supervisor Mrs. Flora Stripling, whose office is located in Clanton, Ala. The Current Population Survey interviews each month a representaitve cross section of 25,000 households throughout the country, including a number in the Chilton and Perry County areas.

In addition to the regular questions on employment and un-employment which are asked each month in the survey, special questions will be addressed this month to persons who worked only part time during the survey week. They will be asked the reason they were working short hours and whether they desired full-time employment. Another part of the inquiry wil cover persons who are completely unemployed.

From the answers to these questions information will be developed on the numbers and types of persons who are currently unable, because of economic conditions, to obtain sufficient employment.

The survey will be conducted in Clanton, Ala., during the week of May 16 to 21 by the following enumerators: Mrs. Nola Hunter, Mrs. Myrtle Taylor, Mrs. Agnes Taylor, Mrs. Helen Thornton and Mrs. Ben Rath.

Supervisor Stripling emphasized that all individual information furnished to the Census Bureau is treated in absolute confidence and that only statistical summaries are ever published.

Kiwanis Club News

Last week's program was very fine for Ladies' Night, despite the deluge of rain. Al Williams led the group in some group singing, after which he and his Gay Nineties Quartet put on their mustaches and rendered an entertaining program of barber shop melodies. Incidentally, I never dreamed that there were so many attractive ladies represented by our Kiwanis Club membership. Perhaps we should have Ladies Night more often.

This week's program is in charge of the New Club Building committee, Buddy Willingham. Guest speaker will be Dr. George Lang, Dean of the School of Philosophy at the University of Alabama.

Last week's radio program was moderated by J. D. Thomaston, assisted by Joe Murphy, Paul Reid and Jesse Culp.

CITY PREPARES FREE PARKING LOT

The County has agreed to let the city use the lot across from the Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Company for a free parking lot for the public. Arguments have gone pro and con for years about this idle half-block and at a meeting of the County Commissioners last week the use by the city was agreed upon.

It behooves the city officials to get this property ready at once for use as it is badly needed.

Thyroxine contains sixty-five per cent of iodine. When the thyroid gland becomes overactive, the supply of iodine in the gland gets too low. When this happens the chemical balance in thyroxine is upset also. That makes the condition worse. A sufferer from this condition loses weight in spite of the fact that he has a huge appetite. All the actions and functions of the body take on a higher speed and this results in what is known as an increased metabolic rate—the tissues use more oxygen and, in essence, burn themselves up.

The most effective treatment for toxic goiter seems to be surgery though some new drugs have been developed that seem to correct the condition.

The thyroid is one of the most important glands in the body. Though the importance of iodine in the salt of the diet is stressed because use with salt tends to prevent over dosage, it must be remembered that this precaution can be overdone. Don't tamper with the chemicals in your body. If you have thyroid enlargement, see your physician.

VETERANS' FARM PROGRAM

If progress is any indication of success in farming, then my idea of a successful farmer is Mr. Horace W. Cleckler.

Since Mr. Cleckler enrolled in the Veterans' Farm Training Program in 1947, he has planted 1 acre of Manganese Burr Clover, 2 acres of sericea and 2 acres of Kobe Lespedeza. Also 1 acre of permanent pasture.

Mr. Cleckler has 5 heifers and a brood sow and from these he intends to grow into a livestock enterprise from which he will receive additional income. Mr. Cleckler has always seen the need for a diversified farming program.

This year the above trainee will depend upon 4 acres cotton, 1 acre tomatoes, ½ acre pole beans and 1 acre peas for his cash crops. With proper fertilization and insect control these crops will furnish a good income at different seasons.

NO MARKET FOR CULLS

The consumer will neither pay for culls nor for hauling them. The same is true for the wholesaler or retailer. The cost must come out of the original price paid the producer. For this reason, don't take up space with culls.

Better Teachers

Every teacher would like to be a better teacher. All fathers and mothers would like to have better teachers for their sons and daughters.

The Chilton County Teachers Association wishes to suggest how this could be accomplished.

First, make the profession of teaching a full time job. At present teaching is the only profession that is a part time job. Making it a full time job would increase teachers' yearly pay. They would more nearly receive a living income from their teaching. They would not be forced to seek other work to supplement their salary as teachers. Sometimes these outside jobs have interfered with their teaching. Their whole heart has not been in the work of most importance— teaching boys and girls. Teachers would not feel the need of being c the look-out for some better paying job. They would be content with their work as teachers.

Teachers would get a broader view of their work. During the summer months they would do such things as lead and supervise programs of recreation, work with adults, as well as help students make up work which they had failed. This broader view of education would make teachers more efficient in their regular nine months school work.

Teachers with low rank certificates would be able to raise their certificates through summer work. Heretofore many of them have wanted to do so but have had to work during the summer to supplement their income from teaching. Teachers with higher certificates would be able to attend summer school to keep up with the latest developments in education.

Teaching as a profession would be more highly respected. More high school graduates would be interested in going to college and preparing to be teachers. As the respect and esteem of the public for the teaching profession increased, the morale of teachers in general would be raised. Never again would there be such a wholesale desertion by teachers to more highly paid jobs.

A second thing to be done is to increase the number of teachers employed. Many teachers now attempt to teach forty or fifty or more pupils. They cannot do this successfully. Often they can merely keep pupils in order. If additional teachers are added to reduce the pupil load to twenty-eight, teachers can do much better work. They could perhaps be spared the requirement of teaching through the entire day and so have time to gather and arrange materials, make plans, check pupils' work, and do individual counseling with pupils.

A third aid teachers need is adequate and competent supervision. At present the state gives no financial assistance to counties for supervision. Many counties provide some supervision for elementary teachers. Both elementary and high school teachers need expert assistance from supervisors. The employment of an extra supervisor for every county will do much to make the work of teachers more effective.

Employment of teachers for twelve months, employment of enough additional teachers to reduce pupil load to twenty-eight, and the employment of additional supervisors are all part of the program the Alabama Education Association is asking the legislature to consider when it meets in May. The legislature is likely to consider this program favorably only if it is convinced the public wants it.

A Queen

"Mom" is Queen next Sunday. Of course "Mom" is queen most all the rest of the three hundred and sixty-four days in the year, but next Sunday, May 8th, is the day we have set aside and made her special day.

Speaking personally, we suppose we have been luckier than most people. . . .having the best "Mom" in the whole world, and being able to enjoy her for so long. But you say there's others who say their "Mom" is the best "Mom" in the whole world? That doesn't seem possible. But we suppose it is true. After all it depends on how well we know anyone as to how much we can think of them. It has been said that we don't really know anyone we dislike—that if we learned to know them, then we would like them.

We guess that's so about Mothers. It is to them we owe our existence. They are our first remembrance. They were our life before we were big enough to know that the world was any bigger than the length of her apron string.

People never live long enough to repay mothers. Next Sunday go out of your way to remember yours. Personally speaking, if you don't think of her only on Mother's Day, you are a cad. But, anyway, next Sunday is Mother's Day, so if you can't go to see her, do the next best thing and write to her, wire her, or call her. It will be a very small payment on a great big debt.

New Paving

Sixth Street between Shelton-Oglesby and U. S. 31 is going to be paved. That will give traffic an outlet to the south of town that we haven't had before. Of course the outlet was there but was in much too bad repair to be used.

Now when they place that traffic light at the intersection of U. S. 31 and where that street intersects the highway, well, ...

A Free Parking Lot

Let us congratulate the County Commissioners and the City Council for their combined efforts in getting the new parking space that will be used for free parking by the Saturday shoppers. The half block next to the county jail will be graded and prepared this week for a free parking lot. The Commissioners and the Councilmen have taken proper steps to secure this property for public use and are to be commended.

Off the street parking has become a necessity if we are to take care of the growing traffic problem in Clanton. This step will do much to relieve the present situation.

Other free parking lots for visitors will be needed in the not too distant future and the local authorities can keep their eyes open for vacant lots suitable for this purpose. Clanton continues to grow.

Child Training

In Proverbs 22:6 we have this Scripture, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it." I wish to call attention to the first word, "Train." Yes, train a child up in the way he should go. It means a lot more to train a child up in the way he should go, than just merely feed the child and let him grow bigger. Some may give their child three meals a day, and plenty of nice clothes to wear, and a bed to sleep on at night, and send them to public school and think they have done everything they are supposed to do. But there are three institutions of training a child up in the way he should go. First, is the home. The home should be, and perhaps is, the strongest force of training. What a child learns at home becomes a part of its life forever. Every child born into the world is entitled to a Christian home training. He may never get such training, but he is entitled to it, and should have it. This responsibility of home training rests upon the parents of the child. My prayer to God is for more old fashioned Christian homes; a place where the children are brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. Friends, such will do more to strengthen our American way of life than any other one thing. Ungodly homes, non-Christian homes, broken homes, are responsible for our high wave of juvenile delinquency.

A. T. HICKMAN

The second institution of child training is the church. The church has much to offer to child training. The Sunday School, the Daily Vacation Bible School; the Young People's societies of the church; all this supplemented by the ministry of the Pastor goes far in training up a child in the way he should go. But what if your child is deprived of the Christian home; and the institution of the church? There is only one more institution of training, viz. the public school. But without the aid of home training, and church training, there is little hopes for the child's great success in the public school. Such do not go far, they are ready to drop out of school long time before they finish. Friends, let us strengthen every force toward the well training of our youth. The home, the church and the school. This threefold cord cannot be quickly broken. AMEN.

TOXIC GOITER

In this column last week there was a discussion of simple goiter which was said to be seldom fatal. Toxic goiter, on the other hand, is a severe disease and can be fatal. The cause or causes of toxic goiter are not too clear. However, worry and tension often seem to play a part. In the toxic goiter condition the thyroid gland works overtime and at a breakneck speed. When this happens, the thyroid hormone, which is called thyroxine, is sent throughout the body in too great an amount.

The symptoms of toxic goiter include general nervousness, tremor of the out-stretched hands, excessive sweating, and a rapid heart rate, and often the eyeballs stick out in a noticeable manner.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

If that old saying "Where There's Smoke There Must Be Some Fire," is true, it sure must be hot around the courthouse.

"And Still the end is not yet," could be applied to our tax troubles.

We hear more talk of increased gasoline prices. What you say we start another, "share the ride," campaign, like we had during gas rationing a few years back.

Miss Peggy Ramsey our last year's Peach Queen wins new honors. She placed third last week at Valdosta, Ga., in a beauty contest to select "Miss Gum Spirits of Turpentine for 1949."

Up until the rains the Chilton County strawberries had been bringing top prices, which was plenty. Loss was great in a lot of cases since the heavy rains last week.

The motoring public seems to be having quite a time getting used to the traffic light at the post office corner. We have even seen officers run the red light at that corner without thinking. An old habit is hard to break—and folks had a habit of no traffic light at that corner.

Speaking of traffic, if Selma Road isn't soon opened up traffic is going to wear out Second Avenue. There is a constant stream of traffic into Clanton from the west. On busy afternoons it keeps the local traffic officers on their toes keeping the traffic unsnarled.

We must congratulate Lewis (Pig) Headley on his modern grocery store. We were much surprised the other night when we drove out through West End and made him a call. "Pig" as he is better known in this neck of the woods, has constructed a roomy, well lighted and ventilated building next door to his old stand. He has equipped his new place with modern fixtures and is ready to give the buying public in that end of town first-class service in the grocery line. He tells us he is removing the old building to make room for a parking lot for his customers. Pig has an eye for business, and his business is growing.

The Shell Service Station has put on a new dress. A jam-up decorating job has been done there the past week by a Mr. Lowery, who does that kind of work here-abouts and is known to be pretty good at it. Herman, the place looks good, congratulations.

Dave Cohen told us Monday morning that the Saturday before Mother's Day was as big a day for merchants as was the day before Christmas. He also told us that not so with Father's Day. Mr. Dave said customers would come in and get a tie for "Pop," and let it go at that, but for mother they usually "shot the works."

Jimmy Bell attended the Association of Hardware Men's annual convention last week and is usually good for a paragraph, but we haven't heard the first bit of gossip on what happened to Montgomery while he was there. Jimmy is usually elected an officer of the organization too, and has held down several important posts. If anything of interest crops up later we'll let you know.

Little Rudy Goggins is dead. We ran Rudy's picture a few weeks ago, taken while he was confined to a Sylacauga hospital with an incurable disease. He died last wek in a Talladega hospital. Rudy's dream was to grow up to be a Highway Patrolman and he was made an honorary member of the State Patrol. He had several uncles and aunts in the southern part of this county.

Plant Foreman Scans Universe With Own Scope

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—John Hessner's ticket to the stars lies in cotton batting in an old cake box that belonged to his wife, Ruth Marie. It's an inch and a quarter thickness of silvered glass, eight inches in diameter, with an imperceptible curve inward of 62 one-thousandths of an inch. Hessner made it himself.

Lying in its carton it's just a chunk of brass mounted glass. But in the bottom of a 10-inch metal tube it is a magnifying instrument that brings the savage mountains and lifeless plains of the moon into eye shot and furnishes a tantalizing view of the mysterious canals of Mars.

And nights when the moon is full and silvery, and the stars blaze like beacons of hope in the sky, John Hessner, earthbound human that he is, traces the paths of the firmament.

Has Foreman Job

Hessner is an assistant foreman at the International Harvester company. That's about as prosaic a job as you can imagine. And Hessner, with his thick, stocky body, his good humored features, is as average a man as you would meet. But Galileo was an average looking man, and who would look for an adventurer under the bland features of a Christopher Columbus?

Talking with Hessner in his quiet home you are impressed by the rebellious spirit of the man, by his unspoken yearning for far places. The book shelves in his living room are stuffed with travel volumes. An entire section is devoted to astronomy.

"I was always interested in astronomy," he said. "There were so many stars, so many other planets I could never, never see, I thought. Then I read about making my own reflector."

The reflector is a simple thing. A metal tube about six feet long contains the mirror mounted at the bottom. At the top of the tube is mounted a smaller mirror which carries reflections from the big mirror into a magnifying eyepiece.

Mirror Took Six Months

"It took six months to make the mirror," Hessner said. "Then when I had one nearly finished, I broke the glass and had to start all over."

Making a mirror is a laborious task. You secure a blank from one of the optical glass companies. It must be ground to correct proportions within a thousandth of an inch. The depression in the center must be exactly 62/1000ths and not a fraction more. And when the grinding is done, the mirror must be endlessly polished with jewelers rouge to remove the smallest imperfections.

"I wasn't working much that year — it was 1937," Hessner said. "I finished the mirror in good time. By 1938 I was seeing the moon."

His eyes sparkled with enthusiasm.

"Have you ever seen the moon through a reflector?" he asked. "There is nothing on the moon, you know. No life, no air, no wind. It lies there in space, a globe of emptiness.

"The shadows of the mountains are as dark as night. And the mountains, themselves, are sharp peaks that have never eroded. You can pick out the blackness of the craters."

Bees Air-Condition Hives By Controlling Temperature

HARRISBURG. — Weather doesn't bother the bees. They air-condition their hives by controlling temperature and humidity.

Prof. E. J. Anderson, bee specialist at Pennsylvania State college, said that even when outside temperatures were below zero, bees maintained a temperature of 96 degrees Fahrenheit in the center of the winter cluster.

He said the moisture content of the hive ranges from 65 to 80 per cent. This humidity is maintained fairly constant despite varying humidity changes outside the hive. For that reason, Professor Anderson cautions beekeepers against opening hives any oftener than is necessary to care for the colony.

Rabbit Plagues Prove Costly To Australian Farm Programs

SIDNEY. — Rabbits, long known to the world by reputation as Australia's worst plaguer are said to cost that country almost two million dollars a year, offset in part by the fact that their skins and carcases sold to the United States alone bring in 36 million dollars as a minimum every 12 montns.

"Down Under," through no fault of its own except the suitability of its remarkable soil and climate, is beset to all accounts with a plethora of pests from dingoes to prickly pears and burrs to bulbuls. How the bulbul found its way to the Antipodes appears to be veiled in mystery, although it is reputed to have become acclimatized about half a century ago and is the only bird that eats tomatoes in addition to fruit.

The latest undeserved application is said to be the lantana, of tropical American origin prized by gardeners in the United States for its multicolored flowers. Like many other hitherto well-behaved plants, notes the Manchester Guardian in a review of nature's perverseness there, it ran amuck when introduced to Commonwealth soil.

A fragment of water hyacinth, once a garden plant admired for its lovely mauve flower, was thrown into Swan Creek in New South Wales, and in two years had choked a 50-foot-wide stream. It then infested the rivers of two states, necessitating the expenditure of thousands of pounds to clear navigable channels. The Bathurst burr arrived over a century ago in the tails of horses from Valparaiso.

Memorial Library Acquires Valuable Egyptian Necklace

ST. BONAVENTURE, N. Y. — A necklace worn more than 3,400 years ago by a Queen of Egypt who renounced her sex has just been acquired by the Friedsam memorial library at St. Bonaventure college.

The multi-colored adornment, a double circlet of round and tabular beads with a short beaded pendant in front, once belonged to Queen Hatshopsitu, who ruled Egypt with her father, Thutmosis I, in the Eighteenth Dynasty (1516-1481 B.C.)

Hatshopsitu used every possible device to conceal her real sex, calling herself King Makeri and dressing like a man. She married her half-brother, Thutmosis II, who succeeded her.

The necklace, together with a document authenticating it, came into the possession of the library through the procurator general of the Franciscan Order of Friars Minor in Rome.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Now is a good time to check your terraces to see what their carrying capacity is. If you will check the washes on the low places that are still holding water, this is a place for the meadow outlets that are so essential to a complete terracing system.

Plan now to sow or sod you a water way to spill your terrace water into. Don't keep fooling yourself that you have your terraces fixed by filling the wash with cane pummies or brush.

O. M. Harper, Jemison Rt. 1, sowed 50 pounds of hard seed crimson clover and rye grass on seven acres last Fall. On this seven acres seven heifers were wintered without any additional feed except salt. These heifers have been removed and O. M. plans on harvesting the clover seed to sow additional acreage next fall or established sericea lespedeza.

C. E. Ward, Clanton Rt. 2, sowed two acres of white dutch clover and Dallis grass. The cows were not allowed to graze until this week. Mr. Ward states, "I have a good pasture but I want more of it so I can get enough cows to sell grade "B" milk.

N. E. Samuel states, "My pasture is ahead of my cows now and I don't believe they will ever get it eaten down." Mr. Samuel's pasture is sericea lespedeza, Dallis grass and hop clover.

W. B. Cox states, "I have planted six additional acres of sericea lespedeza and I think I will get a stand. My sericea saved me from selling a bunch of cows last summer." Mr. Cox is doing an excellent job of utilizing his critical slopes on his farm in hay and grazing crops.

By Olin G. Fields

James Rich, Mt. Pisgah Community, has planted one acre of Kudzu seed. This Kudzu seedling patch will be worked like cotton. James paid $2.50 per pound or $25.00 for the acre. In carrying out his soil and water conservation plan, James plans to harvest enough Kudzu seedlings from this acre to set 36 acres of Kudzu next winter and spring. James saved approximately one pound of these seed and will plant them between hills of corn and tomatoes in an area that is a natural draw and where terrace water will empty.

It would have cost James from $180 to $300 to have planted Kudzu over this area at the price of Kudzu crowns this spring besides the labor. The seedling patch idea came from figuring the cost.

Radio Cough Causes Battle Over Pay Rate

NEW YORK.—The act of coughing has become a labor problem and a test of dramatic art. Instead of being merely a nuisance in the theater and concert hall, it suddenly acquired a market value—from $6 to $12.50 per well-modulated bark.

The elevation of coughing to the status of a paying profession was the result of a ruling by the American Federation of Radio Artists, the AFL group that covers all performers on the air. Specifically, the union decreed that a staff radio announcer was no longer just a staff radio announcer if he had to cough on cue.

Result of Promotion

The determination of the importance of coughing came as the result of a promotional scheme planned by station WMCA.

After thorough exploration of all the possibilities, WMCA chose the device of a one-minute transcription to be played at intervals for two days before the program of tuberculosis control went on the air. It was learned that the announcer would proclaim the need everyone has for air. Then he would inhale, exhale and, as a climax, cough. This would be followed by announcement of the tuberculosis program.

Upon making a routine check-up at the actors' union, however, WMCA learned it had a dilemma. There was a contract with many provisions. The provisions were very specific that a staff announcer should not try any extra dramatic embellishments in the course of making spot announcements. He shuld read what was before him and that was all.

Had Enough

WMCA decided it had enough. The union scale for actors on spot announcements begins somewhere between $6 and $12.50, a station official noted. He decided that even for a cough by a "name" cougher, that price was too steep.

Union officials somewhat reluctantly acknowledged that they had interposed objections to the coughing announcements. They explained that the criterion was not a cough or two but the matter of establishing a precedent which might lead to extensive extra-curricular activities by staff announcers without additional pay for their added efforts.

Atomic Clock Can Split Seconds With Accuracy

WASHINGTON.—An atomic clock that can split seconds with the extraordinary accuracy of one part in 20,000,000 has been added to the arsenal of research science.

The national bureau of standards developed it and scientists said it was a great improvement over the observatory method of telling time by the stars which had previously been the last word in accuracy.

Dr. E. U. Condon, director of the bureau, said the instrument provided an entirely new and amazingly precise method of measuring not only time but also frequency. He said it should prove an "invaluable tool" for research in medicine, chemistry, physics, engineering and electronics.

The bureau said the clock "is already being improved." Its potential accuracy is theoretically one part in 10,000,000,000. At that rate, it would take about 3,000,000 years for the clock to gain or lose a second.

The face of the clock looks like just what it is—a large, conventional electric clock.

What makes it different is an atomic attachment that acts as a regulating "governor" for the electric works.

This attachment consists of a thirty-foot copper tube filled with ammonia gas, a quartz crystal oscillator, and certain electronic instruments known as frequency multipliers, dividers and discriminators.

The oscillator puts out a radio signal which by itself is extremely consistent in frequency. In fact, until today, a simple quartz crystal attachment was the most accurate governor available for time-frequency measurements.

Britain Would Recruit 50 American Scientists

LONDON.—Fifty American scientists are to be recruited by Britain's Colonial Geological survey and the Colonial Geodetic and Topographical survey to fill the gaps in personnel created during the war years, according to the colonial office.

The project, under which the scientists would be concentrated in East Africa, where large railway developments are proposed, the colonial office says, is under consideration by the E.C.A. in Washington. The colonial office has asked E.C.A. whether the American scientists and technicians can fill the posts "while recruitment catches up."

It has been suggested that their basic salaries be met by European recovery program funds while their local allowances be paid in sterling.

'Bronx Cheers' on Phone Bring Woman into Court

PROVIDENCE. — A superior court judge listed for Mrs. Eva Parness four neighbors she must never call up again—because the neighbors said that for six years Mrs. Parness had forced on them "torture by telephone."

Judge Walter Curry enjoined Mrs. Parness from "any telephone calls whatsoever"—under pain of "drastic punishment" — to Mrs. Fannie Kaplan, Abraham Kaplan, Mrs. Freda Roiff, and Samuel Roiff.

Mrs. Kaplan testified she started getting the phone calls after once "butting into an argument" between Mrs. Parness and her sister-in-law.

All four testified that several times a day their phone would ring and they would hear — "curses, epithets, and Bronx cheers."

Youth in British City To Get Police Training

LONDON. — If the British home office gives its approval to the idea, youths in Liverpool will begin police training at the ages of 15 to 18 in a newly-created corps to be called city police cadets.

They will have their own special uniforms and in the beginning will confine their work to the police stations. But a small group of selected youths will operate in plain clothes to become familiar with detective work under the supervision of members of the criminal investigation division. One of the Liverpool officials explained that the city's plan was to have "a reservoir from which boys trained in police routine can go straight into the adult force."

The boys are not compelled to sign up for any set period of training but will be free to leave the cadet body at any time during their apprenticeship. Their pay graduates from one pound 10 shillings a week at 15 to three pounds two shillings at the age of 18. None of the boys will be permitted to do independent police work, but will at all times be under the supervision of regular members of the force.

Australian Urges Flight 'Round South Pole in 1950

PERTH, AUSTRALIA. — Charles K. Foot, West Australian, is trying to promote a round-the-South-Pole flight next year.

He thinks such a flight should be made early in the year to mark the visit of King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

Foot says such a flight would strengthen Australia's claim to part of the Antarctic continent and add to scientific knowledge of the old south. He suggests that the flight be made by flying boat and start and end at Perth.

From this west Australian city, he says, the plane could fly to Hobart, Tasmania. Then it would head south, refuelling at Macquarie island at a rendezvous with a ship in the Ross sea and then at Palmer Archipelago.

It would make the next stop at Magallenes, the Chilean city at the southern tip of South America. From there the plane would fly to Cape Town, South Africa, stopping on the way at a permanent whaling station at South Georgia in the South Atlantic. Then it would fly to Prince Edward and Heard islands before completing the round-the-world flight at Perth.

Wayne University Records Lessons For Use by Blind

DETROIT.—In a cramped little room Donald Jenks, a Wayne university freshman, sits down before a recording machine and begins to read from a textbook.

At first he is hesitant, but soon, following instructions from assistant librarian Ted Manheim, he is reading with confidence. His voice is grooved into a seven inch plastic disk revolving before him.

Jenks is one of about 80 volunteers helping out in Wayne's program of recording textbooks for blind students.

A few days later his record is spinning on a turntable in the room of Alfred Platz, a blind senior studying history. Platz listens and occasionally takes notes on a Braille slate. The strange voice of an unknown fellow student is reading his next day's assignment to him.

Besides Platz are other records with other unknown voices. Each one contains 14 minutes of reading on each side. No longer does the blind student have to adjust his studies to times when he can make an appointment with a reader. Everything is on the records beside him to use as he sees fit.

Procedure Outlined

This, in brief, is how Wayne's textbook recording program works. The records have suddenly given six blind students at the university a whole new approach to their studies.

To make all this possible the volunteer readers work tirelessly. in the university's only available space, a virtual closet adjoining the library reading room. Every day several students give their time so that their voices will bring knowledge to the few who cannot see.

So far more than 2,200 pages have been grooved on 175 disks. Blind students all have portable "talking book" record players loaned by the government and they need no extra equipment to take advantage of the project.

"We are able to record almost everything that's asked for by the blind students," says Dr. G. Flint Purdy, chief librarian.

Dr. Purdy envisions a whole library of recorded textbooks.

"We're trying to look way ahead," he says. "We're hoping to build up a collection of elementary texts that can be used over and over."

Students Enthusiastic

Platz expresses the blind students' enthusiasm when he says:

"It's much easier to study this way. I don't have to take so many notes when I can play the records over and over."

The university has three recording machines, two on loan from the county library. Records cost 11 cents apiece and the university foots all the costs.

Manheim, who spends almost all his time supervising the program, plans to have Braille inscriptions marked in the center of disks to enable listeners to identify them easily.

Librarian Purdy is interested in seeing whether the project will encourage more blind students to undertake college work. He says he knows of no other school carrying on a similar project.

"Students come back glowing with delight after using the records," he says. "If the program helps one intelligent blind student who would not otherwise make the grade get through school, then it will be worth while."

Teen-agers Use Picks, Shovels Helping Get Play Field Ready

CRANFORD, N. J. — Teen-age pupils worked with pick and shovel on topsoil supplied by local townspeople in a community-sponsored effort to build a recreation field for Cranford high school. Folks here are proud of the project, which has been a cooperative enterprise from its inception.

Boys and girls in mathematics classes did the preliminary surveys on the block-long lawn behnd the school set aside as the play area. Industrial arts students have got some practical training hoeing and grading the land.

It started when a faculty report prepared by Frank Zimmerman, vie principal of the shool, with Vincent Sarnowski and Paul Buonaguro, teachers, urged the establishment of play facilities near the school. The institution's athletic field is a half a mile from the school building.

Everybody thought the faculty suggestion a good one. Students said they would do most of the manual labor and the board of education donated picks and shovels. Anthony Iaione, James Rankin and Michael Cipolla, local residents, agreed to supply topsoil and Fred Williams offered the use of his trucks. Township Engineer Patrick J. Grall promised the facilities of his department.

Plans called for facilities for tennis, shuffle-board, track, softball and field and ice hockey. The area was set off with flower gardens and shrubbery.

School officials think the recreation field not only will fill a community need but show the students what democratic cooperation can do.

Aged Woman Recluse Found to Have Had $500,000 Treasure

AKRON, OHIO. — In the hotel room of an aged woman recluse administrators of her estate found a treasure worth more than $500,000. Under police escort, they removed it to a bank.

Wrapped in an old newspaper on the floor of a closet were $300,000 in government bonds, the primary objects of the administrators' search. In an old sugar sack stuffed in the corner of a dresser drawer was a small fortune in diamonds, rubies, pearls and jade. Their gold settings had tarnished during decades of neglect.

An old trunk yielded $20,000 in stocks and a bank book showing deposits of $15,000.

The owner of this wealth, Miss Frances Louise Butler, about 80, died of pneumonia in City Hospital. She left no will and apparently had no surviving relatives.

A preliminary search of the room uncovered stocks and jewels valued at about $153,000, W. A. Woodling, the administrator, reported. He said she owned another $500,000 worth of assets in New York banks and in brokers' hands.

One person at her funeral added a little to the meager knowledge of Miss Butler's past. He was J. Al Crist, who recalled that 50 years ago when he played in orchestras in Cincinnati and New York opera houses she was a singer.

He said he remembered that she sang at the bier of President McKinley when his body lay in state at the White House in 1901.

HARVESTING AND MARKETING STRAWBERRIES

Success in marketing strawberries is largely dependent upon proper picking, grading and packing the fruit. Good quality berries properly packed attract buyers and usually results in greater demand and higher prices. Carelessness in handling and preparing the berries for market can only lead to dissatisfied buyers and low prices.

The job must start with picking. It is a difficult job to pack a good quality crate of berries if a poor job of picking has been done. Careful supervision of the pickers is especially important and may save the grower money. The picking foreman should check the berries harvested by each picker to see that the number of green or otherwise defective berries in the cups is held to a minimum. He should also see that no ripe berries are left on the vines The berries should never be grasped or mashed in picking, but rather the stem should be pinched off leaving the cap attached to the berry. When pickers are paid by the cup, they may become careless about what kind of berries they put in the cups. The packing shed foreman should work closely with the picking foreman and when some of the cups show too many green or defective berries, every effort should be made to trace it to the responsible picker and correct the trouble.

Strawberries are easily damaged by exposure to the sun or by dust. They should be removed to the shade as quickly as possible after picking and be protected against dust. A layer of sawdust in and around the packing house will help keep down dust.

It is advisable to do some grading after the berries are bought in from the field. This may be done by pouring the berries from one cup to another, picking out the green, overripe or otherwise damaged berries. Some growers prefer to use a grading pan, a shallow, metal tray into which the berries may be emptied for sorting and then poured back into the cup.

Grading on the basis of U. S. grades serves as a standard for quotations and sales. Growers will usually find ready sale for well graded, inspected berries.

Strawberry crates should be properly filled so they will be neither slack nor so full that the berries will be crushed. The crate should present an attractive appearance when opened. The practice of "facing" the cups is followed in some sections. The berries in the top layer are placed on their sides, all pointing one way. This makes an attractive pack but there is a tendency to place the very best berries on top and small defective fruit toward the bottom of the cups. The top layer, should be fairly representative of the whole crate.

If Alabama producers are to maintain a permanent, successful strawberry industry, they must follow a sound program of grading and inspection.

STAKING TOMATOES

Over the years, growers for the early market have staked tomatoes because it gives them earlier yields and higher quality fruit. Also, top prices paid for early tomatoes justify staking.

PLEASANT GROVE METHODIST

(To Late For Last Week)

On Tuesday night, April 19th, the Women Society of Christian Service held their regular monthly meeting at the church. Mrs. Arthur Henley, president, had charge of the meeting. After their business transactions were held, their society put on the program "Respect for Authority" for the joint meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service and The Methodist Men's Club. Mrs. Henley gave a talk on Respect for Authority and Rev. Rountree gave a wonderful reading on the same subject. Both clubs will meet again the third Tuesday night at the church. There will be a joint picnic for both clubs on Saturday afternoon, May 7, 1949, beginning promptly at 5:00 p.m.

We had a large crowd out for Sunday School Sunday. Our enrollment is increasing and also our attendance. The church has built two nice Sunday School rooms in the church for which we are all proud of. These rooms have been needed for some time. Choir practice will be held at the church Friday evening beginning at 7:30.

Mrs. A. R. Scott and children spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Clack of Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Atkinson and sons, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hosey and sons, and Miss Dean Scott were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hosey and family.

Mr. Arthur Henley and Fred Hosey attended the singing convention at the courthouse in Clanton Sunday.

We met at the church Sunday night and organized the Methodist Youth Fellowship Society. Mr. T. J. Headley was elected president; Miss Edna Earl Durbin, vice-president; Miss Dean Scott, secretary; Mr. J. C. Durbin, treasurer; Mr. Wilson Atkinson, group leader; and Mrs. Arthur Henley, alternate group leader. There will be a program held each Sunday night at the church for the MYF. Everybody is cordially invited to come and take part in these programs.

It's "The Berries" in Cullman County

It's like Bill Harris said—you can't "keep your light under a bushel" if it's really bright.

That's true with people, with towns and counties.

Take Cullman County, for instance. Ever since nobody knows when, they've been growing fine produce there—including strawberries. They didn't make any fuss about it, but the kind of berries they raised did a lot of talking for them.

Pretty soon the light got out from "under the bushel," and Cullman became Alabama's "strawberry county."

This week they're celebrating that fact in a big way, with their ninth annual Strawberry Festival presided over by King Edward Earl Chandler, of Hanceville, and Queen Charlotte Marie Rosson, of Cullman. The "big doings" are May 5-6.

From where I sit, Cullman's strawberries are pretty important to every Alabamian. Not only in the dish, but also in the way they bring fame and fortune to our state.

SOMETIMES IT PAYS TO BE a COPY CAT

As a nation of individualists, Americans like to do things in their own way when they please. Sometimes, however, it pays to be a copy cat. Particularly when you can take the experience of others and turn it into profit for yourself.

That's what many Alabama farmers have done. During the winter months, when planning for next year's farming and hoping that "it'll be a good year", many studied the profitable lessons in practical farm management developed by the farm-size experiments of the Agricultural Experiment Stations of Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Farming is a business. One of the reasons for a successful business is good management. Good management tries to make every part of a business pay its way. One reason some farmers are more successful than others is good management — they make every acre of their farm produce something. Perhaps what's good management for one farm may not be so for your farm. Size, location, types and quality of soil and other things would determine that.

Your county agricultural agent will gladly help you work out a good management program for your farm.

Concord Baptist Members Have New Church

Concord Baptist members are now worshipping in their new, modern building erected on the site of the old church two miles out Higgins Ferry Road. There are ample facilities for the various departments of the church, all conveniently equipped.

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

A new and well-liked gospel music aggregation made its debut on WKLF this week—the Southlanders Quartet. It is heard each Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon at 6:15 p.m. The Firestone Quartet is now heard on Sunday afternoon from 6:15 to 6:45 instead of at 4 o'clock.

Strictly "in the groove" rugged rhythms is the rule on "Rockin' in Rhythm," each afternoon at 2:30, with Bob Taber spinning the discs.

Marion Easterling's contest ended on "America's Favorites" last week. Winners of the fifty silver dollars in prizes will be announced on "America's Favorites" this Sunday (7:30 to 8:00 a.m.)

The women folks are taking over on "Facts for Farmers" (12:15) this week with a special series of programs. As a matter of fact, the series began last week, with a special broadcast featuring Mrs. Cooper Speaks. Other ladies appearing on the broadcast up to the time of this writing have been Mrs. Aubrey Smith and Mrs. C. B. Martin. Each Home Demonstration Club in the county has selected from its group an outstanding leader in that work who will discuss some phase of home demonstration work over the air. Miss Mattie Jo Barber, Home Demonstration Agent, is directing the programs.

The "Hal Burns Show" at 7:15 each morning on WKLF now brings you another daily program of folk music and fun. Hal's "Dinnerbell Roundup" at 11 o'clock each morning has been so popular that we thought you'd like another program earlier in the day. Incidentally, Hal wrote a song about little Kathy Fiscus that really drew the mail from listeners.

Guests on "Vocals by Locals" last Saturday morning were Mrs. A. B. Stanley and her Verbena High School Glee Club. Talent in the popular music field is invited for this program, which is heard each Saturday morning at nine o'clock. Auditions are held in the studio each Wednesday afternoon at 6:45.

Hank Williams, who is catching so many people's hearts with his current MGM recording of "Lovesick Blues" is an old Georgia farm boy, who started off by picking his guitar and singing at box suppers and other local gatherings. He really got his start in radio down at Station WSFA in Montgomery, where he played on the air for some 12 years. Currently, he is starring on the "Louisiana Hayride" on KWKH in Shreveport, and they say he's just about the "hottest" thing in that neck of the woods. Incidentally, he is married and has a very cute little daughter.

That's sign off time for this week. Until next Thursday, so long, and good listening.

To remove starch from a hot iron, shake salt on a piece of paper and rub the iron back and forth over the salt until the starch rubs off. Remember that well-cooked starch is less likely to stick than starch which is not thoroughly cooked.

A joint dedication service was held for the Friendship Baptist Church and pastorium in the Elmore County Association April 17, 1949. The main building was built and dedicated about [illegible] years ago, but the newly constructed educational [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] about [illegible] square feet and was built for less than $2,000.00. However, it was built with free labor which would have cost nearly that much again.

The pastorium is a nice six-room structure which cost about $2,000.00 with most of the labor given. It was built about two years ago.

The following helped the pastor in the great [illegible] of the dedication services: Charles [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] Montgomery; [illegible] W. J. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and College, Miss [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Missionary [illegible] Elmore [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Director.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the above held in 194[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the dedicational services.

It will also be remembered that Rev. Lockhart has helped build other churches in this, and other associations.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

In a good school program the curriculum should be designed to meet all of the needs of all of the children. Why are our boys and girls not remaining in school? Why is it that out of every 100 over the nation who enter school only 45 graduate? We admit that great answer lies in the fact that too many of our youth see that going to school gets them nowhere. Why?

The curriculum is not designed to meet their needs. Most thought has been given to courses in preparation for college requirements and too little given to courses for the vast majority not going to college. We build our curricula around preparation for a white collar society when America is composed of a blue-collar society.

Trade and industrial education is making some progress in the state but needs to be expanded. Forty-three centers are needed in the cities of the state. One hundred twenty-two rural schools need vocational agriculture departments and 188 need vocational home economics.

One high school in Chilton County does not have either department. Everyone can see the value of vocational agriculture. Not every boy who takes agriculture is going to be a farmer. However, in a well equipped school a boy may learn wood-working, mechanics, electric welding, etc., which will certainly be an asset to him if he becomes a farmer, and if he does not become a farmer, he will have some conception of some other vocation in life.

Since all girls are potential homemakers, each girl should have an opportunity for the vocation of homemaking. Homemaking training will contribute: First, to the solving of the pupils present personal and family problems; second, to the development of attitudes and skills as a foundation upon which to build in the future as adult homemakers; and third, to the recognition of the relationship of homemaking skills to wage earning occupations requiring homemaking skills.

Training of all these responsibilities must be provided if competence is to be achieved. Therefore, Alabama's state plan for vocational home economics program provide for all aspects in homemaking.

BETTER STAPLE COTTON

In the period 1928-1932, cotton produced in Alabama had an average staple length of seven-eights inch. However, in 1948, Alabama's estimated 1,200,000 bale cotton crop had an average staple slightly longer than an inch.

There are 103 white and 85 Negro schools in Alabama which do not have home economics education programs organized on a vocational training basis. We know that this kind of program guaranteeing good schools will cost more. But, poor schools cost most.

Jemison Defeats Thorsby 5-4

The Thorsby and Jemison Independent baseball teams locked horns in the best game of the season on Tuesday night, April 26th, at Jemison, with the latter winning by a 5 to 4 count.

Jackson for Thorsby pitched a beautiful game, giving up 8 scattered hits; but 3 of these hits coupled with a walk and an error in the seventh inning proved his undoing. Up to this point Thorsby was leading 3 to 1. Jemison had only gotten 3 hits and one run, while the visitors had four hits with 3 runs. Jackson struck out 5 men.

David Ellison, recently returning to join his Jemison team mates, pitched himself even a better game, yielding only 6 hits, good for 4 runs and striking out 12 Thorsbyites. Catcher Wilson and first baseman C. Baggett for Thorsby seemed to try to establish some sort of strikeout record; each whiffed 4 times.

Howard, first baser for Jemison, drove out the two paralyzing blows against the visitors. In the 7th inning with V. Scott on third, and Edwards on second, Howard lammed a hot liner into right field scoring both runners and tieing up the game. Then in the 9th inning with Edwards on third, Joyce came through again with a perfect sacrifice for a squeeze play, Edwards sliding in safe ahead of Collins' quick throw to the plate, with the winning run.

After going hitless the first 3 times up, H. Baggett, right fielder for Thorsby, caught hold of a two-two pitch and laced it over the left field fence for their 4th and final run. V. Scott, center field for Jemison, stirred up the biggest racket with his bat; getting 3 hits and a walk out of 5 trips to the plate, scoring two runs and driving in another, all along with stealing bases.

Varden, one of Jemison's most consistent hitters, is having tough sailing against the Thorsby lads. He has hit well in all games this season, except the two against Thorsby.

Ellison for Jemison and Popwell for Thorsby each hit a triple. Both teams were keen as a new razor; in fact, too keen, as Thorsby came up with 4 errors; while Jemison uncorked 6 hobbles themselves.

The Jemison boys journeyed over to Brent last Sunday p.m., but a heavy rain at game time prevented playing. Fairfield comes to Jemison next Friday night (tomorrow), May 6. Game at 8 o'clock — Robert B. Johnson, Sports Editor.

NEW HARMONY

There was a pretty nice attendance this week end, although it could have been better.

We were very glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Willie Littleton back home from Lakeland, Fla., where he has been attending Bible school. Bro. Littleton brought the message for us Saturday night.

We were also glad to have Bro. Gene Sanford, former pastor of our church, with us Saturday night and Sunday. He brought the message Sunday.

Due to the bad weather there was no service Sunday night, although a few did gather at the church and had prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. D. Williams and daughter were the week end guests of another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Littleton.

Billie Littleton had the cast taken off his leg last week, but still is not able to walk on it.

Little David Headley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Headley, and Janette Franklin, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Franklin, are sick with the measles. We hope they will both soon be well and able to be brought to church again.

Next week end is our pastor's appointment. So every one come on out, expecting a blessing from God.—Reporter.

MOTHER'S DAY AT CONCORD

All this week, beginning last Sunday morning, we have been observing Christian Home Week. This program will end next Sunday morning, with what we hope to be the greatest Mother's Day program in the history of our church.

Among other things the pastor is planning, we will have with us the Firestone Quartet who will render beautiful music in keeping with the sweet thought of mother.

We invite you to come and we hope you will reconsecrate your lives to the God that your mother did not want you to leave. — R. W. Stuckey, Pastor.

Christian Endeavor News—

Due to the bad weather Sunday night, the Christian Endeavor of the Congregational Church, was held at the Dining Hall of Thorsby Institute. We had a very interesting program which was led by Ruby Gandy. Different members participated by reading poems and short stories.

The roll call was taken and the students responded with a verse of Scripture. This was followed by hymn singing which was directed by Robert Owens, president.

Mrs. Emmitt Billingsley, popular clerk at the Pope Payne Hardware Store for a number of years, has decided to take a rest for a while and confine herself to her household duties. Mrs. Billingsley will be missed terribly by her many friends whom she has served so well, and we hope that after she has enjoyed a well deserved rest, that we will find her back at her old job again.

Mrs. C. R. Foss returned to her home in Fairfield, Ala., after several days visit with her sisters here. Mr. Foss came down Wednesday night to attend the special meeting at the Lutheran Church and returned with her Thursday.

Mrs. Anna Phalin returned home on last Tuesday from Charleston, S. C., where she spent a month with the Edward Howards. Mrs. Phalin reports a very interesting trip, and she had the pleasure of being present at Charleston's "Azalea Festival" and she said it was really wonderful. The season having been early this time, she says that the azaleas were through blooming, but the Festival was put on as planned just the same.

Dr. and Mrs. Ira Martin and little daughter spent the week end here visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Porter, and the Frank Porters.

The many friends of Mrs. Nels Peterson will regret to learn the news of her mother's death. Mrs. Peterson and daughter, Shirley, left Thursday for West Point, Ga., after learning of her mother's serious illness. Mr. Peterson left on Saturday to be with his family there, and word came from him on Sunday that Mrs. Shannon had passed away. They have our deepest sympathy.

Mr. Albert Peterson arrived Tuesday night from New York, N. Y., for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Marie Peterson, and young son, Albert, Jr. Mr. Peterson has been quite ill in a New York hospital and has come South to recuperate.

Mr. A. N. Laurell is still on leave from his work in the Welfare Office at Clanton, due to a run-down condition, which has forced him to take a rest. He is improving and we hope he will soon be himself again.

Mr. J. Archie Ogburn and Mr. Sam Pate attended a bank meeting at Montgomery last Friday.

Mr. Herbert Peterson of Birmingham spent Friday here and brought back with him his mother, Mrs. Chas. Peterson, who has been visiting with her children in Birmingham for some time. Mrs. Peterson, we are happy to report, is much improved in health, and the change seemed to do her much good.

The home of Mrs. Inga Anderson is putting on a new look. We made a visit out there the other day, and were pleased to see a brand new roof, the porches remodeled and now, if it stops raining long enough, Mr. Roy Raybon is putting on a nice new coat of paint. This is an old land mark, and a lovely place, and we were indeed happy to see it made bright and new again.

The many friends here are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Harry Thompsons of Sebring, Fla., who are expected here on about the middle of May for an extended visit. We learn that our one and only "Fix-It-Man" will even do some work for us while here, so if you have any ailing watches, or anything, for that matter, just wait till he comes, and he'll fix it for you.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson of Jemison, Ala., and son, Walter, of Oklahoma, attended church here at the United Protestant Church on last Sunday and received a lot of farewells and well wishes before leaving on their long journey to Denmark. Mr. Wellington Collins of Birmingham spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Collins.

Lutheran Church News—

On last Wednesday night members and friends met at the Lutheran Church for a service and business meeting. Present at this meeting were two visitors, Rev. Glenn Pierson and Rev. Harry Benson of Dover, N. J. These two ministers have been making a tour of the South in the interest of the Lutheran churches, and stopped off to pay a visit here. After a lovely service, a business meeting was held and it was decided to try to re-organize this group here and arrange to have services, at least occasionally. New trustees elected were Mrs. James Bosworth, James Nelson and Verner Carlson. Mrs. A. E. Reagan is still treasurer. Mr. Leonard Bosworth was chairman for the evening and Naemi Turnquist acted as secretary. The latter two will hold this office for the coming year. Plans are taking shape for repairing the church and with the help of members, friends and former members, we hope these plans can be carried out. This news is of interest to many people in Thorsby as so many friends have expressed the desire that we become active again. This idea is one of the reasons that inspires us to want to carry on. You will hear more about this later.

Don't forget about the sale on next Saturday which is to be put on by the Ladies Guild, at the Fellowship Room at the church. A nice lunch will also be served. The hours are from 1 till 5 p.m.

On Saturday night they attended the Song Fastival of the South put on by the Happy Hitters Quartet, of which H. L. is a popular member. This Festival presented a large number of quartets and it is said that it really was a wonderful program and an extremely large crowd attended.

SOME MAY REMINDERS FOR HOME GARDENERS

Auburn, Ala. — According to J. C. Ford, A.P.I. Extension Service gardener, May is the time to plant vegetables to harvest in July and August.

Some crops to plant include for table use, snap beans, lima or butter beans, field peas and tomatoes.

Two plantings of corn should be made two or three weeks apart. If no pole snap beans are being planted, plant bunch snap beans every two or three weeks. If you are growing pole snap beans, a second planting should be made in May. If no pole lima beans have been planted, an additional planting of bunch limas should be made in May. Late May is a good time to plant any variety of table field peas such as crowders, black-eyes, purple hulls, or good local varieties.

Also, early May is the right time to plant seed for the mid-summer tomato crop. Rutgers, Marglobe, and Stokesdale are good varieties.

FROZEN SANDWICHES READY WHEN YOU ARE

Auburn, Ala. — To save time and energy later on, prepare a month's supply of sandwiches in advance.

Lavada Curtis, API Extension Service food preservation specialist, reveals that they are especially good for school lunches and picnics.

Sandwich filling suitable for freezing may contain cheese or ground meat, sliced or ground poultry, or cooked egg yolks.

The following spreads make delicious frozen sandwiches: Dried beef and cheese, ham and eggs, meat and olives, cream cheese and nuts, cream cheese and dates, or any filling in which cream cheese is used

Fillings not suitable for freezing are those that contain raw vegetables, whites of hard cooked eggs and jelly. Anotner tip is to always substitute butter for mayonnaise on sandwiches to be frozen.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Church Items—

Rev. Sam Hodges of Selma is the guest preacher during the revival at the Methodist Church this week. He is delivering some wonderful messages. Everyone should make some effort to attend. Mr. J. P. Thomas, the Superintendent of the Sunday School, at the Methodist Church, urges everyone to attend Sunday School. The Methodists and Baptists are very cooperative in their services.

Rev. Clayton Gilbert, pastor of the Baptist Church, is spending seven days each week working for the good of the church and community. He has full time as pastor and that is the Bible way for preachers. The Baptist Sunday School is also making progress, with Mr. Willard Hicks as superintendent.

Mr. Joe W. Graham is director of the B.T.U. and is doing a wonderful work among the young people.

Mrs. H. M. Nix is president of the W.M.U., which now has six circles that meet in the homes of the members. The children are being trained by efficient leaders to know about the great need of missions for the millions of peoples who know nothing of our Lord and Saviour. We have thousands of them in the United States, such as the Indians in the Western States.

Maplesville High School News—

On May 10th there will be a "May Court Festival" in the school auditorium, the Queen will be chosen by a penny for each vote. A girl from each high school grade will be eligible to receive votes. Admission only 11c. The Glee Club will entertain with some good singing. Everyone remember the date and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

The high school girls soft ball team were to have played Plantersville one day last week here, but was rained out. They will play Plantersville May 6th, at 10:30 a.m. at Plantersville.

The boys baseball team will play Marbury team at Marbury Thursday, May 5th, and will also play Centreville at Centreville Friday, May 6th. Maplesville has a very good team. Let's encourage them by attending these games. They won over Verbena 11-5 a few days ago.

A few weeks ago Miss Johnnie Fay Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Green, of Lawley, was chosen "Miss Maplesville School."

The P.-T.A. will have their next meeting May 12th, in the school auditorium. All parents are urged to attend.

At the last P.-T.A. meeting votes were cast on whether to have a dance for the high school pupils. It was voted down by a small majority. But later the authorities gave permission for them to have it last Friday night, only members of the high school attended. The Dixie Hatchets furnished the music. It was well chaperoned, and everyone enjoyed it very much.

Maplesville needs a recreation center for boys and girls of all ages, also for the older people. Such as tennis courts, bowling, shuffle board and all kinds of clean and wholesome entertainment. If clean entertainment is not furnished, then our young people will be going to questionable places; slip away from parents as some are now doing.

We all remember hearing our own parents and grandparents tell of the gay parties they attended when they were young. Some seem to forget.

Those who have moved into the new apartment houses of Mr. Ed Clapp's are: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rush, the F.F.A. teacher at Maplesville High School; Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Graham and Rev. and Mrs. Clayton Gilbert, pastor of the Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. James Preston of Atlanta, Ga., have recently put up a new and up-to-date grocery store near the high school. With this and another store, owned by Mrs. L. A. Burks of Stanton, and all the new homes around the school, it is beginning to look like a little town there.

The new Home Economics building, F.F.A. building adds much to the appearance of the school, also the teaching of these subjects will mean a lot to the future of the boys and girls. In addition to the installation of the telephone system, street lights, garbage disposal; the next will soon be the water works system. With the many civic-minded people here many improvements will soon be a reality.

Mr. Stanley Hayes and Mr. Cummings, Maplesville barbers for many years, now have some competition. Mr. Morris Kemp of Sardis Community has a new barber shop adjoining the Shanks Drug Store.

Goings and Comings—

The people of Maplesville welcome Mr. and Mrs. John Hicks of New Jersey into their midst. Mr. Hicks has retired from business in New Jersey, and has bought land from his brother, Mr. Joe Hicks, and built a new home here.

Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Nix left Sunday for Biloxi, Miss., to attend the Dental Association for a few days. After the Association they will tour the Gulf Coast before returning home. Dr. Vines, the new dentist, here will also attend the Association until Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Clapp had as their guests last Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilkinson of Troy, Ala. Mrs. Wilkinson is a sister of Mr. Clapp.

Mrs. Willie Kelley spent last Friday night in Birmingham with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kelley. Her little grandson returned home with her Saturday for a few days visit.

Mrs. Annie Laura Potts returned home Saturday from Birmingham where she has been visiting her children.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Atcheson had as their guests last week end Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Atcheson of Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hayes and little daughter of Birmingham were the week end visitors of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hayes. Mr. Hayes is still ill at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Owens and family have been staying in Maplesville this spring. Carlos, a Senior of A.P.I., Auburn, is doing student teaching at Montevallo High School. They will return to Auburn this week where he will continue his study and will finish there in June.

Mrs. C. P. Haggard and Mrs. C. L. Owen attended a Brush Party in Mt. Carmel Community last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGee of Centreville and little daughter, Sheilda Ann; Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Kincaid of Ensley spent last week end here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGee.

Mr. and Mrs. Chelsea Brewer announce the arrival of a fine baby girl born the 29th of April, at Central Alabama Hospital, Clanton, Ala. They have named her Charlotte Ricky. Mrs. Brewer was Miss Bessie McGee before her marriage.

Harold Walker and William Fuqua, who have been in the Army for a short time, have been promoted to Corp. Harold is stationed at Keesler Field, Miss., William at Augusta, Ga. Also Pfc. Bobbie Hampton of Brookley Field, spent last week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hampton. These are fine young men and their many friends wish them much success.

Miss Lucy Walker has accepted a position at Marion, Ala., at the Carlisle House with Mrs. J. B. Griffin. She spends week ends here with relatives.

Mrs. Frances Hicks and son, Corky, of Craig Field, Selma, were guests of relatives here last week while her husband, S-Sgt. Phillip Hicks, flew to Kansas on a business mission for Craig Field Airbase, Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Culp of Clanton visited Mr. and Mrs. Garland Smith here last Sunday.

Spigener Funeral Home of Prattville in charge.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Many of the less expensive foods need longer cooking time and more skillful seasoning. The cheaper cuts of meat, for example, generally call for longer cooking than the more expensive items such as steaks and chops.

Mr. John Hollis

have you met this man?

He's the county chairman of the United States Treasury Department's volunteer Savings Bond committee. That means he's the Treasury Department's local representative on matters concerning Savings Bonds. And when you remember that 80 million Americans own Savings Bonds today, you can see how important a job that is.

Yes, 80 million of us own Savings Bonds. We own more today than ever before—far more than during the war. Seven billion dollars more than on VJ-Day. Today's total outstanding is over 55½ billion dollars. And almost 33 billion of that is in the popular Series E Bond.

More than 7,500,000 Americans are buying Savings Bonds today on the payroll savings plan. More than 500,000 self-employed Americans—doctors, lawyers, farmers, owners of small businesses—have signed with their banks on the Bond-A-Month plan. Still other men and women are buying bonds on a "whenever I can" basis.

It's the job of our county chairman to make all this possible in our county. He is a leader of volunteers like you, who arranges for such things as: encouraging employers to put in the payroll savings plan and explaining to workers why they benefit from it. He arranges with banks for the Bond-A-Month plan. He helps the schools get children interested in regular savings through Savings Bonds and Stamps. He gets newspapers to contribute space for messages like this one.

By doing these things, our county chairman is helping build the financial stability of the whole county. Because these savings bonds remain right here in your own county. They represent deferred spending—money saved in today's good times to be spent later on when needed. Think what a tremendous financial reserve this is in our county—what a wonderf cushion against a possible business reces

All this your county chairman does, one cent of pay! He donates his time services because he knows the imp the Savings Bond program. He d support of the whole communit volunteer help for his committ offer your services, too?

TWO WAYS TO AVOID OFF-FLAVORED MILK

Off flavors in milk are usually at their worst when wild onions or bitterweeds are plentiful in pastures.

J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. Extension Service dairyman, points out that if cows must graze where onions or bitterweeds prevail, it is necessary to remove the animals from such pasture five to seven hours before milking and feed good quality hay during this time.

He adds that many of the undesirable weeds such as bitterweeds may be destroyed by mowing pastures regularly.

SAFER INSECTICIDE FOR DAIRY ANIMALS

Auburn, Ala. — Methoxychlor (pronounced meth-OX-i-klor) is now recommended in place of DDT for spraying dairy cows and dairy barns for the control of flies.

DDT is still recommended for spraying mule barns, outhouses of all kinds, hogs, beef cattle, and all other livestock except producing dairy cows.

Changes in recommendations for using DDT are based on research conducted by the Food and Drug Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and State Experiment Stations.

Dr. F. S. Arant, A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station entomologist, says that methoxychlor can be bought in the form of a 50 per cent wettable powder. It should be used in exactly the same manner as DDT. It has a quicker knockdown of flies but lasts for a shorter time.

ENJOY THAT FOREST BUT LEAVE IT THERE

Spring is a pleasant time for most of us. A green countryside and warm sunshine invites us to go fishing, picnicking, and roaming in the woods.

However, remember, that the trees we enjoy are a source of income for someone. "Treat them as if they were your own," advises I. R. Martin, A.P.I. Extension Service forester. He warns that spring brings strong drying winds and dangerous forest fire weather. This is why picnickers and others can't be too careful with fire in the woods.

A PROCLAMATION
BY THE GOVERNOR

BE IT KNOWN, that since the TVA program was adopted in Alabama, the Tennessee Valley has made outstanding strides, far outdistancing the rest of the State; and

BE IT KNOWN, that the farmers, domestic and industrial consumers in the Tennessee Valley get their electric current at approximately 50 to 75 percent cheaper than those in other sections of the State; and

BE IT KNOWN, that this Administration is highly in favor of such low rates; and

BE IT KNOWN, that this Administration is highly in favor of all consumers, domestic, industrial and farmers, being given the exact rates as those in the Tennessee Valley;

BE IT KNOWN, that it is believed by this Administration that the only way for the above named group to have such service at this cost is for all generating facilities, transmitting facilities, distributing facilities, and all water-shed development to be publicly or co-operatively owned; and

BE IT RESOLVED, that it is the policy of this Administration to do all within its power to see that such a policy is carried out,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of this proclamation be sent to the Honorable Harry S. Truman, the President of the United States, each member of the Alabama Legislature; each member of the President's Cabinet and each member of the Congress of the United States.

In WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State at the State Capitol in the City of Montgomery on this the 29th day of April, 1949.

JAMES E. FOLSOM, Governor.
Attest: SIBYL POOL, Secretary of State.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY WHEN BUYING MEAT

Money can be saved at the grocery meat counter if more attention is paid to the grade and cut of the meat.

"The cut refers to the part of the animal from which he meat comes," explains Mary Hulsey, A.P.I. Extension Service nutritionist.

To save money, she says to use the less tender cuts of beef and the less popular cuts of pork, lamb and veal. These cuts contain just as much food value as the more expensive ones.

Re-Blood Testing Survey Of Chilton County to be Conducted

Dr. E. M. Moore, County Health Officer, of Chilton County announces today that the re-blood testing in Chilton County is to begin May 23 and last through June 3. Dr. Moore states that due to the fact that we found 645 positive blood tests in Chilton County in 1946 in the initial survey, he now feels that we should re-blood test to find all new cases, and to find the hidden cases that have come into Chilton County since the 1946 survey.

Dr. Moore states that Sam S. Howell, Alabama Public Health Field Agent, will conduct a re-survey. He is now setting prospective blood testing stations in the local communities of the county. The blood testing for this survey will be held at the same stations as they were during the original survey with the exception that they will not be stations at Chilton County High School and Alabama Mills. There have been quite a few changes made in the hours in which the stations are being held. So please note these changes on the schedules that are to be handed out through the school children and which are published in the local papers.

In the 1946 survey there were 12,306 bloods taken in Chilton County. Let us bear in mind that in 1947 there was an amendment made to the original blood test law. This amendment states that everyone must have a reblood test. The age limit of this blood test is fourteen to fifty regardless of any previous test. Even though the person may have had treatment for syphilis he still has to take a blood test during this survey. We now have more and better trained personnel so that there will be an intensive search made in the county following the survey to find the delinquent.

We are asking everyone when they go to their blood testing station to please bring their old blood test card with them. This procedure should be explained in this manner. You will receive a new card and your old card will be taken out of circulation so that when the follow up check-up is made, this will show that you have had your second blood test.

The cooperation of every employer or supervisor is asked during this survey to put forth every effort in seeing that the people under their supervision gets their blood test.

There will be a blood testing station in the court room for white people the entire ten days of blood testing, so please make your arrangements if you live in Clanton to get your blood test some time within the two weeks period. We can only hope that everyone does not try to get his or her blood test on the same day. Schedules in the form of a hand-bill are being printed and if it is humanly possible we will place one of these in each home.

Please remember, syphilis is a disease and not a disgrace.

PREVENTING SOUR MILK

Milk should be cooled immediately after it is drawn from the cow to prevent growth of those bacteria that are present. Do not mix cool milk and hot milk as souring usually results when this is done. Remember that a can of milk is worth several dollars, and if it sours the money is lost.

Libraries And General Needs Of Chilton County Schools

The ancient libraries accomplished much in recording and spreading the culture of early Egypt, Greece, and Rome. The libraries of the medieval period in Europe played a useful and heroic part in preserving for posterity at least a remnant of the literature of the Golden Age. Just so libraries of today must play a large part in recording and spreading our culture.

It has come to be more or less of a tradition that farmers, as a class, are not great readers. If this is true, it is perhaps more a matter of environment and circumstances than any inherent indifference to books. Good books are not easily available to the average farmer's family and the cost is often prohibitive. In the cities of Alabama the people can use good public libraries. In some counties in Alabama a county library with its book-truck brings regular supplies of books to all parts of the county. Chilton county, which is so far above other counties in so many ways, has only the school libraries which are closed three months of the year.

Every child awaits the last day of school with breathless anticipation for it means vacation and freedom; no teachers, no lessons, no books, just endless days which are his own. A week passes, then two weeks and the longed for vacation begins to pall on most children. At this point most of our children would turn to our school libraries if they could be made into adequate libraries. In Chilton County we have the buildings, we have the teachers, and we have the beginnings of school libraries. If Alabama will adopt an educational program of expanded and enriched service through a twelve month program, the part of the school library can loom large in service to both children and adults.

Expanded library service is just one of the many needs of the school systems. When one begins to list the general needs of the schools of Chilton County he becomes discouraged by comparing what is needed with what we have now to work with.

One of the most important fields of school work today is guidance. This is helping the child find out what his chief interests are and how to go about educating himself for the greatest degree of usefulness and satisfaction to be had from his education. In order to do this job well the teacher needs several tests that are now on the market and are quite valuable in finding out just what the student's ability is and what are his best fields of activity that will lead to success. To buy three or four such tests for each student, when there are five hundred boys and girls in a school, will run into real money.

The schools of this county are very deficient in office help and in supplying the school with adequate office supplies. No school can do the best job of teaching without office machinery for supplying supplementary material such as mimeograph work and other materials that can be copied on duplicating machines.

Practically all the larger schools of this county need office help to look after the routine work of the office. The principal of the school is paid too much money in salary to do such things as secretarial work. This is not only expensive to the county school system, but keeps the principal from doing those things for which he has been employed.

Other needed items of the schools are library books, library equipment, magazines and newspapers for the libraries, maps and charts for the class rooms, and ever so many things in the field of visual education. Every school needs a moving picture projector, strip film projector, and funds with which to rent films, or to buy them for their own library.

Most of the schools do not have adequate jantorial service. In one school the janitor has to look after the heating of the buildings and do all the cleaning and sweeping in three buildings. He has more work than he can well do. The board of education does not have sufficient funds to supply the school with sufficient janitorial supplies. Many of the buildings are not sanitary because the janitor does not have the necessary equipment and materials with which to do a good job of housekeeping.

The proposed legislative program of the Alabama Education Association would help to remedy some of the inadequacies that have been mentioned.

From what I hear, Louie Reynolds had a swell party last Friday night. (Hey, Louie, are you sure your mother was there?)

Mr. Waters was talking to Charles Palmer Bean the other day (better known as "Beaver") and said he believed he could umpire just as good in front and Beaver would stop them up as he could in the back of him. Uh, I don't believe Beaver liked that very much and he didn't thiink it was funny.

Doesn't look like Gerald Todd can make up his mind what color of hair he wants. First it's brown, then it's red, and now, brother, it's black, and I do mean black.

Well, time isn't as long as it has been, is it keeds? School will soon be out and some of us will sure be glad.

Say, about that twelve months school they've been talking about (Uh, don't get excited, YET, we've got plenty of time) but, I'll bet they didn't ask anyone going to school about it, did they? Because the majority, I'm sure, would have said no.

You know what? Last Monday was the first time Benny Ray Tucker has ever come to English class without his assignment (or any other class for that matter.) I'm afraid I can't say the same for myself, but keep up the good work, Benny Ray. You know, one time doesn't count too much out of a whole year.

Just think, mates, just one more week and school will be almost over. Here's hoping I don't have to go through the same thing next week.

By the way, you Jr. III's don't forget the party this Monday night. I'm sure we're going to have a swell time.

From the way it has rained the past few weeks, or days, you could just about dig a well anywhere and get plenty of water, couldnt you?

Well, looks like the schools all tied up for the rest of the Friday's in school. No kiddin,' we have something or have had something, should I say, for about five Friday's now and still going strong.

It seems that Myron Levine is making it a habit of staying in Birmingham over the week ends. Hey, Myron, why don't you tell us who she is?

Joe Phillip Klinner was talking to me the other day and asked me to put his name in the paper with his girls. When I asked him what girl, he said, "Oh, just all my girls." Say, Joe just how many girls do you have?

Mrs. Snead really had a wailing good time the other day in third period. Boy, from the way she was paddling them, those guys musta' robbed a bank.

Through Thirty-Eight Years Of Progress

By LILLIE MAUDE ALEXANDER
State Home Demonstration Agent

EXTENSION work first reached women and girls with the organization of tomato clubs in 1911. That year two part-time home agents were hired and sent to Walker and Pike Counties. They spent afternoons and Saturdays enrolling girls, distributing instructions and delivering tomato seed. After school they devoted their entire time to visiting girls, giving personal instructions and demonstrations.

When girls' clubs were established and agents had learned more about the problems of rural women, home demonstration work was started.

In 1912 eight more counties were organized for home demonstration work. When the Smith-Lever Act was passed by Congress in 1914 and money was made available for additional home demonstration agents, nine more counties were organized, making a total of 19 that year.

The year 1920 saw the first county council of home demonstration clubs organized and by 1921, home demonstration had grown into an organization of 5,632 farm women. They worked on a program supervised by 37 home demonstration agents employed in that many counties.

Ten years later the program was going forward in 48 counties and reaching 13,482 women.

Today It's Different

And today we have home demonstration agents in all counties and assistant agents in 44. Enrollment in clubs has grown to 42,253 members.

Home demonstration agents in early days were employed part-time and in most instances were former rural school teachers. Many were not college trained and very few had degrees in home economics. They traveled by horse and buggy and concentrated mainly on food preparation and food preservation.

During those years the home demonstration program was made up in the state office and mailed to home demonstration agents for use in all counties. Today program planning is the job of the farm women and girls. Home demonstration work has progressed so that people in the counties may recognize their own needs and solve them through the program.

The program in the early days of extension centered around the garden, orchard, poultry yard, dairy barn, and kitchen. Now it is centered more around the farm family. Emphasis is on child development and family life, home management, house furnishings, clothing and handicrafts, foods and nutrition, and food preservation.

Home And Community

The progress of home demonstration work through 38 years shows efforts at helping farm people do things for themselves. The objectives stressed through the home demonstration council—rural youth, community activities, citizenship, and farm bureau—show that the interests of farm women have grown from that of one particular skill to larger problems in rural youth, world citizenship, family relations, etc. Home demonstration women in Alabama are interested in their homes and communities. They work as a group in the community and county to make their communities better places in which to live.

In the years that lie ahead it is hoped that each home demonstration club member will be aware of the challenge found in this year's theme—"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

Thirty-two people attended a recent demonstration in Franklin County on refinishing floors. It was given by R. J. Cornelious and Alice Peavy at the home of Mrs. O'Neal Steward in Gravel Hill community. Miss Peavy is A.P.I. extension specialist in home management.

Present were 22 leaders from six home demonstration clubs. They showed special interest in the demonstration and took part in sanding and applying finish to the floors.

Above several ladies look on as Miss Peavy, left foreground, explains the use of a sanding machine.

Project Example

BULLOCK County is very proud of the home improvement project which Mrs. Wilfred Adams of Midway Home Demonstration Club is carrying.

The family bought an old home and has redecorated it completely. She and her husband painted the inside of their house, refinished the floors, and made new curtains and drapes. Mr. Adams says his wife did most of the work since he was only on hand at night to help.

Although Mrs. Adams enjoyed the project she says painting the interior was some of the hardest work she ever did—the walls in her house are 16 feet high. Of course she appreciates the fact that by doing the work herself she saved the family quite a bit of money.

Mrs. Adams has not only redecorated her home but has also made several scatter rugs, a crocheted bedspread, tablecloths, and other handicraft articles which add beauty.

"A pretty home is something every person hopes for and most of us are glad to work for," says the home demonstration member.

Sewing for her two small daughters is another job this farm woman finds time for. These future home demonstration members are May, age 4, and Grace, age 1.

Mrs. Adams is very active in community work, especially projects of her home demonstration club. She is now serving as vice-president of the Bullock County Home Demonstration Council.

This home improvement project is one all members can be proud of. It shows what good management and lots of hard work can accomplish.

Home Demonstration Work Helps Me Live In America

By MRS. W. A. MURRAY, British Bride

I knew nothing about American ways and customs when I came to Alabama in May, 1946. Naturally I was depressed and lonely thousands of miles from my family and the life of Britain.

MRS. MURRAY

Soon after arriving at my husband's home in Cleburne County I heard about the Cedar Creek Home Demonstration Club and was invited to attend but did not accept. Later I was asked a second time, and deciding to give it a try, accepted the invitation. I enjoyed that first meeting very much, and joined the club before going home in the afternoon.

The first demonstration I saw, "Using Sewing Machine Attachments," meant a lot to me. I learned to bind plackets, to bind pieces together, to cross tuck, to apply rows of ruffles to garments, to bind and apply rick-rack braid, etc. The agent showed us how to use all machine attachments.

A later demonstration on "Window Curtains" gave valuable information regarding proper materials and styles for different windows.

Other demonstrations which meant much to me were "Canning for a Fair," "The Color in the Wardrobe," "Teen-agers Need Parents," and "Respect for Authority." This last demonstration brought out the whys of teaching children what we want them to learn and how to teach them respect. Many helpful reminders were brought out and goals of discipline were impressed.

Help In Other Ways

In connection with these demonstrations much valuable literature has been distributed to me. Some have taught me how to plant and cultivate vegetables. I have learned much about American ways of cooking and about proper arrangements of furniture for different rooms in the home. In connection with this, appropriate color schemes for homes were discussed.

This club means a lot to me socially and has made me more determined to become a true American citizen and homemaker.

I must state that I have met through home demonstration work some very fine women. One year ago I joined the club and have had nothing but pleasant and helpful associations.

New Home club women of Etowah County pieced and quilted 10 quilts of various sizes for the Crippled Children's Clinic in Birmingham. Nine members visited the clinic recently and delivered their quilts.

This is only one of their community activities projects. Each month the club ladies contribute handmade articles for auctioning to the highest bidder. Money from sales goes into the local club treasury and is used to help crippled children.

Building A Better World At Home

By BILL KENNEDY

TO tell the story of home demonstration work in Alabama would require giving home and community experiences of its 42,253 members. Measuring its value would demand records from this and many generations to come.

The full story lies not only in what has happened in home demonstration—a new chapter is added each day. And so the story would never end, but grow each day.

Women who make up home demonstration clubs are builders of the home which is the basic unit of the community, the state, and the world. This week they are celebrating National Home Demonstration Week and taking stock of how much has been done.

"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" is the home demonstration theme this year. Members of the organization accept the statement in its full meaning because they know today's home IS TODAY'S world.

Home demonstration is work and recreation—it is learning and applying what is learned—it is organization, leadership, and cooperation. Home demonstration is training for living for rural women of America.

Proof Of Its Worth

Facts and figures pertaining to Alabama home demonstration work, as presented in a recent report by Mrs. L. M. Alexander, state home agent, present an interesting summary. Statements in the report were taken from records turned in by home agents in all counties.

Last year 1,354 local clubs improved 520 rural church buildings and landscaped 357 churches and cemeteries. They sponsored 325 daily vacation Bible schools for children.

Members in 983 clubs studied government procedure, with emphasis on the need for all people becoming better citizens. Programs were conducted in 877 clubs on understanding teen-age boys and girls and 450 communities worked on recreational activities for youngsters.

Home demonstration clubs reported 2,172 social activities for rural boys and girls. They assisted with 97 camps, 35 rallies, 434 rural youth Sunday programs, and with 55 youth canteens in Alabama.

Nine million quarts of fruits, vegetables, and meats were canned by club members and into their home freezers and lockers went 800 thousand pounds of food. They refinished 12,514 pieces of furniture and made 3,550 electric lamps. Four thousand club women reported improving storage space in their homes and nearly 50,000 used insecticides around the farm home.

There were 274 demonstrators who modernized or built new kitchens. And 3,169 neighbors who visited them to get new ideas for fixing up their own kitchens.

A total of 5,336 women learned to make rugs and 7,800 made articles from aluminum and copper.

Three hundred and ninety-one dress revues were held and 2,261 club women entered the events. Members learned how to buy new fabrics and studied other problems relating to consumer buying. They also renovated old hats, suits, and coats to get the maximum good from older garments.

THIS ISSUE

This Month In Rural Alabama dedicates this issue to the thousands of home demonstration club members in the state, to the 67 home agents and their assistants, and to the women of the extension staff who help rural housewives carry out the task of improving home life in the country.

The week of May 1-7 is National Home Demonstration Week and this year's theme is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

Madison Rural Youth Program Sponsored By Home Clubs

TYPICAL of the work done by home demonstration leaders for rural youth is this example in Marshall County.

To assist 4-H girls and boys with developing poise and confidence in social contacts, home demonstration clubs of the county gave a tea recently at 4-H Club dress revues in each community.

This courtesy was first shown the 4-H girls and boys of the Claysville club at the suggestion of Mrs. John Seibold, Local Rural Youth Chairman. It proved so successful that Mrs. Seibold was elected county rural youth chairman and the project was adopted as a major part in the plan of work.

Every effort is made by leaders to make decorations as beautiful and well appointed as those at exclusive parties. The 4-H colors, green and white, are used in table decorations. The parties are held in school auditoriums or classrooms where dress revues take place.

Parents, teachers, agents, and 4-H boys are invited to take part in each of these celebrations along with the girls.

Here home demonstration members are showing their youth that they are interested in them and what they are doing. It is their aim in Marshall County to encourage and inspire their young people because they are the parents, leaders, and citizens of tomorrow.

Above, Mrs. Wilbur Bearden, Ashridge club, admire one of the lamps she made at a recent club meeting She is one of many ladies in Winston County who hav made beautiful electric lamps from old kerosene relic

Let There Be Light

HOME demonstration ladies in Winsto County so strongly believe in the statement "Let there be light" that they have converted many old lamps to electric lamps.

Electricity is covering the county in suc strides that scores of new lamps may be conveniently used and are sorely needed. Wha better way is there to solve this problem tha to make a few lamps? So reasoned these industrious farm women.

Old kerosene, Aladdin, Rayo and gasolin lamps have been converted to electric type by members in all home demonstration club in the county. The project started with demonstration on techniques given at the September meetings last year.

Some women cleaned their old grey Aladdin lamps with acid in order to make bras lamps of them. Others left them with a pewter finish. Many of them had copper lamp which had corrosion to be removed and stil others had glass or china lamps to be shined In all, a wide variety of beautiful pieces wa the outcome. Families were made happy ove lovely heirlooms taken out of the attic an put to use in the home.

Model Country Kitchen

MANY home demonstration clubs in th state are either planning, building, o have just completed new houses with a demonstration kitchen attached.

For example, in Colbert County, the Tuscumbia Chamber of Commerce agreed t equip the kitchen. As soon as the buildin was completed, an electric range, refrigerator, hot water heater, dish-washer, and sin were installed; silver and china service fo 100 was put in cabinets and rubber tile floo covering was laid.

At each council meeting members had a auction sale of small hand made article Funds collected were used to buy small equipment for the kitchen.

County officials gave the club 100 foldin chairs and furnished lumber for 11 foldin tables, 10 feet long. Husbands contribute one day's labor and put them together.

Local clubs in the county are donatin equipment to their kitchen as they see th need.

Along the Way

P. O. DAVIS

DIRECTOR, API EXTENSION SERVICE

THE theme before us is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." To a large degree the homes of yesterday built today's world.

So it has been, it is, and it will always be true that as homes are, so will people be. This does not mean the size of the building or its contents. These are important, but the essence of a home is not in materials, but in the hearts of the people living therein.

And a home doesn't begin with laying the cornerstone. It goes far back beyond that; and if the heart of the people is right it will live long, long after the building is crumbled and gone.

Nature has a big part in it. A tiny seed is planted. It germinates; and, in the process of germination, the seed itself is destroyed.

But a new plant comes forth. It produces grass which contains the essentials of animal life.

A dairy cow eats the grass and produces milk. A farmer milks the cow and his family either consumes it as food or it is sold for money.

If it is consumed as food, it sustains and builds the bodies of his family. If it is sold for cash, it enables the farmer to buy things that he and his family need.

A Richer Life

It supports the cultural and the spiritual life of the family. It enriches them materially and spiritually in accordance with nature and nature's ways.

But the seed itself was destroyed by the processes of nature. Without destruction of the seed there would be no new plant; without change there would be no progress; without work by man and by nature new wealth would not be created.

So we see how closely we, our homes, and our living are anchored to nature in the form of seed; and in plants and animals coming directly from the land.

This is true, at least, of all homes in which the American people live. Most of them are built of wood; and wood is a part of every one of them.

This wood came from trees which in turn came from an acorn or seed growing within and from the soil.

This review of nature is helpful to us in a preview of the future; or in a vision of how "Today's home builds tomorrow's world."

Nature changes and nature improves. Most plants and animals of today are far superior to those of yesterday.

Both Physical And Spiritual

We ourselves, as human beings, are creatures of nature. By nature we were endowed. We were made both physical and spiritual. Each was given body and mind and spirit.

With these endowments and gifts, there is a big responsibility on our part to use them wisely. This calls for wholesome and constructive living which comes by clear thinking and efficient working.

It is true, therefore, that today's home builds tomorrow's world because the home is a reflection of the people who live in it. If it is a good and wholesome home it influences others in the right way.

It is both a challenge and a light to them. It is a challenge for people to think well, to do well, and to live well as neighbors and friends, at home and abroad; yes, wherever human beings live throughout the world.

PROJECT RESULTS

Mrs. G. R. Krape, Calhoun County council president and member of the Central Home Demonstration Club, is shown here with results from some of her project work.

Left above Mrs. Krape is looking over some of her handicraft work. At right she is appraising her newly remodeled kitchen.

Feather Comforts Made By Members Of Montgomery County Home Clubs

"WHAT Arkansas and Texas home demonstration women can do, our ladies can do as well."

These are the words of Mrs. John Stone, Westview Gardens Home Demonstration Club, after a visit to Texas. There, said the Montgomery County club member, she slept under a feather comfort made by a home demonstration member.

Upon returning home she and the home agent got busy. While the agent aroused interest among club women, Mrs. Stone was working on designs, methods, and measurements.

They found that many women had numbers of feather beds which they would be glad to make into feather comforts. The county council was glad to sponsor the project and 18 women decided to join in the work.

Mrs. Stone, who had worked out three designs with sketches, measurements and directions for use, made mimeographed instructions for members who were interested. At a comfort school she displayed a lovely comfort she had made at a cost of $10.14. She had another partially completed which she used to show others how to measure, sew up and fill a comfort with feathers.

At first the ladies transferred feathers to the comfort by hand but now they are experimenting with an easier method using a vacuum cleaner.

As soon as these eighteen comforts are completed, the council plans to order more material. It is hoped that the program will continue until every club woman in the county owns one of these lovely comforts.

Baldwin Adds Kitchen To Coliseum Building

EARLY in 1948 plans were made for a county livestock coliseum for Baldwin County. When home demonstration women learned of the project they began thinking about a county kitchen in connection with the coliseum.

Building and equipping a county kitchen was selected as the leading project of the Robertsdale Home Demonstration Club for 1949. A war surplus building was secured for the coliseum and work was started with members of the Rosinton Farmers Club donating time and equipment for grading and leveling the site. As foundations, floors, ceilings, and lighting were added the building began to "straighten out."

When it was nearing completion women were asked to meet with the farmers and decide on the portion they wanted for their county kitchen. After this decision was made the kitchen was then partitioned from the main building and equipped with lights, running water, counters and cabinets. The walls and floor were completed and finished.

While construction of the kitchen was going on, the Robertsdale club women were not idle. They made a quilt and sold chances on it, making a profit of $87.00—all profit because materials for the quilt were donated. They served lunch at the dairy calf show and added these proceeds to the kitchen building fund. In February they had a bingo party from which they cleared $100 more.

The women are working hard trying to get the kitchen ready for use this spring. They are trying to obtain an electric stove for the kitchen through one of the major electric companies and hope to have it installed in the near future.

Alabama Boasts Capable Leaders To Head State Council

OFFICERS of the Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs for 1949 have outstanding records of achievement in local clubs and county organizations. They have been leaders in their respective districts for years.

On them rests the responsibility of upholding a wonderful record of accomplishment established through almost 40 years of service. They are serving at a time when the state has more clubs and more members than ever before.

Heading the group is Mrs. T. F. Holloway of Covington County, at right. Elected president of the council last November, Mrs. Holloway will serve for two years. She is a member of the Falco Home Demonstration Club.

Below, right to left: first vice-president of the council is Mrs. Tom Sharman of Lee County. Mrs. Sharman, member of the Beulah Home Demonstration Club, is in her second year as vice-president.

Mrs. J. Frank Baker, second vice-president of the council, is a member of the Dargin club in Shelby County. This is her first year as a state officer.

State secretary is Mrs. Sam DeRamus, a member of the Booth Home Demonstration Club in Autauga County. This is her second year in office.

In her second year as parliamentarian of the council is Mrs. C. Trimble of Greenville in Butler County. She is a member of the Mt. Zion club.

Reporter for the council is Mrs. Mack Maples, a member of the Maplewood club in Limestone. She was elected this year for a two-year term.

Mrs. G. A. Hallman, elected state council treasurer last November, is a member of the Blount Highland club in Blount County.

A Tribute To A Farm Woman

A special salute is in order for Mrs. T. F. (Gertrude) Holloway, because she depicts and personifies the essence and the aims of National Home Demonstration Week for 1949. As president of the Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs with 42,253 members she is their official state leader.

Her home demonstration club work began as a charter member of the Falco Club in Covington County when it was organized 16 years ago. From then to date she has been a loyal and active member.

Through her eyes as a farm woman, and a community leader, she sees the world as it is. She thinks as a citizen of the world as well as a citizen of the Falco Community.

Her work is not confined to her own home or to her community club. She is a church leader. She interprets life in the Bible way. While living in the present she also lives for the future—for the future of herself, the future of her community, county, state, nation, and the world.

Mrs. Wilfred Adams, Midway, Alabama, is a club woman of many accomplishments.

The display of hand-made articles surrounding her in the above picture is representative of her many achievements.

A Girl Got Married

By MRS. SAM DeRAMUS, Secretary
Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs

ONCE upon a time a young girl got married. With the passing of time, the retirement of an old cook and the birth of two children she settled down to the job of being a mother and housewife. Quite naturally, she joined the community home demonstration club.

I know this story well because I was that girl. It took me little time to see the wonderful spirit of farm women gathering to acquire knowledge and enjoy recreation. Our club members are scattered over a five-mile area. At church and at club meetings are the only times we see each other. But this is only one benefit; let me recall instances that bring out others.

The first year I canned I put up 500 quarts for a family of three—it took us four years to eat all the food. But now, thanks to my club, I have a chart showing the correct amounts needed of each item and I don't overdo it.

Club Work Saved The Day

One day when I planned to have meat balls for dinner, five visitors came in unexpectedly. Luckily we had just had a cooking demonstration on Mexican Rice—and with that recipe I stretched a pound of ground meat into a delicious meal ample for my family and the five extra.

At another time, I received a wedding announcement a few days after I finished etching a large aluminum tray—it went as the gift. I later made others for myself, my sister, my mother, and some of my friends.

Several years ago we had a demonstration on making new clothes from old. Since I am of Scotch descent this stuck in the back of my mind—last summer I used it. Both my children are girls, but with hopes of having a boy someday, I wanted to experiment. M sister-in-law furnished four pairs of gaba dine pants—worn only at the knees—an three shirts worn out on both sides at the co lars. From these I made three shirts, one pai of long overalls and six pairs of boxer shorts My sister-in-law estimated the value of th clothes at $10.00. All this came from th germ of an idea originating at a home dem onstration meeting.

The Best Demonstration

The demonstration that made the greates impression on me in all my years as a men ber was the "E's of Cooking." It set me think ing of the unnecessary steps I made, so I r arranged my kitchen—even to having a pla pen in one corner when my baby was smal I moved the refrigerator and installed storag cabinets. Now my linoleum lasts longer, m back feels better, and I spend about one-thir the time in the kitchen that I did before.

Living several miles in the country can b a handicap as well as a pleasure, especiall when you need something in a hurry—like zipper to finish a dress. But the demonstra tion, "Construction Details," showed us a nic easy way of fixing a placket without going town.

And speaking of sewing, I guess my sewin machine attachments would still be in the box if we hadn't had a demonstration on the use. Now I can use them everyone.

To A Greater Future

Pastry cooking is another thing that ha me baffled. Cook books are so cold-bloode they never explain details of having the rig temperatures, controlling air pockets and co recting for mistakes. The best pie I ever ma was the day after our pastry demonstratio

Here's to home demonstration work—ar to what it means to women in their daily live May more housewives enjoy the blessings its service in the future.

State Project Chairmen Are Active

COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES

MRS. Grady Davis, state chairman of community activities, is from Macon County. She has been a member of the Little Texas Home Demonstration Club for 15 years. This year, she is president. In past years she has served as home demonstration leader, secretary, vice-president, and Farm Bureau chairman of her club.

MRS. DAVIS

In 1946-47 she served as president of the county council of home demonstration clubs and this year is county library chairman. Whatever job she is asked to do in her church, club, or community she gives of her time generously and willingly, and the job is well done.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have three children, John Mercer, the oldest, finished Tuskegee High School in 1948 and is home farming. Carol has been a 4-H club member for six years. She was demonstration leader for her club, and represented Macon County at State 4-H Club Camp last year. Fanny Dell, the youngest member of the family, is seven years old and is looking forward to becoming a 4-H club member when she is 10.

The Davis family has a well-planned farm program. Tractors are used on their farm to cut cost of labor and increase production. This farm grows beef cattle, cotton, corn and hogs. The entire family plans and works together. All are interested in farm and home activities.

CITIZENSHIP

MRS. Clancye Gray of New Market, Madison County, is a successful business woman, a good citizen, and a homemaker. She is also an active citizenship chairman on the state council.

MRS. GRAY

For these busy days Mrs. Gray finds invaluable her early training as president of Huntingdon student body. She was the wife of Howard Gray, one time president of Alabama Farm Bureau and since his death, she runs the farm, makes a home for her three children, and participates in school, community and church affairs. She is rural youth chairman for her club and is a local 4-H leader.

In her home demonstration work Mrs. Gray has held almost every office in her local club and has been a county council president. She has just completed a term as director of the Madison County Farm Bureau Association.

Recently Madison County became interested in clearing its poll list of all names which should be removed. Mrs. Gray acted as coordinator for all volunteer work to get information desired by the board of registrars in this task.

She is a servant in her church and a citizen in her community and country.

Add cinnamon when baking chocolate goodies for a new taste.

RURAL YOUTH

MRS. Aubrey Smith, state rural youth chairman, lives on an average-sized Chilton County farm where all of the usual farm and home chores are necessary. She and Mr. Smith have three sons whose ages are seven, nine, and 11.

MRS. SMITH

Mrs. Smith came from a family noted for progressive farming, her father having been a recognized farm leader in his community and in Chilton County. By the time she married and started a home of her own, Mrs. Smith joined the home demonstration club. Since that time, she has served her club as a leader, and is now serving as president. She is also president of the county council of home demonstration clubs.

Besides being active in home demonstration club work, she was made responsible for organizing a community club in her community. She is chairman of the program committee for this organization now.

Since the Smiths are very interested in all young people they are both active in Parent Teachers Association work. For the past two years, Mrs. Smith has served as president of the Thomas Jr. High School P. T. A. Many worthwhile projects have been completed under her leadership. She is also a member of the Chilton County Parent Teachers Council.

She has been active in 4-H club programs of the county, having assisted with county club rallies and summer picnics. She is constantly appearing on programs, assisting with preparation of food, arranging transportation for members, and assisting in supervision of recreation.

Mend clothes immediately after washing, and before they are sprinkled and ironed. This will give them a much better appearance.

Salute To Training

THE School of Home Economics at Alabama Polytechnic Institute is responsible in no small way for the excellent work carried on in home demonstration clubs of the state.

A salute goes to this school and its seven major departments for the training they give home demonstration agents before sending them to the counties to work.

FARM BUREAU

MRS. P. E. Youngblood, state Farm Bureau chairman of Dallas County, is one of the many home demonstration club members who are interested in activities besides homemaking.

At 17 years of age, Mrs. Youngblood began teaching and has been interested in it since. This is shown by the Bible class composed of young people that she now teaches.

MRS. YOUNGBLOOD

She likes animals of all kinds. Besides having dogs and horses, she began a herd of cows with 18 purebred stock. These have had the benefit of diversified crops and home-grown feed.

The Youngblood farm has increased from 100 to 2,000 acres since they bought it. On this land poultry, fruit and vegetables are sidelines—food from them is kept in the home-freezer.

Mrs. Youngblood's first herd of cows paid not only for the music lessons for children but also for her vocal, piano, and organ studies. She has been mentioned in "Musical Alabama" for singing her children to sleep by original lullabies. She plays the pipe organ at church and composes operettas—fitting the score to local talent.

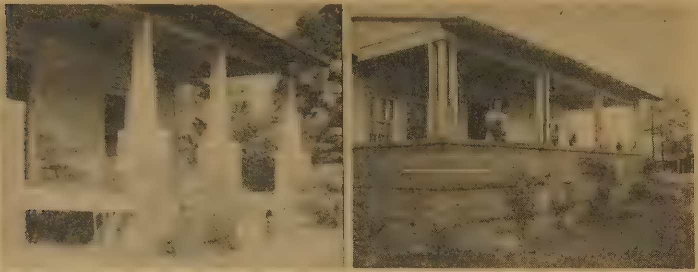
Sew buttons on work clothes with dental floss. They will stay on indefinitely. The floss is also excellent for stringing pearls.

The above scene shows Pleasant Grove home demonstration members as they landscape their churchyard.

Specific months are designated in the Barbour County year book for objective chairmen to appear on the program. In January community activities chairmen were called on in each of 18 home demonstration clubs.

The County Chairman, Mrs. Major Broadaway, Clayton, Rt. 2, asked each club chairman to decide on a specific project in their community. Most communities selected improving grounds of local churches.

Pleasant Grove club members belong to two churches, so their work was doubled. Eighteen club women and several men carried shrubbery from their homes to the Pleasant Grove church and did the planting under the supervision of Mrs. Melvin Johnson, the club's community activity chairman.



Mrs. J. R. Armstrong of the Autauga Heights Home Demonstration Club, Autauga County, is shown here, at right, on the porch she and her husband remodeled.

Since the old one was in a very run-down condition, left, new materials were needed. Concrete blocks were used to build up the wall and a concrete floor was poured. The entrance was changed from front to side.

Instead of buying paint, the Armstrongs covered the weather boarding with asbestos shingles which do not require painting.

Later this summer, part of the porch will be screened so the family will have a little privacy from the busy highway close by.

Mrs. Armstrong has already begun landscaping the grounds around the house—especially near the porch. The total cost of the project so far is about $1,000. The family thinks this money was well spent.

Active Member 30 Years

By MONA WHATLEY, Home Agent

A young married woman, more than 50 years ago struggled through the woods in Tanner-Williams community carrying small oaks to plant around the home she and her husband had just completed. Today these trees are giants and they are symbolic of the substantial life lived by this farm family.

Mrs. Sam Lee, a home demonstration member for at least 30 years, was a charter member of the Wilmer Home Demonstration Club. (Picture on front page.) Everything about the home where she reared eight children is practical, sturdy and in good repair. It is reflecting wise home-making procedures sponsored by home demonstration.

A Winner

That the Wilmer Club woman leads a busy, resourceful life is evidenced by her 91 ribbons. They represent prizes won in food preservation at Mobile County fairs through the years. The string of ribbons practically fills the comfortable swing on the Lee's front porch.

Mrs. Lee's banner year was 1932. At the fair that year she captured 22 first place prizes and four other prizes. The preceding year her total of first prizes was 19. In addition to ribbons, the winner received numerous cash awards.

In Mobile County's 1948 fair Mrs. Lee exhibited canned products and handicraft work.

Energy Plus

The vigor with which she went about food preservation is representative of the energy of Mrs. Lee. For years she arose at 2:30 or 3:00 A. M. and went to the Farmers' Market in Mobile to sell truck products and shrubs. She then returned home at noon to pitch into the numerous chores that faced her there.

Mrs. Lee attributes much of her success as a farm wife to membership in the home demonstration club. Her interest, cooperation and enthusiasm helped to make her home demonstration club outstanding in the county.

"Every woman should join a home demonstration club," she says. "I just couldn't get along without the social contacts which home demonstration work offers. Furthermore, if I hadn't attended club meetings through the years, I wouldn't know how to do the things I have for my family, home, and community."

Alabama Has Outstanding District Leaders

DISTRICT I

MRS. Tom Russell, District I Chairman, is a 100 per cent all-around home demonstration member in Morgan County.

Not only is she a busy housewife, but the proud mother of three teen-age children. Although busy she finds time to help with community and county-wide activities. She never says "No" when asked to help promote any worthwhile project.

MRS. RUSSELL

Mrs. Russell possesses the rare quality of being an eloquent speaker with poise that is never depleted. This quality, plus her willingness, keeps her a busy person in Morgan County.

She attended the A.C.W.W. Convention in Holland two years ago and the national home demonstration convention in Tusla, Oklahoma, last year.

Since making these visits, she has devoted much of her time to giving lectures at civic club meetings and other gatherings at home and in other counties.

DISTRICT II

MRS. Robert Wise, Kinston, Route 1, is a member of the Rhoades Home Demonstration Club in Coffee County. She is now serving as president of her club, and has served as county council president for two years.

MRS. WISE

Mr. and Mrs. Wise's farm home was selected as one of two in the county to have a farm home plan. The family followed suggestions in relocating the barn and other outbuildings, planting Zoysia grass on the lawn, and making other improvements. They completed their home beautification program to the letter, adding all kinds of modern conveniences which include a laundry, a ventilated pantry and many other features.

Mrs. Wise recently attended the national home demonstration meeting in Tulsa, Okla., and was a delegate to the state meeting in Biloxi.

She is interested in all community activities and is a member of the county library board. She is especially interested in rural youth activities because she has three children of her own.

DISTRICT III

LOOKING for a busy person? A person who farms, who deals in legal affairs, who serves on the county welfare board, who serves on the county home demonstration council, and who for the past three years has been on the state home demonstration council—that's Mrs. John Miller, Camden.

MRS. MILLER

Wife of the late Circuit Judge, John Miller, Mrs. Miller carries a deep set interest in county, state, and world affairs. She served on the state home demonstration council as citizenship chairman during the years, 1946-48, and is now director of district III.

Mrs. Miller was among the group who attended the Associated Country Women of the World Convention in Holland in 1947 and the national home demonstration meeting in Tulsa, Oklahoma, in 1948.

It was through the efforts of Mrs. Miller and others like her that home demonstration work began in Wilcox County fourteen years ago.

In appreciation of her untiring efforts, the home demonstration council presented her with a silver tray on Achievement Day, 1948.

Growing camellias is Mrs. Miller's hobby; each year she adds about five new varieties to her collection.

DISTRICT IV

MRS. Jack Montgomery, Central Alabama district director in the state council of home demonstration clubs, has been a club member of the West Greene Home Demonstration Club in Greene County for eighteen years. She served as president of her club for twelve years and also has been devotional leader, recreational leader and demonstration leader.

MRS. MONTGOMERY

Only in the case of sickness has Mrs. Montgomery ever missed a club meeting. Her club is a small one (15 members), but it is very active in community and county activities.

She lives on a large farm at the old Montgomery homestead in West Greene. She was graduated from Livingston State Teachers' College in 1927, and taught school for six years before moving to Greene County.

O.E.S. TO HOLD MEETING

The Clanton Chapter No. 271 O.E.S. will meet Thursday evening, May 12th, at 8:00 p.m. All members are urged to be present.

A CORRECTION

Through error we advertised the Johnson Outboard Motor for Polk Brothers Motor Company last week at $193.50. The price should have been $173.50. As you can see this makes quite a difference in the selling price of this popular outboard motor and we are glad to make this correction.—The Editor.

Kiwanis Club News

Dr. George Lang's talk at the club drew many favorable comments from various members. The program this week is in charge of the committee on attendence.

Contributions are still lagging on the Boy Scout building fund. Let's get in our pledges and get this project finished.

Attendance has been good for the last few weeks. If our club can maintain a good attendance record, it would just about top the district this year.

Plans Are Underway For The Re-Blood Testing

In response to a number of inquires requesting information concerning the re-blood testing program in Chilton County, Dr. E. M. Moore, County Health Officer today brought out several points which do not seem clear in the minds of citizens. Dr. Moore said that many persons were under the impression that they did not have to take the test again because they had it made during the last survey in October of 1946. He explained that everyone between the ages of 14 to 50 who took it in 1946, all those who have become 14 years of age since the last test and all new residents of the County will be required to take the test during the period May 23rd through June 3rd.

The records of the 1946 survey will be checked to see that everyone takes the tests as required by law. The law requires penalties for those who fail to comply.

Dr. Moore also suggests that all persons who took the test last time make an effort to find the identification card issued at that time. These cards will be taken up at the testing staions and a new one issued. However, if you are unable to locate your car this does not exempt you from the test, it merely simplifies our clerical work.

Stations for blood testing in the county have been set up to conveniently serve the people. In most instances, these stations will be located in the same places as in 1946. Circulars and posters showing place, date and hour that we will be in each community, will be distributed throughout the county. These stations will be operated by experienced nurses who have been with the blood testing program for several years. They are experts in the art of blood taking.

Dr. Moore feels assured that the people of Chilton County will give this health program their full support.

Clerks to carry on the clerical work will be needed. Any local people who are interested in work for the 10-day period can secure a work application blank at the County Health Office.

Local Patrolmen Grab Escaped Convicts Here

Tuesday afternoon while Patrolmen Kendricks and Braswell were patroling just below Cooper they received a call from Montgomery that two Draper Prison convicts had just escaped. The report added that the two had overpowered a Mrs. James Woodham, of Route One, Phenix City, Ala., and taken her car at gun point. The gun had been taken from guard Neil Grier. The two local patrolmen remembered just passing an automobile answering the description and turned around and gave chase. The two convicts were overtaken in front of Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company in Clanton, where they were apprehended and taken to Draper Prison where they will be charged with armed robbery. The escaped men were Rufus Vester Pendley, age 21, sent up from Fayette County for armed robbery and James Melvin Martin, age 23, sent up from Mobile County for forgery.

Above is the county home demonstration kitchen recently completed in Lauderdale County. It was dedicated at ceremonies held in March.

As have other groups, members of the county council who sponsored this project saw the urgent need for a centrally located kitchen where demonstrations and schools can be held with ease and convenience.

The modern, well-equipped kitchen is located beside a conference room which the ladies had added to the county curb market building.

Lauderdale Kitchen Formally Opened In March

ANOTHER example of a county home demonstration project can be cited in Lauderdale County. As a project in 1948 the ladies took over a room in the county curb market building and proceeded to make of it a club room and kitchen.

This room, 42 by 18 feet, has a small kitchen (18 by eight feet) which can be closed from the conference room by folding doors. It has a storage pantry four by eight feet and steel cabinets all around. These were provided by the county board of revenue.

A small electric refrigerator, hot water heater and electric stove were given by the Tennessee Valley Authority. There is also a double sink in the kitchen.

The club members bought enough china to serve fifty people.

Robbins Rubber Company of Tuscumbia donated enough rubber tile to cover the floor and the clubs had this done for $100. Eight venetian blinds were put up for $70 and two tables were made for $12 each.

The formal opening of this room was held March 10, 1949, and the club women proudly exhibited the fruits of their determination and hard work.

Calhoun County Home Gets Face-Lifting Outside

MRS. Silvian Traylor of Corinth Home Demonstration Club in Randolph County has completely changed the appearance of her home.

Her house had only three rooms plus a hall and back porch when they bought it, but Mrs. Traylor with her husband and two children immediately began improvements.

By tearing the front porch away and building an entrance porch they gave the house a "new look." Besides improving the entrance the club woman says they had enough lumber left to build an outhouse.

The family has added a flagstone walk, sodded the lawn with Bermuda grass and planted shrubbery. Most of the shrubs Mrs. Traylor rooted herself. She also planted silver leaf maples and oaks around the house. An outdoor living room was made at one side and furnished with home-made pieces. When painting the house she also painted this furniture.

AN ARTIST AND HER WORK. Mrs. J. W. Feagin, Pine Apple, Alabama, has designed the covers and inside drawings for the Wilcox County Home Demonstration Club Yearbook for three consecutive years.

The cover Mrs. Feagin is holding, above, represents two council projects for 1949—music and flowers.

From month to month at each meeting records are played during the social hour while a member gives the history of songs.

Research Results

in brief from A.P.I. AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

COTTON DUSTED WITH 20 PER CENT TOXAPHENE produced an average of 532 pounds more seed cotton per acre on 51 plots in 1947 and 1948 than did undusted cotton on land yielding about one bale per acre. BHC-DDT, 3-5 mixture, gave about the same results in a smaller number of tests.

$64.70 PER ACRE ABOVE OUT-OF-POCKET COSTS was realized from the sale of 37 common steers in an experiment on the winter-time use of land and crops at the Tennessee Valley Substation in the winter of 1947-48. The steers were bought in September of 1947, and grazed on crimson clover-rye grass mixture and oats until sold in June, 1948.

THE SHORTAGE OF GOOD SWEETPOTATO SLIPS can be partially overcome by using vine cuttings, according to tests in southern Alabama. Enough vine cuttings can be produced from one acre of early-planted slips to plant from four to eight acres of potatoes by late June. Yields may be reduced from 10 to 20 per cent by cutting vines from a potato field.

BARNS ARE NOT NECESSARY FOR BEEF PRODUCTION in Alabama provided cattle have ample feed and pasture. The beef herd at the Main Station has not been in a barn for three years. The cattle are wintered on forage crops and are fed hay only when weather prevents grazing. At no time are concentrates fed. Well drained wooded areas provide protection for animals in winter and shade in summer. They have access to plenty of water.

CORN IN ROTATION WITH HOGGED RUNNER PEANUTS averaged 40 bushels per acre per year without commercial nitrogen over a 10-year period at the Wiregrass Substation. Peanuts in the rotation averaged 1,876 pounds per acre. In the same experiment, continuous corn fertilized with 36 pounds of nitrogen (225 pounds of nitrate of soda) averaged seven bushels less. In each case, the crops received 600 pounds of 0-8-4 fertilizer per acre annually.

FIFTY-ONE PER CENT OF THE MILK PRODUCTION of the A.P.I. dairy herd in 1948 was produced in the six fall and winter months chiefly as the result of winter grazing. Before winter grazing was established in 1947, only 44 per cent of the herd's production was produced during these months.

WITH EXCELLENT WINTER PASTURES in 1948, the feed costs of producing 100 pounds of milk at the A.P.I. dairy during the fall and winter months was about the same as that for the spring and summer months. Without a winter grazing system, milk production costs are 50 to 60 per cent higher than costs in the summer, according to a production study of 90 dairies.

TREES OF LITTLE VALUE or poor form take up space in the forest that could be used by fast growing, valuable pines, experiments show. If pines are struggling for their existence in competition with worthless trees, these trees should be removed by cutting, girdling, or poisoning.

Census Bureau To Conduct Census Of Business For 1948

Retail, wholesale and service trade business men of the South and other sections of the country will shortly be asked by the United States Bureau of the Census to supply certain information on their 1948 operations for use in connection with the 1948 census of business.

Regular and special offices located throughout the country and Hawaii and Alaska will conduct the census, which was authorized at the last session of Congress with an appropriation of funds for preliminary work.

Firms to be asked for the information are those engaged primarily in marketing or selling merchandise or commodities to retailers and to industrial, commercial or institutional users, and those in personal, business and repair service operations. Hotels and amusement places come within the scope of the census.

The Census Bureau recently completed a census of manufacturers for 1947. Consequently, manufacturers will not be included in the 1948 census of business except those whose primary activity is in the retail, wholesale, or service field, or if their coverage is otherwise specifically required.

Non-profit and membership organizations will not be included, nor will governmental establishments with the exception of state, county and municipal liquor stores.

The information to be obtained will include such activities as sales and purchases, payrolls, number of employees, inventories and the like, although the kind of data collected will depend largely on the type of establishment reporting.

Results of the census should begin to become available to the public late in 1949. It will be the first of its kind to be taken since 1939, but the new law provides for one to be conducted every five years henceforth.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL BY VISITING DOCTOR

To keep children well, Elta Majors, A.P.I. Extension Service child care specialist, urges that each child be examined by a doctor and a dentist at least every six months.

She explains that such examinations reveal little defects which are easily corrected, but, if allowed to persist, will become much more difficult to handle.

Atoms May Produce Limited Electricity In Next Three Years

WASHINGTON.—David E. Lilienthal, atomic energy commission chairman, believes that an experimental atomic energy plant might be producing electricity within three years. This first plant would be purely experimental, he added, but within 20 years a sizable percentage of electricity would be produced by such plants.

Lilienthal denounced those who, he said, were trying to play down the atomic bomb as "just another explosive, another bomb."

"At first there arose a cult of doom, of dire things to come," he asserted. "We were told that atomic attack could mean a one-night war.

"Now it appears the pendulum is swinging to the opposite extreme. It is being asserted by some military men and some scientists that the atomic bomb is 'just another bomb, a super block-buster, a piece of ordinance.'

"This down-grading of the atomic bomb is the attitude of the Kremlin."

To accept this extreme could have these results, Lilienthal said:

Revive the idea that atomic bomb stockpiling should be controlled by the military.

Give the impression that the United States plan for international atomic control was "quite senseless."

Give the impression that the atomic energy commission was "merely a munitions maker" and a civilian front behind which scientists could work without suffering pricks of conscience.

Lilienthal went on to say that both extremes of the pendulum were wrong and that his was the attitude being taken by the federal government. We explained that atomic energy was first seen as a weapon and therefore it was natural to think of it as such.

"But it is wrong to think of an aplication of a thing as the thing itself," he said.

Pope Says Apostle Peter Buried In "Eternal City"

ROME. — Pope Pius, in an address to 6,000 Rome students, said that the burial place of the Apostle Peter "is and was under the cupola of St. Peter's Church."

Archaeological findings "demonstrate that," the Pontiff said.

It had been anticipated that the Pope, sooner or later, would affirm the truth of the tradition that St. Peter, martyred in Rome, was buried on the site of the world's largest Christian church.

However, he had been expected to delay the disclosure until sometime during the Holy Year, opening next Christmas Eve.

The Pope made his statement about St. Peter's burial place quite casually, in the course of an address, whose topic was the duty of the young to prepare themselves for "responsible offices" in later age.

He urged upon the students the study of Latin—"not a dead tongue but the key that opens the fountains of history"—as of Italian and other modern languages.

Population

Tops 147 Million

WASHINGTON.—This country's population reached 147,280,000 October 1, the census bureau estimated.

Although that is the highest ever recorded, the bureau said the rate of increase has slowed down from last year's pace. Nevertheless the 1948 expansion will top any other year's.

The bureau's figures included about 466,000 persons in the armed forces overseas and about 926,000 in military service in this country.

Population growth in the first nine months of 1948 amounted to about 1,800,000 persons, an average increase of about 200,000 a month.

In the corresponding period of 1947, there was an increase of about 2,100,000 persons, an average of over 233,000 a month.

Since the last actual count on April 1, 1940, the population total had risen by about 15,500,000 persons.

Seven Alabama Offices To Conduct 1948 Census

Seven offices have been designated in Alabama by the United States Bureau of the Census to conduct the Census of Business for 1948 authorized at the last session of Congress, according to information received here from Thomas W. McWhirter, Acting Area Supervisor of the Census Bureau in Atlanta, Ga.

The offices which will function in taking the census are located in Birmingham, Mobile, Montgomery, Gadsden, Clanton, Huntsville and Dothan. The Clanton office, in charge of Flora B. Stripling, District Supervisor, has been in operation for a number of years. The name of the supervisors in charge of each of the offices is as follows:

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Ruth O. Jones.

MOBILE — Levi D. Loreman.

MONTGOMERY—James R. Payne.

GADSDEN — Miss Annie Mae Gowan.

HUNTSVILLE — Milton C. Grisham.

DOTHAN — Andrew D. Wilkerson.

Similar offices are being set up in Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee, which comprise the other states of Area V of the Census Bureau, it was stated. A total of forty-one regular and special offices will have charge of the enumeration in the Southeast.

The District Supervisors attended a special training school in Houston, Texas, in January, February and March to prepare them for the census, and the census itself is expected to get under way in April.

The census will be conducted on a nationwide basis and also in Alaska and Hawaii, McWhirter said. It will embrace the retail trade, wholesale trade and other establishments engaged primarily in marketing or selling merchandise or commodities to retailers and to industrial, commercial, professional or institutional users, and also the service trade, including personal, business and repair services. Hotels and amusement places come within the scope of the census, it was explained.

Generally speaking, manufacturers will not be included in the census, since a census of manufactures for 1947 was recently conducted, it was stated. Manufacturing firms, however, will not be precluded if their primary activity is in the retail, wholesale, or service field, or if their coverage is otherwise specifically required.

Non-profit and membership organizations will not be included nor will governmental establishments, except state, county and municipal liquor stores.

The information obtained will include sales, purchases, payrolls, number of employees, inventories, and the like, although the type of data collected will depend largely on the kind of establishment reporting, the area supervisor pointed out.

Results of the census should begin to become available to the public late in 1949. It will be the first census of its kind to be taken since 1939, but the new law provides for one to be conducted every five years henceforth.

Prior to entering the Army, Sergeant Capitina attended high school at Maplesville and later was employed by the Gulf Refining Company at Clanton.

NATIONAL GUARD RECRUITING DRIVE

Company B, 167th Infantry of Clanton, has a recruiting drive on now that will end June 30th. This unit needs only 50 more men to be a full authorized strength.

Cash prizes await the members that bring in the most enlistments. The prizes are: 1st place, $25.00; 2nd place, $15.00; 3rd place, $10.00. That's right, a total of $50.00 in prizes just to bring in a few new members.

If you hurry and enlist, you can make it in time to go to Summer Camp with those buddies of yours that are already in. You get paid regular army pay rates in addition to points toward retirement benefits.

This unit had a Pay-Day last week that totaled three thousand, two-hundred thirty-three dollars and eleven cents. That a lot of spending money.

Membership in the National Guard is open to young men of ages 17 thru 35 who are in good physical condition. Visit this Clanton unit and see what benefits are awaiting you. See Sgt. Lawrence on duty in the City Hall in Clanton, Mondays through Fridays. The telephone number is 454. Don't miss Summer Camp.—S. J. Lawrence.

DEMONSTRATIONS ON REFINISHING FLOORS

Auburn, Ala. — Demonstrations are scheduled to teach home methods of sanding and refinishing floors with rented machines.

"To date," says Alice Peavy, A.P.I. Extension Service home management specialist, "schools have been held under the supervision of the home demonstration agents in 20 counties."

Each person who attends a school has the opportunity of actually using the machines necessary to refinish floors.

After sanding, the floors are finished with two or three coats of penetrating floor and wood seal.. Each coat dries in approximately 20 minutes making it possible to completely finish a floor during one day. The approximately cost of refinishing 200 sq. feet is $15; 400 square feet, $23; and 800 square feet, $35.

Future schools will be held according to the following schedule: May 17, Perry County; May 19, Hale; May 24, Greene; May 31, Houston; June 2, Henry; June 7, Macon; June 9, Chambers; June 16, Walker; and June 22, Etowah.

For further information about demonstrations in your county, contact the local home demonstration agent.

SWEET POTATO OUTLOOK

There is plenty of Alabama soil suitable for sweetpotatoes, and there is an available market for more high quality potatoes. This is why sweet potatoes should be a good source of additional income for farmers who have suitable soil and the labor to handle the crop.

DHIA'S PROVE PROFITABLE

Records on one Alabama dairyman's herd showed him that he was feeding his cows more than $200 worth of concentrates per month in excess of what they actually needed. If interested in Dairy Herd Improvement Association work, see the local county agent.

To date 435 grist millers are co-operating with the county and home demonstration agents in 56 counties by enriching corn meal.

Berlin Is Bonanza For Fortune-Tellers Selling People Hope

BERLIN.—Berlin is a bonanza for fortunetellers. They're getting rich by selling the public in this ruined city what it wants: Hope!

The hunger for a look into a pleasanter future has gripped all classes—dumpy hausfraus, elegant actresses, shabby professors, rich smugglers, skinny rubble cleaners and fat politicians.

The fame of the soothsayers spreads by word of mouth. It's rarely necessary to advertise. Prices for consultations usually start at 10 marks ($3) but those who can afford it wind up paying much more.

Astrologers are in the vanguard of those who claim to draw aside the veil of the future. Others rely on psychic trances, gypsy playing cards, and spiritualistic gimmicks.

Some astrologers admit its difficult to cast a reliable horoscope for Berlin, because history is unsure of the exact hour and day of its birth in A.D. 1244. One, however, suggests the good luck influence of Venus may be felt this year, in contrast, to the difficulties raised by Saturn in the past.

Ursula von Kardos, who scorns astrological computations in favor of second sight, has come out with this forecast:

"In the first months of 1949, Berlin will have the usual minor disturbances, but a great improvement will start in the summer. An event of great importance—thank heaven, no war—will occur then. Next winter will be much better. The Allied air life will continue, but with normal traffic. The Soviet blockade will be lifted at the beginning of 1950. Berlin is no sinking ship, as some say now."

The bulk of the fortunetelling trade is made up of people worn down by the hard realities of life and in search of a little cheer. But some are people anxious to learn the fate of relatives lost in the war. Others are embroiled in matrimonial disputes.

Landlord's Humanitarianism Is Antithesis of Tulsa Plan

LEBANON, N. H.—Daniel H. Brown is a landlord with a warm and expansive heart—no Tulsa plan for him!

In the Oklahoma city, landlords sought eviction of tenants in a quest for higher rents, but Brown notified his 59 tenants that if they run into adversity, such as illness or loss of employment, he stands ready to refund 25 per cent of their rent.

Brown said he would consider each case on its merits—granting the rebate if he deems an individual worthy. He said the refund also would affect charges of utilities. The plan, he said, is on an experimental basis for three months, but that if it worked he might renew it.

'Talker'

Outfoxes Bandit

CHICAGO. — A young, well-dressed man walked into the Commercial Supply company here, pointed a gun at Harold Roman, the president of the firm, and said, "Turn it over."

"No cash," said Roman. "We just use checks."

"Gimme the checks," the gunman demanded.

"You'll only get into trouble," Roman insisted. "They can be traced."

The robber made Roman open the drawer of a desk and reached for a pile of stamps.

"It's a federal offense to steal postage stamps," Roman cautioned the gunman.

The robber hesitated, rifled through the desk and picked up $30—in currency. Roman offered no comment. The robber fled with the cash.

As A Crow Flies

You have often heard the saying, "As straight as a crow flies." The funny part about it is that a crow doesn't fly straight — It's usually zigzag.

There is nothing zigzagged about our bookkeeping department. Each transaction has to balance each day before we close our books. The bank examiner wouldn't tolerate it any other way.

Railroad Men Plan Make-Over Effort On Oldtime Caboose

ST. PAUL. — The sound and structure of the word "caboose" is generally good for a smile, and to anyone waiting for a long freight train to clear a highway, the appearance of the funny little car at the end of the string invariably evokes a laugh. For the caboose is never streamlined, it always suggests the possibility that the carpenters built it of unused and unwanted material and without the benefit of a blueprint.

Like Chinese brass cash which never carries a date, no one can even approximate the age of a caboose as it clatters down the ballasted right of way in a cloud of sand and cinders.

And now the Order of Railway Conductors has set out to do something not only about the outer appearance of the caboose, but its equipment as well. It seems that the ugly little car is more than an architectural montrosity. It is an instrument of torture. So the ORC has filed a complaint with the Illinois state commercec ommission charging that one of the common carrier corporations has failed to do a lot of things considered necessary for the protection of the life and comfort of those who are forced to use the caboose as an office.

Whether the charges against the carrier are true or false, certainly anyone who has ever watched a caboose for any length of time could conclude from external appearances that they may be just as bad on the inside.

Idea of Britain Becoming 49th State "Horrifying"

SLOUGH, ENGLAND.—Should Britain become the 49th state of the U.S.A.?

It would be "quite horrifying," Benn Levy, Laborite member of parliament has declared.

Levy, British playwright and husband of Constance Cummings, American-born film actress, gave this answer when asked at a Labor meeting if Britain could solve her economic problem by joining the United States:

"The possibility of being ruled by the U. S. congress, the possibility of finding ourselves dominated by their vastly inferior constitution, and the possibility of finding ourselves submerged in a country which is at least 25 or 30 years behind ourselves are quite horrifying."

Finns Try to Eliminate Reds in Their Talking

HELSINKI, FINLAND. — The Finns seem to have found something to talk about besides the Russians.

"Where," asked a Finn, "shall we have dinner?" Recalling his last trip to a restaurant here more than two years ago, a visitor replied, "Does it make any difference?"

The Finn smiled. "Food isn't rationed any more, you know." He was proud and justly so. They went to an extremely nice restaurant. Everything went beautifully, especially as fine a pair of lamb chops as you can find this side of Paris.

"During the war," said the Finn, "we didn't dance. We're doing it now."

Hours had passed and the visitor met a lot of Finns and still there hadn't been a word about Russia. It was left to him to bring it up.

"Oh, Russia," said a young engineer. "You Americans get too excited about the Russians. Look, we live beside them and we seem to be getting on."

"That," the visitor remarked, "was quite an observation for a Finn."

Audacious Crow Upsets Whole City By Tricks

HARTFORD, WIS. — A single shiny black crow, with coy instincts and great audacity, had all Hartford confused.

First resident to tangle with the bird's sense of humor was Clarence (Clenny) Smith, a milkman. One morning as Clenny was delivering milk just before dawn he left a bottle of milk at a regular stop. He put the change from the transaction on the bottle cap.

Returning to his truck, Clenny heard the coins clink on the porch. He saw a crow drinking from the bottle.

"Gwan, beat it," cried Clenny to the crow.

"Gwan, beat it," cried the crow to Clenny.

The baffled milkman returned to the dairy. After that the crow regularly accompanied Clenny on his early morning rounds. If Clenny hid the milk, the crow found it. If the crow didn't find it, neither did the customer.

Clenny tried circling the truck off the route to elude the thirsty crow. But he'd find the cagey bird perched on the porch railing when he got to the next stop on his milk route.

Outwitted Bird

The only way Clenny was able to outwit the crow was to carry a supply of cardboard cartons with him on the route. When the crow appeared. Clenny covered his milk deliveries.

Rumor in Hartford credited the crow with expensive and discriminating tastes. It is said that the crow drank only cream. When the bird found a bottle of homogenized milk, it took the cap off, but left the contents untouched.

Bill Dunwiddie of the high school teaching staff wasn't worried about the milk bottle trick. It was the windshield wiper on his car.

The same crow stole the wiper blade at every opportunity and hid it on top of Dunwiddie's porch. Bill had to climb up a ladder to retrieve it.

His only solution was to hide the wiper himself. That still left the car without a windshield wiper.

Children at St. Kilian's parochial school reported another trick of the troublesome crow. It flew at them when they were playing in the school yard.

Snatched Clothes

And the crow snatched clothespins from washlines. The bird didn't wait until the town's women had their clothes all hung out. He banged around snatching pins as fast at they were put on—let the laundry fall where it may.

Sly was the word for Hartford's crow. It sat on a handy fence railing, looking innocent with its beady eyes. But let the observer come too close—pff it was off. Then it alighted a little further away and gave the observer the come-on again.

Great Britain Relaxes Curb On Purchases of Clothing

LONDON. — The biggest relaxation since clothing rationing began in Britain nearly eight years ago will enable a man or woman to buy a new suit or dress from now on without coupons.

Harold Wilson, president of the board of trade, making this announcement in commons, said this improvement, with the freeing of footwear and other changes made last year, meant about half of the clothing field now was off the ration.

The relaxation will apply to all woven wool cloth and garments made from it, such as trousers, jackets, overcoats, skirts, dresses and children's wear.

The minister made other changes, such as having the coupon rate for fur garments, and indicated further improvements might be made later. He said better production of wool had made the changes possible, but that cotton cloth still was in short supply. For that reason there will be no relief in the household linen situation or in men's shirts.

Nation's Television Sales Topped 975,000 Last Year

WASHINGTON.—Output of television receivers totaled more than 975,000 sets during 1948, bringing total television production since the end of the war to 1,160,000, according to a report issued by the Radio Manufacturers association. An additional 25,000 to 30,000 unassembled television kits were manufactured during the year.

About 44 per cent of the total was manufactured during the last quarter of 1948. In December approximately 39,000 television sets were produced weekly, but production was set back by holiday shutdowns.

Total production of radio sets in 1948 was estimated at more than 16,000,000 sets. However, with many radio manufacturers devoting an increasingly larger share of their production capacity to television, output of radios was about 20 per cent below total production in 1947, which was the second highest in the history of the industry.

Smugglers Mute Squeals Of Pigs to Aid Business

BRUSSELS.—Hundreds of drunken pigs and stocking-footed cattle have been smuggled across the Dutch border into Belgium within the past two years.

Illegal traffic in noisy livestock is a difficult profession, when they must be slipped by night across the closely guarded frontiers of Holland and Belgium. Hooves of cattle are muffled with heavy burlap sacks, and to prevent mooing their mouths are smeared with soap, which has an attraction for the cattle's tastebuds. Rather than moo, the animals constantly lick the substance.

Belgians buy their cattle and pigs in Holland with cheaply-acquired florins, get them across the border unseen by customs officials and resell them here for Belgian francs.

The equipment for silencing cows is less expensive than getting the pigs drunk. Crude alcohol is fed to the porkers which then are jammed by threes into knapsacks to be carried "piggy-back" across the border for fattening.

Section 36. That if, for any reason, any section, provision or clause of this Act shall be held to be unconstitutional or invalid, that fact shall not destroy the constitutionality of this Act except as to that clause or section.

The Way Of The CROSS

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

TOO long have we thought of the 'via dolorosa' when we have looked toward the Cross; instead of being the 'sad way' it must be seen as the 'glad way'. There may be sad moments along every noble path, but the great ways of the world are not thoroughly sad ways. The path of motherhood may have some sad turns but on the whole it is a satisfying path. The path of education climbs some difficult and steep places, but on the whole it is a thrilling way that our young people take.

THE prophet Isaiah talked about the highway of God, where faithful servants of God pass on good errands for the great God. That is The Way of the Cross, a way which one takes in the service of God and the ideal. One turns aside from immediate and attractive enjoyments that he may do the errands of high purpose and of worthy living. Other people think of it as The Way of the Cross, but the traveler on the highway rejoices at the vistas that open to his view and is invigorated with the air of the ascent.

JOHN Mackay has been talking about The Road, by which he means a way of great and victorious doing and serving. "This is the way; walk ye in it". The early Christians rejoiced that they had found The Way, for it meant a life devoted to their Lord and an experience of the divine Presence; it was really living.

THE Way of the Cross is the way that Jesus walked and it has become luminous with glory ever since. "Take up your cross and follow". Heaven and God are at the end of the Way. Attend your Church regularly.

SAFETY ON OUR HIGHWAYS

Local citizens are not profiting by the experience of others, so far as safe driving is concerned. Even though every paper you pick up carries story after story of sudden death and even though one is constantly hearing of horrible sudden death in automobile accidents, our Chilton County automobile drivers continue to do foolish things and cause untold pain and suffering, because of carelessness in driving on the highways.

People just can't seem to profit by the experience of others. The lesson has to be learned the hard way—by happening to them, it seems.

More than a dozen people were injured in Chilton County on the highways during the week end. Half of the drivers in these accidents were guilty of traffic violations or the wrecks wouldn't have happened. The other half were law abiding motorists going about their business in a safe and sane manner and entirely innocent of any wrong doing. Yet they suffer with the guilty and pay a big price for another's carelessness.

More strict highway traffic regulations are necessary to protect the careful, law abiding driver. It is a problem that needs the serious thought of our ablest citizens.

CALLING CONGRESS

We here and now call upon Congress to make a special appropriation. While they are appropriating umptmillion for this, and leventy-leven billion for that, and ninety-seven quardrillion for nothing that is important—we want them to appropriate a little, just a tiny little money for the dozens, and dozens, of bureaus that want free advertising space in the weekly newspaper of the country, to buy that advertising space with.

With all the appropriations that congress makes for every other item on the face of the earth, they can't even appropriate enough to the bureaus to buy them a subscription to the weekly paper that they call on so much for publicity.

Of course we suppose the figure would be too low and they couldn't appropriate that little, being used to sums that stagger the imagination, but anyway, it's an idea.

CLEAN - UP, PAINT - UP

Looks like summer barged in this year ahead of schedule and before we had a chance to do our spring-cleaning. But we notice that it had little to do with the way some of our merchants and home-owners feel about it.

There is plenty of spring cleaning going on in Chilton County right now whether the temperature is spring-like or summer-heat. It means a lot to a town to give a good "first impression" to it's traveling friends who come driving through or friends who come to stay for a while with us. It's that first impression that counts.

Get the spirit Chiltonites. If you haven't what it takes, your merchants have and they will gladly supply your wants.

The main thing is it's springtime. Let's paint-up, clean up.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

It was sad news of Dovie Roper Armstrong's death last Friday. She had been ill for several years, but we well remember first meeting her when we came to Clanton. She was one of th most attractive women we had ever known. A wonderful personality was her gift and she had hundreds of friends throughout the county and state. We deeply regret the family loss in her passing and know they find comfort in the sympathy of so many friends.

Judge J. O. Middleton tells us that his Buick has 209.000 miles on it and uses very little oil even now. Just wonder how many of the classy buggies you see on the highways now will even still be operating after 209,000 miles.

Did you ever read the Code, of Ethics, or Creed, of the Pilot Club? We are sure you haven't—most folks not being eligible for the Pilots. We happen to have been familiar with their Code of Ethics because we print their Year Book. It is a beautiful thing to read and if you know a Pilot get them to let you read theirs. In case a Pilot lives up to ever word in the Code, she would be just about perfect in every way. They are really worthwhile people—these Pilots; and speaking of our local Club, they are a valuable asset to Clanton and Chilton County.

What's this we hear now about our mighty good friend, H. T. Pipes, being down with the mumps. Betcha one thing, he's taking it with a grin and a chuckle. He's just about the most wholesome character we know and we hope he isn't laid up for long. We'd sure miss that broad smile and friendly "hello," if anything happened to that man. He's one of our favorite people.

John Ponder Lawrence, Jr., has started something that all merchants in town would do well to take notice of. That's a "Clean-up, Paint-up" Campaign. It's the right time of year. The old town could use it. And our local merchants certainly have the necessary items used in carrying out such a program. We think the merchants and citizens of Clanton should join with John Ponder in his program and help paint-up, clean-up our little city.

The bad publicity we received Sunday about the new pastor coming to Clanton was unfair and undeserved. At no time did anyone ask us not to publish the story of the new pastor coming to the Baptist Church here. Had we been asked we would gladly have waited until a later date to publish same. Since we were not asked we do not feel that we owe an apology to anyone. We sincerely believe that anyone knowing us and our policy here at the News, understands. We have omitted or delayed more important news stories than this when the printing of that story would cause embarrassment or undue publicity to the subject.

Things are moving along slow, we understand on the choir chairs at the Methodist Church. R. C. Williams was telling us their plans for the changes, if possible, when the new chairs were bought. According to the mental picture we got from his conversation it will be for the better and be quite an improvement in the rostrum as it is now. In case you want to do a good turn, see R. C. Williams or Rev. Carlisle Miller and tell them you want to buy a choir chair. Well, come on, don't stand there with your mouth open—give.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

THUNDERSTORMS

Perhaps you wonder what thunderstorms have to do with your health. Some people do the wrong thing during thunderstorms and as a result are killed by lightning.

The chances of being killed by lightning are 375,000 to one, but few people want to play even such long odds. Most people, when caught out of doors in a thunderstorm, seek cover under a tree. This is a mistake, however, for one out of every three people killed by lightning has been killed after seeking shelter under a tree.

You are in greater danger from lightning when out of doors than when in a house. If you are caught outdoors in a thunderstorm, you are warned against lone trees, wire fences, long wire clotheslines, and other prominent objects. Open sheds or small outbuildings set apart from large buildings are about as dangerous as a tree.

The best place to look for when caught outdoors in an electrical storm is a hole in the ground, a deep valley, under a steep cliff, or in a dense woods. Golfers are likely to duck for a nearby tree and carry their steel club with them. They should drop the golf club and shun the tree. Bathers are urged to leave the beach during an electrical storm, and people in small boats should get to shore as rapidly as possible. A person in a small boat is a particularly good target for lightninlg. Autos, trains, and airplanes are comparatively safe from lightning.

Nine out of ten deaths by lightning occur in rural areas and most of these are venturesome boys and men. There are five times, as many males as females killed by lightning in this country.

Though the odds make it a long shot, the results can be permanent. It is far better to remember a few facts and follow them than to take a chance and be killed.

New leaders in the Alabama Power Company Fishing Contest in the Bream and Crappie divisions have been reported from the weigh-in officers.

J. B. Kelly's Store reports: A king size Bream that weighs 1 pound and 0 ounces caught by Hattie R. Pruett in Lake Jordan, worms, cane pole and line were the tools. Harris Wright used a minnow to catch his fine Crappie, weight 1 pound and 11 ounces. Lake Jordan was the place.

E. G. Johnson's Store reports: A beautiful Striped Bass, 2 pounds and 13 ounces, caught in Lake Mitchell in about 18 inches of water by an old stump. This entry is the leader in the Striped Bass division.

G. H. Kelley's Cross Roads Store reports: A granddaddy Crappie caught in Lake Mitchell by B. D. King with a minnow, weight 2 pounds 12 ounces. The cane pole used was broken in landing this leader in the Crappie division. Frank Jones caught a nice Crappie, weight 1 pound 12 ounces from the waters of Lake Mitchell, a live minnow was used for bait.

Mrs. J. S. Plott's Store reports: Mrs. A. L. Gwaltney, Jr.'s 1 pound and 8 ounce Crappie caught on Lake Jordan.

Continued spring showers along the Coosa Valley water shed have Lakes Lay, Mitchell and Jordan up to a full level and very muddy this week. However, there are some fishermen that do not believe in unfavorable conditions and are out there catching fish.

Our safety comment for the day is: Remember that sudden squalls or storms may create conditions that are too dangerous for your craft. Seek sheltered waters early and do not venture out until conditions have become safe. "Catch a Big One Safely."

Keep the entries rolling in. Yours, even though a little fellow, may be a winner.

Yours truly,
R. L. SCOTT,
Recreational Development Supervisor,
Jordan Dam, Wetumpka, Ala.

MANY COTTON FARMERS WILL SHARE IN AWARDS

Auburn, Ala. — Prizes will be awarded winners in Alabama's 1949 one-variety community cotton improvement specialist.

No other state has a contest where the competition is on a community basis. Every farmer in the community is encouraged to do a better job of cotton production by using the best production practices and by following the one-variety plan of production.

Andrews says that not only will a state prize be awarded, but four district prizes will be given. One to the winner in each of the four Extension Service districts. All of the prize money is to be used on some community project that will benefit all the people in the community.

WATERWAY SODS ARE CROPS

Waterway sod should be treated like a crop. In other words, it should be fertilized, harvested, and re-seeded when necessary.

You'll be pleasantly suprised—

AT THE LOW COST OF AN EXTENSION TELEPHONE

Do you know you can have an extension telephone in your home for only a few cents per day?

The cost is mighty small when you consider the many advantages an extension telephone provides for the home and family. It saves time and steps, affords privacy on the telephone, protection in an emergency. It makes your telephone more valuable by increasing its usefulness.

All you have to do is call the Telephone Business Office and say: "I'd like to have an extension telephone installed." Why not order yours today?

Orders for main telephone service are sometimes delayed because of shortages of central office and other equipment, which are not involved in the installation of extension telephones.

7th Anniversary Of Women's Army Corps To Be Observed

On May 14, 1949, the people of the United States will join with the members of the Armed Forces in observing the Seventh Anniversary of the Women's Army Corps.

Originally created as the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps on May 14, 1942, the WAC became a part of the Army of the United States when Public Law 110 was signed by the President on July 1, 1943. Later, the WAC was established as a permanent part of the regular army as authorized by Public Law 625, June 12, 1948.

The first WAC training center was established at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, and training was started at that Post in July, 1942. At the height of the war there were five training centers, which were closed after enlistments were suspended in 1945. The WAC training center at Camp Lee, Va., the central point for the training of WACS in the regular army, was opened on October 4, 1948. This training center is now charged with the overall mission to conduct basic military training for women recruits, to process re-enlistees, to conduct specialist training, leader's training for non-commissioned officers, and an officer candidate school.

At the peak war strength of 100,000 WACS were serving at more than 400 installations in this country and in every theatre of operations. Approximately one out of every five women in the Corps served overseas during the war.

As established by Public Law 625, the number of women in the regular army between June 12, 1948, and June 12, 1950, may not exceed 500 officers, 75 warrant officers and 7,500 enlisted women. After June 12, 1950, the strength may not exceed two percent of the authorized strength of the regular army. At the present time, the limited strength is being attained on the basis of established quotas of 152 new recruits every two weeks. Members of the WAC today are serving at various posts, camps and stations throughout the United States, in the European Command, Far East Command, and in the Carribean Command.

The present day duties of the WAC are many and varied. They are doing important work in administrative fields, medical fields and communications. In addition to their normal work, many of the WACS in the European Command have been engaged in the German Youth Activities. Their off-duty time is given voluntarily to the program to guide the youth of Germany in thinking and acting for themselves—all a part of the reorientation program in effect in Germany today to guide the German youth in the basic principles of democracy.

The WACS have now established themselves as an honored and respected part of the Armed Forces of the United States—a part of the "Team For Security."

RECRUITING NEWS

The Ordnance Department, a part of the Regular Army, designs, develops, supplies and maintains the spectacular weapons and material used by the Regular Army. It forms the pioneering, advance guard in the Regular Army's constant search for lighter, harder-hitting, more effective weapons.

During World War II, the Ordnance Department kept the Army one step ahead of the enemy's technological progress. It turned out guns of all sizes, tanks, combat and transport vehicles, gun directors, rockets, bombs and pyrotechnics for air-craft, land and submarine mines, projectiles of all kinds and many other items whose importance to victory was incalcuable. Ordnance scientists perfected the proximity fuse, and amazed the world with brilliant new recoilless weapons which put artillery into the front lines with the mobility and accuracy of a sniper's rifle.

Thousands of technicians, skilled in diesel engineering, precision machining, welding, ballistics, sheet-metal working, riveting, ammunition testing, electrical and mechanical designing, vehicle maintenance and many other important specialties, are required for the huge variety of Ordnance jobs. The skills and trades its men learn during enlistment enable them to offer special aptitudes for civilian vocations.

During peacetime, the Ordnance Department devotes much of its vast potential to the development of projects whose value to scientific advancement has been remarkable through the years. Improved, long-lasting vehicles, precision instruments of many kinds, and more efficient use of raw materials are only a few of the strides accomplished by the Ordnance Department's never ending research and experimentation.

For full information about the Ordnance Department and any information about an enlistment in the Regular Army, can be had by stopping by the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, New Wade Building, Clanton, Ala.

ALFALFA SUITED TO WELL - DRAINED SOILS

Auburn, Ala. — Due to discoveries made by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station, many Alabama farmers can succeed with alfalfa.

J. C. Lowery, A.P.I. Extension Service agronomist, says that just a few years ago, most people had decided alfalfa could not be grown very successfully in this state.

However, research shows that alfalfa can be grown on most any well-drained soil that will make satisfactory crops of cotton and corn. Naturally, a few things must be done right at the right time.

Here are some of the important things to do within the next few weeks: If winter legumes are growing on land where alfalfa will be planted, turn them before they make seed Harrow and disc the land as soon after it rains as possible or often enough to control weeds and grass completely. [illegible] seed inoculation [illegible] They should [illegible] needed.

The local [illegible] can furnish full details on growing this valuable crop used for grazing and hay.

JEMISON SENIORS PRESENT

When a girl reads too many romances, what chance has a mere man to win her? Rosemary wanted a lover like the one in "Hearts Aflame" and she had no time for Tom. Her admiring maid, Poppy, felt the same way (in fact, she read the same romances), and Poor Alec, the gardener, was in despair over Poppy's sudden coldness. Then the author of the romantic books appears. She's a maiden lady with a kind heart and she sets about repairing the damage her books have done. Under her direction, Tom and Alec are soon spouting romantic speeches and making a hit with the girls. There are strikingly funny scenes as Tom is coached on lovemaking. It's still funnier when he makes the speeches he's been coached on. Two fluttery spinisters from the neighborhood keep a thrilled eye on the romantic goings-on, and even Rosemary's bachelor uncle begins to notice the good qualities of the author he is entertaining unawares. The finale comes with an elopement in which everybody has a hand.

This is a brief sketch of the Senior Play which is to be presented Friday night, May 13, at 8 o'clock.

Tickets are now on sale at the Jemison Bus Station, Jemison Cafe and Smith's Grocery. The admission is 35c and 50c. Reserved seats 75c.

An enjoyable evening for the entire family—Friday the 13th, in the school auditorium.

Coolers Are Needed; Aviation 'Red Hot' Because of Friction

WASHINGTON.—Jet and rocket planes flying high in the bitter cold of the stratosphere need cabin coolers instead of heaters.

Outside the cockpit the air is 67 degrees below zero. But without a refrigerator, the inside temperature would be 111 degrees at 1,000 miles an hour.

Flying at lower altitudes, say 10,000 feet with an outside temperature of 64 degrees, the 1,000-mile-an-hour pilot would be cooking in 242 degrees of heat.

Those temperature rises are figured only on the heat generated by friction with the air at high speeds. Actually the temperature in the cockpit would be increased further by heat from the sun, the pilot's body and aircraft equipment such as radio.

Jet fighters are equipped with a 16-pound refrigerator that can cool the air as much as 500 degrees. It works off the compressed air in the jet engine itself. The air is expanded in a "heat exchanger," which removes about 90 per cent of the heat, and then is used to operate a turbine which removes additional heat.

Such refrigerators cannot be applied to rocket planes like the X-1, the first plane to exceed the speed of sound. However, cockpit heat has not been a critical problem with the X-1 since it flies at its top speeds—reportedly up to 1,100 miles an hour—only a matter of seconds.

At its operating altitude the temperature is 67 degrees below zero and the air is very thin, which delays the onset of high friction heat.

Heat control will be an important factor in pushing ahead with supersonic speed combat aircraft.

Sinking

Hill Puzzles Canada

HALLONQUIST. — There's a sinking hill in this district, forty miles southeast of Swift Current, and it seems to be disappearing fairly fast. One old-timer said that in 1909 the hill was normal except that livestock shunned it. In 1911 the hill began to crack up and portions sank from six to eight inches. Now a valley three-quarters of a mile long and 50 feet deep has developed.

One engineer surmised that a vast bed of quicksand may lie underneath the ground. Others suspect underground water erosion.

Bricker Asks Study To See if America Faces Dictatorship

DETROIT.—A commission to find out whether the United States is rushing toward dictatorship has been suggested by Sen. John Bricker (R., Ohio).

Bricker expressed concern that the federal system was being abandoned and with it individual freedoms.

Bricker's suggestion was made during a four-man panel discussion of the federal system at a meeting of state officials.

Bricker declared:

"Maybe state governments are an expensive, archaic, manifestation of a bygone day and should be dissolved. Heaven forbid such a recommendation—but if they are let's find it out and stop paying lip service to the federal system."

The proposed commission, patterned after the Hoover group which studied the executive branch, would study the division of powers between levels of government. It would also determine appropriate fields of taxation.

The senator said the commission should be composed of representatives from the three branches of federal government, from the state government and from the people.

The discussion brought out that constant growth of national government was due chiefly to failure of states to assume responsibilities.

Oil Boom Town of Today Quiet as One's Back Yard

RANKIN, TEX. — This is what passes today for an oil boom town. It's quiet as your backyard.

Gone are the brawling boom days when poor men struck it rich overnight, when roughnecks drank bootleg whisky like water and fought in muddy streets for the sake of fighting.

That happened until the late 1920's wherever new oil fields were found, from Pennsylvania to California. It's still happening in Canada, oil men say, but in the United States the boom town has grown stolid.

Changes in machines and men and laws are behind the boom town's new respectability.

Workers used to have to crowd into an undersized hamlet near the field, or live in tents and bunkhouses on the job because their rattletrap cars bogged down in narrow roads rub deep in mud. Now they can spread out, as far away from the field as they feel like driving over paved highways.

In the old times, hardly a day passed that a man wasn't hurt on a rickety rig. Now equipment is safe, and tested to make sure it stays that way.

Among today's roughnecks you'll find college men—petroleum engineers and geologists. They're getting ready to be executives by learning the horny-handed end of the business.

Wildcatters, who drilled wells with barely enough money to buy baling wire to hold their rigs together, went out of business when the big companies started leasing and the states laying down the law about where and how close together wells could be sunk.

Rankin, with a rich new field in her lap, is still a peaceful town of ranchers and storekeepers.

More Than Brains Needed For Success in Careers

CHICAGO.—Why does the college-trained man frequently fail at his first job?

The answer—he is still a child in one way or another, because he lacks one or more of seven basic traits.

That is the answer given by Dr. Robert N. McMurry based on a survey by his management firm which studied 1,167 trainees directly hired from college by 247 companies.

He listed the seven traits as:

The ability to stay long enough with a company to repay the investment in training.

The ability to accept responsibility.

Perseverance, or the ability "to follow a path to the end," even if the path is unfamiliar.

Self-reliance.

The quality of being agreeable to different groups and different persons.

Identification of his personal goals with those of the firm.

And the ability to exercise authority without belligerence.

"Absence of these traits, or any one of them, indicates failure of an individual to grow emotionally," said Dr. McMurry.

U. N. Finds Many Things About Which to Bother

LAKE SUCCESS. — From Beirut, Lebanon, the United Nations received word that a discordant note had been sounded in the amicable discussions of educators attending meetings of the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization.

The organization, it was reported, has been informed by its Austrian delegation that practically no country is adhering completely to the musical standard of "A" pitch, which was established in 1885 at Vienna. Dr. Hermann Zeissl, head of the Austrial delegation, has urged the organization to summon an international conference on the subject. Happily, he points out, the standard tuning fork used at the 1885 meetings has been preserved in Vienna.

Dr. Zeissl holds that the standardization of "A" pitch at 435 cycles a second is no longer kept universally.

Fish, Wildlife Service Plans Recipes for Cooks

WASHINGTON. — It may seem alien to a government agency with such virile responsibilities as the management of fur seal herds and the destruction of predatory animals, but the fish and wildlife service of the interior department works up recipes for the housewife. Its kitchen-counseling activities are part of a plan to make America more fish-conscious.

In line with this program, the service's branch of commercial fisheries maintains a spotless, well-equipped test kitchen at its technological laboratory on the campus of the University of Maryland at College Park.

The kitchen is operated by four home economists who concoct and test fish recipes and then distribute them in printed form to restaurants, homemakers, food editors, and even to army mess sergeants.

The fish and wildlife service home economists also put on fish cookery demonstrations for women's groups and set up displays and exhibits at national conventions and meetings of restaurant, home economics, dietetics, grocery, public health and food service groups.

Girl, 13, Unexcited About Saving Youth From Icy Pond

PERTH AMBOY, N. J. — "It wasn't anything to get excited about."

This was the comment of 13-year-old Lillian Mingin, when it was revealed that she had rescued Kenneth Vangorder, 6, of 689 Kosciuszko street, from drowning in a Columbus park skating pond.

Lillian went to the pond to see if the ice was strong enough for skating. Noting that the ice was too thin, she turned for home. Just then she saw a little boy on a sled shoot rapidly down an embankment to the pond. A moment later she saw the boy's hands above the water. She crawled to the spot and managed to grasp his hands firmly and dragged him to shore.

The deed done, Lillian took herself and her skates home. Other children, who knew Lillian, reported the incident to a policeman. Kenneth received hospital treatment for shock and submersion.

Police Chief John F. Murray said he would recommend recognition of the rescue to the Perth Amboy Safety Council and the National Safety Council.

Spider in Seismograph Sets Up False 'Quake Recording

NEW YORK. N. Y.—That was no earthquake that was recorded on the City College Babor seismograph station. That was a spider.

So it was revealed by Prof. Daniel T. O'Connell, director of the station, which is at Finley Hall, 136th street and Amsterdam avenue. What's more, the intrusive creature knocked the station out of a first-place accuracy rating by the United States coast and geodetic survey.

The spider found its way into the mechanism of the vertical component, one of three seismometers of the station, leaped upon the sensitive pendulum and registered a violent, earthquake-like reaction. Then it spun a web, causing a lull in the instrument's recording.

Alert scientists investigated and found the culprit. Despite the contretemps, said the college, the seismograph had the second best accuracy record in the nation in the last three months. The spider?

"You may say," a spokesman whispered, "that it received a decent burial."

NEW STYLE FOR FURS WOULD HELP TRAPPERS

A "new look" in fur fashion is needed to bring back the value of long-haired furs, according to Earl F. Kennamer, A.P.I. Extension Service wildlife specialist.

Since there is very little demand for opossum, raccoon, skunk and civet cat furs, trappers are paid very little for their pelts.

Kennamer believes that fashion designers could point out the desirability of fur coats made from long-haired pelts and thereby increase an economic upswing in raw fur prices. This would help farmers who have furbearers on their farms and at the same time furnish the market with long-haired, fur coats noted for their beauty and wearing qualities.

Statement Of C. B. Cox Regarding Introduction Of Bill

Within the next few weeks I will introduce in the State Legislature the Bill found elsewhere in this issue of the Chilton County News, regarding the publishing of the Minutes of the Commissioner's Court. Had this Bill been passed ten or fifteen years ago the present criticism of county affairs could not exist.

The taxpayers are entitled to know by whom, and for what, their money is spent, and the Bill I am getting ready to introduce will show the taxpayers just this.

This Bill is for the protection of the County Officials as well as the Taxpayers, and I would appreciate you reading the Bill and giving me your opinion of this piece of legislation.

Sincerely,
C. B. COX, Representative.

Loyalty Oath Bill Introduced By Sen. Owens

Montgomery, Ala. — If you hold any public office in Alabama, you will have to take an anti-Communist oath should a bill introduced by Sen. C. J. Owens, of Marshall, be enacted into law.

The bill calls for every public servant in the state, at every governmental level, to take the loyalty oath.

The measure was brought before the 1947 Legislature but failed to be put into law.

HILL HEALTH BILL WILL PRESERVE FREE MEDICAL SYSTEM

America must preserve the freedoms and incentives of her present medical system Senator Lister Hill declared last week in an address before the Philadelphia County Medical Society.

"We must not destroy the American doctor's unique place of trust and confidence," Hill said at the Hundredth Anniversary celebration of the Philadelphia medical group. "Our free American medical system has been too valuable and too effective to be abandoned for a strange and untried system of compulsion."

Alabama's Senior Senator said his Voluntary Health Insurance bill provided a voluntary program for expanding the nation's health and medical facilities. The voluntary program builds upon the present system of medical practice, he said, and preserves the personal relationship between the doctor and his patient. It is a program administered entirely by the States and the local communities, he emphasized, with the Federal government providing financial aid and technical assistance.

The measure will encourage everyone to pay his own way, by buying health insurance or prepaid medical care, as millions of people do now. Persons unable to pay will get medical and hospital care through government-supported membership in health insurance plans.

Senator Hill expressed confidence that the doctors of America would meet the challenge of modern health problems created by modern transportation and industry, the mass production and handling of foods, concentrated city life, the toll of heart disease and cancer.

Hill is also the author of the bill to strengthen the local public health departments, the school health services bill providing medical and dental examinations for all school children, and Hill-Burton Hospital and Health Center Construction Act.

FIELD WORK IN STATE MAKES GOOD SHOWING IN APRIL

Montgomery, Ala. — After several days of heavy rainfall field work in the state advanced "normally" during April, according to a survey by the Alabama Co-op Crop Reporting Service.

The excessive rains, however, damaged cotton and peanuts in certain areas to the extent that replanting was necessary.

Planting of row crops is nearing completion in the southern part of the state, and cultivation is now "in full swing," according to the report. The potato crop is again moving in heavy volume now that the rains have let up.

SARDIS

There was a large crowd present at the homecoming here last Sunday. Some of the members were here that hadn't been with us in a long time. We were glad to have each one and every visitor also. Bro. Cox brought a very inspiring sermon at the eleven o'clock hour. We had plenty of dinner and some good singing in the afternoon. We want to thank Mr. Harvey Davis for acting as chairman for us. We also thank each director and the quartets present. We had one of the Liberty Hill Quartets and the Davis Quartet. This homecoming is a annual affair. We will be looking for each one next Mother's Day.

We would like to have a large attendance at Sunday School next Sunday. Remember the fourth Sunday and Sunday night is our regular preaching day. We invite everybody out to these services. — Reporter.

Up-To-Date Advice To Readers

Every once in a while we have to carry out the time-honored custom of newspaper editors and pass some advice along to the unsuspecting readers of these columns.

It is always a question of importance to determine upon what subject the thought shall be addressed. In reviewing the field today we find most problems settled by what others have written or said and we are forced to select from a very restricted range in an effort to get something novel.

Most of our readers have their own opinions and stand ready to take issue with any editor who dares to treat them lightly. We have no such idea. In fact, just for a change we are going to suggest that the reader is quite correct, that his or her conclusions are eminently sound and should not be upset by anything written.

This last sentence, as you see, applies equally to all opinions regardless of what they might be and that is a good feature of any smart editorial. It is always good to write something that will please everybody. In fact, we have rarely accomplished this and take some pride in the belief that we have now done so.

In conclusion, therefore, we urge all readers to hold fast to whatever opinions they have formed on any subject that they have thought about, regardless of whether there is any basis for the idea or not. It is nobody's business what you believe, least of all the business of a newspaper editor who probably knows little about your mental powers, much less your psychic potency.

Are You Balanced?

It is fine for human beings to have good times, to enjoy themselves in proper ways and to appreciate a sense of humor as they travel along the road of life.

However, after all, this is not the purpose of existence. The individual should accept some responsibility, assume some obligations and have faith in something if life is to have a full meaning.

There is always the danger that the thinkers of the day will take things too seriously but this danger is no more real than the opposite, that the pleasure seekers will fail to take things seriousy enough.

The balance between them is what makes civilization worth having, but it does not seem possible for every individual to capture the poise that goes with such a balance.

Hunches Come To Busy Minds

There are many people who lay great stress upon "hunches" or intuitive flashes of genius. They have, it seems, some basis to justify their belief.

Some time ago a professor submitted a questionnaire to 1,500 research workers to ascertain their opinion of such "inspiration." Their answers showed that hunches came to many of them while walking to work, fishing, bathing, dreaming or relaxing after dinner. Organic chemists, particularly, were given to relying upon a kind of instinct rather than upon cold logic in selecting promising vistas for further pursuit.

However, let no lazy reader of Chilton County News get the wrong idea. Such flashes do not illuminate darkened minds. Rather do they come only after deep concentration.

It seems that the mental powers continue to work on problems after the conscious mind has put them aside, and, occasionally, the earnest student is happily surprised by a sudden "Eureka" to the brain.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Erle Ellis and wife and Grady Heflin and wife have just returned from a week's stay in Texas. They were there attending a convention of the National Motor Courts. A wonderful time was had by all, of course, and to prevent anyone from saying Erle was taking a "Busman's Holiday," we suppose they had hotel reservations.

Got a big kick out of a "Lost Bus Driver" at the Cafe Royal the other morning. We were there about five a.m. drinking a cup of coffee when a Greyhound Bus Driver came in and said: "Well, where's all the passengers for Birmingham?" Clarence Baker asked him if that was his bus sitting outside, and he answered that it was and he was ready to be off. Clarence told him: "Well, you'll have to go down to the Bus Station to get them. It was moved yesterday, you know."

Now is the time for all good (and bad men) to come to the aid of other men, (good or bad). Men should get together about this season of the year and solemnly take oath to forget they have a coat until next fall. Even to formal affairs men should be permitted to wear as little as ladies—and that gives us plenty of room to redress.

The Rev. A. T. Hickman told us a very good story the other day. It seems a man rushed into a very busy barber shop and wanted immediate service but all the chairs were filled. When the next man was up, he asked him if he couldn't take his place as his father was dead. Trying to be of service the man next in line gave way to the fellow who said his father was dead and all was quiet for a while. When the barber was through and the man was putting on his tie again, his benefactor asked: "When did your father die?" "Oh, about thirty years ago," was the answer.

While we pore folks are slaving in the heat of summer, Stanley Davis, Buck Tucker, Ed Yeargan, Russell Williams and W. C. Christenberry are basking on the beach at Daytona Beach, Fla. All won trips to Florida in contests held by Liberty National Life Insurance Co. Each carried his wife along, so we suppose they are being very good little boys.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Worms

Roundworms go round and round in man, and they also go round the world. According to estimates there are more than 600 million persons in the world infested with worms. It is also estimated that 457 million persons are victims of hookworm disease; most of these are in tropic or sub-tropic areas. In cool climates, the roundworm is found chiefly in children, but it infests people of all ages. There are tapeworms and threadworms, whipworms and seatworms, pinworms and hookworms.

When the egg containing the larva of the worm is swallowed by man, it hatches in the small intestine. The larva then goes to the liver and then to the lungs. Later it goes up the treachea, or windpipe, and down to the stomach by the esophagus, which is the food passage. From there it goes again to the small intestine for what is hoped to be a long, lazy life. A person usually harbors from four to six of the adult parasites, and frequently the number is much greater.

The beef tapeworm is one of the most common of tapeworms to infest persons in the United States. A person becomes infested by eating meat of infested animals, which meat has not been cooked or has not been cookew well enough. The larva of the worm are buried in the muscular tissues of cattle and thus they are passed on into man's body. If beef is frozen solid the tapeworm larva die within six days, and such parasites cannot withstand ordinary cold storage of three week's duration.

Symptoms of tapeworm infestation include abnormal appetite, anemia, abdominal pain, nausea, vomiting, and a desire to pick and scratch. If you have or suspect that you have any of the worm infestations, see your physician so that you may be cured.

Child Training At Home

Our last subject was Child Training; but this time I want to mention some things that a child should be taught in the home. Every child should know the meaning of discipline. Not a harsh punishment, but a firm discipline which will give any child a head-and-shoulder advantage over those who do not have it, when they start to public school, and even throughout life. If the child learns in the home what the words "Yes" and "No" means, it becomes a foundation stone for happy and successful living.

A. T. HICKMAN

The child should learn in the home to work. They might never learn to like to work, but every child should learn to do some things with their hands, and that while they are growing up in the home. If children are to be successful men and women when they grow up they must learn to work. Learn the principle of working for what they get. Know the principle of earning their way in life. The wise old saying is still true, "The idle mind is the devil's work shop." Every child growing up should have plenty to do.

The child should be taught self-reliance. I do not mean they should be taught to be "bullies," but they should be taught to stand on their own feet, not come crying every time they get a bump and a bruise. Every child should be taught to be independent in spirit and action; to take his place in the world with his head up, and if he is defeated in one game, get up and go again, more determined to win than ever before, but only with honest and fair play. Children should be taught the value of money, and how to earn it, and how to spend it wisely. Some parents are doing their child harm by giving them a free weekly allowance, with no teaching of responsibility as to how and what to spend the money for. The result is, the child grows up with no appreciation of the value of things, knowing nothing of the worth of a dollar. Children will learn early in life to earn their way if the parents will only find something for them to do. When a child does something for what he gets he feels more like a human being that has earned his way in life.

Last, but not least, every child should be taught good manners in the home. A little more old fashioned mannerism of the horse and buggy days would go a long way to sweeten the path-way of life for many people. Most people will have to learn sooner or later how to get along with other people; this lesson should be taught the child in the home. Children can be, and will be, polite and considerate to others if they are taught to be. The home must train the child along this line if it does its full duty to the child. Many grown-ups today missed such training when they were young, and it greatly tells on them now. Yes, friends, politeness, courtesy and good manners are learned at home, if they are learned at all. AMEN.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Chilton County News:

Will you please allow me a small space for a few lines?

Well, I hear that there is about 13 of our state senators who have lined up against Folsom's program.

Now they know that his program was the peoples' program, and why these office holders can turn their backs on the people who trusted them to work for us is beyond me. It reminds me of what Isaiah says about this same class. He says, "Because you have said we have made a covenant with death and with hell are we at agreement."

For we have made lies our refuge and under falsehoods have we hid ourselves. Friends, did you ever see a clearer cut of death and hell? Yes, death and hell is a line-up of wicked principles.

You can apply hell to anything that is sin. This is also the first death. Now the Bible teaches a second death. The final death of the soul which is called a lake of fire.

Now this lake of fire is not called hell but death and hell are to be destroyed together with the wicked. Now to escape this second death we must be resurrected from the first death and hell that Isaiah spoke of. John spoke of this first resurrection. He says, "Blessed and holy is he that has part in the first resurrection of such the second death has no power over him." If we expect our soul to live we must depart from death and hell beneath.

Jesus says, "What would it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his soul; or What would he give in exchange for his soul?"

Death is the penalty or wages for wickedness and not hell. For hell is the results of wickedness, especially caused by cruel and oppresive leadership.

Respectfully,
J. H. JACKSON,
Route 1, Clanton, Ala.

Dear Editor:

About two months ago, our teachers, Mrs. Haywood, asked the pupils if they would like to plant a little garden. The answer was "Yes," of course.

The boys plowed this ground very good. Then they got compost and put in the rows.

Mrs. Haywood took some of the school's money and bought turnipseed, lettuce, radish and some flower seed. The boys planted the seeds. Then we put up posts around the garden and tied a rope around the posts.

Now the girls are getting little radishes out of the garden and also lettuce. It won't be long until we will be getting turnips, too.

Dear Editor:

My subject is "Parking Meters."

When parking meters were being considered in Clanton, I had occasion to write my impressions on meters which were not favorable to the idea. My judgment was in part based upon a visit in Cornelia, Ga., where meters were a new item about a year ago.

Now comes an item from a Northeast Georgian (May 5th, 1949), of Cornelia which states that the "Commissioners Vote Unanimously to Throw Out The Parking Meters. . . .To terminate the contract with the parking meter company and notify the company to remove the meters at once." It was up to the city to accept or reject the meters by April 30th, the last day of one year trial period. Merchants who had parking meters in front of their places showed them 6 to 1 against them. Plans are to set up a system of one to two hour parking.

I am watching the results in Clanton with much interest. Downtown streets seem deserted and in favor of parking outside the meter zones. People seem to choose to walk a block or two rather than feed the meters.

Yours with best wishes,
I. ALVA HART.

FISHING CONTEST NEWS

As the Alabama Power Company Fishing Contest enters the second month, we find that all the divisions have been filled except the Striped Bass and the Bream. Two nice one point Bream have tied for first place but there are no second and third places. We will hear from these divisions a great deal more as the fly season approaches.

Some whoppers were entered during the past week. J. B. Kelly's Store reports: Lovick Allen's 4 pound and 12 ounce Small Mouth Bass caught on Lake Jordan. We expect to hear more from this fisherman—he's mighty handy with his casting rod.

G. H. Kelly's Cross Roads Store reports: The largest Large Mouth Bass yet reported, 6 pounds and 12 ounces caught by Emmitt Browder in Lake Mitchell. Browder missed on the first cast but hit pay dirt on his second try in the same place. This catch was made in about 12 inches of water and will be hard to beat out of first place.

L. D. Eubanks tied for first place with Lovick Allen in the Small Mouth Bass division 4 pounds and 12 ounce caught in Cargle Creek, Lake Mitchell.

E. G. Johnson's Store reports: J. L. Adam's 2 pound 9 ounce Small Mouth Bass caught in Lake Mitchell.

W. D. Culp's Store reports: Another tie for first honors in the Bream division caught by N. W. Loving, 1 pound and 0 ounces.

The contest is becoming more interesting each week as entries from the Weigh-in Stations roll in.

The safety comment of the day is: In rough water cut across the troughs of the waves. Avoid running in the troughs. If necessary to reach your objective, cut directly or obliquely to a protecting shore or to reach a position from which you can run home safely.—"SAFE OUTBOARDING."

Yours truly,

The Sunday School had a very good attendance Sunday with 130 present. God is blessing the untiring efforts of the good pastor, Rev. Gilbert.

POULTRYMEN TO PLAY AT SHOCCO SPRINGS

Alabama poultrymen and their families gathering at Shocco Springs for the Alabama Poultry Institute will not only obtain the latest poultry information but will enjoy a vacation too.

O. V. Hill, county agent, Talladega, and chairman of the recreation committee, states that everyone from the youngest to the oldest will be able to take part in the games and sports at the meeting to be held May 31 thru June 2.

Play facilities will be available throughout the period for children not taking part in the meetings and for everyone when meetings are not in session.

Included in the activities provided for this group will be swimming, hiking, softball, tennis, horseshoes, dominoes, checkers and handicraft.

Many poultrymen, hatcherymen and members of allied industries will bring their entire families, and all will have fun.

STATE HELPS FARMERS CONTROL HOG CHOLERA

Auburn, Ala. — Alabama's program for combating hog cholera is proving popular.

Since the program was launched by the State Department of Agriculture and Industries, Montgomery, only 18 months ago, over 200,000 hogs and pigs have been vaccinated, reports Dr. R. S. Sugg, state veterinarian and dean of the A.P.I. School of Veterinary Medicine.

Under an act of the 1947 Legislature 7,323,124 cc's of serum, 356,891 cc's of virus, and 110,259 cc's of vaccine have been furnished hog growers by the State of Alabama.

All Alabama farmers may obtain free vaccination material for weanling pigs eight to 10 weeks old that weigh under 400 pounds. For hogs above this age and weight, the material is available at cost.

Hogs are treated by administrators appointed in each county. A charge, paid by the owners, is made for this service. At present there are 90 administrators working in 49 of the 67 counties in the state.

In this program the State Department of Agriculture and the state veterinarian have the cooperation of the A.P.I. Extension Service and State Department of Vocational Agriculture.

If interested in this program, contact the local county agent or any vocational agriculture teacher.

When sewing plastic fabric, place tissue paper under the material and stitch through both to avoid cutting or tearing. Remove the paper carefully after stitching.

WHAT TO DO WITH A SURPLUS OF BUTTER

Auburn, Ala. — Those who own home freezers may want to freeze butter while it is plentiful.

Lavada Curtis, A.P.I. Extension Service food preservation specialist, reminds us that frozen butter will stay fresh for six months or longer if it is of good quality.

Poor butter deteriorates even when frozen. Another important fact is that butter from pasteurized sweet cream will keep better than that made from sour cream.

Before freezing butter, wash it thoroughly to remove all of the milk. While wrapping butter in parchment paper, press out all air remaining between paper and butter; then pack butter in wax cartons. Ordinary household wax paper is not satisfactory. It will not keep the air out which may cause the butter to become rancid. Store butter at 0 degrees F.

HOW TO MAKE UP YOUR MIND ABOUT VACUUM CLEANER

Whether homemakers should choose the straight suction vacuum cleaner or the motor-driven cylinder type depends on the kind of cleaning to be done, according to Stella Mitchell, A.P.I. Extension Service home management specialist.

She points out that the straight suction cleaner is good for removing surface dirt from rugs, sweeping bare floors, and cleaning draperies and upholstered furniture. The motor-driven cylinder type is especially good for cleaning rugs with a heavy nap. In addition to the suction action, it has a rotating roll inside the nozzle lips that beats and sweeps the rug and loosens imbedded dirt.

Repair frayed or worn electric cords, but if they are beyond repair, throw them away. Avoid overloading them and protect the cords from friction.

HOG GROWERS SWING TO MORE MEAT, LESS LARD

Auburn, Ala. — Because exports of lard are off and peanut oil, soybean oil, and cottonseed oil have teamed up against lard, Alabama hog growers are swinging to an intermediate-type hog.

G. B. Phillips, A.P.I. Extension Service hog specialist, explains that such a hog has more meat than the lardy-type. To get this type hog, breed sows to purebred, intermediate-type boars; then, feed all pigs intended for market or slaughter a balanced ration including green grazing.

RAGGED PEACH TREES

The ragged appearance of peach trees this spring is due mostly to the extremely mild weather we had the past winter. Leaf buds require just a little more cold than the fruit buds, and some blooms may have set fruit which will be lost later because there are not enough leaves to supply the food to make them stick.

PLANNING WINTER GRAZING

When plans for the year are made in the spring, it's a good time to decide what land will be used for winter grazing. When this is done, farmers will be sure of having some land ready in the summer on which to plant winter grazing crops.

Stains on glass cooking utensils can be removed by soaking in water containing baking soda.

NEW DISCOVERY

Less Needle For Diabetics

CHICAGO.—A new combination of standard insulin gives persons with severe diabetes more freedom from the hypodermic needle and more social freedom, a Northwestern university medical specialist has said.

The mixture uses two portions of "regular" insulin to one portion of "protamine" insulin and is known as "2.1 mixture."

The Northwestern associate professor of medicine who led in its development and testing over a six-year period is Dr. Arthur R. Colwell, who is president of the Chicago Diabetes association.

Dr. Colwell stated that he had tested the mixture on more than 500 severe diabetics and that 90 per cent of them needed only one injection a day in contrast to three or more injections sometimes necessary for severe diabetics. Like other insulins, the new mixture may be injected by the patient.

Program for Patients

The new combination usually is administered in the morning, although the most severe cases require two divided doses a day.

Under the older system thousands of diabetics were obliged to give themselves as many as 20,000 injections in twenty years. With the new mixture the figure is cut to 365 per year, or only 7,300 in 20 years.

The 2.1 mixture is more effective in its results, Dr. Colwell said Because it provides a smoother balance between insulin action and body utilization of eaten food it avoids two opposite situations, he added. In one, reactions to insulin are felt during the night when blood sugar falls too low because of insulin action. In the other, blood sugar levels is too high during the daytime because of slow insulin action.

These faults in insulin therapy were discovered after experience by severe diabetics with protamine insulin, the first long-acting insulin to eliminate frequent injections. In insulin of this type a simple protein is mixed with insulin to slow it down.

Some Old Disadvantages

However, severe diabetics sometimes suffered unconsciousness and convulsions during the night when they were using it. During the day action of the insul was inadequate to let the body handle normal food intake.

Th biological name for the common species of wild turkey found in Alabama is "Carthartes aura septentrionalis."

U.S. War Dead Burial Sites May Not Open To Visitors Until '50

PARIS. — Permanent burial of thousands of American World War II dead in 10 western European cemeteries will be accomplished by the end of this year, but the actual completion and opening of the interment sites to visitors may not come until a late date, said a U. S. Army spokesman here.

The American graves registration command has responsibility for the permanent burials. When this phase is finished the jurisdiction of the grounds will be handed over to the American Battle Monuments commission, which is the civilian agency that cares for World War I cemeteries and memorials.

Somewhat identical arrangements are being made for the Pacific and Mediterranean war areas, where the two government units are carrying out a similar program. In Europe, both have headquarters in Paris.

Plans submitted by private architects for grave markers, chapels, and other cemetery buildings are now being studied in Washington by the battle monuments commission. Until the work is completed, the cemeteries will remain closed to the public.

This means that many Americans who planned to visit graves of sons or husbands in the summer of 1949 may have to wait until 1950 or longer.

Since last September 20, when the last of the original 37 temporary World War II cemeteries in western Europe (not including Italy) was closed for disinterment operations, visitors have been prohibited at the burial sites.

A total of 61,861 of 147,240 bodies recovered in the European theater have been returned to the United States at the request of next of kin. Because hundreds of replies are still to come from relatives, the Army is unable to determine the number of bodies that will be left permanently in Europe.

Frenchman, Officially Dead, Finds He Has no Home Left

PARIS.—Dead men have no homes, as Roger Demont, 35, discovered when he opened the door of his home in Saint-Placard, southern France.

There was his wife, Juliette, whom he had not seen for seven years. She stared at him, shocked. "Oh, it's you, is it?" "Yes, I'm here," he replied. But Juliette shook her head. "You are dead — there is no place for you here; you cannot come back." Roger kissed his little daughter, now 8, and sadly went away.

A French soldier taken prisoner in wartime, Demont escaped, came home, committed a theft, spent six months in jail, was forced to go to Germany to work, ended up in Russia, and was not heard from after July, 1944. He was declared legally dead. Recently, his wife became engaged to another man.

Man Who Regained Sight Says It's Like New Life

NEW YORK.—A 40-year-old man who regained his sight after two years says "it was like being born again."

Carl Klein, a naturalist, blind for two years, awoke one morning with "a terrific headache."

"I saw dots flashing before my eyes," he told newsmen. "The dots merged into circles and, as the circles broke, vision came back to my eyes.

"I was afraid and did not know what to expect. I realized I saw light and I went to the window and gradually street lights took shape."

He had been a student at the Brooklyn Industrial School for the Blind for about two months. A school official said a blood clot affecting an optic nerve might have caused the blindness. He said Klein had recovered about one-half normal vision.

Klein's first wish was "to go to a park and be able to look at trees, birds and nature."

Abbeville is one of the oldest settlements in southeastern Alabama. Although the town became the county seat of Henry County in 1833, records show that it was established by pioneers many years before that date.

ALABAMA HIGHLIGHTS

Under the State Constitution adopted in 1819 the adjutant general of the militia was elected by the legislature and was not appointed by the governor as he is today. Under the old law the adjutant general was elected by a joint vote of both houses.

The "Alabama," the Confederacy's mightiest battleship of the Civil War, was built in England for only two-hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This figure seems astounding when compared to the cost of building some of the present-day Navy's smaller craft.

In 1873 Birmingham was almost wiped out by an epedemic of cholera.

The first Alabama Day to be observed in the state was on December 14, 1899. The observance is held to commemorate the day that Alabama was admitted to the Union, December 14, 1819.

Poodle Living With Lioness Is "Top Dog" in Frankfurt

FRANKFURT.—A black poodle with cocky ears is top dog at the Frankfurt zoo. He lives in a cage with a lioness.

Bonzo, about the size of a prewar beef roast, is the roommate of Brigitta, a lioness who could polish him off with one bite. They grew up together. Bonzo's mother was foster mother to the lion cub. That was in 1947. As she grew, Brigitta tolerated the other pups, but took a special liking to Bonzo. When it came time to put Brigitta on a raw meat diet, Bonzo stayed on.

Today, the poodle struts around the cage. Just when Brigitta sends shivers down spectators' backs, Bonzo ruins the act by pawing her playfully. When children stare at the big lioness, Bonzo is likely to chew one of her ears.

Brigitta usually ignores these sallies, but it is hard to be a tawny menace when even a dog don't believe it. On the other hand, the lioness follows standard lion practice of pacing to and fro back of the bars. When Bonzo gets in the way, he is bounced off a restless knee or shouldered into a corner.

The pair form the highlight of a zoo which is coming back rapidly after near destruction in war bombing. The director, Dr. Bernhard Grcimeck, says, "That Bonzo, keeps us busy. Just because he lives with a lion, he thinks he has to eat like one."

Grcimeck had a big problem rebuilding the animal population, almost wiped out in the war. But a little buying and bartering have gone a long way. The zoo now equals most in western Germany.

CLANTON'S TELEPHONES SHOW 257 INCREASE

The next issue of Clanton's telephone directory, which will be delivered in the near future, will carry a new classified section, according to Mr. C. L. Lott, district manager of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Mr. Lott points out that the need for the new classified section is brought about by the increased number of telephones. Records show that during the past year, 257 telephones have been added in Clanton and that in addition to the 1,617 telephones in service here, there are now 599 applications on hand for telephone service.

"We are doing everything possible to give service to all who want it," Mr. Lott said. "And we know that all telephone users will find the new classified telephone directory a convenient source of useful business information. The classified section will be printed on yellow pages and will be similar to those now appearing in directories published for many other cities throughout the country."

The new yellow page section will list the names, addresses and telephone numbers of business telephone subscribers under headings alphabetically arranged [illegible] business [illegible] or service [illegible].

Mr. Leo Bennett of the Van Buren Canning Co., Van Buren, Ark., was a visitor in Thorsby last Monday. He was interested in our Blackberry Association and visited around with several of the growers, and by the way, he bought the first berries that were brought in Monday and hauled them back to his canning plant in Arkansas.

Mrs. Frank Porter spent the week end in Clanton with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Smith.

Messrs. Frank Porter, Fred Honeycutt, Jack Vines and William Hicks spent Saturday and Sunday in Panama City on a fishing trip. They had some nice luck at fishing too.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Patterson of Clanton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marcus.

The strawberry season seems to be going strong just when everyone thought it was about over with. We seem to be having a second crop. Monday was quite a heavy day here, and the berries weer very fine. 621 crates were brought in.

Mr. Farrell Gibbons, an outstanding student at Thorsby Institute, has received a letter from Mr. David Eddy, public relations director of Piedmont College at Demorest, Ga. Mr. Eddy states that he had heard what a splended job Farrell did as President of the recent Christian Life Conference held here, and of the splendid work he is doing at Thorsby Institute. Mr. Eddy has also heard of Farrell's splendid writing and photography and urges him to come to Piedmont College and offers him work as his assistant along with his studies. Leroy left Birmingham Thursday night for New York, and left New York on Friday at 12:30 p.m. and arrived in Copenhagen 24 hours later, Saturday at 12:30 p.m. The cablegram reached Thorsby at 3:50 p.m. Leroy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson sailed for Denmark on Friday, the 6th of May, and a week later Leroy decided that he would make the trip by plane, arrive there ahead of them and meet them at the boat in Copenhagen. They were to arrive there on Monday, the 16th. This was no doubt a big surprise to them, since they knew nothing of his plans. Mr. Peterson, in packing for the trip, forgot his bed room slippers, so Leroy packed them along, and said he would tell his dad that he had come to bring his slippers to him. We are sure this was a happy meeting, and we can't help but wonder just what took place. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson sailed on the Polish ship Batory. This ship made headlines in Sunday's Birmingham News when a write-up appeared on the front page telling of a Commie that had stowed away on this ship and was taken ashore at South Hampton, England. They will probably know nothing of this until they return.

Sports News, Baseball—

Wish we had a real sports writer for this news, since your correspondent has not seen any of our ball games, and therefore, cannot give an interesting account of any of the games.

On Saturday afternoon Randolph played Thorsby at Thorsby, and defeated us by a narrow margin of 7 to 8. Your writer could see a small part of the game from the window where she was working, and she did see John Floyd Mims smack a beautiful homer and saw the outfielder come running almost clear up under the water tank to get the ball. On Sunday the Belcher Lumber Company team came over and played a nice game, and while we won this game, we did not learn the score.

Our Junior Legion team went to Prattville Sunday and played the Junior Legion team there. Mr. Ogburn tried to report on this game, but it seems that we got "licked" so badly that he couldn't even tell how bad. He said that he tried to keep score and when Prattville got to about the 21st score—his pencil wore out and he lost tab. We didn't get "goose egged" however, as we did get four runs. Anyhow, those who witnessed the game had a peck of fun.

Mrs. Horace Williams, Jr., who was badly injured in an auto wreck a week ago, is still in a right serious condition and is at the Central Alabama Hospital in Clanton. It is hoped, however, that she is on the road to recovery. Mr. Williams, though he is not confined to the hospital, is still suffering from his injuries and is at the home of his parents here. We hope these two young people will soon recover.

Blood Testing Attendance Far Below Normal

Only 990 Report On First Day

Dr. E. M. Moore announced that a total of 990 blood tests were taken Monday, May 23rd, the first day of the blood testing program in Chilton County. Although this total fell below the daily average of 1200 bloods expected, Dr. Moore expressed satisfaction with the whole-hearted response of the people.

Mr. W. L. Patton, Field Director for the blood test survey, was in the county the first day of testing and emphasized the fact that these tests were compulsary as provided by an act of the legislature in July, 1943. The law requires all residents of the county between the ages of 14 and 50 who took the test in the survey of the county in 1946, all those who have become 14 years of age since the last survey and all new residents of the county. All persons submitting to the tests are given a white identification card which shows that they have complied with the law. The tests are kept strictly confidential. Persons whose tests show a positive result will be notified by mail to report for futher examination. Treatment will not be required for those who have already received adequate treatment.

This blood testing survey helps the whole community. Those who are helped most are the people who are found with syphilis they did not suspect. If given in time, treatment can save these people from serious results of neglected syphilis which often leads to heart trouble, rheumatism and insanity.

With the blood test now available to all and the new drug penicillin as a treatment syphillis can be eraticated as any other communicable disease.

"A Simple Flower, 'Tis True, But More---- . . . .

The above picture shows Mrs. Jean Chambers, chairman of the Volunteer Hospital Workers in Montgomery, and Mrs. L. A. Lambert, Department Rehabilitation Chairman, assist patients in making poppies.

Saturday, May 28, the American Legion Post No. 6, Clanton, will sponsor a Poppy Sale. We ask each citizen in Chilton County your full cooperation in this sale.

The little red poppy means so much to the hospitalized veteran, when the American Legion Auxiliary workers go into the wards with the poppy-making materials, the eyes of the experienced craftsmen light with joy, and the new ones wonder at their anticipation. If the new ones remain through the next year, they too, will feel the same happy thrill at the sight of the bright crepe paper petals, the incomplete stamen, the green wire stems and the little banners stating that its sale is under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary and that a wounded or disabled veteran of our wars made it.

The veterans are paid one cent for each poppy made. The proceeds derived from this Poppy Sale will be spent in rehabilitation and child welfare in Chilton County.

"A simple flower, 'ti true,
But more—
A symbol of that sacrifice which made and keep us free."

—Mrs. L. A. Lambert, Chairman. Committee: Reese Mullins, Jack Lawrence and Lal Lambert.

THORSBY SENIOR RECITAL WELL ATTENDED

The Senior Recital was held Saturday, May 21st at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium. There was a good size audience there and the program was very enjoyable. The boys quartette sang, accompanied by Robert Owens. There were voice solos by Robert Holley, Farrell Gibbons, Bobby Gibbons, John Heaton, and Bessie Plumlee. The Girls Glee Club also sang very nicely. Many excellent piano selections were played. The recital was under the direction of Mrs. H. S. Petersen.

Jemison Defeats Clanton 4 to 0

In the best game on the Jemison field so far this season, the local independents took the Clanton lads in by the count of 4 to 0, last Saturday nite.

Lefty Thomas tossed up a 3-hitter against the visitors, and struck out 9 men. In the past 18 innings Thomas has allowed a total of 7 hits and 1 run in defeating Thorsby 8-1 on May 17th, and now Clanton 4-0. Striking out a total of 23 men in the 2 games. Not bad pitching in anyone's book.

Smith had previously shut-out the Randolph team for 8 innings on May 19th and M. Scott pitching the 9th inning allowed 1 hit and one run to defeat the Bibb County boys 19 to 1.

In the Clanton game, the fielding gem of the night was made when Seals, stellar shortstop of Clanton literally robbed J. Cobb of an extra base wallop by making a diving one-handed stab of a hot liner in the 4th inning. No better play will be seen at Jemison this season.

K. Cobb of Jemison, got on base every time to bat, rapping out three straight hits and once in the 8th inning by an error.

Varden, Jemison third baseman polked one a country mile over the left center field fence for the first score of the game. For his fine performance at third; and his homer; and Thomas shut-out pitching the local patrons made up a nice purse for the two boys who, as the other players, are getting no pay for their efforts to bring good baseball to Jemison.

V. Scott and Ellison Jemison, each poled out a triple and Thomas hit a double. Clanton's only real rap was a two-base blow to left center in the 3rd inning by Popwell.

The game was hard fought, all the way through, by both teams, but the visitors were just not able to solve the slants of Thomas, who was clipping the corners of the plate in de-luxe style.

The Jemison team was slated to meet Clanton last night, (Wed.) on the latter's field. The results of this game will be published next week.

In defeating Clanton Saturday night, it was Jemison's fifth straight win. Black Creek, Marvel, Thorsby, Randolph and Clanton were the victims. In these five games the locals scored 51 runs against the visiting teams 15.

Next Saturday night, May 28th, the flashy little team from Belle Ellen comes to Jemison for the 8th League game.

-H Club Boys And Girls Held Annual Rally May Sixth

ilton County 4-H Club boys and staged their annual 4-H Club on Friday, May 6th, with a record number attending. Approximately 1,000 boys and girls with their local leaders from the thirty seven (37) clubs from all over the county attended.

The days activities opened with the 4-H Club pledge led by Johnny Franks, Vice-President of the County Council, followed by a devotional by the Reverend Carlisle Miner.

A beauty contest in which boys were dressed as girls and girls were dressed as boys was held. Ronald Smith of Thomas Jr. School and Paula Farley of Thorsby School were awarded [illegible] in the [illegible] "Girls" division. Mell [illegible] from Marvel [illegible] ings School and Maxine Arledge of Mt. Pleasant School were awarded prizes in the "Boys" Jr. and Sr. division.

Athletic contests featuring boys and girls from the various clubs represented comprised [illegible] [illegible] 4-H [illegible] Boockholdt, Chilton County Superintendent of Education, acted as general chairman of the athletic events.

Mt. Pleasant and Cooper schools earned the largest number of points in the athletic events and tied for first place. They shared honors in leading the parade through the business district of Clanton. Third, fourth and fifth places were earned by Thomas Jr. Thorsby and Vermont schools respectively who had the honor of appearing in this order in the parade.

4-H Club members brought their own lunches which were spread picnic style during the noon hour. Immediately following lunch a treasure hunt was held. Local merchants cooperated by furnishing prizes to those children who found the lucky eggs during the hunt. These prizes were awarded at the end of the day's program with each child going to the respective merchants to receive the gift. Home demonstration club women contacted the merchants to obtain these [illegible] eggs while the contest were being held.

The Mt. Pleasant and Cooper clubs, who tied with the same number of points, were awarded fifteen dollars ($15.000) each in cash prizes for placing first in the athletic events. The Mt. Pleasant clubs have decided to apply this sum toward the purchase of basketball uniforms for their school while Cooper will spend their's for some worthy cause also.

The activities of the day were under the direction of Miss Mattie Jo Barber, Home Demonstration Agent, and Mr. J. D. Sellers, Assistant County Agent, who conduct the 4-H Club work in the County.

JEMISON WINS OVER MARVEL 10-7

The Jemison Independents won an exciting game over Marvel last Saturday night by the score of 10 to 7. Marvel had defeated the local team in the first league game 5 to 4. This evens the win-loss column. After losing three straight games, two to Pelham and one to Fairfield, the Jemison boys came back to win over a husky Black Creek team from Birmingham last Thursday night, 7 to 1; then this, the 6th league game from Marvel. In the Blue Circuit Division this gives Jemison three victories against 3 losses. In the off-league games Jemison has won one, while losing three.

Lefty Thomas spun a 6-hitter at Black Creek last Thursday night, winning 7 to 1. Snutty Smith, another southpaw, yielded 10 hits to Marvel, but kept them well scattered. Joe Frank Cobb and Varden rapped out 3 hits each against the slants of Lawley from Marvel. Cobb had a triple and a double and scored twice; Varden scored three times.

Lucas, third sacker for Marvel, was a fly in the ointment against the locals. He went to bat five times; got on base every time; slapped a home-run into deep center; drove in three runs; made 6 assists and three put-outs; scored 1 run; and played errorless ball.

McNeill, husky right fielder for Jemison, was conked on the head in the 7th inning by one of Lawley's fast balls but was revived quickly, completing the game.

The Jemison team has been greatly strengthened the past two weeks with the addition of Eugene Edwards as Shortstop, and J. Cobb as Second Baseman and Comer in Left Field.

Tonight, Thursday, May 19th, Randolph comes to Jemison for the first meeting of these two teams; then on Saturday night, May 21st, our old friend and Athletic Rival, Clanton, moves up to tangle with the locals.

Anyone looking for a good baseball game, flavored with red pepper and hot rivalry, don't miss seeing the Clanton and Jemison clubs swinging at each other. They've furnished us with good shows in the past, and the boys of today are trying to uphold this tradition. So be out at the Jemison Park Saturday night at 8 o'clock to see these 1949 editions slug it out.—R. B. Johnson, Sports Writer.

CRAMTON BOWL BOND DRIVE FOR IMPROVING STADIUM

The drive for $50,000 to improve Montgomery's Cramton Bowl goes in to its last phase this week, as general chairman William Jennings called upon citizens of central and south Alabama to support the public campaign.

Goal of the drive is to sell 500 $100 improvement bonds to the public, in order to make Cramton Bowl ready for bigtime football attractions. New lights, new entrances and exits, and re-sodding of the playing field are included in the plans for an improved stadium.

W. B. Paterson, president of Montgomery's Public Athletic Board, said that the success of the overall plan to make Montgomery a sports mecca for the entire state, hinges upon the current drive. "Without these improvements," he said, "Cramton Bowl cannot attract the big games—but once we have made the stadium ready for such attractions, we can go ahead with our larger plans for an outstanding recreation area available to all persons in Montgomery and surrounding counties."

Paterson stressed the fact that Cramton Bowl bonds are 3 per cent revenue bonds, due December 1, 1978. Money has already been deposited in a Montgomery bank for payment of the first year's interest.

"This is your last chance to purchase bonds which will entitle you to buy preferential seats at Cramton Bowl," he said. "Each $100 bond purchased during the present campaign shall carry with it a right to purchase one preferential ticket at the regular price for each reserved seat attraction, in the west stands of Cramton Bowl between the 20-yard lines up until 15 days before each attraction."

Applications for these bonds should be forwarded together with checks or money orders to the Montgomery Public Athletic Board, P. O. Box 321, Montgomery.

To Our Seniors

We want to take the opportunity this week to pass on some advice to our seniors. We doubt seriously whether or not the advice will be taken but should just a little of it stick good will come from it.

First of all, we would say to young men and women, about to begin life for themselves, that they should guard against the mistake that sets the making of money as the first objective of human activity. It is all well and good to want, and have, money, but there are far more important things in life.

Secondly, we would urge them to seek an understanding of the expression that happiness is to be found within themselves, rather than in other people and external forces.

In the third place, we would suggest that, in their youthful zeal and enthusiasm, they remember that the world is an old place, populated by an infant race and that human relationships and customs are not to be lightly challenged or thrown into the ash can.

For the fourth and last piece of advice, at least for now, we would induce them to seriously set their own values on all things. Once convinced of the true valuation of anything, or the truth of any principal, we strongly urge them to live their life on the basis of their own honest appraisal, regardless of the criticism of others or the customs formerly followed by their people.

This is our advice to the young men and women who are graduating this week from our high schools and colleges and taking their place in the world of men and women.

Our hope for a better world is in their hands.

Destroy The Weeds

This is the time of year that sufferers from hay fever and asthma unite in a fervent prayer that the authorities that be will get busy and cut down the ragweed and other growths which cause them so much discomfort.

Sunday's weather forecast in our morning paper stated: "No rain for the past 48 years". Some dry-spell, huh?

Food Is Important

There are millions of people in the United States who pay more attention to the feeding of poultry and livestock than they do to the food their children consume.

Undoubtedly, some of these people reside in Chilton County. For one reason or another, including lack of information and sometimes lack of money, children grow up undernourished and ill-fed, with their weakened bodies inviting disease. If they escape death, their bodies and general health will present living testimony in years to come of the ignorance of their parents in regard to food.

Every family diet should include milk, meat, bread, vegetables and fruit. Every housewife who reads this article should check up on the meals served to her family during the past week. What the food-fixer should ask is, "Was the nutritive material properly divided into protein, fats, carbohydrates and mineral matter? Was the food properly prepared in palatable form? Did it have variety? Was it sound from a heath standpoint, taking into consideration the needs of the various members of the family?"

RURAL LIFE

Last Sunday was the Nation's Rural Life Sunday. A day that Rural Life as we have it in America was given special recognition. The various rural organizations were made mention of, such as the 4-H Clubs, Home Demonstration Clubs, and others which have made the Rural Life of America rich with happy living.

Thanks to God for the privilege I had of growing up in a Rural Community, among the growing crops of the farm, and among the livestock and the barnyard fowls. Where we got up in the morning at 4 o'clock, daylight or dark, that was all the same with us. At our house there was a time to all things. A time to sleep, and a time to rise and shine, and believe me, we shone as long as the sun did. In those days any one was glad to move from the rural community into town, but things have changed for the last quarter of a century. We are discovering the importance and happiness that goes with a rural life. Today any one is proud to be living in a rural community, that is, if that community has what it takes to make living worthwhile.

A. T. HICKMAN

Of course there must be the modern convenience, and good churches, and good schools. Here the rural homes of our nation are the happy homes. Rural homes of America are important because they supply much of the life blood for the rest of the country. Some of the greatest men and women of all times were born and reared in rural communities, and never lived in the city until they were grown. Most of the criminals of our country were born and grew up in the larger towns and cities.

The words of Thomas Jefferson may be true after all, "Those who labor in the earth are the chosen people of God, whose breasts H has made His peculiar deposit for substantial genuine virture."

And Dr. eaman Knapp contributed a rich saying toward the rural home in these words, "The rural home, be it ever so humble, with parents of gentle culture, is nature's great university, more richly endowed than Harvard or Yale."

It is true in the rural homes a growing child learns much common sense that so many people are void of today. George Washington said, "I would rather be back on my farm than to be seated on the throne of the entire world." This was the appreciation of a rural home of a great man.

LEAD POISONING

Plumbism, or lead poisoning as it is more commonly called, has been a leading industrial disease for many years. Symptoms include weakness and convulsions, nausea, vomiting, abdominal colic, and nervousness. The lead, which may set up this poisoning process, may enter the body by swallowing or inhaling, through the skin or thru hair dyes or cosmetics.

Some two hundred years ago Sir George Baker of Devonshire, England performed a service to his countrymen when he showed that Devonshire colic was due to lead in the cider made in that district. Many people denounced the doctor for criticizing that good Devonshire cider and many went right on drinking it, even though they suffered colic.

Children are more susceptible to plumbism than are adults and react quickly to small doses of lead. Often they are made ill from gnawing painted toys and furniture of the cheaper kinds whose paint contains lead. However, the symptoms of lead poisoning in children are not recognized because children are frequently subject to convulsions and gastrointestinal disturbances.

There are many industrial jobs in which an accumulation of lead in the body may be obtained. Exposure to lead occurs in lead mining, smelting and refining, handling and fabrication of metallic lead, manufacturing of lead salts, storage batteries and paints, and in tree spraying. The tetraethyl in gasoline may go thru the skin and set up plumbism, and inhaling lead fumes may lead to poisoning. Sometimes plumbers develop lead poisoning from plumbing with lead pipes.

If your occupation demands that you be around lead, be very careful to keep from being poisoned. Once a poison has been set up within your body, see your physician to be sure of what is causing the trouble and follow his directions in combating the condition.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

The auditor doth hunt with glee,
In search for missing money.
Let not his finger point to me,
Cause brother, that ain't funny.

The new management at Thrifty Store started off with a bang, so far as lowering the cost on merchandise was concerned. Mr. Weed, local manager, is offering many bargains there and has made many improvements. You'll have to go by and meet the new owners of the Thrifty Store.

It's never a dull moment where Clantonites are concerned these days. If one thing isn't torn up, another is. They're at work on Sixth Street now between Second Avenue South and the Montgomery Highway. The new bridge is at last finished and open to traffic. The contractors are paving to the gutters on several streets about town is why you run into barricades so often. It's inconvenient but will be worth it. Now when they get our street or highway through town widened, which won't be long, maybe things will quiet down for awhile and we can enjoy our many improvements.

Did you know that Clanton was going to have another new business? Yep, that's the rumor. Comes pretty straight, too. It's going to be an antique shoppe. Probably be located down around South Clanton somewhere. Stranger from over Georgia is opening the new place just after the first of June.

You'll not find a better worker than Jakie Teel when it comes to helping with civic entertainments and the like. Not too many days ago, however, Jakie got enough when after working all afternoon doing some temporary wiring at the High School Gym for the Grammar School May Festival, he went back that night and found all of the installed plugs torn out and plans changed. Right then and there, Jakie said he was through — never again, he said. Last week Mrs. Henry Jones presented her pupils in recital at the First Baptist Church. It took a great deal of work to get things ready and many, many flowers were taken to the church for decorating. And who was right on top of the heap, working like a dog? Why, you guessed it, of course. It was Jakie Teel.

Work has started on the Peach Festival's Third Annual Edition of the Program. The Committee Chairmen, Jeff Miller and Howard Strickland, say that it is going to be the biggest and best Festival Program yet. Howard and Jeff want to produce a program that will leave a healthy bank account for the Festival Committee next year to start on. And they will. Both of the chairmen are young and ambitious and know what they want and are willing to work for it. That, of course, is what it takes — plenty of working for it.

We can tell you from experience that it is much cheaper to go ahead and put a nickel into the parking meters than to hope you get back before the penny runs out. The other day we had two pennies and we were sure we would be, into, and out of, the courthouse before near that much time was out. But we didn't. We got into a long winded conversation with "Red" Sparkman, and it cost us a "Buck." When we returned to the car our once good friend —he ain't any more— Ed Littlejohn had presented us with a nice new parking ticket. It's the most we ever paid for something that we didn't want and had no earthly use for.

We are sorry to hear of the hospitalization of one of Clanton and Chilton County's more prominent citizens. We are talking of Mrs. Mamie C. Smith. We understand she was returned home this week but upon advice of her physician she will take it a bit easier and stay a little quieter than has been her habit. We'll miss seeing her about the streets of Clanton visiting friends — which is practically everybody—but we feel that she can enjoy a good many years of useful living yet by being careful. We're glad her sickness is no worse than it is and look forward to seeing her soon.

We have said again and again, that we would say nothing about the auditors' work at the courthouse until a report has been made by them. Under pressure though, we must break our word and say that if folks would wait until concrete evidence were shown them instead of listening to rumors, and gossip, about what awful things have been going on it would be much better for all concerned. If things are amiss, and someone is guilty of wrongdoing, we'll be the first to say they should be punished. But, for goodness sake, let's not be a party to so many idle rumors about awful things that have been going on until we know the facts..

NEW HARMONY

Services were pretty good this week end. Our pastor was not able to be with us on account of a bad leg. We wish to ask evervone to be much in prayer for him, as this affliction has been on him for a long time, and it looks as though he won't be able to walk again except the Lord undertakes.

Bro. Oliver and Bro. Edgar Littleton brought the message Saturday night; Bro. Willie Littleton Sunday and Bro. Thomas Smith Sunday night.

We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Miner with us Sunday and invite them back.

Master Billie Littleton is back in the hospital with his leg as the bones did not grow back. Latest reports are that they are growing back and doing fine.

deGraffenried Makes Statement

April 19, 1949.

Statement of Honorable Edward de Graffenried, a Representative from the State of Alabama, before the Senate Committee on Appropriations in behalf of appropriations for the construction of Tombigbee-Tennessee connecting waterway:

It is my belief that the proposed junction of the Tennessee waterway system with the Tombigbee waterway system by a navigable connecting canal would greatly improve our entire system of inland waterways, extending the benefits of relatively inexpensive water transportation not only to the locality through which it would pass, but also providing for great savings in time and money for through transportation between the North Central States and the seaports of the Eastern Gulf Coast.

Under present transportation facilities, freight bound by water from the Gulf Coast to the central distributing point at Cairo, Ill., must be routed upstream on the Mississippi River against heavy water current. If the proposed connecting cahal becomes a reality, this same freight could be routed through slack water on the Tombigbee-Tennessee waterway; in addition to the obvious advantage of slack-water travel, there would often be an actual saving in mileage.

An improvement in the system of inland waterways in the area in question would provide an excellent means of distributing scarce foreign imports once they have reached the Gulf Coast seaports. The Tombigbee-Tennessee waterway would be especially useful in serving the atomic energy plants located at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and would thus figure substantially in our program for National Defense. I am confident that the completion of this waterway project would bring about a stimulation of business which would affect our entire country and which would result in a general improvement in social and economic conditions.

I ask the consideration of the Committee in authorizing adequate funds to begin this worthy project.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: On May 20th, the senate passed a bill on the recommendation of the Committee on Appropriations authorizing $2,500,000 to begin this project and fixing its total estimated Federal cost at a sum of $16,935,000. The House passed the bill with this appropriation in it before it went to the Senate.)

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our appreciation to everyone who lent a helping hand during the illness and death of our husband and father J. B. Crane.

We also thank the friends and rela- for the pretty flowers they gave and the Liberty Hill Quartet for the beautiful songs they rendered.

May God's richest blessings be upon you all.—The Family.

As the Spring rains began to ease up and Summer sets in, fishing is bound to be good. Lakes Lay, Mitchell and Jordan are clearing rapidly and it looks like the fish are going to be mighty busy dodging hooks.

The weigh-in stations of the Alabama Power Company Fishing Contest have been pretty busy this week. J. B. Kelly's Store reports: Mrs. L. C. Merrell of Montgomery caught a nice 9 ounce Bream on Lake Jordan with a pole line and minnow.

H. R. Evans' Store reports: A Striped Bass that weighs 1 pound was caught by Mrs. Claudia Grant near Shady Nook on Lake Jordan. The catch was made with a black river runt. C. B. Beasley, Jr., picked up a fine 5 pound Large Mouth Bass on Lake Jordan with a buck tail fly and spinner. Edwin Sanford had good luck with a hula popa on Lake Jordan when he caught a 4 pound and 9 ounce Large Mouth Bass. Mrs. Louise Lake is the new leader in the Large Mouth Bass Division with her 6 pound and 15 ounce catch. Mrs Lake fished on Shoal Creek, Lake Jordan and used a rod, reel and darter.

G. H. Kelley's Cross Roads Store reports: T. A. Wall of Equality caught a 4 pound and 8 ounce Small Mouth Bass on Pennymotly Creek, Lake Mitchell with a cane pole, line and live minnow. O. E. Merchant, Jr., of Birmingham caught a Small Mouth Bass on Hatchet Creek, Lake Mitchell that weighed 4 pounds and 6 ounces, artificial bait was used.

Ferguson's Store reports: Mr J. M. Nelson is new leader in the Bream Division, weight 1 pound and 15 ounces caught on Paint Creek, Lake Lay. We understand this grandpappy Bream gave Mr. Nelson some entertainment before he was subdued.

Paul Burton's Service Station reports: Mr. H. S. Foster of Birmingham caught a nice Small Mouth Bass that weighed 3 pounds and 4 ounces. The catch was made on Spring Creek, Lake Lay.

As the weather continues to grow warmer the Bream and Bass will be heard from in larger numbers so keep the entries rolling in. We want to record as many catches possible and prove the well known fact that, "The Coosa Provides the South's Finest Fishing."

Safety comment of the day: Obey bad weather warnings. Don't stay out at a dangerous distance after nature's radio warns you to get underway for home. A black squall (thunder shower) can always be dangerous.—"Safe Outboarding."

6000 PLACES TO FISH!

There are today in Alabama 6,000 more good fishing places than there were a few years ago. They're not on Alabama's great streams, nor on the creeks that feed them. Nor are they on Alabama's famed Gulf Coast. They're on farms!

They're the result of the experiments of the Agricultural Experiment Station of Polytechnic Institute at Auburn where it was learned that fish can be grown as a farm crop! A crop growing usually on that part of a farm with little productive value.

A farm pond offers these advantages:

1. Food and recreation
2. Profit from the sale of fishing privileges
3. A means of controlling gully-washers, and of storing the otherwise wasted water for stock and for irrigation during dry seasons

The Extension Service of A. P. I. will, through your county agent, give you information about farm fish ponds and their profit possibilities.

WAYS OF CONTROLLING INTERNAL PARASITES

Seven steps to control internal parasites which will help insure healthy livestock gains and high production this spring and summer are offered farmers by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

"Parasite invasions cut livestock profits by millions of dollars," the Foundation warns. To curb these losses in 1949, farmers are advised as follows:

"If a check-up shows the presence of parasites, have animals treated with an anti-parasitic compound before turning them out to summer pasture.

"Use clean pasture, and practice rotation if possible. A clean pasture is one not grazed last year by the species of livestock that will occupy it this year.

"Dispose of refuse piles that may harbor parasites, fence off or drain low swampy areas where young stock are likely to pick up parasites, provide a clean water supply, and avoid overstocking pastures.

"Also, keep a close watch for such things as scouring, weakness, and slow gains. If these symptoms appear, obtain a diagnosis to determine whether parasites or infectious diseases are causing the trouble, and start the proper treatment as promptly as possible. It is wise to follow the guidance of a veternarian on such measures."

USE GRAIN SORGHUM TO GROW MORE GRAIN

Auburn, Ala.- It's risky business to plant corn this late in any section of Alabama, according to D. R. Harbor, A.P.I. Extension Service agronomist.

Reports of tests conducted by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station indicate that higher yields are produced from grain sorghum than corn when planted in June.

Grain sorghum is a good crop to follow winter legumes harvested for seed, winter grazing crops, vetch and oat hay, and small grain.

To grow grain sorghum successfully, Harbor says to prepare a good seed bed early enough so it will be settled by rain before planting. Use a variety recommended for your section of the state, use plenty of the right kind of fertilizer, plant plenty of seed, and cultivate shallowly two to three times to control grass and weeds. In North and Central Alabama, plant during the month of June. In South Alabama, plant June 1 to July 15 he said.

GIVE LAST SUMMER'S TIES THE "NEW LOOK"

Auburn, Ala.- Make last summer's ties as good as new.

Explaining how this is done, Levice Ellis, A.P.I. Extension Service clothing specialist, first lists the items needed to do the job. Use plenty of lukewarm water; mild soap; three rinse waters with a bleach added to the first (use two teaspoons of bleach to each cup of water); and gelatin.

Wash tie in rich suds by rubbing it across the palm of the hand. Scrub soiled places using suds and a brush; then rinse quickly by raising and lowering tie in each of the three rinse waters. Avoid harsh handling and wringing.

The next step is to roll each tie into a ball and squeeze gently to remove as much water as possible. Now, dip tie into a thin gelatin solution made by dissolving one-half teaspoon of gelatin into two cups of hot water. Then, smooth tie into its original shape and hang over a line to dry.

To remove any spots that remain, repeat the bleach and rinse. As soon as the tie is almost dry, place it over a thin piece of cardboard, previously cut to its original shape, and press.

KEEPING FISH FRESH

Good fishermen take pains to preserve that 'right out of the water into the frying pan flavor.' Methods of keeping fish alive are the live stringer, live box, or a cotton or burlap bag tied in the water.

How Would You Say It?

Curley Lawson's cousin from back East and a few of us got talking when he was here visiting, and I couldn't help noticing how different he said things.

For instance, he said, "Lifting that 200-pound bag of cement almost killed me." "You mean sack of cement?" asks Curley. (That's the way we'd say it.) "No," interrupts young Elliott who'd spent a lot of time down South, "He means a 'poke of see-ment.'"

It was good for a chuckle, anyway. Bag, sack or poke—we knew what he was trying to say. It just depends on where you are in the U. S., which way sounds right.

From where I sit, whenever we criticize someone for sounding funny to us, we ought to think how we sound to them. It's the same as choosing your liquid refreshment. I'm accustomed to a moderate glass of beer—you may like ginger ale—but who's to say the other's wrong? I'd say we're both right!

Clanton Wins Over Jemison

The Clanton Independent Baseball Club registered a 5-2 win over the Jemison Club on Wednesday night, May 25th. This evens the count between the two teams, each with a win and a loss.

It was a battle royal between the youthful Lefty Thomas of Jemison and the grand old veteran of many campaigns, Wallace (Bull) Watkins, with age and experience once more proving master of the situation.

Watkins limited the visiting club with five scattered hits, one a healthy double by M. Scott, Jemison's catcher. Eight strikeouts were rung up by Watkins; he also issued three walks.

Thomas gave up eight hits along with eight walks. His control in three of the innings was very erratic; this coupled with two timely hits for Clanton provided the winning margin.

Jemison opened the game by pushing across their only two runs the first inning. Clanton came in for their half of the first and proceeded to rack up three markers. From that point on it was a pitchers duel, with the exception of a 6th inning streak of wildness on the part of Thomas, in which he issued walks to the first two Clanton men to face him, both scoring later to give the home team a 5 to 2 edge.

A large representation from the Jemison area went down to witness the game. The same can be said for the Clanton suffocation who always follow their team when they play in the Jemison park.

Since playing in Jemison on May 21st, the Clanton team has made several additions to its player personnel, thus giving them added strength. Kenneth Smith, who plays the first base position with grace and poise, has returned to help his teammates give Clanton a winning ball club.

The opinion of the writer is that Clanton and Jemison both present fairly and reasonably matched teams. Some of these days both these teams are going to be what is commonly called in baseball language "Right" at the same time—and what a game this is going to be!

So keep posted folks! Follow your favorite team, support them and when this big game comes off you'll get triple your money's worth. The boys on these teams are not going to let you down.

Clanton goes to the Jemison park tonight (Thursday) for the third installment of their 8-game series. This could be that game I just mentioned above. Anyway you take it, it will be good, so meet your friends out at Jemison park tonight and enjoy watching two real hustling ball clubs in each others hair.

Game time: 8:00 p.m.

ROBERT B. JOHNSON,
Sports Editor.

Classes were organized Monday of this week in Senior 1, 2, and 3 English, Jr. 3 Civics, U. S. History, and Social Problems. Any one wishing to take this work may enroll by June 6th without penalty.

Chilton Baptist Associations Oppose 1949 Peach Festival Dance

On July 10, 1948, the Pastor's Conference of the Unity-Chilton Baptist Associations, in session at the First Baptist Church, Clanton, Alabama, went on record opposing the dance as a part of the program of the Peach Festival. A committee was appointed as follows: R. W. Stuckey, Luther W. Woodward and G. H. Carroll.

This committee was instructed to meet with the Peach Festival Committee for 1949 to make our protest and try to prevail upon them to substitute some more wholesome form of entertainment in place of the dance. The chairman of the Peach Festival Committee was contacted and he promised to notify the Pastor's Committee and arrange for the presentation of the protest.

However, for some reason the Peach Festival Committee met and this opportunity was never given. After the meeting, the Chairman of the Peach Festival Committee informed the Chairman of the Pastor's Committee that the questionable things—presumably the dance and the beauty contest as formerly conducted — were adopted as a part of the program for this year, while all other matters were deferred for consideration at a later date. Our Committee was then promised a hearing before a Special Committee which had been appointed to arrange the details for the dance. Any thoughtful person can see that this would be a useless procedure.

Since we have sought and been denied a hearing before the Peach Festival Committee and since we recognize the dance as a questionably amusement and are convinced that it has a tendency to lower the morals of our people, and since we desire to make our protest known to the members of th two Baptist Associations which we represent, Therefore, Be It Resolved:

1. That we deplore and condemn the action of the Peach Festival Committee in failing to notify our Committee of their meeting and give us an opportunity to be heard. This failure on their part was either due to carelessness or to deliberate intent.

2. That we feel that there are forms of more wholesome entertainment that could and should be substituted for the dance in this program.

3. That we believe that the program of the Peach Festival should be conducted in such a way that all of our people could participate in any part of it without embarrassment or the sacrifice of their convictions.

4. That we believe that any committee which refuses to hear any and all groups desiring to make protests or submit recommendations is derelict in its duty. Such committees are not, and cannot be representative of the people of this county. The arbitrary action of the present Committee, if continued, will tend to make the Peach Festival only an instrument of publicity and entertainment for an exclusive class of people. To say the least, this is highly undesirable.

5. That we call upon all Christians, especially our own members, to rally to our support in this action. Let us lift up a standard for the people.

6. That a copy of these resolutions, with the signature thereto, be spread upon the minutes of the Pastor's Conference of the Unity-Chilton Baptist Associations, and these resolutions be sent to the Chairman of the Peach Festival Committee, The Union-Banner and The Chilton County News.

Signed:

5309 Report First Week Of Blood Testing

Negatives Not To Be Notified

At the end of the first week of glood testing in Chilton County 5,309 had reported for their blood test. Health officials warned that all delinquents would receive notification of their failure to report for the test.

The law requires that all persons between the ages of 14 to 50 to submit to the test. Failure to take the test is subject to a fine.

Mr. W. L. Patton, said that confidential letters will be sent to all persons whose test indicated a possibility of the presence of the syphilis germs. They will be asked to report to a station where they will be interviewed and a complte medical history obtained

Persons with "negative" blood reports, meaning they do not have the infection will not be notified since most people will be in this group and the lack of sufficient personnel prevents individual notification. In this case, "no news will be good news."

Everyone found needing treatment must obtain it at one of the two sources. They may go to their own private physician, or if unable to afford it, can go to the state rapid treatment center in Birmingham. Those going to Birmingham will have transportation, food, bed and treatment free.

Mr. Patton advised that not all persons who are called back for an interview will have syphilis, other biological reactions in the body causing slight temperatures, such as reaction to Malaria, twyphoid inoculations, smallpox vaccinations and sometimes certain foods eaten before a test will cause a false positive which does not mean syphilis.

A blood testing station will be in operation all this week at the courthouse and any person who missed the test when a station was in their community may receive a test here.

THANKS FROM AMERICAN LEGION POST

The American Legion Post No. 6, the chairman and those who served on the committee, wish to thank both newspapers, the radio station and business firms for the helpful publicity in the recent poppy sale.

Especially do we want to thank the girls and Boy Scouts for their fine spirit shown in selling. We also thank each person who wore one of the little red flowers Poppy Day.

Jim Fort's sales were the highest for the Boy Scouts, Sylvia Lambert highest for the girls; although first prize was given Judith Williams, second Billie Jean Pool.

All of you who helped in any way to make the Poppy Sale a success have contributed toward the rehabilitation of some disabled hero and make the future a little brighter for the dependents of a veteran. — Mrs. L. A. Lambert.

DATE SET FOR TRUSTEE ELECTIONS

In its regular meeting of May 27, the Chilton County Board of Education set Friday night, June 17, at 7:30 as the date for patrons of the various schools to meet at their schools and nominate trustees for their schools. Patrons of the school only are eligible to vote, according to the law. However, a desirable non-patron may be elected as a trustee. Six names are to be submitted immediately to the Suprintendnt of Education. From these six people the Board will at their next meeting, select three to serve a term of two years, beginning immediately upon election by the Board and serving until new ones are elected two years hence.

Chairmen of the present trustees are asked to serve as chairman of the meeting. Where these are not present, the principal of the school or some other interested person may be asked to preside.

Patrons are urged to select only those people who are genuinely interested in the development of the school. A good trustee is an asset to any school community. — Signed: J. H. Boockholdt, Supt. 22-2tc

(By MISS C. N. TURNQUIST — Correspondent)

The Senior Class play will be presented Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium of Thorsby Institute. The title of the play is, "I Will, I Won't". Admission will be 35c and 50c.

The Senior Alumni Party will be held in the Institute Dining Hall, Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. All the Alumni should try to attend this get-together.

Baccalaureate Services will be on Sunday, May 29th in the Institute Auditorium. The time for the services is set for 11:00 a. m. There will be a collection taken at these services for student aid.

Commencement exercises are on Monday, May 30th at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. B. V. Ray of Thorsby gave a piano recital at Chapel on Tuesday. She has given other recitals for the students in the past and they are always anxious for another.

Bernard Adams of Thorsby and Sumner Gerald of Birmingham, have recently been elected trustees of Thorsby Institute. Both are graduates of the school. Mr. Gerald is now head of the Dept. of Science at Ramsey High School. Mr. Adams is a Public Accountant and has an office in Clanton.

Mr. Irvin Lande, a graduate of Thorsby Institute has been offered a $5,000.00 prize for research work in Chili, South America. This is considered a great honor of course, but Irvin is certainly worthy of it as he has always been a brilliant student. We are very proud of him. He is now an instructor at Northwestern University.

Mrs. Lula Willis returned Sunday to Birmingham after spending some time here with her son and family, the J. A. Ogburns.

Mrs. J. B. Price and little daughter, Yvonne, of Birmingham, Mrs. Burgin Ray of Childersburg and Mrs. David Goss and children of Georgia, were visitors here last week with the Horace Williams and Mrs. B. V. Ray, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Williams and young son returned to Birmingham Sunday. Mrs. Williams has been with her mother who has been ill, but who is very much improved.

Mr. Raymond Duffey of Mt. Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Taft Lewis and children of Jemison, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Peterson of Birmingham, week-ended here with the Bosworths and Mrs. Marie Reagan.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Davenport enjoyed a visit from her niece, Mrs. Jack Billops, also Mr. Billops and daughter of Leeds, Ala. this past week-end.

News from our travelers, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Patrick, state that they are having a delightful trip and when last heard from they were in Colorado. The Patricks expect to be gone some two or three weeks longer.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Davenport entertained at a delightful dinner party Sunday honoring their guests Mr. and Mrs. Jack Billops. Those who enjoyed their hospitality were: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cleckler, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davenport.

Misses Helen and Clarice Collins spent the week-end in Birmingham with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bentley and Mrs. Cora Smith motored over to Maplesville on Sunday afternoon and enjoyed the baseball game played by our boys and Maplesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Robinson spent Monday and Tuesday in Birmingham Returning home with them were Mrs. Horace Lowery and children who visited here with friends and relatives until Thursday when they returned to their home in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson arrived last week from Sebring, Fla., and will spend the summer here. They are at present domiciled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Higdon and Mr. Thompson, "the fix-it man" has set up his shop at the Marcus Hdwe. Their many friends are happy to have them back in Thorsby.

Chief Livingston had the peasure of a visit from some of his friends from Birmingham last Thursday. They were C. Floyd Eddins, Chief of Police of Birmingham, J. C. Walker and Harry Thornton also police officers.

Miss Jane Barham of Auburn spent the week-end, with her mother Mrs. T. E. Barham.

Mrs. Estelle Hayes is confined to her home for a few days and under the care of a physician. We hope that she will soon be her jovial self again.

Among the wives who attended the baseball game at Maplesville last Sunday afternoon to see their husbands play ball, and by the way, saw them win a game by a score of 12 to 4, were, Mesdames Bob Robinson, Sam Bentley, Henry Robinson, John Floyd Mims, Cecil Baggett, Jr. Hilliard Baggett, Bill Collins, Jr. and Arden Folk.

So far as we know now, we have two baseball games scheduled for this week. On Saturday afternoon we will play Maplesville, and on Sunday afternoon we play Montevallo— both games will be played here at Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lang and children of Gary, Indiniana visited with Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Walker for several days.

News has been received here by the Walkers that O. D. Jr. is on his way home from Okinawa where he has been for the past fifteen months.

Monday was certainly a busy day for the dew-berry growers in this county —they were able to get their berries picked before the rain and hauled in. The loading center here was one busy place Monday night and it was interesting to watch the manuevering. Looked like they had everyone pressed into service, and they loaded for shipment about 3500 crates.

Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Thompson and daughters spent Sunday in Birmingham with relatives.

Mrs. Horace Williams, Jr. is recovering nicely from injuries sustained in an auto wreck a couple of weeks ago. She is convalescing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Williams, Sr. having been brought here from the Central Alabama Hospital last week. We hope she will continue to improve.

Alabama Power Company rural electric lines would extend six times across the United States

Alabama Power Company's rural electric distribution system totals 14,942 miles—enough rural electric lines to extend 6 times across the United States. These lines supply 88,000 rural customers, nearly 75,000 of whom are farm families. Twelve electric cooperatives, to which we supply electric power, serve approximately 32,000 rural customers.

In Alabama where pioneering work on rural electrification was begun by Alabama Power Company in cooperation with Alabama Polytechnic Institute, 70 per cent of the farms already have electricity available. Within the Company's rural service area more than 85 per cent of the farms have electric service. When the construction program now under way is completed, electricity will be available to almost every farm in the area.

Electric service on rural lines is good. Repair men or crews are stationed at strategic points so that in event of service interruption from storms or other causes, service can be restored speedily Trouble trucks in many areas are equipped with two-way radio telephones.

Electricity on farms has contributed not only comfort and convenience, but also has made many farming operations more profitable.

PROOF OF NEED

Some time ago, after much preparation and publicity, there was held a Statewide Conference on Fire Prevention. Resolutions were adopted and recommendations were made for a continuing fire prevention campaign. Need was stressed for educational work in fire precautions, especially in the rural areas. Representatives of many groups agreed that a stronger state fire marshal's office was needed, not only to investigate fires but to help carry on this educational campaign. We sincerely hope this drive will not be permitted to lapse. These paragraphs from late spring news stories show the need for such a movement:

CULLMAN—(AP)—Two small brothers burned to death yesterday in a hayloft fire.

BIRMINGHAM—(AP)—The bandaged hands of a Jasper mother today were mute reminders of the death of her four-year-old daughter (whose clothing caught fire at an open grate).

MONTGOMERY—A 30-year-old negro mother lost her third child by fire within four months when their small wood frame house burned over the week end. (Alabama Journal).

CHATOM—The home of Ed Stoker was completely destroyed by fire last Saturday night. Nothing was saved. . .family of fathers, mothers and seven children destitute. (Washington County News).

GEORGIANA—David Mangrum Morgan, 24-year-old Louisiana State University law student, died Monday less than 12 hours after he was fatally burned in a fire which swept the upper floors of his home. (Butler County News).

COURTLAND—A mixture that was believed to be half kerosene and half gasoline ignited late Monday afternoon, causing an explosion that seriously burned a Courtland mother and destroyed her home. (Moulton Advertiser).

DECATUR — A negro woman, apparently trapped in bed by flames, suffered second degree burns as fire heavily damaged a dwelling house. (Decatur Daily).

BIRMINGHAM — (UP) — Billy Joe, 21-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon H. Peel, was burned to death when fire destroyed their home. The baby was found huddled in the corner of a back bedroom alongside his baby bed after firemen brought the flames under control.

DECATUR—(AP)—Eight-year-old Patricia Callahan died yesterday when flames swept through her home. Her father and small brother were hurt.

RED LEVEL—Mrs. Gloria Sims Kervin, 24, and her infant son, Larry, were burned to death here today. Coroner James A. Smith said she apparently suffered an attack while bathing her child before an open fire. (Montgomery Advertiser).

FLORENCE—(AP)—A 13-year-old boy, Hayden Davis, suffered fatal burns while starting a fire with tractor motor oil. All the family's household possessions were destroyed.

BIRMINGHAM—(AP)—Five motherless negro children burned to death last night when their four-room home was destroyed by flames. Deputy Troy Tate said the fire might have been caused by defective wiring.

HUNTSVILLE—(AP)—A Farley mother of five children died yesterday after receiving an electric shock in the basement of her home. Fire Chief Claude Herrin said the woman tried to start an electric pump in several inches of rainwater.—Farmers State..

New Milk Route Continues To Increase Volume

The newly organized milk route has been in operation since April 16th. In the six weeks that it has been operating the volume of milk has continued to increase. Thru the first month approximately 75,000 pounds of milk was produced and sold. Forty-five farmers producing and selling this first 75,000 pounds of milk earned $2500.00. They have been able to earn this money without reducing their other farm crops.

The present route serves the following communities: Posey's Cross Roads, Oak Grove, Jemison, Minooka, Thorsby, Pates Chapel, Mt. Pleasant, Clanton, Baker, Samaria, Thomas Jr. and Cooper. The route is being spurred into new areas just as fast as the volume of milk will justify and in time should cover the county.

Organizing a route is a community cooperative affair and in the final analysis farmers themselves will determine how soon a route will be available.

At the present price of milk an average farm cow is producing approximately $18.00 per cow per month and heavy producers are earning about $20 to $22.00 per month. A few cows will not bring in enough money for a farmer to depend on them for his sole source of income; however, the income from a few cows will greatly supplement the farm income and make possible a few more farm and farm home conveniences and comforts. A good average farm milk cow can be expected to bring about the same return as a bale of cotton. A farmer who has sufficient pasture can add milk cows to his farm program without reducing the number of crops he is growing or his crop acres. A dairy program is sound for any farm so long as it is based on a home grown feed proposition.

For a successful dairy program the following points must be kept in mind.

1. Continue to improve pastures and feed crop yields.
2. Continue to increase per animal producting by following a planned breeding program.
3. Improve feeding and management practices.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Mr. W. C. Nuss changed his mind about the colors he would put on "old iron sides." We reported a few weeks past that he would paint his new metal boat yellow and red or some other bright color, but he settled on a battleship grey. He said he was afraid the loud colors would scare away the fish. Well, we always said, one excuse is good as another, when we go they aren't biting either.

The Beta Club members who are in New York this week will see the Yankee's play at Yankee Stadium. This is an opportunity that comes once in a lifetime to most of us residents of the Southland. This wonderful opportunity for the school students of C.C.H.S. was obtained through M. C. (Jack) Hayes who wired New York and made arrangements for tickets for all the members from Clanton, Ala. Jack is Chilton County's contribution to big-league baseball and stayed several years in the big-league settling down at home and winning what looks like a permanent place as our Tax Collector. Appears he's just as good at one job as the other. It was a fine gesture on Jack's part and highly appreciated by the students.

This story come from L&N Magazine. The Alabama election board was counting ballots. A Republican ticket showed up. Not finding anything wrong with it, the board put it aside as suspicious only. After several hours, a second Republican ballot showed up. This was going too far. The Judge said: "The son-of-a-gun voted twice. Throw them both out."

Had you noticed too, that some of our legislators in drawing up new Bills to be introduced put clauses in them that no one else could qualify for, but themselves.

During the storm Sunday afternoon lightening struck the home of Mrs. Joe Minshew on Second Avenue. It caused quite a bit of excitement and large crowds gathered out that way—just what they shouldn't have done. Fire fighters can't get to a fire and do their duty if they have to dodge traffic and thrill hunters rushing to the same fire. Our volunteer firemen are trained to fight fires.. The average layman knows nothing about the fireman's job and couldn't put out a fire if he was given the chance. We believe folks would give the men responsible for fire fighting a break by staying away back and giving them plenty of room. They could do a better job.

We understand one of our firemen was following the fire engine so close and so fast Sunday afternoon that he couldn't stop when the fire truck did. Crash—that's all brother.

See Coach Bull Spicer fixing up his place on Lay Dam Road this week end. Mr. Spicer and his family are not strangers to Chilton County and we are glad to welcome them back. He took over at the City Park Wednesday, June 1st. He will take over his old job at the High School next Fall as Coach there.

And another thing about Wednesday afternoon of this week. New life was generated by members of the Country Club and a picnic and golf match was enjoyed from mid-afternoon until late evening. Seems like everybody was there and having a good time. A business meeting was held after the fun and new plans were made. Clanton and Chilton County will have a fine country Club if more entertainments are enjoyed like the one Wednesday afternoon.

An automobile was parked at the curb in the heart of town the other day when the Meter Inspector passed on his rounds. Glancing up he noticed that the motorist's time had run out on the parking meter so he took out his little book of tickets and wrote out a parking ticket for the driver to find when he returned to his car. After placing the ticket under the windshield wiper the officer walked slowly around the automobile, finally going to the front of the car and lifting the parking ticket from where he had placed it. Whereupon he stepped back to the curb, took a coin from his pocket, and placed it in the meter, thus giving the motorist more time to shop in downtown Clanton. Showing partiality to a local driver? Not at all. The officer just discovered it was an out of town car and was showing true Chilton County hospitality by letting the motorist know he was welcome to stop and shop in our little city— without fear of unnecessary delay.

A Letter From Denmark—

The following letter is one that was received from the Martin Petersons who are visiting their old homeland "Denmark." Mr. and Mrs. Peterson sailed from New York on May 6th and this letter, written to her daughter, Mrs. Clara Self of Birmingham, tells of the reception they received when they landed in Copenhagen:

"Dear Clara:

Well, I will just have to sit down and let you know we got here. We had a fine trip across the ocean—not sick a single time. Papa would have liked to stay on the boat a month, and I would not want the money back, the trip was so wonderful. Then Leroy there to meet us, my, what a surprise! Just as we walked off the gang plank, there he was. I had then seen my brother.

We went to a restaurant in Allborg for coffee, and reporters and photographers were there galore. Then at noon there was a big dinner. Nineteen were seated at the table. And flowers—I don't think there could be more when papa dies. It was all for his birthday. The band was there to play Danish songs for us. They met us with flowers on the ship and reporters and photographers were there taking pictures of papa and me several times before we could get off the boat. They all thought it was so wonderful, papa so old (86 years) and looking so good. They delayed us getting off taking pictures.

We are going to papa's sister's place Sunday. It is her birthday Monday. She will be 70 years old. Brother is showing Leroy a good time. Tonight they went to a silver wedding celebration. We were there this morning. Had drinks in the parlor and coffee in the dining room. Leroy is crazy about his trip and is enjoying all these fine farms.

Love, Mamma."

The Petersons have many friends here who will read this with much interest. Leroy is a son, who went to Denmark by plane, arrived there ahead of their boat and met them there, much to their surprise, as they knew nothing of his plans.

On last Thursday night, Mrs. Idell Kincaid entertained at a dinner party, a group of teachers of Thorsby Institute. The dining table was covered with a lovely cut work table cloth, imported from Switzerland, and was laid for seven. After enjoying a most delicious dinner, the guests enjoyed the evening in the living room, where Mrs. Kincaid, in her usual delightful manner, told of some of her experiences while in Germany and showed a lot of the lovely articles she brought back with her, in the way of pictures, china, cut glass and lovely souvenirs of all kinds. Those who enjoyed her hospitality were: Mrs. Irene Peterson, Mrs. Eva Turner, Mrs. Sarah Jenkins, Miss Helen Jenkins and Miss Grace Stanley, also Mrs. Emily Harding.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ekblad and little daughter of Cleveland, Ohio, visited here a few days with his brother Mr. J. R. Ekblad and Mrs. Ekblad. They have been enjoying a vacation of a couple of weeks and were en route to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Strickland spent Sunday visiting in Tuscaloosa, and Lisman, Ala.

Mrs. H. E. Nichols of Birmingham spent Thursday of last week with her sister, Mrs. Harold Strickland.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester McClain, Jr., of Dothan, Ala., are spending their vacation here with his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. McClain and Mrs. Bill Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Collins of Birmingham visited here Monday with the H. L. Walkers and Mrs. G. A. Bice.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Powell of Birmingham visited here with relatives on last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Davenport moved to Birmingham last Monday, and will remain there for an indefinite time, while Mr. Davenport completes a building job.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlem Bean have moved into the Cleckler home, across from the Howard Bros. Florist place and formerly occupied by Mrs. Hattie Powell. This home was recently purchased by Mr. Bean.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss of Fairfield, Ala., spent Sunday afternoon here and attended services at the Lutheran church, after which they enjoyed a short visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nelson of Birmingham were week end visitors at the home of his mother, Mrs. Frank Nelson.

Mr. B. V. Ray, Jr., who is at present employed by the Southern Bell Telephone Company at Greenville, N. C., spent the week end here with his family.

Thorsby Institute News—

Thorsby Institute has again come to the close of another very successful year. Commencement Exercises were held on Monday morning. Dr. Henry Edmonds was the speaker. After the exercises, a bountiful dinner was served in the dining hall.

Among the many out-of-town guests here for T. I. Commencement, were two outstanding persons who were graduates of T. I. and who have not been in Thorsby for many years. They were Mrs. Gertrude Steiner Wagoner of the class of '28, and Mrs. Pearl Steiner Hildebrand of the class of '26, both of Dayton, Ohio. Other out-of-town people here for the occasion were: Mrs. Carrie Matthews, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chavers, of Montgomery; Mrs. G. M. Wiley, Mrs. W. P. Gore, of Birmingham; Mrs. Doris Wiley Harrell of Shreveport, La.; Miss Lois Leech, Demorest, Ga.; Miss Marguerite Davison, also of Demorest, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gibbons, of Birmingham; Mrs. Raymond Mims, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Klinner and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Baker, all of Clanton, Ala.; Mrs. James Griffin, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Yost, Miss Dorean Yost, Mrs. Robert Shaw, Miss Susan Shaw, all of Ludington, Mich. All of these people came in various ways, some by car, some by plane, some by bus and others by train. They were here from the four corners and from far and near — yes, Thorsby Institute is well known too, most anywhere you happen to be.

Mrs. Sidney J. Davenport of Winchester, Tenn., is visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Willis and other relatives and friends.

Baptist Church News—

All Baptists are urged to attend their church next Sunday, as there will be a visiting minister occupying the pulpit. Rev. B. B. Burkes of Gadsden will conduct the service and all members as well as friends of the church are urged to attend.

Lutheran Church News—

On last Sunday afternoon a service was held at the Lutheran Church at which time a Communion Service was held. Despite the terrible rain storm, a nice crowd was in attendance. The Rev. David Conrad of Birmingham, pastor of the Christ Lutheran Church there, conducted the service. Special music was furnished by Rev. Conrad with Mrs. Erle Ellis of Clanton, at the piano. This service was greatly enjoyed by all who attended. This church plans a sort of home coming in July, when one of their former members, the Rev. Waldemar Lefstead, of Summerville, S. C., will be here to conduct services. You will hear more about this later.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Davis and baby, of Birmingham, were here to attend the graduation exercises of his sister, Jean Davis.

The strawberry season is about over with, though there are still some few crates being shipped. Despite the fact that a large part of the crop was ruined by rain, we had a very successful season. The crop brought around $45,000 to the Thorsby crop alone. We do not have a report as to what was shipped from Clanton and Jemison. Mr. David Childress, Manager, of the Thorsby Fruit & Truck Growers Association, stated that the entire crop brought an average of $6.35 per crate. This is indeed a good showing for Thorsby.

The dewberry crop is now on in full swing, and the loading shed south of Thorsby is a scene of much activity each evening as they bring in their berries and freight trucks are there ready to take them on to other markets. Last Friday a shipment of nearly 4,000 crates was shipped. On last Monday we shipped 218,000 lbs. which we have figured amounts to 5,450 crates. Now if you ask us, "That's some dewberries."

JEMISON DEFEATS BELLE ELLEN

Jemison won its second consecutive ball game from the rugged little team from Belle Ellen last Saturday night by a 9 to 1 score. The game was much more interesting than the score might indicate.

Hyde, pitching for Belle Ellen, experienced a bit of difficulty in getting warmed up the first inning, and walksix men, gave up three hits and his mates committed two damaging errors. When this melee was over nine runs had scampered across the home plate.

After this, however, school was out for the Jemison boys. They managed to get one hit the remaining eight innings of play, as Hyde mowed them down, one-two-three order for seven of the eight innings.

Ellison, pitching for Jemison, was tight-fisted with his hits also, giving up two for the six innings he worked. Thomas pitched the three last innings, giving up no hits nor runs.

M. Scott, catcher for Jemison, thrashed out the only extra base blow of the game; a rousing triple his second time to bat in the first inning. He walked the first time to bat.

Belle Ellen scored their lone run in the second inning when Rhodes singled and drove in Miller who had walked. All three pitchers struck out four men each.

Clanton plays Jemison tonight (Thursday) at Jemison. Brent comes to Jemison for a game next Saturday night. Game time 8:00 p.m.—Robert B. Johnson, Sports Editor.

Increasing thousands are coming to know and enjoy wonderful fishing that the Coosa River offers in Central Alabama. Year by year more lake shore dwellings appear on the appealing shore lines of the immense lakes formed by the huge dams of Alabama Power Company. Good roads to the various boat landings and fishing lodges add much to the flavor of a day's outing in the timbered hills surrounding this piscatorial paradise.

Gamest of the game fish are abound in these fertile waters. The Alabama Power Company Fishing Contest is proving this point by reports from the weigh in officers. The Large, Small Mouth and Striped Bass, Crappie, and Bream are well represented with some handsome catches, but each week new leaders are registered..

Mrs. J. S. Plott's Store reports: Esby Adams of Marbury takes the number one position at this time in the ever changing Small Mouth Bass Division. Adam's catch weighed 5 pounds and 8 ounces and was hooked by live bait casting in the upper reaches of Lake Jordan.

H. R. Evans' Store reports: Mrs. J. W. Cheatam of Montgomery fished near Coosa Ridge, Lake Jordan and snagged a fighting 3 pounds and 12 ounce Small Mouth Bass. A fly rod and hula popper did the trick. P. J. Anderson of Montgomery did a bit of trolling with dipsy doodle and caught a nice 12 ounce Crappie on Lake Jordan.

Be sure and weigh-in your best prospect— you may have a winner.

Safety comment of the day: Never overload your boat. Overloading is responsible for more boating tragedies than any other cause. Many builders now are showing load limits on the name plate. Also, any dealer or dependable camp or boating club operator will be glad to advise you— "Have fun-Safely."

MISS DUNN CALLS FOR MORE BOARDING HOMES FOR CHILDREN

Montgomery- "Every Alabama county needs more licensed private family homes to care for needy children who must be boarded away from their own relatives," State Welfare Commissioner Loula Dunn said last week.

A licensed boarding home, Miss Dunn explained, is a private family home which opens its doors to neglected, abandoned, or orphaned children. "Such homes meet standards prescribed by the State Welfare Board and are paid for the cost of caring for children placed in them," she said.

Miss Dunn urged any Alabama family willing to receive needy children for a temporary period to contact either the state commission or the local welfare department.

The State Welfare Department does not maintain a nursery or orphanage.

The late Rev. Allen Wright, a highly educated Choctaw Indian, translated the name Alabama to mean "Thicket-clearers."

COMBINATIONS OF SELECTIVE SERVICE BOARDS

The Selective Service System in Alabama will reduce its personnel approximately 8% as of May 1, 1949, and a further reduction is anticipated as of June 30, 1949, according to information released by State Selective Service Headquarters.

The reduction in personnel has been necessitated due to a new personnel ceiling imposed on the Selective Service System by the Bureau of Budget in view of the anticipated budget reduction for the Selective Service System for the fiscal year 1950, beginning July 1, 1949.

To keep the operating expense within the budgetary limit the combination of local boards of adjoining counties with light registration has been directed.

In each case of local boards being combined it will be necessary to terminate the service of the clerk of one of them. All terminations have been decided in keeping with Reduction-in-Force Regulations governing U. S. Civil Service employees.

The location of the local board office, in each instance, has been determined with a view to monetary saving and at the same time to the convenience of a majority of the registrants of the combined boards.

Among combinations that will become effective as of the close of business on May 31, 1949, are:

Shelby and Chilton counties, with office to be retained at Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

The office of the local boards of Chilton and Shelby counties will be located in the Mullins & Scott Building, Clanton, Alabama, and Mrs. Zora G. Smith will be Clerk of the combined boards.

Cancer Committee Will Sponsor Show At Court House Sunday, June 19th, 5:00

Plans were made Tuesday of this week to sponsor a radio talent show at the courthouse on June 19, to raise funds for the Cancer Drive. Mr. John Smith, pastor First Presbyterian Church and Chairman of the Cancer Drive stated that local talent would be used and anyone making a donation to the cancer fund during the one hour and a half show could ask for a special number dedicated to them.

Present plans are that the show will start promptly at 5 o'clock Sunday evening, June 19th, and last until 6:30. Arrangements will be made with the telephone company to reverse charges on calls if you live outside of Clanton so that you can make your request and your pledges. Offices at the courthouse will be open and young ladies will be stationed at the telephones to talk to you.

Watch next week's paper for more detailed announcement of the show and the list of radio entertainers who will play your request numbers.

Suspicious --- Luther Cost Moonshiner Plenty Hooch

Last Sunday afternoon Highway Patrolman Luther Kendricks was coming in the Shelby or Steel Bridge Road with a prisoner when he got suspicious of the way a local taxi drifer was proceeding down the highway. After following for quite a while the patrolman drove up beside the taxi and told him to pull over to the side of the road, which the driver did. The patrolman pulled in behind him. About the time that Luther Kendricks got out of his car a moonshiner stepped out of the woods with a ten gallon jug of "corn squeezings" and Luther took out after him. While he was running the unknown party threw the jug against a tree and according to the patrolman, really took off. Anyway much too fast for him to follow him. Thereby ends a tale. The moonshiner lost his merchandise. The patrolman lost his would-be prisoner and we presume, the taxi lost a customer.

SQUARE DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT

Friday night, June 10th, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Auditorium (City Hall) at Clanton, the F.F.A. Play Boys will tune up their fiddles and Mr. Reuben Lowe will call out "Swing your partners—docie do." Young and old alike are invited to join in a real old-fashioned square dance. Mr. Lowe will ask the couples to dance their best because there will be a prize for the couple who dances the square dance the best.

There will be time for round dancing and also a prize for the best couple. During intermission, there will be a cake walk. Come and win a beautiful home made cake, even if you do not feel spry enough for dancing.

Proceeds from the dance will be used for the underprivileged children by the Pilot Club of Clanton, who is sponsoring the dance.

Everyone is invited. Plan now to come and have an evening packed with good clean fun. Price 75c each.

PLEASANT GROVE METHODIST

Sunday was our regular preaching day. We had a large crowd out for Sunday School and several visitors for preaching service. Rev. Rountree brought a wonderful message. At the close of the service the doors of the church were open and six members joined. The new members are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Comer Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Atkinson, Miss Edna Earl Durbin, and Miss Delores Popwell. We are mighty glad to received these members in our church and we know that they will be beneficial to the church in many ways.

Monday night the Sub-District of the MYF met at Mount Nebo Church. A large crowd from this church went. Pleasant Grove received the District Banner for this month. We had 100% attendance at the Sunday night service. Our MYF is growing each night and is really doing some worth while projects for our church and community.

Rev. and Mrs. Rountree and baby, Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Hosey and sons, Miss Dean Scott and James Hosey took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Atkinson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Randle Ledbetter spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Norris Ledbetter and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Ledbetter of Birmingham, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bearden spent a while Sunday night with Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Gibson.

Mrs. Howard Popwell spent Monday with Mrs. Mark Hosey.

Mrs. Clint Henson and sons from Clanton are spending a day or two with Mrs. Henson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Popwell.

Rev. and Mrs. Rountree and baby left last Monday for Greenville, S. C., and stayed until Thursday with relatives. They reported a grand time.

Let us all remember to keep on coming to Sunday School every Sunday at 10:00 and MYF each Sunday night at 7:30. Choir practice will be held at the church each Friday night beginning at 8:00. Remember these services and come out and support them with your presence and help.

It Doesn't Always Pay To Help Others

Earl Collins learned the hard way this week that it doesn't always pay to be helpful to others. Last week hacksaw blades were passed into the county jail to a prisoner who sawed his way out of his cell and into the bullpen before Mr. Jess Motes learned what was going on. This week Earl Collins is in the county jail for passing the hack saw blades in to a friend of his.

It all came out this week when officers from the sheriff's office questioned Earl and got the facts in the case. Seems Earl tied the blades to a sack of tobacco and the prisoner threw a string out of the cell window. Earl secured the blades and tobacco to the end of the string and the prisoner pulled the package into his cell. Now the Sheriff has two prisoners wishing where only one wished before.

HOMECOMING AT EVERGREEN BAPTIST CHURCH

There is to be a homecoming held at Evergreen Baptist Church (in the Unity Association) Sunday, June 19. The public is invited to attend. There will be lunch for everyone, served at the noon hour. You are invited to attend and bring your friends.

REGISTERED JERSEYS PURCHASED FOR CLANTON FARM

Columbus, O., May 31, 1949 — Benjamin A. Brinker of Clanton, Ala., has purchased four registered Jerseys from the herds owned by J. B. Eastwood, of Malone, Ala., Clyde L. Henderson of Clanton and Barney Henderson of Clanton.

The purchase adds to the steadily growing number in this area. Dairymen buy Jerseys because of the high quality of the milk they produce.

JEMISON

The Sunday School and all church services at the Baptist Church really have picked up for the past few weeks, for which we are thankful, and we ask all who are able to be with us next Sunday, to hear two good sermons.

Those attending the banquet last week from Jemison for Home Demonstration Club included Mrs. V. O. Lenoir, Mrs. B. C. Lenoir and Mrs. I. H. McNeill.

A large crowd from the Training Union classes carried well filled baskets out to Lake George Monday night and had an enjoyable time together.

We are sorry that Mr. Jim Payton is on the sick list, but we hope and pray for a quick recovery for him.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wright and daughter, Jo Ellen, of Birmingham, were the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Middlebrooks, Sunday.

REV. R. W. STUCKEY RECEIVES THREAT

At 1:15 Wednesday morning Rev. R. W. Stuckey, pastor of the Concord Baptist Church, received a telephone call threatening him if he didn't "lay off the peach festival," according to a statement by Rev. Stuckey to the Sheriff's office later in the day.

When questioned later Rev. Stuckey stated that he did not believe the threat came from the Festival Committee or any member of the committee, nor did he believe it was the work of any klan which the speaker claimed to be talking for

Rev. Stuckey said he wanted to be understood however on his stand about the Festival. He and the other Baptist ministers are for the Peach Festival and will do all in their power to make it a success but they do oppose the festival dance

The Sheriff's office is investigating the threatening telephone call

CHILTON COUNTY STUDENTS VISIT WILLIAMSBURG, VA.

Williamsburg, Va. — A group of twenty-five students from Chilton County High School in Clanton were here this week touring the colonial capital city which is observing its 250th anniversary this year.

The students were accompanied by Mr. Henry Adair. They were given a special escorted tour of several of the buildings that have been restored or reconstructed to the way they looked two centuries ago and saw the setting in which many significant acts in the struggle for independence took place. Referred to by educators as a "living laboratory" of early American history, Williamsburg is annually visited by more than a half million persons.

W. O. W Takes Clanton 10 to 6

If the Clanton baseball fans will come out and support the W.O.W. team, Clanton will have two good baseball teams, instead of one. This was proven last Friday night when the W.O.W. team beat Clanton in the local park by a score of 10 to 6.

The W.O.W. scored two runs in the first inning and led all the way to win easily. Clanton used two pitchers, but were unable to stop the hitting of the scrappy W.O.W. team.

A few people said that Clanton might have won, if two or three of their players had not been absent. The players knew about this game, because it had been scheduled for three weeks. They must have thought that Clanton would win without their assistance.

W.O.W. plays Plantersville Thursday night, June 9th, and Mineral Springs Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Both games being played in Clanton at the ball park.

Kiwanis Club News

Patterson Hicks officially inducted into the club new Kiwanians Paul Reid, Clint Carlisle, Louis Crowe and W. B. Crowe last week. These new members should definitely be an asset to the Clanton Kiwanis Club.

Plans are shaping up fast in the Scout hut committee, and it looks as if actual construction is not too far in the future. Clanton Boy Scouts, led by Rev. John Smith, have made a fine record and they will receive a big boost with this new home.

Several members will be leaving in a few days for the Kiwanis Convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey. We'll give you a complete report on this new week.

Inspirational and unforgetable were the comments last Sunday morning after the joint meeting of the young men's Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church and the Wesley Fellowship Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church.

These two classes are outstanding in size, attendance and for the good work they are doing in their churches and community.

It was an unprecedent step when a joint meeting on each 5th Sunday was instigated.

For the first meeting the Young Men's Class of the Baptist Church met with their able teacher, Mr. Patterson Hicks, and came in a body to the Methodist Church to listen to an inspirational lesson given by Mr. Omar Reynolds, teacher of the Wesley Fellowship Class.

Approximately one hundred members of these two classes attended.

The next joint meeting will be held at the Baptist Church at 9:45 a.m. July 31. Mr. Patterson Hicks will present the lesson.

We admit—

Being an editor or reporter is fun, but no picnic.

If we write or print jokes, people say we are silly, if we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we get things from other magazines or papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves, if we don't we are too fond of our own stuff.

If we don't write or print contributions, we don't appreciate true genius, if we do the page is filled with junk.

Now like as not, someone will say I swiped this from some other writing. I did!

Is Your Pet A Nuisance?

Mayor C. Fenn Jones has received numerous complaints about stray dogs in Clanton. Some of the complaints have been for killing chickens, scattering garbage, etc., etc.

The thought we wish to get over is not to let your pet be a nuisance. If it is worth having as a pet it is worth keeping in your own yard. We know the Mayor has nothing personal against pets, but when day after day, complaints come to his desk about dogs, then he must do something to protect the citizens against the dogs disturbing the property of others.

Reports are that a dog license has been suggested for dogs that would be, say ten dollars for male and fifteen dollars for female dogs. That, we think, would be prohibitive and unfair to those who could ill afford to pay such a price to keep their pet.

However, according to Mayor Jones, if the complaints keep coming in he says he must do something about it. The best suggestion we can offer is to keep your pet, whatever it may be, in your own back yard. Then it is on your own property and cannot offend others who might not feel towards pets as you do.

Street Work Continues

Sixth Street to the Montgomery Highway is completed and open to traffic now and with each succeeding day more street improvements get underway.

Mayor Jones and the City Council is due a vote of appreciation and credit for the work they are doing. Our streets are looking better now than they have in some time and it is through the effort of our city fathers that this is so.

Mr. M. L. Brown, who is in charge of this work now, is capable and efficient. We congratulate him on getting things done.

Time To Name Our School Trustees

The County Board of Education has set Friday night, June 17, as the time for the various schools of the county to name their trustees for the next two years.

We only get out of a thing what we put into it, is a common saying. So it is with our schools. We will only get things done if we name competent trustees to look after the school's interests and our children's welfare.

Six names will be submitted from each school to the County Board of Education and from these six names, three will be chosen to act as your trustees. See that you name six men or women who has the good of your school at heart and has no individual ax to grind.

Patrons of the school are only allowed to vote but if there is a capable man or woman in your neighborhood who is interested in the school, but is not a patron, he or she is eligible to hold office as a trustee.

Don't forget the date and the time — 7:30, Friday night, June 17th.

It is vital to the welfare of your child that we have capable trustees in our schools and the responsibility rests on you to see that the best citizens are named to this important office.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

We have now taken our place in history alongside Columbus. A new land has been discovered by our linotype operator and oked by our proof reader. And best of all our ex-congressman has been named Ambassador to this new land. In running the story and picture last week about Hon. Pete Jarman being named Ambassador to Australia our headline came out "Amstralia," and was overlooked when the proof was read. Anyway, we probably won't get the recognition that Columbus did when he made his discovery so we'll have to tell you that Mr. Jarman was named Ambassador to Australia and congratulate him on this signal honor. His district should be very proud of him.

Dee-lightful is the word for Bob [illegible] City Grill now that he has it air-conditioned. Bob could put up a sign "20 degrees cooler inside," and not exaggerate. It's that cool and nice in there.

Went down to Polk Brothers last Tuesday night a week ago to see the new stoves and water heaters that were on display there. Did us dirty though. They wouldn't let us register for a free prize because we didn't wear the skirts. You had to, to be eligible for a prize. They gave away a new stove, new water heater and various and sundry things to the ladies but did they recognize the guy who brings home the bacon?—they did not. A very pretty lady served us punch and crumpets, or tried too. We had just left the cafe though and couldn't even hold a small bit of punch. The whole show was a big success and we enjoyed the demonstrations, even though we couldn't register for anything free. Nothings more fun than going somewhere you get things free, is it?

That antique man is here. Don't get us wrong, the man isn't antique, it's the wares he sells that are antique. He is located down on Seventh Street next to K. A. Hardy wood working shop. Take time to go down and look at that old stuff he's selling. Fine fellow. Name of Tomlinson, you'll like him.

Maybe we should have explained in our paragraph last week about the officer looking after out of town visitors. For the party who reported the incident we want to explain that it is the custom of the officers to deposit a coin for the visitor instead of making a parking ticket. That is good business for our little city. We do appreciate your call however. Do it again sometimes.

Here's a fellow who doesn't have to plant his cotton every year it seems. He's Mr. W. W. Barron of Verbena Route Two. Mr. Barron brought a stalk of cotton to the News office Saturday afternoon that grew out of a last year's root. Mr. Barron says that if it hadn't been plowed up it would have made a good stalk of cotton this year. He also had an egg with a perfect sun-flower on it. Now if he had found that egg during our war with Japan folks would have declared it was a sign of something and instead of a sunflower it was a rising sun, but it's a sunflower alright and probably means that the old hen has been eating too many sunflower seeds on a full craw.

Gene Gore asks us to correct our statement of last week saying the fellow who hit the fire truck was a fireman. Gene says he wasn't. He was a civilian just following the fire wagon.

Enjoyed a social visit this week from County Commissioner Neal Harrell. Neal caught us working and right off told us that it did his heart good to see us slave. He says that we didn't have to work last year, we just lived off politicians — like him. Neal Harrell is doing a fine job in his district and even some of the Republicans have complimented him on his ability to get things done.. That's proof positive that he's doing alright.

We take it all back. All those awful things we have said about the legislature not doing anything constructive for what they are taking of the people's money. At last they have come to the aid of the little man. Last week they went to bat for the "doodle fisherman." When a bill was introduced to place a license on doodle fishermen like they have on rod and reel fishermen, the legislators voted a loud NO. That is, they tabled the measure indefinitely. Now come you "doodlers," who says those fellows aren't worth the four thousand a day they cost the taxpayers.

Letter To The Editor

I have just returned from a two week's stay at Central Alabama Hospital. If any vocabulary were sufficiently large there are so many things I could and should say about the management of the hospital.

The managers are most efficient. Every detail is carried on like clock work. The nurses are so kind and always come to your bed smiling as if it were a pleasure to attend your whims.

The food is bounteous and well prepared and served on such attractive trays you simply eat whether you want it or not.

Too much can't be said in behalf of the Clanton hospital.

This is my opportunity to thank my friends for the many beautiful flowers and cards. Bless everyone who remembered me in any way.

—MRS. D. H. PRICKETT.

The Christian And His Bible

The Bible should be the greatest earthly companion to every Christian. The Christian should at all times have the Holy Scriptures with him; if not in "book form," he should have a great portion of the Word of God stored away in his heart and mind which will afford strength, and food for thought until he can be closely associated with his Bible again. A man accustomed of carrying a watch on his person is lost without a watch. The same with a pocket knife, and the things we carry with us all the time for daily use. So it is with the Christian and his Bible.

A. T. HICKMAN

The Christian should have a deep desire at all times in his heart for the Word of God; just as babes desire their milk, Christians should desire the milk of the Word of God that they might grow thereby. (I Peter 2:2). The Christian should highly esteem the Bible. It should be the main Book of his study, nothing should come before the Bible with the Christian. And we should be delighted with all of its teachings. We should delight ourselves in the Law of God, and meditate upon it day and night. It is able to keep us from falling from grace. It is a Lamp unto our feet, and a Light unto our path. And we should hide it in our hearts that we might not sin against God.. The Christian should be a daily reader of the Bible. "Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein."

Below is a little reading which I found among the notes of my brother-in-law, who was a preacher after he died. He ended his work on earth in 1925.

How Readest Thou?—

"It is one thing to read the Bible through, another thing to read to learn and do. . . .Some read it with a design to learn to read, but to the subjects pay but little heed. . . .Some read it as their duty once a week, but no instruction from the Bible seek. . . . While others read it with but little care, with no regard to how they read, nor where. . . .Some read to bring themselves into repute, by showing others how they can dispute. . . .While others read because their neighbors do, to see how long 'twill take to read it through. . . .Some read it for the wonders that are there, how David killed a lion and a bear. . . .While others read it with uncommon care, hoping to find some contradiction there. . . .Some read as if it did not speak to them, but to the people of Jerusalem. . . .One reads with father's specs upon his head, and sees the things just as his father said. . . Some read to prove a pre-adopted creed, hence understand but little that they read. . . .For every passage in the Book they bend, to make it suit their all important end. . . .Some people read as I have so often thought to teach the Book instead of being taught. . . .And some there are who read it out of spite, I fear there are few who read it right. . . .But read it carefully and you will see, although men contradict, God's Word agrees . . .For what the early Bible prophet wrote, we find that Christ and his apostles quote. . . .So trust no creed that trembles to recall, what has been written by One, and verified by all. —Amen.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

DON'T IGNORE THAT COUGH

A cough is only a symptom, not a disease. It is nature's warning that there is something amiss in the respiratory tract, particularly in the throat area. That which is actually responsible for the cough may be much deeper seated and more serious than "just a cough." If it persists see your physician.

Not every cough means a hidden illness. It may be only a food particle or other objects in the respiratory tract which stimulates the natural reflex effort to clear the passage so that breathing will be unhampered. Irritation in the throat or lower passages, however, during a cold or other infection, such as whooping cough, the distress of asthma, excessive smoking or low humidity with its resulting dryness, may produce that annoying tickle which results in a cough. But that cough must not be ignored over an extended period of time since such serious diseases as tuberculosis and cancer are frequently accompanied by coughing.

A person suffering from a persistent cough is more susceptible to fatigue. The constant hacking cuts down rest, affects the larynx or voice box even to the extent of producing hoarseness, and leaves the body tired and unable to reject disease-producing germs.

While there are many measures that can be followed to relieve the coughing victim, the safest procedure is to seek the advice of a physician and follow his instructions. Many so-called cough medicines are worthless even in giving temporary relief; some of them may be even harmful. They are definitely dangerous to you if they give sufficient relief to cause you to postpone consulting competent medical advice. Don't take unnecessary chances. Find out what is causing the trouble.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Church News—

The Vacation Bible School will begin at the Baptist Church next week and will run for two weeks. Everyone, regardless of denomination, is cordially invited and urged to attend, especially ages from 3 to 16 years. Everyone is asked to come to church Friday p.m. of this week. "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman who needeth not to be ashamed."

The youth revival closed here last Friday evening. It was indeed a marvelous success. Many church members rededicated their lives to God and many were revived, 17 accepted Christ and are candidates for Baptism, nine joined the church by letter. Rev. Robert Wooddy preached some wonderful sermons. The revival did not have any radio publicity until it was over but God led and directed all the services. Great crowds attended the evening services. The fine personal work done by the pastor is showing results, and will continue on and on into the future.

The Baptismal service will be Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Jones, pastor of the Methodist Church, will fill his regular appointment Sunday a.m. and Sunday p.m.

Rev. Rube Bearden preached at his church at Boone's Chapel last Sunday.

Several from here, with the B.T.U. members, attended services at Concord Church last Sunday afternoon. They reported a good service. Mr. Joe Graham, Jr., is the director of B.T.U. here.

This poem is so true we would like to pass it on to others. It was written by a convict serving a life term in Joliet Prison, Ill.:

A Bar—

The saloon is sometimes called a bar
A bar to Heaven, a door to hell,
Whoever named it, named it well;
A bar to manliness and wealth
A door to want and broken health;
A bar to honor, pride and fame
A door to grief and sin and shame;
A bar to hope, a bar to prayer
A door to darkness and dispair;
A bar to honored useful life
A door to brawling, senseless strife;
A bar to all that's true and brave
A door to every drunkard's grave;
A bar to joy that home imparts
A door to tears and aching hearts;
A bar to Heaven, a door to hell
Whoever named it, named it well.

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

In case you've been wondering why WKLF has been going off the air occasionally for brief intervals, we are glad to pass on to you this latest technical diagnosis from the WKLF engineering department: "Insofar as we can ascertain, this temporary condition is caused by numerous naughty little electrons, who run around and blow fuses.

Clanton looks lovely at 4:45 a.m. If you don't believe it, ask the street sweeper or me. What I'm getting around to is that WKLF is now on the air each morning at 5 o'clock. With this earlier time, we hope to be able to serve you better.

"Opration Safety" makes it debut on WKLF this coming Saturday at 12:30. This is to be a series of broadcasts on public and personal safety, produced in cooperation with Sgt. Charles O'Gynn, Safety Educational Officer for the Alabama Highway Patrol. Each week, you will hear Mayor Jones, Chief Anderson, Patrolman Kendrick, Braswell, or some other local official with tips on safety, as well as reports of local accidents.

Rev. Carlisle Miller was out of town and unable to take his devotional broadcast Tuesday of this week. The devotional was taken by Rev. Woody Gibbs of Clanton. Morning devotional, featuring each day a different Clanton pastor, is heard each morning at 8:30 on WKLF.

Charlie Bean and the "Peach Valley Playboys" are now heard on WKLF each afternoon through the week at 6:30 with a program of folk songs and swing music. Featured vocalists on the show are Billy Parrish and J. E. "Shorty" Burnette. Others included in the group are Duwayne Deaton on the drums and Melvin Orange on the bass fiddle.

There's lots of television talk around Clanton these days, since WAPI and WBRC announced that they would start test operations in earnest by the first of July. People have been asking me quite a few questions as to whether television could be picked up in Clanton, and so on. The answer is—so far as I can learn from talking to local engineers—is that Clantonites will be able to pick up television satisfactorily from these Birmingham Stations. The Carter boys are already picking up the test patterns clearly.

That's sign off time for this week. Until next Thursday, so long and good listening.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now I'm Going Back To High School!

When I saw lights burning in the high school auditorium last night, I looked in to see what went on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

I slipped into a back seat and asked Hap Thomas what was up. Hap told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes Americans tolerant towards so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.

PLEASANT GROVE NO. 2

We wish to express our sincere thanks to each and every one who had a part in helping to make our home coming a great success Sunday.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the day fine, with our praises going to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, for everything.

Our thanks go to Marion W. Easterling for furnishing Radio Song books for the day. We also thank Mr. Wyatt from The Union-Banner office for the use of his Morning Light books.

We thank Rev. Hyman Atcheson and Mary Ella (Moore) Henson for acting as chairmen of our singing, who kept the singing going all day without a minute lost. Our thanks also go to the special singers who were The Melody Four and the Liberty Hill Quartets from Clanton.

There were many good leaders for the day and good class singing.

Don't forget next year our homecoming.

Pleasant Grove Church presented a nice bouquet of flowers to Mr. W. M. Oden. He was the oldest man present.. Rev. Paul Oden gave us a very interesting short sermon.

VETERANS ON-THE-FARM TRAINING

Veterans on-the-job training in agriculture are realizing the necessity of establishing themselves on a farm and preparing for their future.

Hayward DeJarnette, of near Verbena, Ala., has made considerable progress in establishing himself. Hayward came to Chilton County, a veteran in training, from adjoining Autauga County and purchased 60 acres of wooded land early last year. With only three acres in cultivation, he has cleared and planted 20 additional acres and has begun work on a permanent pasture.

Hayward bought this farm without a house of any type; he bought an old house, tore it down and began hauling it to his farm July 4, from that old house he has built a fairly comfortable home for himself, built a barn, and other outhouses. To date he has lights in his home, good well, two mules, hogs, cows and a few chickens.

This work was done in 1948-49 by him and his family, however, Hayward's land is not in the best condition and will require continuous improvement practices over a period of years to obtain its full benefits. This is a typical example of interest displayed by veterans in training throughout Chilton County.

James F. Rich, a veteran living just off the Enterprise road about one mile south of Mt. Pisgah Church, has been enrolled in the on-the-farm training program in Chilton County for about 17 months.

Since coming on the program Mr. Rich has had a Soil Conservation map made of his farm.

He immediately saw the need for conserving his soil and utilizing the forage crops that are necessary for holding the soil.

His plan calls for about 30 acres of kudzu and about 12 acres of sericea.

With the aid of his instructor, Mr. R. O. Williams, the veteran figured the cost of buying crowns to plant on the 30 acres and found that it would cost around $1,000.00.

Mr. Rich and his instructor then went to Soil Conservationist, Olin Fields, for advice and found that it was possible to plant a one acre seed patch and raise enough seedlings to set the whole 30 acres and still have enough seedlings left to sell about $200.00 worth.

This seed patch cost Mr. Rich around $40.00.

Already the trainee is getting ready to use his kudzu and sericea.

He has one brood sow and plans to increase to about three sows.

He now has three dairy cows and plans to expand but has not decided yet whether he will go into the milk business or the beef business.

In addition to his livestock and Soil Conserving program the trainee has a sound farming program which this year includes 6 acres of tomatoes, one acre of onions, eight acres of cotton, 30 acres of corn and 1½ acres of pole beans.

Also, he and his wife carry out a fine live-at-home program. They have a big garden for fresh vegetables and canning and a large home orchard and raise their own meats and eggs.

It is easy to see that Mr. Rich is progressing and will, at the end of his training, be a more comfortable and successful citizen for the County.

Letter From The Peterson's—

A letter from Mrs. Martin Peterson to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. R. C. Peterson, of Jemison, Ala.:

Aboard the S S Batory en route to Copenhagen, Denmark:

Dear Jewel:

Well, I will have to write a few words—maybe I can mail it in Southhampton. We are both just fine. We get up at 6 o'clock in the morning as the maid likes to clean our room at that time. How is your mother? This is simply grand. We are [illegible]6 people on this ship. We have church every morning at 10 o'clock, and there are around three or four hundred people there every day. A Danish Lutheran preacher conducts the services. He is the only preacher on the boat.

Talk about eating—you don't know what you are eating half of the time. So many different kinds of things and so many kinds of meat. Coffee is served in the afternoon and maybe in the morning too. We had movies last night. I have been twice. Tell Russell we are all a bunch of farmers. The first evening gown I saw (silver slippers and black dress) was the first night. She looked foolish among the others. The next night there were three or four, but since then I have not seen any. It is just like a big church picnic.

How is Mrs. Dvrhove getting along?

Papa is the oldest man on the boat. They took a write up on him the other day to put in the Danish Lutheran paper. Brother John met us in New York and stayed with us over night at the Statler Hotel. $22.00 for two rooms. We had breakfast served in our room and that was $10.00.

There are lots of children on this boat. There are two little ones next door to us and they call us grandma and grandpa. Our room is 6 x 8 feet. Double wardrobe, lavatory, writing desk, chair, five lights. It is air-conditioned. The room is left open every day—no burglars here.

The little girl next door to us is having a birthday today, and the ship is giving her a birthday cake and every one sings "Happy Birthday". We don't go to bed 'till 12:30. Papa sleeps in the upper berth, and do we sleep? Well it is after lunch now and it is 4 o'clock and I have had my nap. When I awoke the coffee bell was ringing and I wondered if it was supper time. We do nothing but eat here all the time.

Just now there is a man here from Kaas where I was from. He is an officer on the ship. He wanted a write up about papa. So looks like we will be in the papers as soon as we get home to Kaas. There is one man 80 and one 81 on the boat, but papa still holds the place as oldest.

Just had lunch — all kinds of good stuff. I changed my money over today. Got five crowns for $1.00. Then I left it with the purser. He is Danish and so is our maid.

Oh, it is lovely here. Papa wants to stay here on the ship for a month. We feel so good. Not much difference in looks between first class and tourist class. Tourist class is lower is all. They all come up to first class to church. I am glad we are going first class, as Papa doesn't have to climb stairs.

Tonight there will be movies. There is a concert every afternoon at 3 o'clock. Lunch at mid-night if you want it.

Friday morning — Well a good breakfast over with and we just feel fine. Hope you all do too. Somebody else has just taken notes on Papa. I don't know just where that will go. Today there will be a banquet for the Captain. I will write more when I get there.

Love,

MAMA.

Mrs. T. E. Barham and daughter, Jane, are enjoying a vacation trip. From here they went to Columbia, S. C., where they will join Ted Barham and family, and from there will go to Myrtle Beech, S. C., where they will spend the biggest part of their vacation. They will be gone for two weeks.

Friends of Miss Lois Leech were indeed happy to see her again, after an absence of more than a year. Miss Leech also expressed much joy in being back among her good old friends again. She is now living in Demorest, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth and Leonard Bosworth spent last Wednesday in Birmingham, where they celebrated. What for? Why Uncle Jimmy's birthday. We won't say how many he has had, for he may not like it, and anyway, you wouldn't believe it if we were to tell you. Well he had a big time in Birmingham, visiting around with relatives. In the afternoon he visited with a nephew, Marion Bosworth and family, at Trussville, Ala. Here a nice big birthday cake was waiting for him, and as they were having cake and coffee the children sang Happy Birthday. After supper John Brothers and Leonard took him to the baseball game where he enjoyed a good game between the Barons and Mobile. Yes, Uncle Jimmy had a big birthday and a happy one.

Mrs. A. Reagan and Miss Naemi Turnquist left Saturday night for Ft. Lawn, S. C., where they will enjoy a visit with the G. B. Kirkpatrick family. They will also visit with friends in Charlotte, N. C. On their return home they intend to visit with a niece in Atlanta, Ga., besides a number of friends. In all they will be away for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Davenport of Winchester, Tenn., visited here last week with relatives.

Mrs. Ben Davenport has returned for a brief stay after visiting here with her sisters in Clanton and Selma, Ala.

Mr. G. Berlin of Atlanta, Ga., spent Saturday here seeing old friends. Mr. Berlin, an interior decorator of wide reputation, was here in the interest of the Lutheran Church which is being repaired, and plans to do a big part of the decorating which is to be done.

Mrs. H. S. Peterson and Mrs. Eva Turner left Tuesday morning for their respective homes after teaching at Thorsby Institute this past term. Mrs. Peterson will visit with a daughter in Salt Lake City, Utah, this summer and Mrs. Turner will remain at her home in Spencer, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson are domiciled in the Reagan home while she and Miss Turnquist are away on vacation.

The dewberry business is yet in full swing and after shipping for nearly two weeks now, over one million pounds of the fruit have been shipped. We will probably reach the two million mark this season.

Land Of Milk And Clover

DAIRYMEN throughout the country are watching with keen interest the developent of dairying in Alabama and the Southst. Farm leaders believe this attention is stified, and predict that the enterprise will ecome more important as time passes.

Dairying in this state, although still young, as rapidly grown into a $70 million business. he industry has more than tripled during e past ten years. Over 7,000 farmers are lling milk for manufacturing purposes and 600 Grade A dairies are operating with an verage of 40 to 50 cows each.

Indications are that Alabama will truly ecome a "Land of Milk and Clover."

Dairy advancement in Alabama is set up a what leaders term a sound basis, and the rst part of the program is an economical system of feeding. It is a system based on yearund pasture feeding—one that demands lite crib feeding, but an abundance of good razing.

"Because of year-round grazing, farmers hould be in position to produce milk cheaper an is possible in states lying farther north," eclared J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. extension dairyan, in a recent report. "Realizing that they re in competition with the other 47 states, airymen are learning to produce milk efciently with home-grown feeds and family bor," the report stated.

etter Cows Needed

A second essential leaders point to for connued progress is a better type of dairy cow. wo relatively new programs were started in cent months for the purpose of improving dividual producers in dairy herds of the ate. They are the artificial breeding proram which make it possible for a dairyman breed his cows to bulls of highest quality, nd the D.H.I.A. program wherein cows are fficially tested by local associations.

Experts say the market outlet for manuctured milk is unlimited in Alabama. Since nsideration of market possibilities is of priary importance to the producer dairymen in eneral are encouraged by this outlook.

"Markets are available in all sections of the ate where farmers are concentrating on milk oduction," said Parrish. "Others can be tablished in sections where dairying becomes important."

aising More Dairymen

And finally Alabama's program provides r training another generation of dairymen. 4-H Club and FFA organizations throughut the state dairying is a popular feature. A nior Dairyman program was launched four ears ago for these young farmers and they ork at it with an enthusiasm found only in oung people. More than 200 boys and girls ok part in the program last year.

Highlighting dairying every year are disict and state shows held for junior exhibirs. This fall will see seven district events ior to the state show at Birmingham in October.

SCHOOL IS OUT. The close of school finds thousands of farm youngsters flocking to fish ponds, lakes, and streams with tackle that varies from fly rods to hickory sticks. They will work endlessly in spare hours through the summer for just one thing—to feel the tug of a bream or bass on the end of a line. Like the boy in the picture, the youngsters will watch patiently for the cork to bobble.

Here, on the banks of Martin Lake, Paul Perkins, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Perkins, Wetumpka, Route 3, is keeping alert and ready for action. He thinks he will have a "nice string" by sun down.

June Dairy Month

DAIRYMEN and others in the industry will be working intensively during the month of June to promote wider use of milk and the many products derived from milk.

This effort in Alabama is part of a national program to keep dairy products before the public, particularly at this season of heaviest production. Actively behind the program in the state is the local organization of the American Dairy Association.

The Alabama ADA has led a number of successful sales campaigns. During the years of war demand, producers felt little need of special promotion, but they continued dairy month to keep products before the public. Real abundant production is here for the first time since the war and promotional work takes on a new meaning this June.

The average milk production in the United States at the beginning of May was 18.37 pounds per cow per day, highest flow for that date since records began in 1925.

Alfalfa Grows In The South

NOT many years ago, people said alfalfa could not be grown successfully in this state. Today those people are hard to find.

Research by the A.P.I. agricultural experiment station shows that alfalfa can be grown on most any well drained soil that will make satisfactory crops of cotton and corn. Naturally, some things must be done right and at the right time in growing the crop. But farmers are succeeding with it all over Alabama.

Some of the important things agronomists say do within the next few weeks if alfalfa is to be planted this fall are (1) if a winter legume is growing on land where alfalfa will be planted, turn it before it makes seed; (2) harrow and disc the land as soon after it rains as possible or often enough to control weeds and grass completely; and (3) locate seed inoculation and the right fertilizer—they should be on hand when needed.

Local county agents can furnish full details on growing this valuable crop which is used for both grazing and hay.

Last Sunday there were not so many [illegible] Baptist Sunday School [illegible] homecoming at Fellowship Church about eight miles west [illegible] people [illegible] Murray, their son, [illegible] children. They ask for [illegible] they attended Sunday [illegible] good Presbyterians [illegible] to be imitated by thousands of people.

The homecoming at Fellowship was well attended. One of the largest crowds that have ever been there.

In this homcoming the Fellowship churches, which are disbanded, were recognized: Shiloh, Welcome, Medline, Valley Creek and New Hope.

At the morning hour one of the best sermons was preached by Rev. W. R. Seymour that has been given in this community in many years. The writer heard one man say, "Willie Seymour preached the best sermon I have heard in 25 years." A sermon most needed in this critical time; a sermon the old, the middle aged and the young need to hear and heed.

At the noon hour lunch was spread on the table benches and the ground. There was dinner for all and plenty left.

In the afternoon there was a short business meeting and singing.

Rev. Seymour gave three gifts to the oldest person present who had not received a gift in the past 10 years. The oldest to receive the New Testament was Mr. Morgan Campbell, who will be 81 in January, of Plantersville. To the youngest mother, 18, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hopkins' daughter (we failed to get her name) she received a New Testament and instructed to read and teach it to her child. To the mother with the youngest baby (3 months), a Bible story book to read to the baby when old enough. This lady was Mrs. Oceal Bearden.

The day was enjoyed by everyone and all voted to have the homecoming again next year—the 1st Sunday in June.

Rev. Seymour asked the people to keep the church clean, keep up the tables and keep the cemetery clean. A love offering was taken to help to keep the cemetery clean.

SALUTE TO 4-H LEADERS. The five teachers shown above represent 141 years of service as volun- ry local leaders in the 4-H clubs of Hale County.

Senior member of the group is Miss Hortense Rhodes, center, of the Pleasant Valley Club. She has 3 years' service. W. W. Duncan, upper left, of Akron club, has 29 years; Miss Florence Gewin, upper right, f Boardman, has 20 years; Mrs. Mary Osborn, lower left, of Boardman, has 29 years, and Mrs. W. A. Wil- erson, of Moundville, has 30 years.

ive Local Leaders See Century Of 4-H Work

RESULTS of the many hours work contributed by voluntary local 4-H leaders Alabama can be measured only by the rec- rds of their members. But for years of ser- ice Hale County extension agents believe the eaders should be praised.

Five school teachers are now on the coun- 's honor roll for acting as 4-H local leaders 0 or more years. These leaders became as- ociated with extension rural youth work ack when it was known as the Corn Club, ig Club and Tomato Club. Their combined rvice totals 141 years.

"For 29 years I've been closely associated ith 4-H club work at Boardman school here I'm now principal," says Mrs. Mary sborn, "and I still find it most gratifying to e a 4-H leader. Four-H work gives members surance and experience in leadership that elp them in school work and in church or- zations."

Way Of Life

W. W. Duncan, who has been a local lead- t Akron since 1920 adds his thoughts to rs. Osborn's.

"I see better and more abundant living in e community where I've lived and taught school for 26 years," he says. "In my opinion the 4-H program has done more to stimulate this better life than any other group.

"Through project work, better and more progressive farmers and homemakers are found here. And community leaders of today have all been 4-H Clubbers; it was here they first received leadership training," Duncan added.

These long time leaders agree that farming has always been a way of life and that today it is a way to make money. They believe 4-H Club members who are taking advantage of their training have unlimited opportunities in store. These convictions keep their enthusiasm at high pitch and make their services invaluable to the farm youngsters.

National 4-H Camp

THE 1949 National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C., will be held June 15 to 22 this year.

Consumer Poll Shows Public Approval Of Paper Milk Bottle

RECENTLY many distributors have started using paper milk bottles. What does the public think of this practice?

In a survey of 500 consumers some advantages of paper bottles were mentioned. At least 84 patrons pointed out that they are more sanitary, 80 said they are easier to dispose of, 71 others rejoiced at no bottle washing, 57 said they save storage space, 53 said they are more convenient, and 45 declared them safer to handle.

"However," adds J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. extension dairyman, "the public should realize that this change causes extra expense as plants already have adequate supplies of bottles and machinery for keeping them clean. If your distributor uses glass bottles put your empties where he can pick them up regularly."

For Safety's Sake

FARMERS in this country lost more than 100 million dollars worth of property due to fire and lightning during the past year.

That figure is an estimate from the National Fire Protection Association and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. What's more, they claim the records show nine-tenths of all farm fires are traceable to carelessness.

Their specialists find many of these fires result from failure to clean up the farm premises. For this reason they are sponsoring an ocean-to-ocean, border-to-border spring clean-up campaign.

They are asking every farm family in the country to organize their farm against fires and other costly accidents. The clean-up may actually prevent a "clean-out" by fire. Certainly a good spring clean-up will make any farm a safer and more healthful place to live.

Any such project should include inspecting the electrical systems for over-fusing, broken insulators, defective ground connections, dust around lights, leaks in roof over wiring, and accumulations of manure around wiring. Also, families should examine lightning rod installations and ground wires, make sure flammable liquids are safely stored, and see to it that surface gasoline storage tanks are placed in the shade at a safe distance from the nearest building. These tanks can be made still safer by digging a trench around them.

Planning Helps St. Clair Dairyman

LAST summer T. M. Banks of St. Clair Springs, with the help of his county agent, made plans for a 20 unit Grade A dairy on 100 acres of cropland.

The plan was followed by this St. Clair County farmer almost to the letter. His farm land was green and he had a well constructed 20 stanchion barn with electrical equipment before buying cows to begin his dairying operation.

Mr. Banks is now milking 20 cows with a daily production of 375 to 400 pounds of grade A milk. With present milk prices he is adding up a sizeable daily income. Banks stated that $300 would cover the cost of feed crops he planted.

"What this dairyman has," says H. L. Eubanks, county agent, "is a large family-size dairy unit. The whole plan was put into effect within six months time—undreamed of a few years ago. He has a fine, well paying program and it can last as long as he wants it to."

But with all success stories come some regrets. Dairyman Banks says now he wishes he had killed the wild onions infesting some of his land before sowing his grazing. He says he'll remember that when planting grazing crops in the future.

Get Alfalfa Seed Early

FARMERS can expect to pay higher prices for alfalfa seed this summer because of the short crop produced last year.

The production of alfalfa seed in 1948 was approximately 48 million pounds, reports Ralph R. Jones, A.P.I. extension specialist in seed crops marketing, the smallest crop since 1942, and 25 per cent less than the average for 1942-47.

According to recent studies made by the National Safety Council, more farm people are killed in motor vehicle casualties than any other class of accidents.

Build Character In Your Farm Products

By A. W. JONES

AS a farmer and a citizen you are known by the character you build over a lifetime. As a seller of farm products you are known by the quality of the things you sell.

There are certain points that help farmers build character into their produce whether it is fruits and vegetables, poultry, livestock, cotton, or other products.

Producing the kind, amount, and quality of product that your market wants is one thing that is important. And turning out an honest pack is another. Be sure your produce is what you say it is. Make it as good on the bottom or in the middle of the lot as it is on top of the sample you show the buyer.

When you have done this, label your product or otherwise let the trade know where it came from. They will want more and will help you advertise what you have to sell.

The Golden Rule

Good farmers know and demonstrate these factors of good business all the time. Look around you at those who do this. Marketing is much like the golden rule. It works well for you as a seller if you make it work to the advantage of the buyer.

Make marketing a year-round business. More and more important is the need to produce and sell a constant supply of many products. Analyze your situation and the market outlets available. Plan a program that will give you more to sell over a longer time. For example, we didn't formerly have much to sell in the spring of the year. Farmers now find spring sales of seed, fruits, vegetables, livestock, and livestock products both practicable and profitable.

However, we still send out of Alabama to buy much of the small grain, legume, and other seed needed for planting. We should grow, harvest, and sell more of these on Alabama farms.

Farmers' net income in 1949 is expected to be down; this means more careful planning and budgeting of farm expenditures.

One sure way for farm families to meet declining farm incomes is to make their $25 home gardens worth $225.

SOUTHERN AG LEADERS VISIT ALABAMA. During a recent tour sponsored by the A.P.I. Extension Service and T.V.A. officials of Alabama, visitors from seven southern states saw results of a cooperative program carried by the two sponsoring groups.

Visitors, mostly land grant college employees and T.V.A. coordinators, toured the A.P.I. experiment station in Auburn, went through the Piedmont and Limestone valley soil regions, crossed Sand Mountain stopping at the substation at Crossville, and toured the Tennessee Valley region, visiting the substation at Belle Mina.

State Dairymen Take To D.H.I.A. Work In Efforts To Improve Their Herds

DAIRY herd improvement is already pr of Alabama. They realize that a system

"It is the high producing cows that ma extension specialist in charge of D.H. work, "and since the average production cows in Alabama is less than 4,000 pounds milk per year, better animals must be brou

of doing this is to raise calves from our b

Of 349 hogs entered in the Montgomery Hog Show this year, only one was disqualified for grading less than good. This shows quite an improvement over the 1948 show in which approximately one-third of the hogs were disqualified.

"Hogs at the Montgomery show on the average were as good as I have found in most corn belt markets," stated the federal grader from St. Louis, official grader for the event. "An exceptionally high percentage of hogs graded choice."

Some of the outstanding entries in the Montgomery show are shown in the above pictures. At left is a pen of hogs resulting from a Minnesota Hybrid No. 1 boar crossed on grade sows. They were exhibited by Mack Hayes.

Crenshaw County. These hogs came directly from hogged-off corn to the (last week in April).

At right are three hogs from a litter of 11. The animals were five mo old the day this picture was made, and averaged 225 pounds in weight. T pigs, Durocs, were fed by Claude and Clyde Mims, Autauga County twins who

Mims, shown in the picture, said the pigs were on crimson clover from the time were farrowed. While on grazing they were fed corn and supplement.

Growing Hybrid Seed Corn A Tedious Business

By RALPH JONES
A.P.I. Extension Specialist in Seed Crops Marketing

HYBRID corn, still relatively new to Alabama farmers, had its beginning in the Corn Belt in 1933. Since that time it has expanded by leaps and bounds; last year it was on almost 75 per cent of the national corn acreage.

The use of hybrids in the South started slower than in the Midwest, but popularity here is increasing as more suitable varieties are developed. They placed first in variety tests conducted by the A.P.I. agricultural experiment station in 1948.

Hybrids come from crossing inbred lines. Selection and development of these involve a long and tedious process with the breeder. Starting with good plants of an open-pollinated variety he reproduces the corn with self-pollinated plants. He plants the best of these ears and resulting good plants are again self-pollinated. He carries the variety several generations by this method.

As inbreeding is continued, plants become more uniform. Strains showing desirable characteristics are continued, whereas others are dropped. After several generations, the strains breed true and self pollinating is no longer necessary.

Involves Four Strains

During the development of the inbred line, the corn plant becomes smaller in size, and yields are greatly decreased. The line may have one good character and many undesirable ones, but no two lines are exactly the same.

It is the job of the plant breeder to put the characteristics of different inbred strains together in a good combination. Fortunately, the better characteristics in each parent tend to be expressed in the first generation.

Most of the hybrids we use are known as double-cross hybrids, involving four different inbred strains. Several Alabama farmers are producing double-cross varieties under the state seed certification program. They buy foundation seed of single crosses from seed stock associations.

These are planted in isolated fields with four rows of female parent to every two rows of male parent. Tassels of the female plants are removed before they start shedding pollen. With this having been done, all of the ears of the female plants are pollinated from the males. Only the ears from the female plants are saved for seed. They carry all the characteristics of the four inbred parents.

The above illustration represents inbred parent varieties of corn, and shows how they are used to produce double cross hybrid seed corn.

The four row strips at left are female. They have been detasseled to insure their being pollinated by the male parents (in two row strips). In harvesting the seed to be sold the breeder picks only the ears from the female stalks.

Research On Fur-Bearers Started In Louisiana Lab For Southeastern Area

FARMER-TRAPPERS may soon reap the benefits of a new fur animal research project.

According to Earl F. Kennamer, A.P.I. extension fish and wildlife marketing specialist, this project has just been established with headquarters at the Southwestern Louisiana Institute, LaFayette, Louisiana. The Fish and Wildlife Service reports that the goal of the program is to increase the quality and value of wild pelts produced in the fur-rich Southeast.

Dr. Herbert L. Dozier is leading the research. Some specific aims are to make improvements in trapping, skinning, stretching, drying, and shipping of raw furs for market. Dr. Dozier will also study the effects of water impoundment and land development on muskrat, raccoon, mink, opposum, otter, nutria, and skunk populations.

"Probably one of the most important studies will concern better methods of swamp improvement," points out Kennamer.

Enthusiastic about greater fur production in Alabama, the specialist says he will keep in close contact with the fur project results. He will forward to county agents in the state all information that will be of value to trappers.

Alabama fur resources and returns to trappers could probably be greatly increased, Kennamer believes. As an example, he points to the neighboring state of Louisiana, leading fur producer of the country, where ten million dollars' worth of pelts are sold annually.

New Milk Route Born In Chilton

A new milk route has been established in Chilton County. It is operated by Alan Posey of Mars Hill-Freeman community and serves nine other localities.

"This milk route will mean more cash income to farmers of Chilton County," says R. H. Kirkpatrick, assistant county agent who is supervising the program. "It offers farmers an opportunity to have year-round sales without decreasing the acreage devoted to cash crops."

According to latest reports more than a ton of milk is being hauled regularly to the plant from this area. Kirkpatrick predicts that by mid-summer the amount will be doubled. If farmers of the county take advantage of the route, milk cans along the highways will be as familiar in these communities as they are now in sections where routes have been operating for some time.

Originating in Shelby County, the Carnation Company route serves the following Chilton County communities: Minooka, Jemison, Pleasant Grove, Pates Chapel, Thorsby, Mt. Pleasant, Cooper, Thomas, Jr., and part of the Clanton area.

After leaving Clanton the milk is transported to the processing plant in Dadeville.

Several Alabama counties are in various stages of forming dairy calf chains for farm boys and girls. At a recent "kick off" meeting in Tuscaloosa County 10 high bred Canadian heifers were awarded 4-H Club members in that county.

The bred heifers, which cost sponsors $200 each, were awarded to the young farmers and farmerettes on the basis of their accomplishments in 4-H Club work, and on essays written in a county-wide contest. The program was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Tuscaloosa; they were joined by other businessmen and groups who bought individual animals.

Home Clubs Honored

THINGS were sowewhat reversed at a recent meeting in Eufaula. It is the usual thing for home demonstration club members to work unselfishly for other groups, but at this meeting the ladies were honored guests—they were entertained by local businessmen at a luncheon.

This meeting, held for Barbour County home demonstration club members with visitors present from Bullock and from the state office in Auburn was one of eight dinners being sponsored by the Alabama Chain Stores Council. They are to honor farm women for the outstanding work they are doing in improving rural community and home life.

Other recognition meetings of this type are being held in May, June, and July at Anniston, Brewton, Clanton, Decatur, Demopolis, Jasper, Opelika, Selma, and Roanoke.

At the Barbour County chain store banquet, Mrs. Alfred Grant, standing, reports to the more than 200 club representatives, their hosts, and visitors. She talks on the work of the home demonstration council during the past year. Mrs. Grant is president of the Barbour County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs.

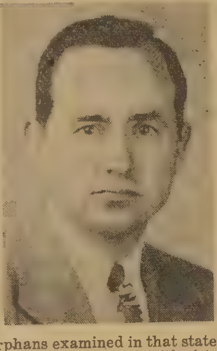
Others in the picture, left to right, are Miss Margaret Oliver, district home demonstration agent from Auburn; Mrs. E. F. Calhoun, county council reporter and president of the Terese Club, Mrs. Grant; W. S. Hester, toastmaster and local chain store representative; C. M. Rogers, chain store representative, and Miss Frances Crawford, Barbour County home demonstration agent.

In the lower picture Mrs. Lillie Maude Alexander, left, state home demonstration agent, examines a spread made for $4 by Mrs. R. T. Boguer, member of Terese Club. The spread was shown at the meeting along with many other exhibits in sewing, cooking, handicraft, etc. Holding the spread are Mrs. C. L. Lunsford, center, and Mrs. Guy Baker, Jr., both members of Terese Club.

Milk Makes A Difference

By K. M. AUTREY, Head Dairy Department
Alabama Polytechnic Institute

ALABAMA farmers are today faced with a two-fold challenge in dairying: (1) to raise farm income by increasing milk production, and (2) to improve the health of our people, by getting more products on the market.



In Alabama we consume about half as much milk as do the people in New York. One survey showed that in certain sections of Alabama people eat less than one-third as much dairy food as nutritionists recommend. During the war 40 per cent of Alabama draftees were rejected, mainly because of physical defects. In another of our Southeastern States the percentage of rejections was even greater.

Yet of 1,138 orphans examined in that state only 1.4 per cent were rejected. Nutritionists and doctors explain this remarkable contrast by noting that the orphanages fed an abundance of health foods such as milk, meat, eggs, and fresh vegetables.

In eight states where the percentage of our country's draft rejection was highest (over 40 per cent) there is only one milk cow for each 8.4 persons. In the nine states having the lowest rate of rejection (under 25 per cent) there is one milk cow for each 2.4 persons.

USDA figures show that about 75 per cent of the calcium people consume comes from dairy products. And calcium is needed by young and old alike. Young folks need it primarily for development of strong teeth and bones. Older folks need it for maintaining healthy teeth, bones and certain body functions. A recent clinical survey showed that three-fourths of our population over 60 suffer from a lack of one or more of the nutrients, calcium, protein, iron, and vitamins. Dairy products are among the more economical sources of these protective nutrients.

MY pride in Alabama and my faith in livestock—than I had seen before. And had great faith in Alabama agriculture.

The Auburn type broiler house, above, is highly recommended by leaders and is praised by poultrymen throughout the South who have used it.

The upper picture shows an outside view of the house with arrows marking its outstanding features. These are ceiling ventilators, floor ventilators, and double doors.

The drawing below the picture shows proportions and dimensions for one end of the dual-purpose house.

Auburn Broiler House Praised By Growers

By JOHN WEEKS, A.P.I. Extension Poultryman

HOUSING has long been a problem of poultry development in Alabama. Many armers have hesitated in building because hey had no practical construction design.

In the past, houses were so designed that hey were not suited to any other use if the armer decided to get out of the chicken business. Also they were so hot in summer that roilers could hardly be grown throughout he year. Another problem has been that ouses were designed as either brooder ouses or laying houses. They need a house hat can be used as a brooder house or laying ouse.

Recognizing these housing problems poulry specialists of the Alabama Polytechnic Intitute, working with growers and others hroughout the industry, developed the Auurn Broiler House. This building is of two 4 x 60-foot sections with a 10-foot feed room etween. Plans are available for either conrete block or wood construction. The conrete block house is a few feet longer and one oot wider so that no half blocks will be reuired. The wood house holds 3,000 to 3,500 roilers or 800 to 900 hens. The concrete lock house takes care of 4,000 broilers or ,000 hens.

ives Year-Round Comfort

The house was especially designed to overome problems in poultry housing, the first of hich is economy. It has a minimum of roof nd wall space in proportion to the floor, and ost per foot of floor space is as cheap as on ny other plan.

Comfort of chicks is another consideration. his house can be made warm in winter and ool in summer—it provides for all year production. The secret of this is in the ventilaon system. An opening of two feet, provid with curtains, is made at the top on all sides. At the bottom of each wall another ventilator is provided—a one-foot opening. It is closed from the inside of the house in cold weather, and when starting chicks, by a 12-inch board fastened over the opening. The house has cross ventilation—a continuous flow of cool air comes in at the bottom as the hot air moves out at the top.

Has Many Conveniences

Efficient labor use was carefully considered in this design. Double doors 10 feet in width make another feature. A wagon, truck, or manure spreader can be carried right into the house for cleaning out or for bringing in litter.

The house is ideally suited to many farm uses should it no longer be needed for poultry. The well lighted, well ventilated building with wide doors makes a good machinery and tool house, livestock barn, storage warehouse, or general farm building.

Praise for the building comes from all parts of Alabama and other poultry sections. Plans for it are available through your county agent's office.

Keep Corn Yields Climbing!

IF Alabama corn yields are to continue increasing, farmers must make timely use of wise practices.

J. C. Lowery, A.P.I. extension agronomist, in advancing this thought, cautions growers about side dressing and laying by. Be sure to apply side dressing to your corn 35 to 40 days after planting and keep a good stand.

In 1948 Americans continued to eat more than one egg a day on the average. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics estimates the per capita consumption at about 388, second only to 1945 when the figure was 397.

More Grain Sorghum

GRAIN sorghum is a relatively new crop in Alabama, with acreage expanding from practically none seven years ago to a reported total by county agents of 145,472 acres in 1948.

Varieties, time of planting, rates of fertilizing and seeding, spacing, and culture methods now in use are the products of research by the A.P.I. agricultural experiment station.

When the station in 1941 began state-wide variety testing as an outgrowth of earlier work, little or no grain sorghum was grown in the state. Over 50 varieties have been tested, many being discarded for one reason or another.

The two principal varieties now grown in Alabama are Martin's Combine and Early Hegari, both of which have consistently topped the station's tests.

The crop is planted as a supplementary grain crop to corn. It is well suited to planting after winter legumes grown for seed or after small grains.

A Dollar Well Spent

THE average housewife spends 15 per cent of her food budget for dairy products and receives for her money 30 per cent of the family's total food needs.

J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. extension dairyman, says this is one of the many reasons why more dairy products should be used.

County Cattle Group Elects New Officers

OSCAR H. JONES, Prattville, is the new president of the Autauga County Cattlemen's Association.

Jones served as vice-president of the association last year and is following Ed Wadsworth as head of the organization.

During recent months, the cattlemen's group reached a membership of 98 members to become the largest association of its kind in the state.

At the recent meeting, where new officers were elected, W. H. Gregory, A.P.I. Extension livestock specialist, conducted a cattle school for members. He emphasized the need for better management practices among growers of beef and discussed other problems with the cattlemen. Charlie Breedlove, county agent, assisted Gregory with the school and at the close conducted a tour to see local herds.

Other officers elected for this year are C. L. Harrel, vice-president, and C. J. Jackson, secretary-treasurer. C. C. Jones and M. S. Murfee were re-elected to serve on the Board of Directors.

The long and short of it is that these two animals on the farm of R. S. Thompson, Autauga County, are approximately the same age.

Farmer Thompson keeps the 18 months old dwarf, right, for the purpose of attracting attention to the excellent grazing on his farm. The animal is little more than two feet high.

New Insect Control For Dairy Cow Barns

DDT is not recommended for insect control in dairy herds. A new and safer insecticide has been found that leaves no harmful content in milk.

Methoxychlor is now recommended for spraying dairy cow barns. However, DDT is still recommended for spraying mule barns, outhouses of all kinds, hogs, beef cattle, and all other livestock except dairy cows in production.

Changes in recommendations for using DDT are based on research conducted by the Food and Drug Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and state experiment stations.

Dr. F. S. Arant, A.P.I. agricultural experiment station entomologist, reported recently that methoxychlor can be bought in the form of a 50 per cent wettable powder and may be used in exactly the same manner as DDT. It has a quicker knockdown effect on flies but lasts for a shorter time, the entomologist asserted.

Prevent Off-Flavors In Milk

OFF-flavors in milk are worse when wild onions and bitterweeds are plentiful in the pasture.

J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. extension dairyman, points out that if cows are grazing where onions or bitterweeds prevail, it is wise to remove them from pasture five to seven hours before milking. He recommends feeding good quality hay during the time they are not grazing.

Many undesirable seeds such as bitterweeds may be destroyed by mowing pastures regularly, the dairyman adds.

In every ton of milk sent off the farm, there are 14 to 18 pounds of minerals, mostly lime and phosphate.

Fight Flies From Now Until Frost

NOW is the time to spray beef cattle for horn flies, stable flies, and mosquitoes. These pests cause cattle much misery and prevent them from gaining as they otherwise would.

W. H. Gregory, A.P.I. extension livestock specialist makes this statement and points out definite steps for the farmer to follow in controlling the insects. Use one pound of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder to four gallons of water and apply this to the cattle. Use either a bucket and rag, a hand sprayer, or a power sprayer, depending on the number of beef cattle to be sprayed.

This spraying will not only make beef cattle more efficient, but will reduce the hazard of disease. Many diseases are carried by parasites. If a thorough job of spraying is done, including all cattle and their outbuildings, the farm home will be free of stable flies and mosquitoes for many weeks.

However, the specialist adds this word of caution, "do not use DDT on producing dairy cattle, milk barns, or barns where milk cows are housed."

Less Damage In Peanuts

ALABAMA peanut growers have cut their annual total loss from concealed damage as much as 80 per cent because of answers provided by research of the A.P.I. agricultural experiment station.

Prior to 1946, growers in the state suffered losses ranging from one to three million dollars, depending upon weather conditions during the harvest season. In the last three years, they reduced their loss to less than a total of a half million dollars.

Experiments by the Alabama station involving study on the nature of concealed damage, its causes, conditions under which it develops, and variety tests to determine resistance to the disease yielded two answers that paid off handsomely—(1) plant a variety that is highly resistant to the disease, and (2) cure the crop rapidly.

Alabama growers are now planting the highly-resistant variety, Dixie runner peanuts. Many farmers are windrowing the crop and picking the peanuts directly from the windrow.

State Enters Chicken-Of-Tomorrow Contest

THIS year Alabama poultrymen will take part in the National Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest.

The state committee, headed by John Weeks, A.P.I. extension poultryman, announces that the 1949 Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest will be held in Birmingham during the week of October 3 at the Alabama State Fair. Chickens to be entered must be hatched the week of July 18.

Goal of the new three-year program is a 1951 chicken patterned after progress made in the first contest. The new bird will grow faster and make more meat. It is being selected to bring increased consumer satisfaction.

"Alabama did not take part in the last three-year contest," said Weeks in making the announcement, "Our entire industry will gain by taking part in the program this time. It should call attention to some of the excellent birds we have in the state."

Special Junior Division

Any grower in Alabama who has 100 straight run chicks is eligible to enter. There will be separate judging for junior and senior contestants. State, regional and national contests are scheduled from coast to coast, and $10,000 in awards from the A & P Tea Company will be given winners.

This year Alabama contestants will show 15 of their best cockerels at the end of a ten-week growing period. After the birds are judged and shown, they will be sold with proceeds going to the owner. The committee hopes to have one or more senior and junior contestants from each county. Since the number of chicks required for entering is small 4-H Club and FFA members will be especially interested, they believe.

The 1949 contest will be held only on a state level. The 1950 contest will be held on state and regional levels, and the 1951 contest on the national level.

If there is any question concerning this contest, contact members of the state committee for details. Other members of the committee are D. F. King, head of A.P.I. poultry department; W. O. Hudgins, chief, poultry division State Department of Agriculture; F. G Bridges, president, Alabama Poultry Association; and J. A. Beaty, manager, agricultural department, Chamber of Commerce, Birmingham, Alabama.

At a recent crimson clover tour in Autauga County where visitors from throughout the South saw the Autauga strain at the height of its season The Alabama Dusting Corp. presented an airplane dusting demonstration.

This type of dusting is becoming more popular with farmers who have large open fields where planes can operate with ease. One-third of Autauga County's cotton was dusted by plane last year.

The picture at upper left shows the plane "pulling out" at the end of the field. At lower left it is coming down field with the duster in full operation, and at right it is making a turn for another round of dusting.

Since the primary purpose of the tour was to see crimson clover, this field on the farm of the Wadsworth Bros. near Autaugaville, was used for the demonstration.

Jefferson Club Safety Conscious

MT. Pinson Home Demonstration Club members in Jefferson County are "safety conscious."

Motorists speeding pas the school, located on the highway, will b reminded to check their speed in its vicinity Pedestrians and school children also will b reminded to use caution in crossing at the intersections.

Mt. Pinson club women raised $400 through their home demonstration club to pay for the lights. They are proud of the adde precautions and will continue their efforts t make Mt. Pinson a safer place in which t live.

Plans call for one of the biggest horseshows ever to be held in Central Alabama to be held under the lights at Clanton's City Park on the night of August 10th at 7:30 p.m. The line up of events calls for the showing in 10 classes with prize money going to the winner in each class. Classes will also include ponies as well as horses.

Mr. Parrish stated that it is expected that horse lovers will come from Georgia and Mississippi as well as from several communities throughout the State of Alabama.. It is practically certain that a large representation will be included from both Montgomery and Selma as well as from several places in north Alabama.

Although it has been decided that there will be ten classes to be judged in all, it has not been fully decided as yet just what classes will be included in all, it has not been fully decided as yet just what classes will be included in that total. Mr. Parrish stated that this information will be forthcoming at another committee meeting this coming week.

It is understood also that besides the two or two-and-a-half hour horseshow there will be a band in the horse ring to entertain the crowds that are expected to attend the annual show. There will also be refreshments available for everyone.

Research Results

in brief from A.P.I. AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

GRAIN SORGHUM is more likely to produce a successful crop than is corn when planted after June 1. On the basis of tests the following varieties of grain sorghum are recommended: (1) for harvesting with a combine in Northern Alabama—Martin's Combine, Caprock, Plainsman; for Central and Southern Alabama—Martin's Combine, Caprock, Plainsman, and Early Hegari; (2) for cutting and feeding green or mature—Hegari and Sagrain; and (3) for harvesting heads by hand—Hegari, Sagrain, Early Hegari, and Caprock.

CHEAPEST AND FASTEST GAINS were made by pigs that ate the most feed daily in tests at the Main Station.

THE COST OF PIGS depends largely on the number of pigs raised in the litter, according to a study of 147 litters at the Main Station. Each pig raised in a litter of nine cost only about one-third as much as each pig in a litter of only three.

A COMBINATION DUST for the control of insects and diseases of runner peanuts has resulted in increased yields of 369 to 1,389 pounds per acre. These gains were made on fields that produced 1,200 to 2,000 pounds of peanuts per acre without dusting. The mixture used contains 3.4 per cent copper and at least 65 per cent sulfur blended with 2.5 per cent DDT or 10 per cent toxaphene. Four applications were made at 10-day intervals, the last being applied about one month prior to harvest.

FEED COSTS per hundred weight of milk increase as size of dairy herds increases on grade A wholesale dairies in Alabama. A recent study shows that increased feed costs are due largely to the difficulty of providing adequate pasture and grazing crops for larger herds, and the practice of feeding both good and poor producing cows. Less than 25 per cent of Alabama's wholesale dairymen feed cows on the basis of production.

PASTURES COMPOSED OF MIXTURES of grasses and legumes must be managed to favor the growth of the clover. Tests with combinations of Bermuda grass, crimson clover and white clovers have shown that the grass must be closely grazed or mowed in the fall. The grass residue will retard the growth of clover and must be removed before the clover starts to grow if a satisfactory winter pasture is to be obtained.

ESTIMATED MONTHLY YIELDS in milk production, based on weights taken one day during a given month, are adequate for the dairyman's use in identifying profitable cows and culling "boarders." Tests at the Main Station show that milk weights taken one day each month provide estimates that average about 3 per cent greater than actual milk weights. However, when milk weights are taken 2 days each month, they are almost as accurate as every day weighing.

COTTON WAS PRODUCED on mechanized farms in 1947 with about 30 hours less labor per acre than on farms where the entire source of power was workstock.

After a recent week's tour of Alabama, farmers an cattlemen from 10 Southern states agreed that n area in the U. S. has a sounder grazing program. Too the 250 visitors were impressed with rapid progres this state is making in all other farm enterprises.

(Above) Those on the tour study grazing system in the Black Belt. They learned that plenty of fee on the ground, good breeding, and sound manageme team up to give economical beef production.

(Left) Farmers of Madison County's Lily Flag community tell visitors that good cottonseed are th basis for better crops. C. N. Buchanan, Aaron Fleming and Joe Fleming display a cotton sack in whic their certified seed are shipped to all sections of th cotton belt.

Artificial Breeding Increasing Production Of Dairy Cows

BULLS in use at the artificial breeding unit in Auburn are doing a good job of increasing milk and fat production in herds throughout the state. There are 17 artificial breeding associations operating to make the service of these males available to dairymen.

In reviewing the artificial breeding program to determine its value, conception rate is an important consideration. At this point the conception rate reported by Alabama associations is well above 60 per cent—higher than nature's average.

This state ranks thirty-first in the country in the number of cows bred during 1948. However, in Alabama the program is still young.

Caley Peas Gain Price Suppor

THE P.M.A., U. S. Department of Agriculture, has announced the addition of roug peas—commonly known as Caley peas singletary peas, and wild winter peas—to it price support program for 1949.

The basic support price for rough peas wa given as five and one-half cents per pound An increase in the basic price of blue lupin seed from three and one-half to four an one-half cents per pound was also announced

The announcement stated that purchas agreements will be available to producer from time of harvest through December 31 1949. Previously, the Department had se the end date at February 28, 1950. Also th delivery date of seed was changed from Ma 1-30, 1950, to January 1-31, 1950.

Hal Moore, assistant supervisor, State P M.A., says rough peas were added to the program because winter cover crop seed are i short supply and the crop provides a sourc of additional seed.

The two calves shown above are from cows artificially bred. But they are no longer curiosities, becau hundreds of dairy calves like these have been born in Alabama as a result of the artificial breeding progra now underway in the state.

Television Comes To Tiffin Furniture Store

Each day this week from 12 noon until two o'clock and every night from 6:45 on you can see television at Tiffin Furniture Store. Gabby Tiffin invites you to be his guest during the broadcast any time, day or night and enjoy the programs with him.

Especially does he want you to see the East-West baseball game Friday night. Dizzy Dean and Mel Allen will be in Birmingham to announce the game and you can sit at Tiffin Furniture Store and enjoy it play by play over television. Birmingham Lions Club are sponsors of the game and the receipts go to the Lions Sight Conservation Fund.

Gabby says an unusual thing happened this week durigg his tests with television. He picked up Buffalo, N. Y., Philadelphia, Pa., Detroit, Mich., and Chicago, Ill. This was very unusual according to Mr. Tiffin, who says it must have been due to weather conditions, and would probably not happen again.

Attention was called also to the fact that the Dixie Cafe would boast a television set in time for the East-West game Friday night. This gives the Dixie the distinction of having the first television set installed in any business establishment in Clanton. That is of course excepting the two dealers here.

The Tiffins urge you to be their guest at any or all of their programs and enjoy the new wonder of television.—Adv.

We Agree With Everybody

Can one agree with Governor James Folsom and the Legislature at one and the same time?

We think so, in fact, The Andalusia Star-News finds itself in that very position at this hour.

The legislature says "Clamp a tight lid on the temporary clerk fund of the Governor, and save the state plenty of dollars."

With this theme, we concur.

Then Big Jim points belligerently at the 158 clerical assistants carried on the Legislative payroll. The Governor infers the Legislature is preaching economy without practicing any measures to effect savings for the State of Alabama.

On this score, we stand with the Governor. Let the Legislature, which is riding herd these days in governing the State of Alabama, see that its economy skirts are clean while sweeping out needless spending in the administrative branches. — Andalusia Star-News.

Things You Never Knew 'Til Now

When the Provisional Congress met in Montgomery Feb. 4, 1861, only six of the 11 Confederate states were represented. They were Alabama, Florida, South Carolina, Mississippi, Georgia and Louisiana.

Alabama was the first state to ratify the 16th amendment to the U. S. Constitution, which gives Congress the right to levy and collect the income tax.

Huntsville was not only the city in which Alabama's first constitutional convention was held, but it furnished the president of that assembly, John W. Walker. Walker also became one of Alabama's first two U. S. senators after gaining statehood.

Gov. John Gayle was the first of the state's early chief executives to urge far-reaching reforms in Alabama's penal system. He served as governor from 1831 through 1835.

Dallas County was named in honor of Alexander J. Dallas of Pennsylvania. Dallas served as an early Secretary of the U.S. Treasury. He was also the father of George M. Dallas, vice-president, 1845-49.

Among Alabama's most famous duels are those fought by William R. King and Maj. M. J. Kenan; ex-Gov. Gabriel Moore and a Mr. Callier; and William L. Yancey and T. L. Clingman of North Carolina.

It has been estimated that $50,000,000 of tourist money was spent in Alabama during 1948.

As early as 1819, the legislature passed a law prohibiting the building of fish dams in Alabama streams.

The first college fraternity to come into the state was Delta Kappa Epsilon. It was established at the University of Alabama in 1847.

The peach was the first fruit to be grown in this state. The first peach seeds were brought in by early traders and government agents among the Indians long before the coming of the white settlers.

Jefferson Davis was not only inaugurated president of the Confederacy in Montgomery, but he was also elected to that office in Alabama's capital city. He was chosen by the delegates from the six states convening in the Provisional Congress of 1861.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Seems like the race for television in our town is between Gabby Tiffin, Cecil Carter and Ervin Dailey, or Carter Bros. Gabby and the Carters have spent lots of time and money experimenting and are just about ready for TV when the Birmingham stations start their broadcasting the first of July. Both concerns have sets for sale and both are capable of installing the sets. The long looked for time when you could sit in your living room and enjoy a movie or a musical is here and our prediction is that before another year there will be dozens of homes in Chilton County with television sets. And believe it or not, the price of a good set isn't near as high as was predicted when you first learned of it's possibility a few years ago.

Isn't it about time the publicity committee of the Chilton County Third Annual Peach Festival start publishing pictures of the pretty girls? Long before this time last year we were enjoying at least two pretty girls each week on the front page of the News. It's only four weeks until the Festival and somebody had better get a hump on or we will have to run all the contestants pictures the same week and with all the beauty there is in our county we just couldn't take it. We like our beauty sort of strung out, so we can enjoy it longer.

The lucious home-grown tomatoes we are enjoying now are also tops. We say "also tops" because everybody knows when you just say "tops" in this county the first thing that comes to mind is Chilton County peaches. But the first tomatoes being shipped out of Chilton are mighty good. They bear no resemblance in taste to the tomatoes you have been eating all winter that come to us from Florida. 'Course we could be partial but when we make the remark this time of year, "Boy, that is some tomatoe," we are not talking about the two-legged variety of tomato, we're talking about the round, red, juicy tomato cultivated here abouts.

We hope you good citizens of Chilton County are keeping in mind that your school will name its trustees next week. It is an important office and vital to your child. Try to name the school patrons who will take most interest in school affairs and devote their time to the job.. They can get many things done for your school that needs the doing.

Rev. John Smith is head of the Cancer Drive in our county this year. He tried to raise the county quota by placing "Cancer Cans" on the counters about town. He got himself some "Cancer Candles" and placed them about town to see if the small flame might light the way of a few dollars to the cancer fund, but no one seemed to feel the urge to contribute. Now he and the committee are giving a show at the courthouse next Sunday afternoon for the purpose of raising enough money to put Chilton over the top. It will be a request program, with all local talent being used. Radio Station WKLF will donate the time and many of the stars of the local station will contribute their time to make a success of the undertaking. Those who donate to the good cause of stamping out cancer will get to make a request for their favorite radio performer to dedicate a song to them. This will be done on the spot. If you can't attend the show at the courthouse, you can call the courthouse and request your favorite song and mail your donation in later. Remember the day and time and help out in this worthwhile undertaking.

Horace Popwell was in Monday morning with a few of his beautiful peaches. He said they were a few "culls" he picked up around one of his trees. Three of the little culls he brought in weighed two pounds. For several years we have sent some of Horace Popwell's peaches over the state to our friends to show them what kind of peaches is grown in our county. He says this year he will have plenty as usual and they will be of the same quality. Gov. "Big Jim" Folsom enjoys a basket of his peaches every year and the kind Horace grows is appropriate for the big Chief Executive.

Have Faith In God

These words are found in Mark 11:22. They were spoken by Jesus to His disciples. The margin says, "Have the faith of God." If there ever was a time that men need to strive to keep the faith of God, and to have this faith increased, it is today in which we live. Communism is not merely a political party, but is an organization against God, and everything that pertaineth to God. Communism is here to undermine, and to destroy the faith of God in the hearts of men. But let us earnestly contend for the faith that once was delivered unto the saints. Long after communism has come and gone, God and His people will forever be. From everlasting to everlasting, He is God. He knows no change; but the past, the present, and the future is the same eternal now with God.

A. P. HICKMAN

The event which led Jesus to speak these words to His disciples followed a demonstration of His power over nature. Jesus had come to a fig tree, if haply He mighty find anything thereon, and when he came to it, he found nothing but leaves. Then Jesus said unto it, "No man eat fruit of thee hereafter forever. And the disciples heard it. And in the morning, as they passed by the same fig tree, it was dried up by the roots. It had died over-night. The roots were even dead, and the leaves were falling off. Peter called the Master's attention to the tree, saying, "Master, behold, the fig tree which thou cursedst is withered away." Then Jesus spoke the words above, saying, "Have the faith of God."

Friends, let us keep faith in God; in His Word, in His power, and in His love. Remember that the motto of our nation is, "In God We Trust." May we ever live up to this motto. AMEN.

SECRET SINS

"Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter; fear God, and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." (Ecc. 12:13-14).

A. P. HICKMAN

One thing is certain, and that is this, nothing is done secret from the Great Judge of the whole world.. The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good. And the Word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in His sight; but all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of Him with Whom we have to do. If people would only stop long enough in their ways to consider, that no one can do wrong and get by; they might think twice before acting once.

In Numbers 32:23 we have God's word. "But if ye will not do so, behold, ye have sinned against the Lord; and be sure your sin will find you out." Friends, this is the Word of God, and there is no way round it. Recently the nation was shocked with the news that a mother of a 14 year old son was brought to justice when her sin found her out. She had committed a sin, and then to hide her sin from the public's eye, she committed another sin of keeping her illegitimate child in a prison-room for more than ten years. She said, "I was ashamed of my secret sin, and was afraid of what the neighbors would say, if they found it out."

She could hide her sin for a while from her neighbors, but at no time was it hid from the all-seeing-eye of God. He has set our iniquities before Him, and our secret sins in the light of His countenance. David committed a sin in secret, but God brought it to light. Oh, how the words of the prophet Nathan cut their way into the heart of the king when he heard, "David, Thou are the man." . . . Jezebel and Ahab thought they had everything in hand when they had Naboth put to death in order to get his vineyard, but God had his eye upon the situation, and their sin was brought to light, and justice was meted out to Ahab and Jezebel.

May every honest and truthful upright person pray that the God of all justice will bring every secret thing to light in His own way, and in His own time. Amen.

Church News—

Everyone remember the Vacation Bible School at the Baptist Church. A large number of children are attending. They enjoyed a parade Saturday afternoon thru the residential section of town, to the high school, back to the church then thru south of town. It was thrilling to see them advertising the Bible School.

Those who were baptised at Dr. Nix's pond last Sunday were: Gary Bague, Lewis Mitchell, Jr., Moran Johnson, Martha Ellen Chambers, Wilma Clarke, Charles McGee, Ed Day, Jr., Caroline Begue, Lois Taylor, York Carpenter, Mrs. Robert Chambers, Shirley Faye Chambers, Jerry Atchison, Buddy Williams, Douglas Giles, and Mrs. Louise Chambers.

Comings and Goings—

Mrs. Daisy Littlejohn left last Saturday to attend summer school at the University of Alabama, taking a course in manual training. Mrs. Littlejohn has retired from her teaching career this year, after having taught 40 schools, 26 of these one-teacher schools. She was born in Tennessee and attended Winchester, Tenn., Normal College, University of Denver, Colo., University of Alabama; taught five years in Franklin County, Tennessee, 35 years in Dallas, Perry, Bibb and Chilton Counties in Alabama. Before her marriage she was Miss Daisy Blackwood. In 1906 she was married to the late Rev. Edward Littlejohn of Chilton County. She reared three fine children, each of them have taught in Alabama schools. Edward, Jr., is principal of Calera High School; Woodfin taught at University, Tuscaloosa, is at present in business as cabinet maker in Tuscaloosa; daughter, Mrs. Lou Olive Liddle, is teaching at Marvel, Ala.

Mrs. Littlejohn received her B.S. degree at the Livingston State Teachers College just two weeks before her son, Woodfin, received his B. S. degree from the University of Alabama. She has the distinction of being one of the oldest graduates from Livingston College.

-Here at Maplesville High Mrs. Littlejohn will be greatly missed as she has taught here several years, but she needs and deservs this rest. Her life has been a full and useful life, a successful homemaker, mother, teacher and business woman is due to hard work, sacrifices and a trust in God. From her, her pupils of these 40 years gained an appreciation of art, music, nature and of their fellowman. Behind that broad smile and soft, kind eyes, was a brain that lent every effort toward moulding young minds and creating just upright men and women.

She will always live in the loving memory of "her boys and girls" whom she has taught, and we cannot her too highly for the long years of faithful service. Whatever her future plans are everyone is wishing for her much happiness and a long life.

He is president of the Civitan Club.

VETERAN FARM NEWS

This week we would like to tell about a veteran who is doing a good job of farming. He is none other than Calvin Moody of Jemison, Rt. 1. Calvin owns 120 acres of land just off U. S. 31, above Oak Grove Community.

For cash crops, Calvin has 17 acres of cotton, 1 acre of tomatoes, ½ acre of pole beans, ½ acre squash, 1 acre watermelons. In addition he has 20 acres of corn to feed his livestock. He is raising 135 pullets for egg production this fall and winter. He is also planning to go into the broiler production as well.

This fall Calvin is planning to plant 1 acre of alfalfa and 10 acres of clover for his six milk cows, from which he is already selling milk.

Calvin has a very good farm program started and his neighbors should sit up and take notie of this veteran's farm.

PRESERVING FENCE POSTS

It takes green posts and timbers 60 to 90 days to dry and season thoroughly after being cut. After this, they are ready for treatment.

WATERING GARDEN

Two or three weeks of dry weather following a rainy period can almost ruin a garden. Gardeners who have strong wells and either electric, gasoline, or windmill pumps can protect a small garden from dry weather damage at very little extra cost.

While painting woodwork, coat all doorknobs, locks, and other metal parts with vaseline so that paint may be easily removed if it splashes on these areas.

BASEBALL—

JEMISON WINS OVER CLANTON 5 TO 1

On last Thursday night, June 2, the Jemison and Clanton Independents locked jaws in the third game between the two teams, with Jemison emerging with a 5 to 1 victory.

Thomas, pitching for Jemison let the Clanton boys down with two scratch hits, and only allowed them to hit two balls to the outfield. Several sparkling plays by the home team broke up numerous budding rallies which the Clantonites were continually trying to spring.

Jemison's popular little teen-age keystone combination, J. Cobb and E. Edwards, made several hard fast plays that made Thomas' pitching effective. They uncorked a fast double-play in the 8th that prevented trouble.

The most sensational play of the game was made by Jemison's third sacker, M. Edwards, when Baker hit a high pop foul that was falling in behind the Negro bleachers, up very near the wall of the High School Building. No one conceded him any chance whatever to take this one, but at the crack of the bat he tore out like a scalded gopher and snagged it much to the chagrin of 'Ole Doc.

Clanton, as usual, was continually threatening to score, but after getting men on bases Thomas bore down, and the batters simply could not come through with the ole punch. Their only score came in the 7th inning on Seals hit, a walk, an error and a fielders choice.

Little Snowey Melton, Clanton's popular centerfielder had a rough time of it out in his territory. He woefully misjudged two and errored on another. He did come through on two other hard drives, making a fine catch on each. Gentry, Clanton's 2nd baser, was determined to score somehow if he could. He went to the plate four times: Got hit by a pitched ball in the first; got on by an error in the 4th; walked in the 6th and reached first by a fielders choice in the 8th, yet, his mates never could boot him around.

Jemison scored two runs in the second when Ellison got on by an error, and E. Edwards, J. Cobb and L. Thomas drove out successive hits. They scored one run in the third on Howard's double, and singles by K. Cobb and Ellison. The 2 final runs came in the sixth when Ellison tripled, J. Cobb got on by a fielders choice and Thomas poled a triple to deep centerfield.

Watkins started the game pitching for Clanton, but they drove the crafty Old Bull to showers in the 6th. Thompson relieved him and held Jemison to one hit the remainder of the game. Watkins gave up nine hits, five runs, and struck out 6. Thompson struck out 2.

L. Thomas for Jemison struck out 7.

Clanton and Thorsby both had a nice large representation to witness the game.

Jemison Wallops Young-Vann 29 To 3—

On Tuesday night prior to this game the Jemison boys unravelled a mess of bat power and defeated the fancy looking team of Young-Vann Supply Co. of Birmingham, by the lop-sided score of 29 to 3. Jemison collected 32 hits off Samsal and Eastis, while Young-Vann could get only 7 safeties off Lefty Smith.

Jemison Trims Brent 20-11—

On Saturday night, June 4, the league leading team from Brent took a 20 to 11 walloping at the hands of the Jemison team. C. Langston, and E. Edwards led the Jemison hit parade, with 3 and 4 hits respectively; V. Scott, Howard, C. Langston and J. Cobb all hit doubles.

Cottingham with 3 and Buford 2, led in the hit department for Brent. West and G. Scott pitched for Brant. D. Ellison and M. Scott for Jemison.

JEMISON TRIPS PELHAM 7-4

On last Saturday night, June 11th, the Jemison Independents upset all general predictions and proceeded to pin a 7 to 4 defeat on the hefty Pelham team.

Billy Ellison, veteran pitcher of last season, who recently joined the local team, set the hard-hitting Shelby County boys down with six hits, three of these being sorta' feeble. He struck out 10 and walked three.

Nichols, pitching for Pelham, having defeated Jemison on May 8th, found the local team in no mood to be monkeyed with in this game. They slapped out nine hits, two for extra bases. He struck out 4 and walked 8.

J. Howard and J. Cobb supplied the old winning punch; Howard with 3 hits, drove in 3 runs and Cobb with 2 hits drove in two runs and scoring once himself.

J. Johnson and Thorpe, with 2 hits each, led in this department for Pelham.

In the Blue Division League this gives Jemison six wins against four losses. In the season, total for all games, they have won 14 against eight losses.

Jemison Wins From Autaugaville—

By a 15 to 5 score, the Jemison Independents won over a hustling team from Autaugaville on Tuesday night, June 7th. Smith and B. Ellison for Jemison allowed 8 hits, gave up 5 walks, and struck out 12.

McGhee and R. Wood for Autaugaville were rapped for 18 hits. They issued 2 walks and struck out 14.

Langford and R. Wood led Autaugaville with 2 hits each. — R. B. Johnson, Reporter.

Special guest on "Facts for Farm Families" (12:15) last Friday was Mr. G. B. Phillips, hog specialist for the Alabama Extension Service. Mr. Phillips was in the county conducting some local farmer meetings to discuss hog-raising problems. He was interviewed by M. R. "Red" Glasscock, Chilton County Agent. Such interviews are a regular feature of this program, which is designed as a public service for local farmers and homemakers.

Be sure to read elsewhere in this paper the details about the big variety show that is to be broadcast from the Chilton County courthouse this coming Sunday.

"Cisco Kid," a top-notch adventure show for the younger set, is now heard on WKLF each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from five to five-thirty. This is a good moral program for children to listen to, and they'll love it.

In case you want to hear the baseball scores in the morning, you can get them each day on WKLF between 6:15 and 6:30 in the morning. And of course, all baseball fans will want to tune in to the "Last Word in Sports" with Dave Overton each afternoon at 5:45. You fishermen can get some timely tips and interesting news on the "Hunting and Fishing Roundup" every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5:30 p.m.

That's sign off time for this week. Until next Thursday, so long, and good listening.

MILK IS ESSENTIAL FOR BETTER HEALTH

Auburn, Ala. — A recent survey made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture showed that 75 per cent of the population over 60 years of age is suffering from a deficiency of calcium, protein, iron, or some of the vitamins.

To avoid this lack of vitamins and minerals in the diet, Dr. K. M. Autrey, head of the dairy husbandry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, recommends that adults consume at least one pint of milk a day.

He points to U.S.D.A. data which show that 75 per cent of the calcium consumed by people in the United States comes from dairy products.

Thorsby News

(By MISS C. N. TURNQUIST — Correspondent)

To My Readers:

Since I am on vacation and not there to send in the news happenings of Thorsby, thought I would write a letter for my column, and hope that you might enjoy it somewhat.

I am at present in Ft. Lawn, S. C., with the G. B. Kirkpatrick family, whom most of you know and remember, since they once lived in Thorsby where Mr. Kirkpatrick was employed at the S.C.S. Nursery. My sister, Marie Reagan, made the trip with me and we arrived here via Trailways on last Sunday evening. We arrived first in Rock Hill, S. C., where we were met by Mrs. Kirkpatrick and we then drove to their farm in Ft. Lawn, some 20 miles from Rock Hill.

We had a lovely trip via bus. We left Thorsby on Saturday night at 9:00 p.m. and left Montgomery at 12:50 and arrived in Rock Hill at 4:47. The trip was delightful as the buses were air-conditioned and very comfortable. We left the Greyhound at Montgomery and traveled Trailways all the rest of the way.

The Kirkpatricks live on a 60-acre farm. They are raising cotton, corn, oats, and have quite a lot of livestock. They have share-croppers who tend the farm, and Mr. Kirkpatrick works at a bleachery about four miles distant.

The main crop through this section seems to be cotton and in the towns and cities the main industries are cottonmills. The bleachery where Mr. Kirkpatrick works is a tremendous plant and yet in its infancy, since it has only been in operation about three or four months. At this plant they take the cloth in the rough, bleach it, dye it and finish it. And from this cloth is made the "Spring Maid," dresses of which you have heard so much, and which are named for the man who owns all these mills, Mr. Springs. We had the pleasure of seeing some of this cloth under process and it was most interesting.

On Wednesday we enjoyed a picnic with some other members of the Kirkpatrick family. Went to an amusement park on a beautiful lake. This park has been built by Mr. Springs for his employes. A wonderful place, with all kinds of amusements.

On Tuesday night we went to Guat Falls, S. C., just a short distance from here for a visit with some of the family. My vacation came near being brought to a sad climax on that night when I had a fall down some steps that nearly broke my neck. Outside of a few bad bruises, however, my worst injury is a badly sprained left hand, which may show up some broken bones, but we hope not. I can hear what the boys at the bank will say, but "no boys" it wasn't that.

We have been deeply interested in the peach orchards in this section. Vast orchards stretching for as far as the eye can see, but scarcely any peaches and here and there a few dead trees, just as they are at home.

We leave here, reluctantly, this week end and will visit with some dear friends in Charlotte, N. C., formerly from Selma, Ala. From there to Atlanta and then back home.

Best regards to all,

NAEMI TURNQUIST.

FOUR ALABAMA 4-H'ERS AT NATION'S CAPITOL

Auburn, Ala. — Four prominent Alabama farm youngsters are representing the state's 120,000 4-H boys and girls at the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington D. C., June 15 through the 22.

Those receiving this high 4-H honor are John Jacobs, Five Points, Rt. 1; Helen Allison, Rash; Mildred Barnes, Graceville, Ala., Rt. 2; and William Pollard, Honorville, Rt. 1.

When announcing these names, Hanchey Logue, A.P.I. Extension Service 4-H leader, said, "The outstanding records made by these members in 4-H Club work earned them the right to represent the State of Alabama at the nineteenth annual camp."

There are about 500 delegates and adult leaders from over the U. S. and a score of foreign countries attending the camp. The group has as its theme, "the development of worthy ctitzenship and constructive rural leadership."

Logue said, "Alabama's delegates have important roles on the event's agenda. In addition, they are training under some of the country's leading rural youth workers."

Can Black-Draught Help That Dull, Dopey Feeling?

Yes, Black-Draught may help that dull, dopey feeling if the only reason you feel that way is because of constipation. Black-Draught, the friendly laxative, is usually prompt and thorough when taken as directed. It costs only a penny or less a dose. That's why it has been a best-seller with four generations. If you are troubled with such symptoms as loss of appetite, headache, upset stomach, flatulence, physical fatigue, sleeplessness, mental haziness, bad breath — and if these symptoms are due only to constipation — then see what Black-Draught may do for you. CAN BEANS WHILE THEY ARE TENDER

Auburn, Ala. — Beans canned while young and tender have better eating qualities, according to Lavada Curtis, A.P.I. Extension Service food preservation specialist.

She points out that when over mature beans are canned, they and the liquid in which they are packed develop a brown color. Also, over mature beans lose flavor.

For best results, the specialist advises that young tender beans be gathered early in the morning and prepared at once for canning. "If beans are left for several hours after they are gathered, they will form a flat sour," adds Miss Curtis. "It may be recognized by a cloudy appearance and a slightly acid taste after beans are canned."

Keeping these facts in mind, select young tender beans, wash, cut into desired size, add boiling water to cover, simmer for five minutes, pack hot beans to one-half inch of jar top, and cover with hot cooking liquid leaving one-half inch head space in jar. Process pints for 20 minutes and quarts for 25 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

CAUSE AND CONTROL OF FUSARIUM WILT

Fusarium wilt commonly called cotton wilt or black root is one of the most destructive diseases of cotton plants, according to O. N. Andrews, A.P.I. Extension Service cotton improvement specialist.

He explains that the disease is caused by a fungus which lives in the soil and infests the plant through the roots. "Planting a wilt resistant variety is the only effective method of control," states the specialist. "However, there are no varieties that are 100 per cent wilt resistant."

Andrews adds that farmers should check their cotton fields for wilt damage. Where stands are reduced or wilt symptoms occur, plans should be made now to secure seed of a wilt-resistant variety for planting next year's crop.

RECORD CLOVER SEED HARVEST BEING MADE

Farmers have found that recent rains in north Alabama took a heavy toll of crimson clover seed.

"Fortunately," says Ralph Jones, A.P.I. Extension Service seed marketing specialist, "the Central and south Alabama estimated harvest will more than off set the loss in north Alabama, making the total supply for the state larger than 1948."

DRY SKIM MILK POWDER USED IN PUDDING MIX

To save time in preparing desserts later, many housewives like to use dry skim milk powder and make up their own pudding mix.

"A variety can be made," reveals Mary Hulsey, A.P.I. Extension Service nutritionist. "They include cornstarch puddings, pie or tart fillings, and cake fillings."

C. C. H. S. BETA CLUB TOURS NEW YORK CITY

On Wednesday, May 25, twenty-four members of the Beta Club and four adults left Clanton for Birmingham by car. We arrived in Birmingham about 1:30, boarded the Silver Comet at 2:00, and at 2:45 we pulled out of Birmingham, New York bound!

We had breakfast, supper and lunch on the train and arrived in New York City at the Pennsylvania Station about 1:35. And was the Pennsylvania Station enormous!

After a scorching week of exams here, were we surprised to get off the train and find ourselves in a near sleet.

From the Pennsylvania Station we went to one of New York City's newest, and we thought elaborate hotels, The Hotel Governor Clinton.

A short account of activities follows:

Thursday afternoon we shopped.

Thursday night, after walking down Broadway, we attended The Fred Waring Show. A record was being made of this performance for a later broadcast. Approximately forty musicians were in the orchestra, and about twenty-five boys and only four girls in the glee club.

Friday morning we left our hotel for a day of sightseeing in the state of New York by bus. The most outstanding points on this tour were Hyde Park, including the home, grave, and library of Franklin D. Roosevelt, a lovely drive to Bear Mountain Lodge, where we had dinner, and back to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. The return trip to New York City was alongside the Hudson River and through the Lincoln Tunnel.

Friday night we went to Radio City Music Hall and saw The Stratton Story and the Rocketts. The movie was very inspirational and the performance of the Rocketts was superb.

Saturday morning we boarded The Circle Line Yatch for a 3-hour cruise around the island of Manhattan.

Saturday afternoon we saw the Yankees beat the Philadelphia Athletes 2-1 at the Yankee Stadium. A million thanks to our friend, Jack Hayes, for getting us complimentary tickets!

Saturday night we had supper with Mr. Adair's brother and sister-in-law, better known to Beta's as "Jim and Mil." How they created such a homelike atmosphere for so many in a small apartment is a wonder to us!

Sunday morning we went to Sunday School and Church at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Sunday afternoon one group visited the Bronx Zoo, while another group visited The Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Teddy Roosevelt Memorial, Central Park, and Hayden Planetarium.

Sunday night the ice show, "Howdy, Mr. Ice."

Monday morning we took a special boat to the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island and returned to the hotel by way of Wall Street.

Monday afternoon we took a very interesting guided tour of NBC studios. Most interesting was our contact with television and a few of our group were televised. We then went across the street to the RCA Building to see ourselves on television. Following this, we went to the Empire State Building for an elevator ride to the top—102 stories in all.

Monday night we saw the stage play, "Where's Charley" at St. James Theatre.

Tuesday morning we left New York City by way of train to Baltimore. After lunch at the Criole we took a sightseeing bus to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. After our return to Baltimore, we boarded a steamer of The Old Bay Line for an overnight cruise down the Chesapeake Bay, landing at Norfolk the next morning.

Wednesday morning, after a short tour of Norfolk, we boarded a ferry that took us across Hampton Roads to Newport News. Then our sightseeing bus took us to the following points of interest in Virginia:

Yorktown, the site of Cornwallis' surrender to General Washington; The Mariner's Museum, which contains all types of naval relics; Williamsburg, the restored town of English sovereignity and home of William and Mary College; Jamestown, the site of the first permanent settlement in America; and finally Richmond, the Capitol of Virginia.

Wednesday night we caught the Silver Comet on its homeward journey to Birmingham!

The tired but happy group are as follows:

Joan Aussant, Mignon Bates, Barbara Burnette, Ruby Crew, Betty Donaldson, Helen Hayes, Gloria Jones, Mary Frances Jones, Sarah Madge Mullins, Peggy Wade, Warrena Willis, Betty Jo Taylor, Johnnie Sue Collins, Fred Cleckler, Don Dorminey, John Deramus, Chester Little, Joe Little, Joe Phillip Klinner, James Popwell, Jerry Studdard, Reedie Taylor, Fred Thompson and Russell Williams.

The adults were: Mr. Adair, our sponsor; Miss Marguerite Perry, Miss Dorothy Nell Blalock and Mrs. Chas. Wade. — Sarah Madge Mullins, Reporter.

Re-elected As Quartermaster For Alabama Veterans

T. HORTON WALKER

Horton Walker, formerly of Clanton, was re-elected without opposition to the office of Adjutant-Quartermaster this week at the Annual State Convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Montgomery, Ala.

The title of Quartermaster is the title used by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the man who handles the finances of the State Department, which is a very responsible job in that the total assets of the Veterans of Foreign Wars over Alabama amount to more than a million dollars.

Walker, it will be recalled, was the organizer and the first Post Commander of the Chilton County Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and served two terms as the local Post Commander and was then elected as District Commander of District No. 6 and later was elevated to the Department Adjutant-Quartermaster position. This marks his fourth term in this office.

Walker was this year cited by the Quartermaster General at National Headquarters for his excellent performance of duties in this office and as an outstanding Department officer in the Nation.

Collins, Rt. 2, Clanton; Mrs. B. M. Cobern, Maplesville; Mrs. Neacie Mims, Rt. 4, Clanton; Miss Louise Foshee, Mrs. Doyle McRae, and Mrs. A. L. Robinson, all of Clanton.

ATTENTION VETERANS!

Five-year Premium Term National Service Life Insurance policies applied for and issued before January 1, 1946, were automaticly extended for an additional period of three years, making a total term period of eight years from date the insurance was originally made effective. Term policies issued on and after January 1, 1946, are for a term period of five years. Many of the former are now expiring and in order to be maintained in force must be renewed for a new period of five years or converted to a permanent plan. In order that either may be effected it is necessary that the application for renewal or conversion be filed before the expiration date, the policy cannot be renewed.

If a Five-Year Level Premium Term Policy has expired, new insurance may be applied for, with physical examination. The new insurance may be issued on the term plan or either of the permanent plans.

WRONG WORD!

In our editorial on mob violence this week we used the word "legislature" in stating the unmasking bill had been passed. It should have read "Senate." The Bill is before the House this week but has not been passed by them as we go to press. However, sentiment is strong in the House for passage of the Bill.—Editor.

DRYING-OFF-COWS

Probably one of the best ways to dry-off cows is to stop feeding concentrates and stop milking them all at once. But, when this is done, roughage should be fed daily. The udders should be watched carefully and if swelling occurs the cows should be milked out.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Colored clothes should be dried wrong side out to prevent fading when they are hung out-of-doors.

Instead of an ordinary cork which will stick easily, use the end of a candle as a stopper for the glue bottle.

To prevent sewing needles from rusting, leave them in the black paper wrapping in which they come and place them in a well-corked tiny glass bottle where a drop of machine oil may be added from time to time.

DeGraffenried's Statement

May 23, 1949.

Statement of Honorable Edward de Graffenried, a Representative in Congress from the State of Alabama, before a subcommittee of the Committee on Education and Labor in behalf of Federal aid to education without Federal control:

The people whom I represent are overwhelmingly in favor of the passage by this Congress of a bill to provide Federal financial assistance, without Federal control of education, to the states for elementary and secondary school education.

Education is not a luxury; it is a necessity. Any funds which we spend for education represent a first-rate investment in the future of America, for education is essential to the maintenance of the principals of democracy and the expansion of our economy; it is essential to the general welf-being of our people.

The responsibility for providing funds for elementary and secondary school education has thus far rested with the states, and the resulting is appalling. At least ten million adult Americans, according to 1940 census, have not completed the fourth grade; half a million men were rejected for military service in World War II because of illiteracy; millions of children of school age in the United States do not attend schools of any kind. These are a few of the facts which we must consider, and they are proof that the job is too large for the states.

Alabama belongs to the group of states having a low educational standard. Forty-three states spend more per pupil for current operation of schools than Alabama, yet only 14 of the 48 states spend a higher ratio of revenues for education. But the problem of Alabama's poor educational facilities and of other states like her cannot be considered the problem of these states alone, for the increasing mobility of our population causes a nation-wide scattering of the undereducated from the low standard states. The waste of human talent in any part of our country cannot but affect the country as a whole. The sectional inequalities in educational opportunity should be abolished, and Federal aid is the only answer.

The salaries of teachers must be raised to a level commensurate with the salaries of members of other professions in order to encourage more young men and women to choose teaching as a vocation. The Superintendent of Education, State of Alabama, has advised me that he has had to issue over 6,000 emergency certificates to teachers in our state, out of a total of 21,000 teaching positions.

We can then assume that at least over 6,000 of Alabama's teachers are not qualified for the job. Only Federal aid can furnish the remedy for this problem.

We want Federal aid to education, but we do not want Federal control of education. Our schools are better controlled locally; Federal control would be adverse to the best interests of education and democratic government. We want to be sure that the bill is written in such a way as to prevent the future probability of control by the Feeral Government.

Let's Keep It The Land Of The Free

What manner of man is it that takes it upon himself to judge the rights and wrongs of others? It is beyond us how any man, or group of men, can set themselves up as judge and jury to punish those who offend them or do things of which they do not approve.

What kind of crooked thinking could enable anyone to say he had a right to tell his fellowman to change his ways—and back it up with a flogging.

Whether it be under the name of the Klan, the Union employees, the this, that, or the other, no man has a right to go to another's home, disguised or otherwise, and threaten him, or tell him what he is, or is not, supposed to do. If the party involved is totally bad then we have laws to take care of them. If we haven't laws to take care of them, then it is the place of our governing bodies to make laws to take care of them. It is NOT the duty of private citizens to take the law into their own hands and commit acts of violence against them. Anyone taking part in such outrages are lower than the ones they threaten, by far.

An enraged public in Jefferson County has become so angry with numerous night riding in that county that it looks like the guilty parties will be called to account for their sins. When this is done and the guilty are brought to justice, then the lawlessness will stop—not until.

The legislature has passed this week an anti-masking bill that will put a penalty on anyone over the age of sixteen years wearing a mask on the pubic thoroughfares except on special days like Mardi Gras, or New Year's. This is aimed at the Klan, possibly, but will prevent others from committing outrages under the name of the Klan, which we are sure has been often done.

Be that as it may. The people in this democratic land of ours will just take so much, and we all know that it isn't a free land when people are threatened and bullied by masked mobs who come in the dark of night to their homes and beat and torture them.

Support Your Peach Festival

It will be only a very short time until Chilton County is celebrating her Third Annual Peach Festival.

We have received untold publicity because of our Peach Festivals in the past and the citizens of the county and especially the peach growers, should concentrate on making this year's Festival the biggest and best yet.

Cooperation is what will do the job. Offer your services to do one of the thousand and one jobs that are to be done. The services of each and everyone of us are needed.

Well, It Could Be

Could it be that the contestants for Queen of the Peach Festival are prettier this year? That would be a mighty broad statement considering the beauties that have graced our floats during past Festivals.

Perhaps it is because time makes us forget, and the beauties of today are so much fresher in mind than those of yonder year. Anyway, if you haven't had the good luck to see for yourself, take our word for it—the contestants entering this year's Festival are "Peaches."

Folks and Things About Town

'Tis the day before payday
And all through my jeans,
I've hunted in vain for the Ways and the means.
Not a quarter is stirring,
Not even a Bit.
The greenbacks have left me.
The pennies have quit.
Forward, turn forward,
O time in thy flight
And make it tomorrow
Just for tonight.—Labor.

Clanton's recently organized motorcycle club will sponsor a baseball game at the city park in the near future. You will find a story about the time and place elsewhere in this issue. That should be a real thriller. For those who like excitement we can imagine nothing more facinating than a player who has just knocked a home run sliding into home plate on a motorcycle while the catcher stands over the plate to tag him. Sounds kinda messy doesn't it?

B. N. Harris and his family has moved to Clanton. Mr. Harris is a fellow you will be seeing around a great deal as he is distributor for the Pepsi Cola Company in this territory. The column extends a hearty welcome to the Harris family and hope they like our little city. By-the-way, there are five in the family—two long Harrises and three short Harrises.

We knew Leo Thompson and Reedie Taylor wouldn't get to Atlantic City on no convention without their wives.

Speaking of conventions. Besides the Taylors and the Thompsons, who left last Thursday morning, a car full left Saturday morning for the Kiwanis Convention at the same gay city. There were R. C. Williams, S. E. Scott and Camera, Joe Campbell and Cliff Jones. They drove up in R. C.'s car. Sunday morning I. S. (Dock) Levine caught a fast train going in that direction to join the party. Clanton will be well represented at the Kiwanis Convention this year. Dock is going over to New York while up that way and do a bit of buying for his store, it is understood.

Louis and Sheldon Cook came in to see us this past week. Sheldon is living over at the old home place at Stanton and Louis is just visiting old friends here about. He says they get scattered mighty fast and most of his old friends have drifted away like himself or are married and settled down. Louis himself is married now and left the rest of his family visiting in Birmingham while he came on down home for a few days. You'll go a long way to see finer and better boys than the Cooks.

Jimmy Bell and Horsley White became grandpas the same day. Essie White Johnson gave birth to a fine boy at Central Alabama Hospital and Kathryn Bell Norrell presented Mr. Norrell with a son and heir at Jefferson Hospital at Birmingham. All are doing fine, thanks. Ha, grandpa Jimmy and grandpa Horsley.

A traveller one night found himself obliged to remain in a small town because of a landslide on the railroad caused by heavy rain which was still falling. The traveler turned to the waitress with: "This certainly looks like the flood." "The what?" said the girl. "The flood. You've read about the flood, and the Ark landing on Mt. Ararat, surely?" "Mr.," she returned grimly, "I haven't seen a paper in three days."—Balance Sheet.

Another television shop revealed itself this week. We hadn't heard that Tate Davis was agent for any of the machines, but he comes up last Sunday afternoon with a machine in the door of his place next to Hayes Chevrolet Co. The Motorola is the make he is selling and from the reception he was getting, little difference could be told in any of the machines we have seen to date. Seems to depend on the atmosphere—or something.

Our popular City Clerk, Mrs. W. W. Wingard, was in an automobile accident last Sunday afternoon, late. She and Mr. Wingard were driving out the Maplesville Highway about Baker School when the accident occurred. Their automobile turned over in a ditch and was pretty badly damaged but the Wingards were only shook-up and bruised a bit. An automobile driver, weaving in and out of traffic we understand was the cause of the trouble. We distinctly remember ten years ago the same thing happening to us. We didn't get bruised up a bit, but we got scared to death.

Dear Ben:

Three hundred ninety-six Chilton County Home Demonstration Club members are wondering why their work isn't being recognized in the local papers any more? They hold checks and receipts showing they paid for events, articles, etc., to be printed in papers. But they were never printed. An exact copy is sent to each paper when something is to be published. Lately they only appear in one of the two local papers.

We of the clubs feel we have one of the best in Miss Barber and we certainly want people to know that we are gaining in knowledge of the good works she is teaching us.

Shall we come down 396 strong, to find out the trouble or can your paper guarantee our next news sent in to be published?

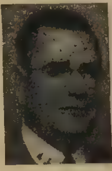
Thanks,

One of the 396 Club Members.

No, no, a thousand times no. Please take our word for it that your next item will be published. And the next and the next, if necessary. We love all you ladies dearly, but we just couldn't do a thing with 396 women on our neck at one time.

Clanton And The Church

In our recent religious survey of the City of Clanton; this is what we found: Fifty-four percent of the people of Clanton are members of some church; while 46 percent are not members of any church, and many of these do not have any church preference. They do not attend any church, because they have no choice. Thirty-seven percent are enrolled in the Sunday School, while 63 percent are not enrolled in any Sunday School. This mean that they do not attend any Church School where the Bible is the Text Book, and where the Bible is taught, and religious instruction is given. And out of the 37 percent that are enrolled in Sunday School do not attend regularly.



A. T. HICKMAN

Friends, how long will we people of America be able to preserve our way of life, our liberty of worship, our freedom of speech, and all that goes with our free country, if we neglect the Church, and what the Church stands for? Jesus Christ gave us an example, that we should follow in his steps, he did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth. Jesus had the custom of entering into the House of God every Sabbath for to worship, and for to study the Word of God. Everybody needs what the Church has to offer, and if you are not getting what the Church has to offer, you are missing the most vital thing in life. If you are not a Christian, then you are part of the spiritual and social problem that faces America today.

According to a National Religious census there are 37,000,000 boys and girls in America that are not enrolled in Sunday School. 13,000,000 are under 12 years of age that have never attended Sunday School or a class of religious instruction. There are more people in Clanton who do not attend Sunday School and church than who do. Neighbors, this should concern you, and stir you up. Wake up, and see just where your little ship is drifting. 10,000 rural villages are without a church. More than 50 percent of our rural youth are without the influence and teaching of the Church; this number is larger in the cities.

This offers a challenge to every church denomination, every minister of the Gospel, every Sunday School worker, in fact, every full-blooded American who loves your home, and our way of life and liberty. I write these things, not to shame you, but to stir up your pure minds by the way of remembrance. AMEN.

Fin-Fan Items

The unpredictable willow flies are slowly beginning to hatch in scattered areas along the Coosa Lake Shores. They may be thick on every branch overhanging the water by the week end, and again, it may be another week or so. However, when they do make their appearance in great numbers watch out for those large bass. The flies seem to attract the smaller fish from their cool, deep retreats which in turn bring the larger fish within easy reach of a well placed fly.

During the past week the hot weather has driven the fish to deeper and cooler waters and fishing has been very slow. Several nice catches have been made but very few were entered in the Alabama Power Company Fishing Contest. On these hot days large Bass and Bream are being caught early in the mornings and late in the afternoons.

Herman Evans' Store, Holtville, reports: Mrs. L. N. Law, Montgomery, fished Weoka Creek, Lake Jordan and snagged a fighting 2 pound 13 ounce Largemouth Bass. This fine catch was made with a rod, reel and red head top water lure.

J. B. Kelly's Store near Wetumpka reports: Mr. J. M. Thompson, Montgomery, caught a dandy 2 pound 9 ounce Largemouth Bass on a fly rod and black and white bug. Sofkahatchie Creek, Lake Jordan was the home of this pan full of good eating.

The contest isn't half over yet, we urge everyone to enter his catch. All that is necessary to enter the contest is to have your fish weighed at one of the following Weigh-in Stations: J. B. Kelly's Store near Wetumpka on Alabama Highway No. 11, Herman Evans' Store, Holtville, Mrs. J. S. Plott's Store near Verbena on Alabama Highway No. 22, G. H. Kelley's Store near Rockford on Alabama Highway No. 22, E. G. Johnson's Store near Clanton on Higgins Ferry Road, W. D. Culp's Store, Cane Creek Community on Lay Dam Road, Fergerson's Store, Stewartville, on Alabama Highway No. 11, Hap's Store, Fayetteville, P. A. Burton's Service Station, Shelby, and Morgan Bridge Inn, Childersburg. Other details may be had by addressing a post card to Fishing Contest Land Department, Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, Ala.

Safety Comment of the day: "In the case of a swamped or overturned outboard it is usually safer to stay with the boat. The hulls rarely sink and it is generally farther to shore than it appears—a trying swim even with a life preserver. A swamped or overturned boat will support a number of persons if they keep their bodies in the water and merely hold on with hands and arms. Also, they are more easily seen by a rescue party." Have fun—Safely.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

WHAT'S THE RUSH

If the speedy pace of modern living is beginning to catch up with you why not try slowing down faster? Medical authorities agree that most people today are living, working, and even playing in a state of rush and hurry that is not likely to increase the life expectancy of such individuals.

Hurry produces excitement of the body that creates a similar condition of the mind. This is called "pep," "energy" and a number of other things, but erroneously so. The vigor and vitality that stem from a healthy body and mind create a real zest for living and accomplishment. On the other hand, the fatigue brought about by hurrying constantly encourages depressed and morbid thoughts.

The human body is a machine, with a mechanical ratio of units of fuel to energy output. You are well aware that your automobile uses more gas at higher speed, so it is with your body. Frequently an additional spurt is likely to accomplish less than desired unless a reasonable amount of reserve strength is available.

A well organized daily routine will help to reduce the need to hurry. It's nice to have that extra forty winks in the morning but it isn't so pleasant to have to rush through dressing and the morning meal. That bad start of the day's activities is likely to persist until evening comes with its reward of frayed nerves and irritable disposition.

Slow down and enjoy life. Get off that unnecessary tension. If you find that you are unable to make much headway alone see your family doctor. Abstain from sedatives and "nerve pills" unless he prescribes them.

Hair Raising Fallacies—

Neither massage, mechanical devices, "tonics," ultra-violet light, hormones, vitamins, nor any other treatment will regenerate hair lost in ordinary baldness of older men or in premature baldness of young men, says a report of the American Medical Association Committee on Cosmetics.

According to this investigating group bald and balding American men are spending millions of dollars annually for futile hairsaving and dandruff curing treatments. Hair "tonics" simply groom the hair. Most of these products are simple mixtures of well known drugs, and the history of these chemicals indicates that they are ineffective in growing or maintaining hair or in curing dandruff.

Although the germ theory of dandruff is popular and is adroitly used in the presentation of products for use on the hair and scalp, medical science still has been unable to determine that an organism has been found and a drug which inhibits or kills that particular germ is known; such advertising is supported only by supposition, the report states.

The use of preparations containing sulfa drugs not only may cause skin rash but may also make it impossible or at least dangerous, for that person to use that drug for some future serious infection. Hormones are absorbed through the skin and in large enough amounts can cause systemic changes. Injections of vitamins in the scalp is a highly questionable and risky procedure and can have disastrous results.

Before you waste hard earned dollars on highly advertised products designed to check falling hair consult with your family doctor and he will know whether there is any treatment which can be of help in your case. If he says no, take his word for it. Don't lose your money as well as your hair.

SWINE PRICE TRENDS AND WHAT THEY MEAN

Auburn, Ala. — One of the most favorable farm-price trends in recent months has been the advance in hog prices.

On June 1, medium to choice 180-240-pound hogs sold on Alabama markets for $20 to $20.50 per hundred pounds. This was more than 20 per cent higher than the $16.50 to $17 paid during the last week in April. However, this current price is still more than 25 per cent under the top summer price of 1948 when choice hogs sold as high as $27 to $28.50 per hundred pounds.

"Barring any unexpected conditions, hog prices should continue firm through the summer months," believes A. W. Jones, A.P.I. Extension Service marketing specialist. But, he urges farmers to top out and market spring pigs as early as possible to avoid competing with the heavy winter runs from the corn belt that normally begin in October

TIMBER MARKETING ADVICE AVAILABLE

The Peterson family, Route 2, Luverne, Alabama, recently discovered that timber marketing advice is worth taking.

I. R. Martin, A.P.I. Extension Service forester, reports that this family had offered $1,000 for their 40 acres of timber. However, before selling, they decided to ask Douglas Sellers, extension timber marketing specialist, what to do.

They took his advice and had their timber marked for selective cutting. Advertising this marked timber for sale, the highest bid received was $2,940—nearly three times the amount offered for the entire stand.

Plan Now For Your Winter Grazing

While most of farmers are giving thought and effort to crops now growing, it would be well to at least lay out a winter grazing program. If winter pasture work is put off until fall the best we can possibly expect is early spring grazing.

While oats remain the single largest winter grazing plant a great many other plants are fast becoming outstanding because of their ability to work in combination with such summer grazing plants as kudzu and lespedeza sericea. Another important characteristic of the newer plant is their ability to reseed themselves. This in itself will greatly reduce the cost of a long time pasture improvement program.

Among the leguminous plants that have proven their adaptability to our soils are: Reseeding crimson clover, manganese bur clover and caley peas. There are other plants that are still being tested and may have great possibilities; however, until they have been proven it would be advisable to try them only on a small scale.

Among the grasses that can be expected to produce good results are: Italian Rye Grass, Oats, and under certain conditions the Fescue grasses.

In most cases farmers will not be able to buy all of the reseeding clovers in the quantity that is desired because of the cost. In this case it would be advisable to prepare and fertilize well a small acreage to be harvested as seed patches. In addition a light seeding should be made in oats or rye grass so that the plants can be established on the land.

Reseeding crimson and manganese bur clover work well in combination with lespedeza sericea. A combination of these plants seem to come nearer meeting the needs of Chilton Co. than any other plants. In addition to their value as a pasture plant they also help conserve the soil.

Chilton County has a large acreage of land devoted to kudzu that is not used to its maximum advantage. Both caley peas and crimson clover will make good winter grazing and will reseed before being taken over by the kudzu in the spring.

While only a very small acreage of the fescue grasses has been grown in the county there is definitely a place for them. Fescues have the ability to grow on the wetter soils that many of the other pasture plants cannot be successfully grown on.. There is no secret to the success of growing winter pasture. It is a matter of proper soil preparation, planting and fertilization. The same principles that apply to cotton, corn and truck crops apply to winter pastures. Unless pastures are considered a source of cash income through livestock and are accepted and handled as an individual crop there is little chance of success. Cattle and hogs are of a necessity going to be of greater importance in Chilton County than ever before.

The sooner soil preparation is started the better the chance of good stands are. None of the small clover seed should be planted on fluffy seed beds. Land should be turned and followed until planting time. Fertilizer should be applied at the rate of 800 pounds of 0-14-10 to the acre. Where oats and rye grass are used 200 pounds of Ammonium Nitrate should be applied as soon as the plants are up. Most of the winter plants should be planted August 15 to September 15. Late plantings usually result in late grazing.

Good winter pasture means more and better fed livestock for Chilton County farmers.

HOW TO REMOVE SINGLE SCRATCH ON FURNITURE

Auburn, Ala. — It's easy to remove a single scratch that has not gone through the finish, according to Alice Peavy, A.P.I. Extension Service home management specialist.

First, she recommends that all wax be removed from the surface. Next, sand with 7-0 sandpaper, using a very light touch. Check often to be sure not to cut through the surface.

The specialist explains that if the scratch is too deep to risk rubbing or sanding, it may be filled in with a little clear varnish or shellac. All excess varnish or shellac should be wiped off at once and hard edges smoothed with the finger.

"After drying," says Miss Peavy, "polish the entire surface with furniture polish. More experienced workers may want to rub the scratch down with pumice and oil, but remember that this takes skill."

John P. Bell, A.P.I. Extension Service food enrichment specialist, highly commends the owners of these mills for making such a worthy contribution to the health of those who love corn bread.

Which would you select?

Each of these cars has the same excellent engine; each has comfortable seats; each is in good mechanical condition; the operating cost of each is moderate. In fact, they are identical except in appearance. With no difference in price, which would you select?

APPEARANCE IS IMPORTANT in other ways. Take the case of the communities being considered by a prospective industry. Community "A" has clean streets, nicely kept premises in ALL parts of the town, stores have clean and attractive windows, the farms nearby are well tended. The town looks as if the people living there CARE. In Community "B" the opposite is the case. Each of these communities is equally well located, each can supply the skills needed by the prospective new industry, each has a satisfactory site where the new industry could be established, each is within satisfactory distance of the necessary raw materials and markets. If YOU were looking for a town in which to locate, which of these towns would YOU select?

Industrial engineers are human too. Instances are known where the impression given by the appearance of a community was an important element in deciding to locate there. Groups of citizens, one of whose goals is the improvement of the APPEARANCE of their communities, play an important part in Alabama's development.

MACEDONIA HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB TO MEET MONDAY, JULY 11

The Macedonia Home Demonstration Club will meet on Monday, July 11, at the home of Mrs. Lucille Davenport. This meeting is to begin promptly at 1:45 p.m. There is much to be done at this time and all members are urged to please be on time. Won't you come and bring someone with you, as there is much in store for you. Each member is asked to bring a "surprise package" to auction off. Let it be something from your home. Maybe something you have made, such as a sack apron, a doilie, scarf, picture, etc. But something that is worth selling! To be auctioned off, not to exceed 50c and not less than 15c. Come prepared to buy a package. You get to keep your gift, but proceeds to go to club treasury.

Calling all seamstresses- There will be a Dress Revue in Clanton on July 28th. Anyone wishing to enter, may do so by making her dress and modeling it at the next club meeting. You may then model it in Clanton on the 28th and if you should be winner there, you'll go on to Auburn for the Dress Revue there.

You may make:

1. A sports dress, simple, neat and trim.
2. A special occasion dress (evening dress, party dress, etc.)
3. A work dress (for comfort with all safety devices).

Be sure to have it ready to show at your next club meeting on July 11

Our County Council is asking that all club members donate two quarts of fruit or vegetables to our fund raising campaign and exhibit in July. These things will be shown in store windows over Clanton and proceeds from the sale of these canned goods will go to the County Council Treasury. Three hundred and some dollars were raised last year in this same manner, so let's bring our jars of prettiest fruit and vegetables to the next club meeting so we can be first to push this exhibit over.

There will be a county-wide council rally for home demonstration women on July 28th at the county courthouse in Clanton from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. A special program has been planned, with two distinguished out of town speakers. A fashion dress revue will be held with club members modeling their dresses. There will be a humorous skit put on by club members in the afternoon. Each member is asked to bring lunch. Drinks to be sold at table.

Baby sitters to be available to mothers wishing to bring their children. There will be a sack exchange. Bring your nice feed sacks and swap with your neighbor! Each member will be identified by a lapel card with her name and club on it. But before this rally each member will receive a quilt pattern and must finish it with name on it and turn it in along with 10c at your July 11th meeting. There will be a drawing on this quilt at the rally and if your name is on the block you are eligible to win this quilt; with 396 names on it the quilt will be worth $39.60.

So club members, we are looking for you at our July 11th meeting with an armload of jars, dresses, quilt blocks, surprise packages and change for the auction sale.

At the last club meeting it was voted the dues of the club would be left up to you, the club members, to pay any amount you feel able to pay—10c a month or 50c a month as you feel able. But don't let the dues keep you away. We want you with us whether or not any dues. We need you, won't you be there from now on? — Your Club President.

GOVERNOR HITS AT HOODED GANGS

Montgomery, Ala. — Saying that he was not going "to leave any stone unturned" to halt the activities of hooded groups in the state, Gov. James E. Folsom has ordered that highway patrol reinforcements be moved into Jefferson County.

The governor's action came after three Ku Klux escapades had been reported in one week in the Birmingham area. In the first, a woman was taken out and forced to watch the burning of a cross. Then a Birmingham cafe owner was forced to share the same fate shortly afterwards.

Following on the heels of the above two incidents, a 31-year-old Navy veteran, Billy Guyton Stovall, was dragged from his home before the eyes of his two young children, taken into a wooded area, and given 20 lashes. The veteran was charged with failing to support his family and leaving his children at home alone.

Saying that "the Klan stands for law and order," Dr. E. P. Pruitt, Klan chief in Alabama, denied that the organization had any part in the three acts of violence.

DAIRY FIELD DAY TO BE HELD ON CAMPUS

Auburn, Ala. — A field day for Alabamians interested in dairying will be held here on June 29, K. M. Autrey, head of the A.P.I. Dairy husbandry department announced today.

A full day's program for dairy farmers, distributors, processors, and high school students has been planned by staff members of the Experiment Station and the School of Agriculture. The Dairy Science Club, a student organization, and Extension Service dairymen will assist with the program, which has as its theme "June, National Dairy Month."

Visitors will see and hear discussed some of the things that make dairying one of the state's growing industries, explained Autrey. "This will be the biggest one-day program ever staged by the dairy department. Those present will witness actual demonstrations and experiments involving pasture systems, the manufacture of dairy products, milk bottling, artificial breeding of dairy cattle, and many other dairy features," he added.

Everyone interested in Alabama's dairy industry is invited to attend the field day.

FRESH WATER FOR HOGS

Keep water for hogs fresh, clean, and free of germs and parasites. Hogs should not be allowed to lie in stagnant pools, mud wallows or in their drinking troughs.

SQUASH DAMAGE

Worms may ruin summer squash before the gardener knows what is happening. To control damage, dust fruit and vines with the Auburn-approved garden dust when the first fruit appears. Both fruit and vines should be dusted once a week.

THE SUPREME LAW

The Constitution of Alabama is the supreme law of our state.

This law is a guide to the State Legislature in making our legislative laws.

The Constitution has its "optional" as well as its "Mandatory" provisions.

It says what MAY be enacted into law, what SHALL NOT be enacted into law and what SHALL be enacted into law.

The question with me, as well as with many other people of Alabama, is: Does the Constitution say the Legislature MAY reapportion the membership of the Legislature every ten years, or does it say the Legislature SHALL reapportion its membership every ten years?

If the word SHALL is used instead of the word MAY, then the law is mandatory.

If this law is mandatory and has been violated by our lawmakers, then can they be called law abiding lawmakers?

Through the judicial system the Legislative laws are enforced, but by what system and procedure are the Constitutional laws enforced?

Is it that no constitutional law, with reference to reapportion, has been violated or is it that the law has been vioated and we just don't have men with the courage to enforce it? — W. L. Sanders, Rt. 1, Clanton, Ala.

4-H Club Holds Quarterly Meeting

Chilton County 4-H Club Council members held their third quarterly meeting of the year on Saturday, June 11.

Plans were made for the summer recreational meetings for all of the clubs with approximate dates set for holding these recreational meetings. Plans were also made for improvement of mail boxes for 4-H Club members by painting the boxes and posts and stenciling names on the boxes.

Mrs. W. W. Culp, County Rural Youth Chairman of the Council of Home Demonstration clubs, Mr. Albert Broadhead, local leader and honorary 4-H council member and Mr. W. W. Culp, local leader of the Mt. Nebo Club, attended the meeting with the following council members: Catherine Easterling, Earl Smith, Baker; Rita Sue McKinnon, Collins Chapel; Laura Ann Ratliff, Judeen Culp, Harry W. Culp, Mt. Nebo; Helen Marie Peters, Mineral Springs; Howard Arledge, Jemison; B. W. Trammel, Union Grove; Warren Strickland, Enterprise; Marilyn Crowe, Bobby Sue Crowe, Mt. Pleasant; Johnny Franks, Helen Faye Gilliland, Joe Popwell, Thomas Jr.; Frances Driver, Cooper; Freeman Giles, Charles Giles, Vermont; and Jo Ronald Parrish, Baker.

USE WHITE LIGHT IN HOME LAUNDRY CENTER

Daylight bulbs for the electric fixtures that supply light for the home laundry center are recommended by Stella Mitchell, A.P.I. Extension Service home management specialist.

She explains that these bulbs are made with a blue glass which gives off white light like natural daylight instead of the yellowish light given off by ordinary bulbs.

Daylight bulbs make it easier to detect spots and stains when laundering or ironing clothes. "It also saves scorching during ironing because the first yellow tinge of scorch shows up more clearly," reveals Miss Mitchell.

If pecan nut meats are stored in a hot moist place they may develop a rancid or "stale" taste, mold, or become infested with insects.

Soap that is not rinsed out of clothes during the laundering may show up in a brownish stain resembling iron rust when the clothes are ironed.

PREPARED BY AMERICAN FOUNDATION FOR ANIMAL HEALTH

NEEDLE REQUIRES EXPERT HANDLING

Properly used, the vaccinating needle can be a good friend of the livestock producer. For many years this instrument has been saving the lives of countless millions of persons and domestic animals.

But improperly used, the vaccine needle or hypodermic syringe can be a vicious enemy to livestock production. In the hands of untrained or careless persons, it may spread dangerous diseases and actually do more harm than good.

Anaplamosis, hog cholera, swine erysipelas, swamp fever, malignant edema—all these dread diseases can be spread among farm animals by improper use of the vaccinating equipment.

Very often, unskilled persons are not acquainted with contamination risks and livestock may die of infections accidentally transmitted from animal to animal through the medium of contaminated needles.

One serious outbreak of anthrax in a southern state, not long ago, was traced directly to improper vaccination by an untrained person who did not know the necessary precautions.

One danger is the "carrier" animal —one that carries disease germs, yet appears to be healthy. A needle pushed through the skin of such an animal, and then used on other stock, can pass disease on to all the rest of the herd and cause serious losses.

It can spread disease as well as prevent it.

There are other risks, too. Are the animals in good enough health to be vaccinated without ill effects? Is the vaccine still potent enough or has it deteriorated? What is the proper dosage? Professional answers to these questions, and professional skill in the actual vaccination, are the keys to safe and effective use of vaccine to prevent livestock diseases.

[illegible]ription Rate $2.00 Per Year

What Others Say— It's up to the people

During the 81st Congress, the American consumer and the farmers who produce vegetable oils have come closer than ever before to victory in their 63-year-old fight to remove discriminatory federal taxes on margarine.

[illegible]s the situation stands today, a fair and a workable bill—HR 2032—has been passed by an overwhelming majority of the House and has been reported favorably by the Senate Finance Committee.

[illegible] ble action by the Senate will make it possible [illegible] erican homemaker to purchase yellow mar[illegible] out paying the current ten-cent per pound [illegible]

[illegible] ice of the great mass of opinion, butter interests now are making a last ditch stand to maintain their unfair advantage over margarine, wholesome food product of United States farms. They talk of long debate . . . they refer to the crowded Senate calendar, hoping [illegible] gislative log jam which might prevent consideration of the margarine bill.

[illegible] margarine tax repeal is now squarely up to [illegible] If the 31,000,000 homemakers of this coun[illegible] ke known their wishes to their senators, there [illegible] doubt that before the end of the session the [illegible] lemocratic restrictions on margarine will be at an [illegible]

Then the consumer will be able to make his choice on an open market. The cotton and soybean farmers of the nation will be able to market their products under the fully competitive, free enterprise system on which the American economy is built.

The time for action is now.—The Tallassee Tribune.

It has long been a state and national Farm Bureau policy to oppose discriminatory taxation, such as that on oleo. There is no reason why both margarine and butter should not stand on their own merits, without unfair restrictions as imposed by the federal and state levies on vegetable oil products.

However, Alabama has been developing rapidly into a dairy state in the last few years, and it would be well for milk producers to be considering ways of meeting competition from oleomargarine. Dr. K. M. Autrey, head of the Auburn dairy department, told the Alabama Jersey Cattle Club recently that the oleo people are spending six times as much in advertising and promotion as the dairy products industries are putting out. He also pointed out that a recent survey showed that while milk was still the favorite breakfast drink for 12-year olds, the preference dropped off in the 'teens. A more intensified promotion campaign, rather than tax protection, would seem to be indicated.—Farmer's State.

The dailies gave our coming Peach Festival a good spread in the Sunday editions. Several of the contestants were featured. We noticed Barbara McGowin, Mary Tom Merchant, Joan Aussant, Betty Jo Taylor, Norma Jean Glass, Mary Clyde Mims, Dorothy Deavers, Margaret Jo Williamson, Patricia Ann Strain and Edna Lane Johnson. Besides the pictures of the beauties both Sunday dailies gave the festival a nice, long write-up. We appreciate the notices and are proud of our beautiful girls here in Chilton.

Luther Kendricks called our attention this week to the program being sponsored by Highway Patrol and the National Safety Council each Saturday from 12:30 to 12:45 over WKLF. We understand the radio station donates the time for the safety program and the local officers, citizens contribute their time to preparing and presenting them. Remember the time and tune in next Saturday and hear what the program directors have to say. The facts you learn may save your life.

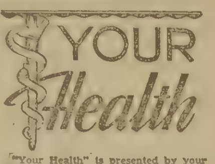
Fin - Fan Items

Fishing is generally fair on the Coosa Lakes in spite of the heavy rain fall during the past week. Stripes, large and smallmouth bass, bream, crappie and drum are being caught in large number with various bait. On a recent visit to Jordan, Billy Bach, Joe Harris and Lon Conner of Montgomery, fished with "green" worms and caught 65 nice drum. Other reports from Lake Mitchell tell of large strings of stripes being caught with No. 4 flies. Lake Lay reports very fine bream fishing. Plan a visit to [illegible] beautiful Lakes conveniently situated and easily accessable by good roads.

The Alabama Power Company Fishing Contest is still going strong, all are urged to enter. J. B. Kelly's Store near Wetumpka reports: E. C. Barker, Birmingham, caught a 5 pound 1 ounce smallmouth bass with a shallow runnnig lure on Lake Jordan. Benson Campbell, Boylston, used a live minnow to catch his 3 pound 7 ounce largemouth bass on Lake Jordan. George Parker, Wetumpka, made a lucky cast on Lake Jordan when he caught his 4 pound and 6 ounce smallmouth bass.

Contest rules may be obtained by addressing a post card to: Fishing Contest, Land Department, Alabama Power Company, Birmingham 2, Alabama. Be sure to back-up your fish story with the solid proof of a beautiful trophy.

Safety comment of the day: Keep sufficient gas and oil in tanks. Fill outboard tanks while stopped in quiet water, so as to avoid giving out under unfavorable conditions. A dead motor can result in serious hazard in rough water or with the weather making up or dark coming on.—Have Fun—Safely.



"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

SO YOU SELDOM DO ANY WALKING

Walking is recognized by medical authorities as one of the best forms of physical exercise, particularly for those who have reached the age in life for taking things a bit e[illegible]—usually given as over forty. [illegible] us in these days of modern transportation, crowded highways and the hustle and bustle of twentieth century living walk as little as possible. Just how much walking do you do in a year?

A pedometer survey recently made [illegible] cities clocked the daily [illegible] distance of business men, housekeepers, salesmen, dancers, stenographers, children at play; waiters, [illegible] policemen, letter carriers, [illegible] rls, phys[illegible]ns and others. Some interesting averages were revealed.

In a single day the average distance walked was 18,098 steps or 7 7-3 miles. Exclusive of the walking he does away from business, the businessman walks in every three or four weeks a distance greater than from Boston to New York. A house-keeper, without leaving the house, walks annually a distance equal to that from Boston to San Francisco. At school and at play a schoolgirl averages 11½ miles a day, [illegible] schoolboy 15 miles.

A physician in a hospital, who used his car when out of doors, walked 18 miles a day. A golfer doing eighteen holes walked 8½ miles a day and a salesman 73 miles a week. Other totals were. A policeman, 14 miles a day; a letter carrier 22 miles a day; a department store buyer, 7 miles a day; a girl in a business office, 57 miles a week; and a stenographer, who rode to and from work, 43 miles in a week.

How far do you estimate you walked yesterday? Last week? The extent of your daily and yearly embulations would probably surprise you.

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

The Associated Press news machine which sits and types away day and night invokes more questions and draws more attention than almost anything else around the WKLF studios. The most common question is "what makes it work?" And, I suppose that's a logical thing to ask, since it looks kind of like a typewriter in action without a soul around punching the keys. Even if I had the knowledge to do so, it would take about half a page in this newspaper for me to explain how the news machine works. So if you're wondering, I suppose that you will just have to stay in blissful ignorance on the matter.

"The Vaughn Monroe Show," featuring a quarter hour of songs by Vaughn Monroe and his famous orchestra, is now heard each Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening on WKLF at 6:45. In addition to vocals by Monroe himself, the program also features his two popular groups the "Moon Maids" and the "Moon Men."

There will be several program changes on WKLF this week. All you folks who like to hear "Bill Kitay's Quarter Hour" can now hear it at 8:15 in the morning instead of 10:15. As for the other changes, I'll try to bring you up to date on them next week.

One of the guests on "Facts for Farm Families" (12:15) last week was an old Chilton County Boy—John Parrish—who is now a dairy specialist with the Extension Service in Auburn. One of the features of this program is visits by Extension Service specialists when they are in town. Each Wednesday, County Agent Red Glasscock takes over with timely topics for local farmers and farm families.

BILL REQUESTS SALARY RAISES FOR DEPARTMENT HEADS

Rep. Ira B, Thompson of Crenshaw County introduced bills in the House boosting salaries of major state department heads to $7,500 per year. At present, salary for most directors is $5,700. Rep. Thompson also introduced a measure calling for the governor's salary to be placed at $25,000 annually. All of the bills would become effective with the next administration.

Forty-three persons from Chilton County are included in the enrollment of almost 500 summer school students at Alabama College according to a statement made by Dr. M. L. Orr, Director of Summer School.

Summer school enrollments over the state indicate a general increase, and this is particularly true at Alabama College where two new teaching certificates are now being offered.

Those teachers who have held regular Alabama certificates of lower rank can qualify for these which indicate completion of one and two years work.

The summer school term is diveded into two periods, five and six weeks in length. The second term will begin on July 25, and it is possible for students to earn six or eight college credits during this five-week period. Enrollments are now being accepted by Alabama College for this second term.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Church News—

The Vacation Bible School closed Friday night. The commencement exercises were enjoyed by a large crowd. The pastor, Rev. Clayton Gilbert, is very grateful to all the workers and awarded each a certificate for their regular attendance and faithful service.

We regret very much having left out two of the names of the workers last week. They were Miss Jane Shanks and Mrs. Jack Hampton; it was not intentional, and we are very sorry.

Our church will see results of this Bible School in years to come. The boys and girls who have attended this school are our future church leaders.

Our pastor deserves a lot of praise for the untiring and faithful service he gave during these two weeks. Also his faithful wife. The church wishes to extend to them their thanks and appreciation.

May God's richest blessings ever be upon them.

UNION SPRINGS

We had a nice crowd at Sunday School Sunday. We are very proud of the interest shown in the Sunday School. We cordially invite everyone to come back next Sunday and bring someone with you, and let's keep our Sunday School increasing in attendance each Sunday.

Our revival starts here the third Saturday night in July. Let's all remember the day and make this revival the best we have ever had.

The date set for cleaning the church yard and cemetery is Friday, July 8th, at 7 o'clock. If it rains Friday, July 8th, then come Monday, July 11th, at the same hour and bring the necessary tools to work with and let's get the job completed before it gets too hot.

Our singing will be the fifth Sunday in July, beginning promptly at 10 o'clock. Union Springs is located three miles east of Randolph and nine miles west of Jemison. All singers and lovers of music have a special invitation to the singing. Everyone come and bring a well-filled basket, and let's make the day a grand success.—U. V. Waldrop, Reporter.

(By MISS C. N. TURNQUIST — Correspondent)

Thorsby Lodge No. 759 A.F. & A.M., Thorsby, Ala.—

June 25, 1949.

Whereas, The Great and Supreme Ruler of the Universe has in His infinite wisdom removed from us one of our beloved and esteemed brothers, William Harvey Wilson; and, whereas, the long and intimate relations held with him in the faithful discharge of his duties in this lodge, and his love, not only for his immediate brothers, but for the Masonic Brotherhood as a whole, makes eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of him; therefore,

Resolved, that the wisdom and ability which he has exercised in the aid of our organization through service, contributions and council, will be held in our greatest remembrance;

Resolved, that the removal of such a life from our midst creates a vacancy that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this fraternity, and will prove a serious loss to the community and to the public;

Resolved, that in deep sympathy with the bereaved and relatives of the deceased, we express hope that even the great loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well;

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the records of this lodge, a copy printed in the local paper, and a copy forwarded to the bereaved relatives.
